

6 THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS. SATURDAY MORNING, AUGUST 28. OFFICE, NO. 12, PEARL STREET.

Delivered by carrier in any part of the city at twenty cents per week. H. W. TILTON, Manager.

MINOR MENTION. New York Plumbing Co. New fall goods at Reiter's.

One dozen cabinets at $3 dozen at Gorham's. The very best cabinets at $3 dozen at Gorham's.

Clark, of the Herald, is kicking about foul water on Main street. Water pity that he don't look about something that he knows something about.

Ben Marks, who on Wednesday, in attempting to mount horseback, slipped and badly sprained his ankle, is slowly recovering and will in a few days be able to be about.

The cigar-makers of Omaha and Council Bluffs are arranging to contest for honors on the base ball field. The first game will probably be played here September 11.

Some sneak thief got away with some clothing belonging to two boarders at the Revere house. Part of the clothing was found in Gillinski's place, having been sold there.

Mrs. Green and Mrs. Gibson, living on upper Broadway, got into a neighborhood rumple, which has led to the arrest of both. They will probably be sentenced to listen to a lecture by the judge.

The Council Bluffs dealers are finding a ready sale for the new Waukesha ginger ale, which proves a delicious beverage. The names of dealers handling it appear in another column, and if you have not already supplied yourself, do so.

P. C. Miller, the well known Pearl street painter, has started a new enterprise. He has purchased a mill in New York city, and now manufactures his own paints.

By buying the raw material and grinding his own paint, Mr. Miller claims he can compete in prices with the very lowest of the low figures.

A new Union Pacific pocket time-table has been issued. It gives also the time-table of the Council Bluffs street cars. For some time past it has been a "go-as-you-please" for street car drivers, and a change which brings regularity of trips will prove a refreshing one.

The cases of attachment against Cooke & Morgan came up in the circuit court yesterday. After a number of motions and objections among the attorneys, the firm allowed judgments to be entered up against them on the various claims of the attaching creditors.

The attaching agent of the Pennsylvania National bank, who has realized from the sale of the dry goods stock, about $8,000, and the creditors will receive it without further controversy. The firm will probably seek new methods of forcing their claims for damage against those who attached their stock and closed them up.

The sudden dropping out of these cases, which were expected to be contested, leaves a big gap in the docket of the circuit court, and will enable many other cases to be disposed of in their places.

Electric door bells, burglar alarms, and every form of domestic electrical appliances at the New York Plumbing Co.

Kid Gloves, 60c, Harkness Bros. Personal Paragraphs Henry Atkins spent yesterday in Sioux City, testing oil.

John Y. Stone, of Glenwood, was in the city yesterday. Charles Mackenzie, an attorney of Dunlap, is at the Pacific.

F. L. Clark, of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express, has returned from a Nebraska trip. W. D. Cooke, of the late firm of Cooke & Morgan, and now located at Kearney, Neb., is in the city.

John Z. Miller, chief clerk in the office of Auditor Redison, of the Wabash, has been quite ill for several days. G. B. Feederich, of Kansas City, traveling passenger agent of the Pennsylvania central, was in the city yesterday.

Colonel Nutt and family, who have been spending a week past with his old friend, Mr. Horace Everett, left yesterday for the east. Mayor Evans and his estimable wife have returned from their extended western trip. They report the trip as having been a delightful one, the weather being cool with the exception of two days when they were in Calgary.

Yellowstone, Oregon, Puget sound and many points of interest. Both were improved in health by the trip, and both are heartily welcomed back to Council Bluffs. See the 60c Kid Gloves this week at Harkness Bros.

Wants His Wife. Yesterday afternoon a man named Neis Nelson arrived in the city from Underwood. He was looking for his wife who, he claims, came to town with her brother a short time ago. The brother forgetting about her returned home, but did not feel where she could be found. The husband is accordingly looking for her around the city, and desires the BEE to say that if this should meet her eye or any person who knows of her whereabouts he will be at the postoffice to meet her between the hours of 9 and 12 o'clock this morning.

This week for bargains in Kid Gloves, new goods—no old stock—go to Harkness Bros. Gone to Ashes. Last night about 6:45 o'clock an alarm of fire was turned in from telephone 82, and directed attention to a frame building belonging to Alex. Brown, and situated near the fair grounds. The house was destroyed, the loss being $500, with an insurance of $400.

For Sale at Cost. My new home in Council Bluffs. CHAS. T. OFFICER. A Sisterly Assault. Yesterday Jim McIntosh and his wife were before Justice Schurz on the charge of assaulting Mrs. Isabel Mott. Mrs. Mott is a sister of Mrs. McIntosh, and she lives near the fair grounds.

The trial of the case showed a mere quarrel ending in an assault, but not a very serious one. One of the witnesses had to have a "set-down" before the justice could get at the facts of the case, and then he decided that McIntosh was not guilty, but that his wife was. The woman was fined $5 and costs.

Substantial abstracts of titles and real estate loans. J. W. & E. L. Squire, No. 401 Pearl street, Council Bluffs.

STILL BATES' LAST LETTER.

It Showed More Tenderness Than Did His Brutal Confession.

HIS BODY TO ARRIVE TO-MORROW

One Sister Assaults Another—Colonel Keatley Won't Throw Mud—A Hat For a Home—Personal and Other Matters.

Nervous Landlords. Mr. Laird, superintendent of schools in this county, in company with a teacher named Ellison, had occasion to visit Minden the other day and applied to one of the hotels, there for lodging.

The landlord, not knowing them, asked them where they were from, and on learning that they were from the eastern part of the county, made up his mind that they were a smelling committee sent to sniff the Minden air, and so if there was any odor of gin, Minden has been subjected to so many raids by the prohibitionists of late that they are getting very suspicious of "east-end" folks, and after learning that these were from that locality the landlord refused to let them have a room.

