THE LIBERAL REVOLUTION,

The People Determined to Have a Constitutional Government - The Estrup Usurpers Must be Ousted.

Affairs in Denmark.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 31,- | New York Herald Cable-Special to the BEE. -The struggle between the Danish government and the Danish house of representatives has aroused a most bitter feeling throughout the country. Leading politicians assure me that unless Mr. Estrup, the Danish conservative premier, who has been in power since June, 1875, resigns, a national uprising is likely to take place, the eventual result of which would be the downfall, not only of the ministry, but of King Christian, who has become personally identified with all the anti-constitutional measures of Estrup's ministry. A Danish revolution is now impending and is likely to cause a general Scandinavian uprising, during which monarchial principles could only be maintained by the intervention of Russian or German troops. Contre coups would be sure to take place in those countries, causing a general movement throughout Europe like that of 1848. The entire liberal party of Denmark is to-day under the supreme control of Mr. Berg, speaker of the house of representatives, and only recently released from prison. Mr. Berg is a sort of Danish O'Con-

HE WIELDS IMMENSE POWER. A single word from bim would start a revolution. Berg is one of the most splendid orators in Europe. The parlias mentary debates between Berg and Estrup have all the skilled finish of the fencing contest between Hamlet and Lærtes. Berg has availed himself of the present dissolution of parliament to retire for a few days to his country residence on the island of Bogy, south of Zealand, near the cost of Falster, a day's journey from Copenhagen. Monday morning at 11 o'clock I landed at Bogy, in a small sail boat, after four hours sail from Vardingborg. A half hour walk across fields, filled with fat sheep, cows and swine, all feeding peacefully together, brought me to a large white house, with a mast and spars like a frigate. This was the navigation school founded by Berg several years ago, and two graduates of which were now thriving New York pilots. Near by was a small whitewashed stone cottage. I knocked at the door and asked the blue eyed Danish girl, "Is Mr. Berg at home?" A large white haired gentleman, with a head like Socrates, forthwith appeared and welcomed me to Bogy. This was the statesman who holds to-day in his hands the fate of Denmark. Mr. Berg wore a close fitting suit of dark clothes and a white muslin tie, and held in his hand a wide brimmed Panama hat. His eyes are a bright blue, he wears gold spectacles, and his white beard is closely trimmed. He speaks a little English and German. The following conversation took place in Danish: Correspondent-What do the Danish lib-

Mr. Berg-Nothing more nor nothing less than the right accorded to the Danish people by the Danish constitution. We stand solely upon the Danish constitution. We want a ministry whose acts shall be in accordance with the constitution and based upon the will of the majority of the house of representatives. We want, in fact, simply a constitutional and parliamentary government, such as exists in England and in the United

Correspondent-Is there any connection between the Danish liberals and the social

upon our people. There are only two socialist members elected to the folkething (house of representatives), and their electors are in Copenhagen, outside of which socialism, as understood in other parts of Europe and America, is unknown, I wish to be very clear on this point, as our enemies never los an opportunity to confound the liberal party with the socialist and thus taint us with qual ities that would deprive us of the sympathy of right-minded men in Europe and America. Our folkething consists of 102 members, of which eighty-five are liberals, fifteen are con servatives, and two are socialists. It is, however, only fair to say that the two socialist members always vote with the liberal party, and even they do not think of resorting to any but purely parliamentary meas-

Correspondent-How have the ministry violated the constitution?

Mr. Berg-They have violated both th spirit and the letter of the constitution. I I will give you a few instances as samples. Article 25 of our constitution empowers the ministry in the case of extreme urgency to make provisional laws and to take money from the treasury to carry on affairs until the folkething can be convened. Now Mr. Estrup's min-1stry have used this clause in the constitution as a weapon to govern Denmark in defiance of the parliamentary majority. Mr. Estrup dissolves the folkething and then enacts law that he knows are directly opposed to their wishes. For instance the budget law, a few weeks ago, was printed while the folkething was in session. Then the folkething was dissolved by royal decree and five minutes after the dissolution, and while the members were still in the building, the government decided the budget law and thereby took money out of the treasury for building fortifications and creating a corps of gen d'armerie and for gagging the press and for doing many things notoriously against the wishes of the house of representatives. There was certainly no urgency, and this is merely one out of the many instances in distinct violation of the constitution.

Correspondent-flow far is the king re sponsible for this?

