THE STATE FAIR'S FIRST DAY.

It Opens With a Boom, Twelve Thousand People in Attendance.

RAIN INTERRUPTS THE RACES

Many Candidates on the Field and at Work-Lincoln's Ball Club Wins a Great Game-Capital City News.

FROM THE BEE'S LINCOLN BUREAU.] The first day of the state fair proper opened up brightly with about twelve thousand people on the grounds. A large majority of exhibitors who occupy space in the art, agricultural and horticultural halls were busy completing their exhibits. While there are a large number of people who of course are a little late with their stock and goods, yet everything proceeds in an easy and regular manner, which is largely due to the efficient management. President Barhas for his assistants, R. ker Greer and J. Jensen, while R. the always ready and popular secretary, ex-Governor Furnas, who knows more about fairs than any other man west of the Mississippi river, is assisted by Frank Wilson, first assistant; John Gillespie, Miss Emma Gillespie, G. F. Warren, George Furnas and George Dickman, who are at all times ready to assist the inquirer as to what he should do to properly present his wares to the thousands who are wending their way to the state fair.

Ed. MeIntyre, chairman of the board of managers, with his able corps of assistants, kept busy hurrying the anxious to their proper places, while Austin Humphrey, general superintendent of the grounds, divides himself up among several assistants, thus keeping the grounds and people in the best of con-dition and humor. All trains are now run into the grounds, landing on broad platforms. An abundance of good water is placed in convenient places so that none need go thirsty. The grounds and track are in the best of condition and all who may come will find good and reas onable accommodations.

Though the art hall has been added the room still seems to be closely packed by exhibitors from all over the country. Among the most attractive is an exhipit by the Chicago Kindergarten association, which is probably the best explanation of the subject ever given in this country. Exhibits of counties will prove to be one of the most important features of the one of the most important features of the great fair. Already eighteen from this state and Weld county, Colorado, are on the ground. Valley, Custer, Cheyenne and Keith each have a large and credit-able showing of grain, grasses and vege-tables. Jefferson, Kearney, Polk, Hitch-cock, Lancaster, Douglas, Hayes, Dundy, Adams, Cass, Lincoln, Hamilton, York and Furnas countes have a very comand Furnas counties have a very com-plete showing of their farm products, be-sides many of them a fine exhibit of na-tive wood in addition to their fruit and tame grasses.

The ladies from various parts of the state seem to have taken much interest state seem to have taken much interest in the fair, judging from the extensive display of canned goods, preserves and jellies, in addition to their display of meedle and fancy work in the art hall. They are fairly represented on the of-ficial list by Mrs. Langworthy, of Sew-ard, superintendent of fine arts, and Miss Elle Concers of Plat terewith state Miss Ella Cooper, of Plattsmouth, textile trains to see the fair and had occupied a soat from a short distance out with a real honest young man, right from the coun-try, like himself. When the depot was reached his friend left him for a moment, returning in a few minutes with the ancient tale of not being able to get an express package, which contained goods that he wanted to exhibit. Would his new-found friend lend him $10 until he could get a draft eashed up toway. Of course he draft cashed up town? Of course he would and did. The sucker passed the next three hours walking the streets to see if he could find the borrower, and he was not long in realizing that he was the ctim of a well-known and long adver-ed job. The business of the meeting was largely transacted by the board of directors, al of which was of a routine character. One traveling man was formally expelled for bad conduct, which consisted in borrow-ing money of a Plum Creek merchant, in amount $10, and telling the lender that the T. P. A. would stand good for it. As the association was not in that kind of business, and it appearing to a majority of those present that the brother had further disgraced himself by being jailed at McCook for like crooked work, the ex-pulsion was ratified without a disserting oice The question of selecting an official organ was under consideration, and finally a motion to make the Omaha BEE and Lincoln Journal such papers carried, and they were so declared. It was noticed afterward that there were some vigorous remarks made by some of the members over naming the Lincoln paper, and one of the protestants stated that no paper had treated the traveling men with as much disrespect as the State Journal. The announcement was made that the Pacific Hotel company would give rates of two dollars a day to all T. P. A. men, and the announcement was received with marks of satisfaction. The received with marks of satisfaction. The question of suppressing a saloon at Valley station that had assumed the association letters, T. Thirty-four deputy sheriffs were sworn in at the fair grounds yesterday to act under the chief marshal at the grounds. The thirty-four deputies will be distrib-uted over the grounds and the crooks who are always present in force will have that many officials at least to contend with in plying their vocation. Sheriff Hamilton, of York, one of the best sheriffs in the state, has charge of these officials. Mr. Loomis, of this city, learned by telegraph vesterday that his brother, in Indiana, had been gored by a mad buil, resulting in his death. Mr. L., in re-sponse to the telegram, departed at 8 p. m, for that place to attend the funeral and render whatever assistance he could to the family bereft.

