Chicago Mail: "We used to inflate bal-loons and send them skyward at every stopping point of the Forepaugh show," said John Forepaugh recently to a re-porter for a Philadelphia paper. "I reporter for a Philadelphia paper. "I remember now one incident in regard to these balloons," he continued, "It occurred in 1874, at Chester. There was a large crowd on the grounds, and a man we called Big Smith was inside the bag while it was being inflated. At last the balloon bulged out, nearly fuli, and Smith crawled from under. Twenty-five men were holding the balloon, and Smith, after he had got outside the machine, saw a candy butcher named Mitchell standing near him. Before any one could count five Smith grabbed one could count five Smith grabbed Mitchell, threw bim in the basket, and yelled, 'Let go!' The men dropped the ropes, the balloon shot aloft like a rocket, and the 10,000 people strained their eyes as they saw it grow smaller and smaller, until it was out of sight. "When the balloon was fast skipping toward heaven Mitchell's head could be seen over the edge of the basket as he yelled 'Help, for God's sake! When the big bag floated beyond the range of vision a dozen men started northward—the way the wind carried the balloon—in ion a dozen men started northward—the way the wind carried the balloon—in teams. They drove eight or ten miles, and they found the balloon with the wretched Mitchell lying h lplessly in the basket on the bank of a creek. Mitchell's hair had actually turned white from fright in his hour's ride in the clouds.

"Several years after that, in another town, Big Smith was inside another balloon as it was being inflated. After it was full of hot air he crawled over the edge of the basket and another man got in for a trip through the ozone belt. Some one yelled, 'Let go!' The ropes were loosened, but one rope, on the side on which Smith was getting out, took a turn around his head, clutching him tightly, and as the balloon shot skyward it took Smith with it by the ankle. His terrified companion in the basket, who heard the cry of horror that swept over the crowd, could not help him, for if he changed his position the chances were that the basket would upset or that the rope would uncoil. After about ten minutes the balloon came down with Smith unconscious and his head full of blood. However, he recovered and is yet in the show business."

Swissheimer Scared-Value of the Grape Vine-Reunion of the Mills County Heroes of the Battle of South Mountain. Old Soldiers' Picnic.

The old soldiers of Mulls county, on Tuesday, the anniversary of the battle of South Mountain, Maryland, in 1862, had a splendid pienie ou Starbuck's lawn. about a mile from Glenwood. They have made it a point to have such a picnic and rennion there once a year, and this year was no exception. The weather was splendid, and the air cool and bracing in one of the most beautiful and pleasant groves in western Iowa, The ladies of the soldiers' families furnished the viands in abundance for the occasion. Abner Kearney post, of Glenwood, called after the first union soldier killed from Mills county, was out in full force, and had a most excellent martial band. Captain Mel Byers, commander of the post, captain of the Glenwood company of the Icwa National guards, and one of the most wholesouled veterans in the west, was master of ceremonies. Major Lyman and Colonel Keatly had both been cordially invited to attend. Major Lyman did not attend, as he was at Avoca attending court. After a sumptuous dinner was spread out on the whitest of linen on the greensward, Colonel Keatley was called upon for some remarks, and responded feelingly by alluding to the fact that twenty years ago to a day, the Army of the Potomac, in which many present served, by the decisive victory of South Mountain, on Sunday, September 14, the first great tide of Lee's invasion of Maryland, and first threatened invasion of Pennsylvania, was turned back toward the Potomae, and by the bloody struggle of Antietam, three days afterward, made decisive by Lee's humiliating retreat into Virginia. He spoke of how intense was the anxiety on that Sunday, in the long lines of the Army of the Potomac, as they climbed the rocky face of the mountain, climbed the rocky face of the mountain, for the safety of 11,000 union soldiers, cooped up at Harper's Ferry, and whose signal guns were heard distinctly throughout that long and painful Sabbath afternoon, only six miles to the west. Hon. John Y. Stone, J. J. Steadman, esq., of the Nonparcil, and E. Starbuch, Esq, all old soldiers, made feeling addresses, alluding in pathetic terms to the fact that the youths of that day, who in toil and anxiety on that that day, who in toll and anxiety on that day bore faithful muskets with the old lag, were now, most of them, old men, peacefully awaiting the summons to their long and silent rest. After the "talks," the young men of the company of the I. N. G. gave a handsome exhibition drill in marching and in the manual of arms, and showed by their proficiency, that they are of the right stuff out of which tomake loyal and effective national de-fenders. There was a large and happy