Mr. Berg-That is a question which I wish you would not ask me. Correspondent-Do you think the present crisis can be settled without bloodshed? Mr. Berg-I have a firm hope in the sound common sense of the Danish people, who know that violent measures would only be BENEFICIAL TO DENMARK'S ENEMIES. The fact is that from 1848 until 1879 the liberals have been in a minority. But even then we were told, "Get to be a majority and you will be in power." Everything was, in fact, conducted upon parliamentary principles, and Mr. Estrup inaugurated his own constitutional and anti-parliamentary policy in 1875. Mr. Estrup's policy has continued, and nearly all the old conservatives, men like Krieger, Monud, Klein, Madrig and Fenger have all come into the liberal ranks. The conservatives now consist merely of a clique of individual land owners and military fun tionaries. Even Prince Bismarek rules with conformity to at least the teclinicalities of the parliamentary system, but Estrap rides rough shod over both parliament and constitition. The Danish people are firmly reand to have it distinctly understood that when the majority of the folkething have no confidence in the ministry, then such ministry is out of office.

Correspondent-What were you imprisoned for?

Mr. Berg-I have been thinking hard for six months to try and find out, but I have not yet succeeded in doing so. What would your countrymen say If your speaker of the house of representatives were suddenly to be arrested without any specific charge made against him and thrown into prison?

Mr. Berg then conducted me to the dining room where I paid my respects to Mme, Berg and her charming little blonde-haired and blue-eyed daughters of ten and eight years of age. After a sumptuous breakfast Mr. Berg showed me over his nautical coilege and pointed out to me the American flag flying over the house of Heinsing Ibsen. Arctic sea captain, formerly of San Francisco. At the pier we found another native of Bozy named Huvi whose brothers-in-law, named Wolfe he told me, were pilots in New York, Mr Berg afterwards salled with me over to a fishing town in Falster, called Stubbekjoebing, where I took leave of the eloquent and able expounder of the Danish constitution.

A VISIT TO ESTRUP. At Copenhagen I called upon Mr. Estrup, the prime minister of Denmark, who regretted that he was unable to express any views on Danish politics for publication, but would be glad to receive a private visit. I found Mr. Estrup to be one of the most witty and charming men that I have ever met. He speaks French and German fluently. He has clear, penetrating blue eyes and flaxen hair. He wears a full blonde moustache and bis law and lips and nose are strikingly like those of General Sheridan. I afterward met a prominent Danish land owner whose views those of the king, the court and of Mr. Estrup. This gentleman said: "Denmark is a small country We have on one side autocratic Russia and on the other monarchical Germany. His majesty, King Christian, has to be upon good terms with his neighbors. The true interests of Denmark are to live in accord with the system of the monarchical government of eastern Europe. The liberal aims of men like that political buccaneer, Berg, are wild and chimerical and can only work disaster and ruin to Denmark. Moreover, neither Russia or Germany would ever allow a Danish republic to exist under their very noses. As for the socialists, there are not thousand real socialists in two the whole of Denmark."

ANOTHER LIBERAL. I next called upon Mr. Viggo Horup, vicepresident of the folkething, and chairman of the committee of ways and means and proprietor of the Politiken, the great liberal newspaper of Scandinavia, Hr. Horup is about 50 years of age. He is a typical Dane in appearance with very blonde complexion, blue eyes, partly concealed behind gold spectacles and flaxen hair. In reply to my inquiries Mr. Horup said: "When parliament meets in October there will be plenty of vituperation and violent language, but the sound common sense of the Danish people should prevent any recourse to bloodshed. The liberal party is every day gaining strength and for the past two years includes such conservatives as in other countries form the centre and right centre. I don't think that in the event of a conflict between the Danish people and the government the Danish people would receive much help from Norway or Sweden, nor on the other hand would Germany stir to uphold the Danish government, although it is by no means probable that either Germany or Russia would permit the creation of a Danish republic."