Professor Laird had to hunt up an acquaintance to vouch for his being a democrat, and not a smeller, in any sense. So soon as this fact was established, the landlord's mind there was room found to accommodate him. East-enders need a passport when they visit Minden.

Highest prices paid for county, town and school bonds. Odell Bros. & Co., No. 103 Pearl street, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

His Hat Was His Home. He was charged with being drunk, and as he took his place before the bar, Judge Ayresworth asked for his name.

"John Brown, sir." "What's your nationality?" "American, sir."

"Yes, I believe John Brown was an American. Where do you live?" "I'm living right here now, your honor."

"Yes, but where is your home?" "My home, judge, is wherever my hat happens to be."

"Did you get away from home and get drunk?" The fellow denied having been drunk at all, but after one or two witnesses had refreshed his memory, he concluded he would rather go home, and made a break for the stairway. The marshal, who had caught onto the judge's little joke, also caught onto the prisoner, and threw him back into the chair. The fellow looked surprised and disappointed.

"I thought you said I might go." "You said you wanted to go home, and you said your hat was your home. I simply told you you could put on your hat if you wanted to go home. Your fine will be $7.00. Can you pay it?"

"No, sir. I had nothing when I was brought in but ten cents and a corker."

"A corker? Take him below, marshal, and register him as from Council Bluffs."

He Made the Train. William Anderson, better known as "Humpty," on account of his always having his back up about everything, was before the police court yesterday. He is an old-timer, who has the reputation of being such a slick sneak thief that he can steal the soul out of a loaf of bread.

He has lately been prowling about Omaha, and giving Council Bluffs a little rest, but he chanced over here, and on his way up from the dummy depot is said to have stolen a horse collar from I. Gillinski's building, and sold it to Mr. Gillinski's brother. For fear that he might get into his old habits of hanging about Council Bluffs, the judge concluded to continue the case and let him go over to Omaha to hunt up his neck.

As to his good character, with instructions to stay there until he could find them. Anderson hurried off, as he only had ten minutes to reach the train, and only a nickel in his pocket. He had to steal something worth 20 cents on his way to the depot or get left. He made the train.

12 Cabinet Photographs $3. Quality the finest. Sherraden, 317 Broadway.

No Mud Throwing. "What sort of a congressional fight is this going to be?" asked a BRE man of Colonel Keatley yesterday. "A mud throwing one?"

"No, sir; at least as far as I am concerned, or have anything to do with it. I propose simply to discuss the questions which are of public interest, and under no circumstances will I be dragged into any personal controversies, or pay any attention to mud throwing. I never have believed in it and do not now. I know of no disposition on the part of others to have anything but a square, fair race, and do not believe there will be any personal fight. I certainly shall not engage in such a fight under any circumstances, and I wouldn't go through such a contest for the biggest office in the nation."

Still Bates' Last Letter. It is expected that the body of Still Bates will reach here this morning, his brother, Will Bates, having been in Richmond at the time of the hanging, and claimed the body. Arrangements were made for services to be held in Richmond yesterday. The body will be taken directly from the train to Fairview cemetery, and if the body is in condition so that it can be viewed by the friends, theasket will be opened there.

Still Bates' Last Letter. A friend has forwarded a letter from Still Bates, probably the last one written by him before his death. It is dated at Richmond, Ind., on Wednesday, the day before he was hung, and is as follows:

MY DEAR FRIEND: I received your kind letter this morning and was truly glad to hear from you. I am well at present. I think this is the last letter I will ever write. You do not know if I was baptised. Yes; I got baptised yesterday, and I had my sins forgiven. I was baptised in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. I was baptised in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. I was baptised in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit.

Articles of Incorporation of the Economic Light Company of Nebraska. Article 1. The undersigned do hereby associate themselves together into a body corporate under the laws of the state of Nebraska, to be known as "The Economic Light Company of Nebraska," and its principal place of business shall be at the city of Omaha, in said state.

Article 2. The object of the incorporation shall be the manufacture and sale of gas and gas for lighting and illuminating purposes, and the manufacturing and furnishing of fixtures and appliances therefor.

Article 3. The amount of capital stock authorized shall be one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), which shall be divided into one thousand shares of one hundred dollars each, $100, which shall be fully paid up and remain forever non-assessable.

Article 4. The business of the incorporation shall be managed by a board of directors, who shall be five in number, and stockholders of the incorporation, and be elected annually on the first day of January in each year at the regular annual meeting of the stockholders, or at any special meeting called for that purpose by the board of directors.

Article 5. The corporation shall commence its business on the fifteenth day of August, 1886, and continue for a period of twenty years thereafter, unless sooner dissolved by law, or a two-thirds vote of the stockholders at any regular meeting, one vote being allowed for each share of stock held.

Article 6. The first board of directors shall consist of the following named persons, viz: Samuel Theodore, W. H. Rathvon, S. H. Johnson, Phillip Armour, John S. Brady, who shall continue in office until the first Tuesday in January, 1887, and until their successors are elected and qualified.

Immediately after the organization of the corporation, the board of directors may meet and adopt any rules, regulations and by-laws they may deem best for the management of the affairs of the corporation not inconsistent with these articles, and may change or modify the same from time to time as the interests of the company may demand.

Article 7. The highest amount of indebtedness to which the corporation shall at any time be liable, shall not exceed the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000).

Article 8. The private property of the members and stockholders of the corporation shall be exempt from all liability for corporate debts, debts, or obligations of the corporation, whether incurred or contracted by the corporation, or by any one of its members or stockholders, or by any one of its officers or directors, or by any one of its agents or servants, or by any one of its employees, or by any one of
