

THE NEW COLLEGIATE YEAR.

Everything is Readiness for Beginning Study at the State University.

COMPLETING FAIR BUILDINGS.

A Bad Dentist Who Does Other Things Besides Draw Teeth—Other Police Points—Capital City Notes.

(FROM THE BEE'S LATEST CORRESPONDENT.) The Nebraska state university opens its doors for the coming fall term of the new year in school work on Thursday, September 16. Owing to a span of industry, which is said to be unusual to the management, a good deal of clearing up has been indulged in during the past two weeks, and the building and grounds will be in much more presentable shape for the opening of school work than they have been for the past three months, when everything about the institution looked as though it had gone to seed.

The new chemical laboratory building is, as completed, an ornament to the campus, and the rubbish is all removed from its immediate surroundings its attractiveness will be all the more apparent. The catalogue recently issued by the board shows upon its lists the following number of students in the four college classes, all of whom are supposed to be in attendance when the university opens, but very many of whom always fail to attend. Others possibly may enter the senior classes, but the showing of the older ones are better, presumably, than the opening will disclose. The record gives eleven seniors, seventeen juniors, twenty-two sophomores, and sixty-three freshmen, although the latter class, it is not expected, will show that number in attendance at the commencement of school work. In the lists of first and second year students the figures are large, as also in the medical department and school of art and music. But these students are largely of a temporary class, making present data unreliable. However, the report for the coming year and new students is so good that it warrants the fact that the attendance this year will be large.

THE BUILDINGS AT THE FAIR GROUNDS. A visit to the state fair grounds shows that the society is busy at work completing the buildings ready for occupancy. The new amphitheater, or rather the amphitheater as improved, is the finest and most substantial west of St. Louis. The capacity is increased over that of last year 50 per cent, and it is hoped that the accommodations for witnessing the races will be provided for as never before. To ensure all the new buildings in course of construction at the grounds would be a difficult task, but the number will be at least a third larger than the past year. The machinery men, carpenters and iron workers, are busy at work on the exhibition houses for exhibits, and Power has been tested to its utmost capacity to accommodate the exhibitors. The Fine Arts hall is undergoing a thorough renovation with all the other buildings, and Major Hastings booked a dozen exhibits for space in that building in an hour's time yesterday.

THE REYSOLDS CASE. That is up in the courts for a hearing on Monday next at 1 p. m. will excite considerable interest, particularly as Reynolds is the same Dr. Reynolds who had in the last year, and who has got anything but a savory record. He is the same fellow who, it is freely alleged, went around in the city getting dimes and quarters, and halves from women, and in the city getting dimes and quarters for the Methodist church. Officially it is said that when these facts came to light he was taken in custody on another charge, for which he was boarded at the county jail. Dr. Reynolds was not in the clutches of the law, as recited yesterday, for larceny as before, and the last seen of him he was rushing around trying to get out of the county jail, and his hearing comes off. It is to be hoped for the good of the community that the case will stick, and give the chap a dose of the law, so that he will be willing to give Lincoln a wide berth hereafter.

COURT NEWS. Thomas Wright was to have his hearing yesterday on the charge of running up a board bill at Connor's boarding house and on the information charges, leaving with a refusal to pay and an evident desire to beat the proprietor out of the victuals. The young man had a lawyer at court, who traced around and threatened the officers of the court, but the city supreme court was not in the humor to be bulldozed and the young man was held.

A civil engineer of one of the principal roads in the state arrived in Lincoln yesterday en route for Omaha, where he was going to work for his company. The man, however, was not used to the copper-distilled, extra-strength liquid that moves in Lincoln's veins, and while stopped here to make merry he soon had his brains stoned and the beams of the morning sun shone upon him in the city center. When he discovered himself a prisoner he was thoroughly disgusted, and securing his release he did not waste further time in getting to Omaha, out of the way of influential Lincoln spirits.

The police court report for the month of August shows the total number of arrests as 214, 80 of which were committed, 3 unattached and the fine of one remitted. The total cash receipts for the month were $400, which, with the judge's report, is turned over to the city fathers.

Frank Find, a young chap, was under arrest yesterday on the charge of stealing a coat. The case had not been heard up to a late hour yesterday.

J. J. Imhoff has filed with the county clerk a plat of Hyde Park addition to Lincoln. This plat covers a strip of ground out beyond South Park addition, well on toward the state penitentiary, and along one side of it runs the tracks of the Nebraska railway. The plat is filed for record and shows the land from which the addition is taken to be part of the old Fairmount town site, located out near the penitentiary years ago.

LOCAL LACONICS.

Brief Interviews Gathered on the Streets. Fire Chief Gallagher: "There were six fires in the city during the month of August. In July there were nineteen. What this marked decrease is due to I don't know. The month of August and September always show a slight decrease average."

On the street: "Our western trip we all enjoyed immensely. I don't think that the Kansas City people and officials snubbed us intentionally. The fact is that we didn't give them an opportunity to prepare for us. We didn't notify them that we were coming."

Hotel Arrivals in Lincoln yesterday numbered among others the following Nebraskans: C. H. Pinkney, Springfield; E. C. Carney, Seneca; M. H. Lobdell, Friend; A. J. Weaver, Falls City; Chas. Metz, Omaha; E. S. Downes, Princeton; E. D. Webster, Stratton; A. J. Cowles, Beatrice; C. A. W. Leitch, Leola; W. L. Morgan, Western; B. Presson, Beatrice.

He Wanted a Pass. Chicago Tribune: A man of somewhat imposing appearance stepped into a good general railway office in Chicago a few days since and inquired for the passenger and ticket agent. The office was pointed out and the visitor walked up to him and asked for the pass.

Sweeping the Streets. Since the publication recently made in the BEE of the system of street sweeping changes have been made by the board of public works regarding the nights the streets shall be swept. The new order is as follows: Sunday night: Coming from Sixteenth to Twenty-fifth and Sixteenth from alley north of Izard to Farnam.

A Lucky Gamester. As an example of what queer things luck will do sometimes, the case of a young man who won over $1,500 from one of the faro banks in this city, night before last, may be taken. The fellow who was in a decidedly dilapidated condition, went into a restaurant and begged a meal. The proprietor, contrary to the usual custom of the members of his craft, did not throw the man bodily out of the place, but, on the other hand, set before him a good square meal.

CHRONIC AFFECTIONS OF THE THROAT are promptly relieved by the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Tar Wine Lung Balm. 25 cents a bottle.

Beautiful Women are made pallid and unattractive by uncorrected irregularities which Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" will infallibly cure. Thousands attest to this.

Creighton College and the Exposition. Members of the faculty of Creighton college will give a free public exhibition of dissolving views by means of the famous Madison triple lantern in front of the exposition building on this evening. On the subsequent nights of exposition work similar exhibitions of the scientific apparatus of the college will be given, under the direction of Rev. Jos. F. Riggs.

A Custody County Couple. Yesterday, James H. Campan, a wealthy cattle man of Red Fern, Custody county, this state, was married to Miss Avenia Lourenz of Detroit, Mich., by Rev. R. A. Shaffer, S. J., of Holy Family church. The lady had come from Detroit to meet Mr. Campan, the marriage having been previously contemplated at that place, where, in fact, it had been previously announced in church by the pastor of St. Joachim's. This fact was attested by the pastor's letter, and the ceremony was accordingly performed here, a gentleman and lady of this city acting as witnesses.