I next called upon a prominent socialist who lived in Copenhagen. He told me: "We are working with the liberals now because we are too weak to work alone, but we count upon the violent and reactionary steps of the present ministry to drive thousands of Danes who are now merely liberals into our ranks. Then by common action in Denmark, Holland and Belgium we can become the nucleus of a grand international movement for the regeneration of northern Europe." IN REPLY TO MY TELEGRAPHIC INQUIRY,

Biornstierne Biornson, the greatest living

Scandinavian author, says: "I am, heart and soul, with the liberal party of Denmark in reference to the position of King Christian." A prominent member of the Masonic ternity told me "a single word from the king would now avert the impending storm. but he is surrounded by courtiers and parasites who conceal from him the truth, and if atrare intervals any one presumes to give the king some advice, the king at once lays back his ears, puts out his fore legs and kicks out violently from behind. The crown prince is a Free Mason and is rather popular, but the days of the dynasty are probably numbered. Our leaders are anxious to separate the royal family from the unpopular ministry. but if the people once rise they will sweep away not only the ministry, but the dynasty with it." It is a significant fact that during the visit of the king of Portugal, King Christian was received with cold silence by the thousands of people gathered together in the streets to see the arrival. A few cheers, however, greeted the arrival of the crown prince. King Christian to-day is very much in the same position as Charles L.

Denmark Will Arbitrate. COPENHAGEN, August 31.-[New York Herald Cable-Special to the BEE. |-The Danish government has agreed to submit to arbitration in reference to the Corolus Butterfield claim made by the United States for firing upon the American ship, Benjamin Franklin, at St. Thomas in 1856. The claim amounts to half a million dollars and has been unsuccessfully presented to the Danish government for the last thirty years. Mr. Estrup, prime minister of Denmark, has consented to arbitration, but who the arbitrator is to be is not yet solved.

of Old Veterans.

State Associations Meet and Elect Officers-Brilliant Programmes For To-day and To,morrow. Notes on the Events.

At the Camp Ground.

Grand Island, Neb., Sept. L.—[Special Telegram to the Bee.]—The camp was pretty well wet down last night by the rain storm, but the veterans kept up a lively fusilade of lolly calls and exclamations, and emerged this morning in a good humor at reveille. The air was cool and bracing, and visitors were soon seeking the sensational features of camp life. The special train of the morning brought large numbers, and very few show a disposition to return homeward. The programme of guard mount by regulars and assembly of volunteers for drill comprised the exercises of the foreroon. An attempt to show off a naval engagement resulted in the breaking of some of the interior arrange ments of the frigate Congress and led to a postponement.

The most intensely interesting feature of the day to witness was the assembly of comrades and all ex-soldiers by states at 1 o'clock. A number of states had a very large repre sentation in line, Illinois having about seven hundred. The states next in order were Iowa, with nearly as many, Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin. After a short parade these squads of veterans formed into holow squares and the roll of regiments was called. There were many amusing and happy scenes as the comrades stepped out and found old friends whom, in many instances, they had not seen for a quarter of a century.

The following state associations met and elected officers this afternoon; Iowa-William S. Randall, Fairfield, pres ident; H. C. Russell, Schuyler, vice president; Harry Hotchkiss, Lincoln, secretary;

Captain Lee, Oxford, treasurer. Pennsylvania-William Spade, Juniato president; J. C. Zutzy, Falls City, secretary M. H. Hinman, Fremont, treasurer; S. Jones Wood River, historian.

Ohio-Colonel Joet Hall, Minden, president; S. D. Davis, Wilbur, secretary; D. W. Evans, Spring Rauch, treasurer; General Manderson, orator. Brief addresses were made this afternoon to the Ohio veterans by Generals Manderson, Wheaton and McCook, New York-W. H. Webster, Central City, president; C. H. Horth, Shelton, vice president; E. J. O'Neil, Pawnee City, treasurer; L. D. Stilson, York, secretary; L. D. Ellsworth, Doniphan, assistant secretary. Illinois-S. J. Shirley, Sidney, president; G. E. Whitman, Oxford, secretary; H. V. Hoagland, Waverly, treasurer; Geo. French, Bradshaw, color bearer. Indiana-W. J. Harris, Lincoln, president: J. A. Anness, Beaver City; S. H. McClure, Fullerton; S. M. Welch, Seward: Milo Robertson, Elwood, vice presidents; O. C. Bell, Lincoln, secretary; D. Tracey, Boone county, treasurer.

A number of other states are to hold elections to-morrow.

At 3 o'clock occurred the attack on Fort Sumter. An immense crowd gathered in a semi-circle around the grounds, the line of spectators being several miles in length. The fort consisted of a wooden structure in the center of the grounds, at which detached pieces of battery stationed in the fort fired at intervals, while a vessel of war manœuvered over imaginary waters. The booming of cannons and the exploding of shells made the air resound with the din of the engagement until Sumter capitulated. Following this came an artillery drill and dress parade by regular infantry.