crowd and not a thing occurred to mar

who are not interested in the grape crop. Even the children are interested in the go down the street. This year the crop has been an exceptionally large one, and of extra good quality. The vines and fruit seemed to thrive during the hot dyr weather of the early summer, and just as the clusters were filling rain fell in plenty, and the result is the largest and telling stories of wonderful cures by the doctors. Marston told of a man who shot doctors. est crop ever gathered here. The grapes of Council Bluffs possess a flavor and quality which commands for them a good price and a ready sale. One, cause of this, and perhaps the chief cause is the peculiar composition of the soil, which chemists who have analyzed it say pos-sesses the same components and in the same proportion as the bluffs along the Rhine in Germany, which have for so long been famous for their grapes. The grape season lasts here about forty days, and in a week or so will be over.

By as careful an estimate as it has been possible to make at this date, the amount of grapes handled this season in this city is 2),000 baskets, averaging about twenty pounds per basket, making 400,000 pounds. This estimate is rather under than over. The price to the producer has been about three cents per pound, showing in round figures $12,000 brough into this city by grapes alone. The crop is a profitable one, and pays well on the investment. The land on which frey are raised is so rough that it is practically valueless for any other purpose. About 1,000 roots are set out to the acre, at a cost, including the planting and preparing the ground, of about $100 per acre. To properly care for the vines entails an expense of about $25 per acre per year until they begin to bear, which is in three to five years. After the fifth year they should produce a full crop, which is about 400 baskets per acre, though the general average is about 300 baskets per acre, and the price generally averages seventy-five cents per basket. There is no danger of an over-production, as the secion is quite limited where the grapes can be successfully grown, and the market is almost unlimited.

Swissheimer Scared. Yesterday afternoon a man appeared in the city marshal's office and asked for protection. After being questioned he claimed that his name was John Swissheimer, of Chicago; that he had been employed by one H. A. Shipman to take charge of a car containing two horses, some buggles, etc., that were en route over the Rock Island road from Chicago to Omaha to the E. M. Halse Mattress company, that on reaching this city late Wednesday night his car had been set out at the stock yards for inspection by the car repairers; that this morning a crowd gathered about him and followed him around, for what he knew not, so he came up town for protection came up town for protection.

On telephoning to the Rock Island freight depot it was learned that the con-signee of the car had been over from Omaha and had taken the car across the bridge, leaving Swisshelmer behind as it was reported that he was drunk. Swissheimer claims that he has no mouey with which to return to his family in Chicago, and is now hunting work.

Hazen's Boodle Gone.

Richard Hazen, who was picked up drunk by the police on Wednesday morning near Ed. Waterman's, on Broadway, was yesterday discharged, as was his "pard," William Cassidy. Hazen claims he was beat out of $20 in a house or prostitution up town and had no money or place to sleep; that one of the female inmates of the house got his "pile" and would give him no change.

School Census.

The school census of Council Bluffs, which has just been completed, shows the school population of the city, those between the ages of five and twenty-one, to be 7,963. This is an increase of about four hundred over last year.

Tales of Some Very Wonderful Cures. Chicago Tribune: The mind-healers actually succeeded in doing something yesterday morning. Upon the report of yesterday morning. Upon the report of the committee on organization, Dr. C. R. Teed, of New York, was elected perma-nent chairman. Five vice presidents were elected, and Mrs. A. L. Lord was chosen secretary, Mrs. Swartz read a re-port from the programme committee, which contained nothing but a repetition of the announcements of the hours of the different meetings. Dr. Teed then read different meetings. Dr. Teed then read a series of resolutions, which were adopted, containing the declaration that organization should be known as the Mental Science National Association, as well as a great many annougements that they were metaphysicians; that metaphysicians were metaphysicians; that no body but a metaphysician knew what it was to be a metaphysician; and that metaphysicians would eventually cure all the mental, moral and physical diseases of the world. Prof. Swartz, at 10:30 o'clock, sprung a resolution indorsing Mrs. Mary B. G. Eddy and Dr. W. F. Evans of Boston, and the trouble began. Everybody talked for and against the resolution, the only practical suggestion being one from Mrs Swartz, that these people should be in-dorsed because they had put bread into the mouths of hundreds by teaching them how to work the mind-cure scheme, and that of another woman who wanted the convention to take five-minutes' "meta-physical treatment" on the question The resolution was passed by a standing vote of 12 to 11, and then the members were told that they could try this treatment if they wasted to.

