

A SAMPLE JOURNAL SPECIAL.

The Big Blunder Made by the Lincoln Organ in Locating Dawes.

THE NEW INSANE HOSPITAL.

Notes About the State House—Lively Satisfaction at Fitzgerald's Election—Three Disease Cases Started—Other News.

FROM THE NEW LINCOLN BUREAU. The efforts of the republican machine organ in Lincoln to boom Dawes and make his departing days a sort of halo of glory are fairly astonishing at times and are made with a disregard to facts fairly appalling.

Governor Dawes arrived this evening and was received with much enthusiasm. The military band of Fort Nebraska was at the depot to welcome him.

But how different the actual facts in the case, for the governor has not been at Norfolk at all and dispatches of a day later stated that Mr. Dawes was down in Saline county struggling with his backers to fix up the primaries so that his political end might be delayed, if possible, for a few months longer.

E. B. Chase, J. S. Kittle, C. W. Harvey, W. D. Bowen and J. H. Belzer, of the Blade, were Seward party in Lincoln yesterday.

Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute. This widely celebrated institution, located at Buffalo, N. Y., is organized with a full staff of eighteen experienced and skillful Physicians and Surgeons.

STATE HOUSE NOTES. The board of public lands and buildings have returned from their inspection visit to the new hospital at Norfolk, and report the building as under roof and the finishing work well under way.

The rumored disturbance at the insane hospital here has not been ferreted out, and neither the board or others expect to get at the facts.

Among the visitors at the capital building yesterday were ex-Attorney General Ellsworth, of Hastings and Mayor South, of York.

Major Franklin, of the secretary's office, returned yesterday from Kansas City, where he accompanied Mrs. Franklin and the children who have gone to the old Kentucky home on a month's visit.

Four patients were received into the State insane asylum in the last two days, from different points in the state.

FACTS ABOUT RAILWAYS.

The United States Leading the World in Roads.

"Poor's Manual of Railroads of the United States," for 1886, which has just come from the press, shows that the number of miles of railroad constructed in the United States in 1885 was 3,321.

The aggregate mileage for the whole country completed at the close of the year being 138,967, the rate of increase during the year being 2.1 per cent.

The earnings of the railroads, including elevated roads, for the year ended June 30, 1886, were $1,817,697,832, against $1,762,613,636 for 1885.

The operations and expenses of all the roads for the year equalled $933,074,962. The gross earnings upon the entire capital invested equaled nearly 10 per cent.

The percentage interest paid on the funded debts of the companies the past year equaled 4.77 per cent, against 4.66 per cent for 1885.

The movement of tonnage by rail is steadily increasing, there being at the same time a slight falling off in rates.

The highest quotations for the month, for eight years, for the active stocks and bonds dealt in at the leading stock exchange of the country.

The Manual contains an interesting table of the length in kilometers (.62 of a mile) of all the railroads in the world.

The Length of Life. This is a very interesting question, and students of vital statistics have devoted much attention to recent years to searching for an answer to it.

The statisticians of England figure out that life in that country has somewhat increased in duration during the last generation.

It appears from our census of 1880 that of a hundred deaths reported during the census year, 49 were of persons under twenty years.

WILD WESTERN WINDS.

Some Sample Stories of Their Very Eccentric Performances.

Salt Lake Tribune. A gentleman from Nevada, who had been in Kansas, was sitting with a Coloradoan on the Walker house porch Sunday evening during the lively little dust storm which drove everybody else indoors.

"I've been here quite awhile," said the Nevada man, "but I've never seen a wild here yet that amounted to anything in the influence on the manner public.

"That's nothing," sarcastically remarked the Kansas gentleman; "you can talk as much as you like about high winds, but I'm telling you that Kansas is the banner state for zephyrs.

"Those corkscrew winds just wind around and twine into all sorts of places and in the influence on the manner public.

"Well, no," said the Coloradoan, "we don't have any winds to amount to anything, but it blows a few minutes there now and then.