To-night it is announced that the representation of the final hours of the United States senate previous to secession will be States senate previous to secession will be given in the pavilion, with the following cast of characters: John C. Breckenridge, vice president, W. H. Michael; Rev. P. D. Gurley, chaplain, Rev. Z. C. Rhone; Jesse D. Bright, Seth P. Mobley; William Bigler, T. O. C. Harrison; James W. Grimes, J. S. Stilger; Thos. L. Clingman, C. F. Bently; Lyman Trumbull, John M. Thurston; Charles Sumner, George Williams; Stephen A. Douglas, L. T. Whitney; James R. Doolittle, George M. O'Brien; John J. Crittenden, W. C. Gahan; Andrew Johnson, H. E. Calmer; Louis T. Wigfall, W. F. Gurley; John Sherman, Chauncey Wiltse; James Harlan, J. A. Rutherford Rutherford.

Rotherford.

It is estimated that the crowd on the grounds to-day numbered 25,000 people. Chief of Staff Palmer makes it as high as 40.009. The crowd is certainly good natured and one of the most orderly for the vast number present ever gathered in a camp. No krunkenness or rowdylsm is seen.

The programme for to-morrow has been re-arranged. The leading feature will be the grand parade in the afternoon. The United States regulars and comrades of the Grand army will form in line on Hancock avenue. the regulars being on the right and head of the column. They will form and march to the city and return. At 7 p. m. will occur the naval fight between the Congress and the naval light between the Congress and Merrimae; at 8:30 grand camp fire in pavil-lion and speeches by Senator Manderson and others. Chief of Staff Palmer says Friday will be the big day, on the afternoon of which will occur the most exciting and grandest sham battle ever witnessed in the west, Fully 5,000 will be engaged and the forces will include regular infantry, cavalry and artillery, and old soldiers of the Grand army. A full supply of arms and ammuni-tion have been received for use at that time. General Morrow will have charge of the union forces. The confederate leader has not been selected vet.

Among those observed on the grounds to-day were Congressman Dorsey, Governor Dawes and Senator Manderson. The brass bands continue to multiyly, three coming in on the Lincoln train to-day.

BEACH THE BEST

Oarsman Ever Seen in England-His Victory Over Teemer.

LONDON, Sept. 1 .- The weather was splendid and most favorable for the race. The crowd was the greatest ever gathered along the Thames course. Both men appeared punctually, but the start was delayed by a number of small craft, which encumbered the course. When given the signal Teemer, rowing thirty-six strokes to the minute, was he quickest at starting, but Beach, pulling thirty-eight strokes, caught up with him almost instantly, and in a short time he led him by half a length. At Walden's beach he had increased the lead to two lengths. Teemer here sparted with the utmost gameness but without avail. Beach, without increasing the rate of his stroke, kept his advantage and at Hammersmith bridge was four lengths in advance. Teemer then rowed a horneless steps have though still warking a hopeless stern race, though still working pluckily to lessen the distance between him and the Australian. From this point Beach almost paddled home, winning with consummate case by ten lengths. Authorities declare Beach to be the grandest sculier that has ever been seen in England. He looked to day as though he could row ten miles at racing speed.

THE PRINCIPLES PROMULGATED.

Protective Tariff, Aid For the Soldiers, Civil Service Reform Among the Endorsements-The Democratic Administration Denounced.

Illinois Republicans.

SPRINGERED, Ill., Sept. L.-The republican state convention was called to order at noon. Congressman J. G. Cannon was elected temporary chairman and made a speech occupying one hour, in which he arraigned the democratic administration on its civil service, tariff and general financial rec ord. After the appointment of the usual committees, the convention adjourned to 3 o'clock.

The convention reassembled at 3:15 o'clock and the committee on credentials reported all districts represented and no contests. The report was received and adopted. The committee on permanent organization reported recommending that the temporary organization be made permanent and that the following additional secretaries be elected: Captain Harrison Black, of the Sixteenth district; Samuel Parker, of the Third district; Kirk Cushman, of the Second district, and O. C. Towne, of the Sixth district. The committee to select members at large of the state central committee reported recommending that the members consist of George Bass. George E. White, William E. Kent of Cook, H. H. Evans of Kane, J. Otis Humphrey of Sangamon, W. E. Kueffner of St. Clair, Dr. McGee of Wassac, E. B. Fletcher of Henry C. J. Lindsay of Bond. The report of the committee was vigorously attacked by ex-Governor Hamilton of Cook and on his motion was laid on the table.

form, which was adopted:
The republicans of Illinois in convention assembled reaffirm their unfaltering loyalty to the principles of the party as enunciated in all their national platforms from Lincoln to Blaine. We believe liberty is the malienable right of every man, whatever his race or color, and in the equality of every man be-fore the law. We believe that the purity of the ballot is necessary to the permanent se-curity of our free institutions, and the ballot is only maintained in its purity when every citizen can east his vote for whomever he pleases with the assurance that it will be counted as it is east.