The feature of the afternoon was the attendance for the first time of a colored metaphysician. The talk took its usual scattering form. Dr. Wright held the floor until Swartz grew jealous and called out from the rear of the room: "Mr. President"—Mrs. Lord was presiding—"can't we hear from some one else soon?" This aroused the metaphysical ire of the other doctor, and he yielded the floor with the words: "This is the second sime I have been insulted in this body. I don't take an insult. When any one outs a thorn in me I pull it out and turust it back. I haven't overstepped the time, and as that party has never been interrupted here, and I think it rather cheeky for him to break on me." Both doctors left the room by different doors, and there is no report yet of mental science bloodshed. Dr. Baldwin lectured on the gift of healing, and, prompted by ques-tions from the audience, said about one in six of the human race were first-class healers, and that the gift was confued to no temperament. He thought prayer increased the gift, but mind-cure was back of all faith and prayer cure. Magnetic healers were liable to take on disease, but the metaphysical scheme was safe for the healer in all respects.

A man in the rear of the audience asked how it was that so many metaphysicians, who claimed there was a cure for everything, had bald heads, gray bair, and bad eve sight and hearing. The different eye sight and hearing. The different doctors kept on talking just the same, but no direct answer was given beyond a statement from Dr. Crodier that disease was the result of association and environ-ment. Miss Inman of Mississippi, knew of a great many cures and called for pee Value of the Vine.

There are few people in Council Bluffs who are not interested in the grape crop. Even the children are interested in the extent of a nickel's worth every time they extent of a nickel's worth every time they was a cut of an ax which had severed the go down the street. This year the crop tendon of the archilles. He stuck the ends of the tendon together and without any inflammation of suppuration the doctors. Marston told of a man who shot himself clear through the body His wife was a metaphysician and began treating him. She called to him, "There issno death, John. You cannot die," and held him until the doctors came and removed the bullets from his back, although she had already succeeded in stopping the hemorrhage. He said he had no desire to live, but with the help of the sur-geons, who came every day for live days, but gave no medicine, the man recovered One ball went through his lungs, and he might have lived without metaphysical treatment. The plain surgeons said he had one chance in nine. The speaker had never healed a case of consumption in its last stages, but he could tell as big stories as any of them, and did not believe that medicine in human hands ever cured a disease. A Peculiar Taste. They were speaking of a Buffalo bride's trousseau.

"Were her robes made in Paris!" one "Oh, no," another one said; "they were all made in Buffalo. She takes pride in wearing nothing but Buffalo

C. H. Blakeslee, o. No. 1410 Campbell street, Omaha, who recently lost a beautiful and meresting daughter, aged about 15 years, by diphtheria, under the treatment of one of the best physicians in Omaha, writes to Dr. Jefferis, of this city: "Your remedy for diphtheria came too late, our dear daughter was dying when it was received. I am satisfied that her life could have been saved. Another one of our children who had the diphtheria, her throat was filled up with the putrid electation, we used your medicine and in twelve hours the disease was completely subdued. In the future we will keep your medicine at all times in our house. We feel that it saved the life of one of our children. We are very transful to you, and only regret that we did not cell on you sooner." From the Council Bluffs Daily Herald:

Mrs. E. M. Gerard, wife of Engineer Gerard, of the Union Pacific, this city, has been a great sufferer for many years, with what was supposed to be cancer of the taroat. It was so bad liat she was threatened with stavation. Her general health was completely broken down. She could only swallow liquid food, and even that her stomach could not digrest or assimilate. Physicians of Council Bluffs and Omaha attended her for three years and gave no relief. Dr. Jefferis, of this city, was called. In four weeks time he cured her throat, and completely restored her general health. Had Mrs. Gerard not obtained relief soon she would have died from bloed poison, the same condition that destroyed the life of Gen. Grant.