The grave suspicion still exists that Luntzer has murdéred his wife sometime within the last ten days, and it is to be hoped that the mystery surrounding her sudden dis-appearance will be proved to the bottom, and if possible unraveled. Nothing has been done as yet, and if it is true that the doma stated that she was at the the old man stated that she was at the bottom of Salt creek the matter deserves a thorough investigation at once. Many of the private en-tries of butter have been packed in crocks or jars, or brought in oakes packed in common market baskets. Parties attending the fair who are interested in the dairymen's work would do well to call on the dairy superintendent, S. C. The first heat was taken by Molly A., time 2.41; and the second heat by H. R. in 2:42. The race will be called for the finish at 12:40 to-day and at the same hour the postponed Nahrack Brancher's take race for the Nebraska Breeders' stake race for three-year-olds will be called. The races to-day will be the 2:30 trot for a purse of $250. The following 'orses are entered for this race: McLeod,

THE WORLD OF POLITICS will be fully represented at the state capital during this fair week, and much discussion will be had over the coming republican state convention. Congressman Weaver and H. T. Clarke are already in the city, and J. B. Dinsmore is busy at the fair grounds. Mr. Clarke was seen by the BEE representative but was not interviewed, for his aversion to such matters is well known. He is, however, in a confident mood as to results, and is here for the fair and all of it. As to governor, the prophecy was that the delegation was apt to be divided between Clarke, of Omaha, and Thayer.

This week the Lancaster county repubican primaries will be held, and a feverish feeling is already manifesting itself among the candidates. That the prim-aries will be hotly contested is an assured fact in advance, and it is anybody's fight as viewed at the present time. The latest active candidate in the field is Fire Warden Newbury, in the First ward, and who has had legislative experience heretofore in his day from one of the New York city assembly districts. Caucuses are now being arranged.

Lovers of a good game of ball saw the prettiest of the season at Durfee's Park yesterday between the Lincolns and the St. Joseph's. Lincoln presented as its battery Nelson and Schneider, and St. Joe's battery was King and Connors, their strongest men. The game as played was practically faultless, the home club making but one error and winning the game in a score of 2 to 1. At one time the prospects were very promising for a ten or eleven inning contest, the St. Joe's having a man on third and only one man out. The faultless work of Nelson in the box, however, shut them out and held down the score. Alexander, the manager of the St. Joe club, umpired THE FIRST SUCKER of fair week was taken in on the old ex-

The Pedler Who Invented the Rubber Return Ball.

Brooklyn Eagle: For a good many years, summer and winter, raih or shine, John Burke, a stalwart Irishman, peddled goods through the city of Brooklyn, from Bed Hook to Green Point and from Fulton Ferry to East New York, He was known by all the children in the districts which he visited. He liked to see a goodtooking girl, and he married three times. Catharine Burke was his third wife and he married har because she hap been in his employ during the lifetime of No. 2. Catharine was ambitious, and she induced John to make an effort to rise in the world. He engaged in the business of a faker, and went about with a little platform, from which he harangued his audience, under his arm, and with a little coal-oil lamp stuck on a small pole which served to illuminate the surround ings. John tramped through the states of New York, New Jarsey, Penn-sylvania, Connecticut, and Massachu-setts, and made money. When he stood