We believe in American soil for American citizens, and are opposed to non-resident aliens becoming land owners. The public domain should be reserved as homesteads for actual settlers, and the accumulation of large tracts or bodies of land in the hands of cor-porations or individuals should be discouraged; and in the cases of land grants to railroad corporations, when said corporations have tailed to comply with the conditions of said grants, the land should be forfeited to the general government and held for the benefit of actual settlers.

That we congratulate the people of Illinois upon the prompt conviction of the leaders in the attempt to debauch the ballot box in Chicago at the late state election. We demand that all offenders against the purity of the ballot shall be brought to speedy and condign punishment, and we return our thanks to the Thirty-fourth general assembly for the enactment of a city election law whereby fraudulent voting may be effectually

We arraign the democratic administration of President Cleveland for having failed to keep the pledges on which it came into power. It promised economy and retrench-ment, and has been the most extravagant in expenditures, and its appropriations for the current year largely exceed the abundant revenues of the government. It promised to reduce the surplus in the treasury, but, re-versing the rule of previous administrations. versing the rule of previous administrations, has permitted such surplus to be idle and accumulate to the injury of the business of the country, and refused to approve the action of a large majority of both houses of congress directing such surplus bearing debt of the nation. It promised to care for and give attention to the disabled soldiers and sailors of the late war, and treated with a contemptible yeto every pension bill against which it could find any shadow of technical objection, the promised to protect the persons and property of citizens, both at home and abroad, and to maintain the dignity and honor of the nation; yet in its relations with Great Britain it has shown itself unable to give protection to either persons or property, and has permitted our flag to be insuited without a proper profest almost in sight of our shopes: proper protest almost in sight of our shores; while by hasty and unseemingly action it has unnecessarily jeopardized our friendly re-lations with the Mexican republic and made lations with the Mexican republic and made our nation ridiculous in the eyes of the world.
Resolved, That we sympathize with all people in their struggle for liberty, and we hope the effort now being made by the Irish people for home rule will meet with success.
Resolved, That the republican party is now, as always, a party that has continuously advocated and promoted the elevation of the workingman and the relief of the oppressed.
The record of that party is the pledge that it will continue to pass and entorce such legiswill continue to pass and enforce such legis-lation as shall protect all classes of labor producers from injustice and oppression at the hands of individuals or corporations, and guard all persons, without distinction, in the enjoyment of their civil and personal rights. That the present revenue system of the enjoyment of their civil and personal rights. That the present revenue system of the state, under which small property holders bear more than their just share of the public burdens and large property interests remain either wholly untaxed or disproportionately assessed, needs speedy revision and reform, and we recommend to the next legislature a careful consideration of the report of the late revenue commission to the end that the present inequality and injustice in taxation may be abolished.

We specially reaffirm the declaration of ithe national republican convention of 1884, that the reform in the civil service, auspiciously begun under republican administration should be completed by the further extension of the reform system already established by law to all grades of service to which it is applicable. That the spirit and purpose of the reform should be service to which it is applicable. That the spirit and purpose of the reform should be observed in all executive appointments, and all laws at variance with the objects of existing reform legislation should be repeated, to the end that the dangers to free institutions which lurk in the power of official patronage may be wisely and effectively avoided.

The convention then proceeded to nominate a candidate for state treasurer. John R. Tanner of Clay, Charles Becker of St. Clair, John C. Salter of Randolph, and L. M. Kelly of Kane were named. A ballot was taken, but before the result was announced, Eatipearing that Tanner had a majority of the convention, St. Clair county moved that the to the nominee by acclamation. The mo-lon prevailed. For the office of superintendent of public Instruction the named wer Leslie Lewis of Hyde Park, O. S. Cook o Chicago, Richard Edwards of Bureau, Chas L. Gribenow of Chicago, James H. Brownlee of Champaign, A. J. McGiumpny of Logan, S. B. Hood of Randolph, A vote was taken but prior to the announcement the entire vote of the convention was east for Edwards. The convention thereupon adjourned.

