THE TRIBUTE OF ASSOCIATES. Omaha Bankers Take Action Upon

the Death of Mr. Millard. Representatives from all of the banks and banking houses of the city met in the Nebraska National bank yesterday afternoon to express, in some formal manner, their regret and grief at the loss of one of their most respected associates, Mr. Ezra Millard.

t The following resolution, or statement, was unanimously adopted:

The bankers of Omaha, wishing form ally to declare their estimation of the character and influence of their late as-sociate. Mr. Ezra Millard, do adopt the following:

Coming to this city in its earliest days, Coming to this city in its earliest days, while its future was uncertain and its success not assured, Mr. Millard brought to the home of his adoption confinence in its prosperity and zeal for its welfare; to his chosen profession unremitting Industry, energies which never flagged and integrity which was never sulled. Two prominent and successful banking institutions will long bear witness to his business foresight and strewd management. The city which he served, alike in public and private station with a courage and artor which no mischances could cool testines in its prosperity to his wise courses. The poor who have been the recipients of his bountly, the young who have profited by his advice, the Forces saddened by his death attest his title to the higher honor of being a disinterested friend and a Christian gentleman.

We who have been associated in business with him for years, some of us for the entire derm of his residence here, confinily join in diese, tributes to his worth, and resolve that we will, on the day of his funeral, closing our respective places of business, attend in a body, and that a copy of this statement, sutably engrossed shall be transmitted to the family of which Mr. Millard was the honored and beloved head.

If was ordered that the resolution be

It was ordered that the resolution be properly engrossed, signed by all of the officers of the different banks of the city and presented to the family of the deceased. It was also decided to close all of the banks of the city during the hours of the funeral. A representative from each bank of the city will meet the remains of Mr Millard at the train upon its arrival at the depot on Monday evening and escort them to the late residence of the deceased.

Mayor Boyd was telegraphed yesterday and will probably issue a proclamation closing the city offices during the hours of the funeral on Monday.

SWAPPING BABIES.

How Dr. V. T. McGillieuddy Endeavored to Prevent it at Pine Ridge. A special from Washington was pub lished in an Omaha paper, yesterday morning, that Captain Bell, the present agent at Pine Ridge, had reported that, as a result of the census of the Sioux Indians, it was shown that 2,600 rations more than the number of Indians at the agency had been issued daily for seven years past by Dr. McGillieuddy, the late agent. As each ration is worth thirty cents, the presumption most natural was that the doctor has been pocketing about $780 daily, or about $200,000 a year. Dr. V. T. McGillicuddy happened to be in Omaha yesterday morning, and was shown the telegram in question, and asked what it meant

The doctor laughed, and said: "I ought to be a pretty rich man at that rate, oughtn't 1? Two hundred thousand rations a year for seven years; the length my incumbency at Pine Ridge. amounts to the neat little sum of $1,400,900. I have failed to discover any such amount. But speaking seriously," the doctor said, "I have no doubt that the count made of the Sioux by Major Bell, which shows 2,600 fewer Indians than are borne on the rolls, is quite correct. For years, we have made annual census of the Sioux at Pine Ridge. This census, like every other census, is made by a house-to-house visit of the Indians. Of course, as the rations depended upon the number of the Indians it was to their interest to have the number appear as large as possible. Time and again I have urged upon the Indian bureau to have a rigid census made of the Indians at both the Pine Ridge and Rosebud agencies. I deemed it necessary that both should be made on the day, because, otherwise, the Indians would swap their babies in order increase the rations at other agency. Until Major Bell's incumbency it was impossible to secure this end and, consequently, I was obliged to take my census as a basis of issuing my rations. At the close of my term at the agency, I was issuing rations to no more Indians than I was years ago. although, during that time Pine Rudge had received large numbers from Sitting Bull's camp and from the Northern Cheyennes. As a matter of fact, the number of rations issued was smaller than those called for by the books, and this was one of the complaints made against me by Red Cloud. I have only to say that all the rations on the books as issued were issued and consumed by Indians at Pine Ridge. The brief issue, as everyone knows, was taken out of the agent's hands. Army officers of the agent's hands. Army officers superintended, receipted for and branded the cattle with the U.S. brand and it is practically impossible that there can be any illegal disposal of the stock thus branded. As for the rations and supplies. they are stored in government warehouses, guarded by a patrol of Indian police, and issued to families only on tickets issued by the agent. In conclusion," said Dr. McGillicuddy, "if any charges can be formulaied against me, I can easily be found at Rapid City. I promise a lively fight on any such issue urthermore, allow me to predict trouble at Pine Ridge, if the rations of whose in-sufficiency the Sio ix alrerdy complain, are cut dewn on a bosis of 2,600 fewer to eat them. You can't gauge an Indian's oppetite by that of a white man."

Captain O'Malley's Benefit-Base Ball Notes-A Challenge.

A fair sized gathering greeted the contestants in the athletic tournament on the occasion of Captain O'Malley's benefit at the Athletic park yesterday evening. The programme was opened at half past 4 o'clock, and continued until 7 o'clock The first event was a three-round bout.