THE WILKES-PHYLLIS RACE. The Contract by Which the Race is Guaranteed.

The Lincoln Journal has been at work again in an endeavor to mislead the pubhe in relation to the great attractions that have been provided for the visitors at the coming Omaha fair. The Journal has taken especial pains to spread the statement that the special race between Harry Wilkes and Phyllis, which is to take place on September 9 will not occur. As this race is attracting such widespread attention throughout the state the following contract with the owners of these horses is herewith published with late telegram on the subject :

This duplicate indenture and agreement made this 17th day of August, A. D., 1886, between Frank Van Ness, of Kentucky, and Charles Wagner, of Canada, parties of the first part; and the Omaha Fair and Exposi-

CRADLED CHERUBS. They Will Compete at the Fair for Many Prizes.

A baby show will be given on Friday and Saturday at the fair. In order to receive a fair and just verdict great discretion has been used in the selection of judges. After a close executive session, the following were appointed: James H. Way, chairman, Matt Clase and Major D. H. Andrus. The commission authorizing these gentlemen to act is a fearful and wonderful piece of art. Merchants and others have donated very handsome prizes for this exhibition: Messrs. H. Hardy, a magnificent silver mounted baby carriage; C. Goodrich & Co., velvet plush baby toilet set; Charles Shiverick, a fancy rocking chair—a real beauty in design and upholstering; Milton Rogers & Sons, a "Garland Minature Range"a perfect model and completely fitted; Bliss & Isaaes, a very bandsome decorated china toilet sett, and D. W. Saxe, of the opera house pharmacy, a beautifully fitted child's tollet box. The prizes will be awarded on Saturday.

Since the foregoing was published, the following additional prizes have been offered: Dewcy & Stone, cradle; John Baumer, silver cup; N. B. Falconer, cream cashmere cloak; J. H. F. Lehman, emprojdered infant's cloak; H. H. Marhoff, miniature trunk; Madame Hickman, baby bonnet; Joseph Garneau Co., box fancy crackers; S. P. Morse & Co., in-fant's worsed lace night robe; C. H. Frederick, Mexican hemp hammock; Samuel Burns, child's toy set of china on hammered brass tray; C. S. Raymond, diamond and turquoise ring. Application should be made to D. H. Wheeler, secretary, by parents intending to exhibit children. There will be two classes, of one and two years old respectively.

Personal Paragraphs. M. N. Ours, connected with the well known firm of Coe & Carter, has been summoned west on business. Mrs. M. McDermott of Chicago, widow of Michael McDermott, at one time one the most popular of Omaha, arrived last evening on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. John Little.

P. H. Green took the Q. last evening for the east on his way to Germany for an extendec visit. A large number of friends were at the depot to do the honors of parting.

Warden Nobes of the penitentiary was an Omaha visitor yesterday. He reports everything "quiet" with those whom he has charge and the Omaha colony as being especially well behaved. Mr. Anderson, the popular attache of the postal service office in this city, and family left for Portland, Ore., last evening, where he is to assume charge of a branch os the service to be established

Brevities. The examination of the newly elected teachers in the city schools, will be held in Superintendent James' office this morning.

Heavy trains are the order of the day. The Union Pucific wrecking gang went across the river yesterday to clear up some wreckage.

About 200 men were at work on the Fenth street cedar block pavement yesterday, and they made things look lively around there for a time. The M. E. Sunday school will gave a concert last evening for the benefit of Mr. Judson's Omaha mission. No admission will be charged except that everybody will be expected to bring a package of school books, clothing, knives, forks, spoons or garden utensils, all of which will be immediately forwarded. Ice cream and cake will also be served. All the citizens are invited. Turn out and assist the worthy cause.

Base Ball Notes. Manager Kay, of the Union Pacifics, addressed a circular letter recently to all the ball clubs of the different leagues with a view of arranging for a series of games with such clubs as contemplate a western trip after the close of the league season. So far only the Louisvilles and St. Louis Maroons have decided upon a western tour, and negotiations are pending for two games with each club some time in the latter part of October.

The Union Pacifics will meet the St. Joe nine at Athletic park on the last two days of the fair, September 11 and 12. A game will be played at Fort Omaha on Sunday between the Union Pacifics and the Seventeenth infantry nine. The nines from the Union Pacific and B. & M. headquarters will play a game at Athletic park on Sunday.