Marquis of Queensbury rules, between Sam Stevenson, seconded by Tom O'Brien, and Johnny La Mountain, seconded by Al Marx- The contest was for the light weight championship. The first round opened with both men sparring heavily for an opening. La Mountain worked in some rattling body blows, which Stevenson met with a stunning assortment of blows well planted on his opponent's mug. La Mountain brought first blood from Stevenson's nose with a clean right arm blow, Both men clinched, and, separating, Stevenson upper-cut his antagonist heavily. More close fighting followed, La Mountain confining his efforts principally to Stevenson's body. The round closed with both men breathing heavily, Stevenson especially being badly winded. The second round was slightly in La Mountain's favor. Both mea took and gave some hard blows.

The third round resulted in some clever sparring, but principally consisted of "elinches." Stevenson planted his right with telling effect on La Mountain's face, and the latter retaliated with some clever straight arm body-blows. When the round closed Stevenson was badly winded, and was throwing the claret freely. La Mountain appeared in good condition. On scientific points, the match was declared a draw Tom O'Brien and Bill Johnson, two heavy weights, then entered the ring bout. O'Brien for a three-round was much the better man, both in science and muscle. Two or three stunning upper cut blows in the first round wound up Johnson and the rest of the fight was very tame. O'Brien was declared the winner. The third contest was between Dan Delaney, of Omaha, and John Bradburn, of Chicago, brother of the Pitsburg heavyweight. A 160-yard foot race concluded the evening's programme. There were three entries, Sam Stevenson, Charles Moore and Frank Barbur. Stevenson won in the time of 12% seconds. BASE BALL.

The blow and bluster that was made about dissensions in the ranks of the Union Pacifics has quietly died out and matters are resuming the even tenor of their way. The trouble all arose over the kick of a disgruntled player who, instead of conferring with McKelvey who hired him, found an equally disgruntled reporter and led him to make an unjust attack on Manager Kay who was at the time absent from the city. The causes of the alleged trouble have been generally explained in a satisfactory manner to all concerned. Manager Kay was in Has-tings yesterday and completed the arrangements with that club for the Has tings for the two games to be played be-tween the Reds and the Union Pacifics in this city on Saturday and Sunday next. The Union Pacifics are arranging for a week's practice and will endeavor to be in good shape for the two games. Hays will be given a place in the nine as change pitcher with Salisbury "Home Kuu" Jones, of the Bingham ton, N. Y., nine, who has been engaged to play second base with the Union Pacifics has been confined to his home by sickness. He is rapidly recovering and may reach the city in time for next Sunday's game. "There was no earthly show for the Union Pacifics to win in the game with the Lincoln's last Sunday," said a baseballer to a Bee representative yesterday They came down here to win the game at all nazards. It is a fact not generally known that they brought the Leavenworth nine along, paying their expenses, to use them if they were needed."

The Union Pacifics are booked for two games with the St. Joe club on September 11 and 12.

A SWEEPING CHALLENGE. Captain O'Malley and Herb Rothery have issued a challenge to any man now in Nebraska to meet Al Marx, the Texas cowboy, in a glove contest to a finish, for any amount of money and the champion ship gold medal presented by Herb Rothery and now held by Marx. A match with Mike Fitzgerald, the Utah champion, is preferred.

Pagnacious Peter. Just as the overland train was about to move westward Peter Fleming, a legless man, shuffled into the depot. Offieer Green very politely asked the man where he was going and if he had a ticket. In an instant Peter's pent up ire exploded, and without cause or reason he gave Duff a broadside of blasphemy. He seemed to have gained in length and vileness of tongue what he had lost in limb. When quietly requested to be silent he swung a small hickory tree which he used for a cane and came very near braining the officer. He was at once disarmed and instantly raising upon the points of his leather covered stumps, he made a savage attack on Green. Of course the crippled condition of the man made his case a hard one to handle, but Duff was equal to the emergency, and soon had the pugnacious Peter in one of the corridors. So obstreperous did he become that the patrol wagon was sent for and Peter was jailed. He lost his for and Peter was jailed. He lost his legs in the army, but his fighting propen-sities and blackguard ways deprive him of all sympathy. He makes periodical visits to this city and is a general nuis-ance while he remains. Had he not been stopped before boarding the train he would undoubtedly have made Rome howl and the conductor swear as long as he was on the cars.

AT THE RIFLE RANGE. The Result of Yesterday's Work at Bellevue.

Yesterday morning practice was held at skirmishing at Bellevue rifle range. In this firing each skirmisher is advanced in quick and double time on a target of three figures, one yard apart, the right being a kneeling figure, the centre a standing figure, and the left a lying down figure, all the size of a man in those posi tions. Hits on lying figures count 5, those on kneeling figures 4, and on standing figures 3. The possible score on any one of these targets would be its value multiplied by 40, the number of cartridges allowed to be fired. The pos sible score on lying target would be 200, or an average of a possible 120 on the three targets. The line fires between 200 and 600 yards, 5 halts advancing and 5 retiring. Six seconds after a halt is allowed for getting into position and 15 seconds for firing, the average being 4 shots shots at each halt. The following are the 12 highest for first day preliminary
