hany's old opera house, mostly through curiosity. They will hold forth every Saturday the sheriff of Crawford county brought down a prisoner named Stump, who is charged with burglary. Stump was to be released on a write of habeas corpus, and will appear before Judge Aylesworth this morning. The services at St. Paul's Church yesterday were rendered more impressive by the beautiful rendition by Mrs. J. F. Dillon, of the solo of "The Extolation" from the famous oratorio of "Eli" com-posed by Michael Casta. Mrs. Dillon is possessed of voice of great power and sweetness, which gives evidence of careful and thorough cultivation. At this season of the year it is quite the custom for the country editor to urge the subscribers to his valuable weekly to "bring in those townships" or "please bring us that load of wood." But here is an exhibition check that is refreshing. The editor of the Fremont County Heraid, is either very angry, or else he is working a scheme to live on the fat of the land this winter. He says: "Bring us in samples of what you raised this year. We want to tell the world and the rest of mankind what a prolific soil this is—samples of honey, butter, cheese, sorghum, flour, meal, potatoes, apples, grapes, turkeys, chickens, little pigs—in a word anything good to eat, fit to brag on and suitable to write about, and we will give them a fitting, rattling send off."

The Salvation Army has decided to make Council Bluffs a regular station, and have placed Staff Captain A. T. Smith in command, with Cadet Hutchinson second. Other officers are expected to private day from Kanes City. They to arrive to-day from Kansas City. They bave already begun the work of enlisting recruits. It is generally understood that the city authorities will afford them the same protection and allow them equal privileges with itinerant soap swindlers and quack Indian doctors who put some salt and sawdust in a bottle of water and sell it for 50 cents. These parties are permitted to give a minstrel show on the streets to raise a crowd for the purpose of swindling them, and are protected from injury from their sometimes exasperated victims. And as long as the salvationists do nothing worse they are to be granted the liberty.

Rev. Crofts Preaches an Able Sermon at the Congregational Church.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR FOR ST. LOUIS

The Council Bluffs Delegation Leave on a Special Train - The Hotel Scheme Revived-Bluffs News.

"SERVING GOD UNDER PROTEST." Sermon by Rev. G. W. Crofts, at the Congregational Church. Sunday morning Rev. G. W. Crofts preached a sermon on the subject of "Serving God Under Protest." His text was II Cor., ix, 6-7. "But this I say: he which soweth sparingly shall also reap sparingly; and he that soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully.

"Every man as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not gradgingly or of necessity, for God loveth a cheerful

He said that what first suggested this subject was the remark made by a brother minister in response to one of my own that it pained me to go into a house of worship that was inconvenient, uncomfortable and unsatisfactorily adorned. Said he: "Well, the fact is, a great deal that is done in the name of religion is done under protest." What he said was not only true as a fact, but the painful sequel of so much that is hindering and discouraging in the cause of Christ. It suggested the unpleasant thought that in very many instances and in so many ways men consecrated themselves to Christ, and gave of their means, not because their hearts went out after Christ as one they really desired to serve, not because they esteemed it a privilege to be colaborers with Christ in the advancement of his kingdom, but because they felt compelled to do this in some way-that this service was not of free happy choice, but of sad and regretful compulsion. That when they were called apon to do something for their own or others spiritual welfare they did it as if saying, "I enter my protest against my own personal service or sacrifice." Now, there can be no doubt of the truthfulness of this charge brought against us. Much of the work done in the name of Christ is done under protest. It is not all of this character. There are times in the experience of each one when it is a pleasure to perform the service required. There are many liberal souls in the kingdom, who esteem it a pleasure to do what they can, and who crave a larger ability. There have been generous souls that God has touched with the finger of his love that have poured out their libations upon his altar as from an overburdened heart—they have come like the gushing stream from one of nature's fountains of life and purity. And while these have made the world richer they have never made themselves poorer. "Did you ever," said a colored preacher, "know of a church dying on account of its giving? If you have tell me where it is buried, and I will go there by the soft light of the moon, and I will lift my hands towards heaven, over that grave and say: 'Blessed am de dead dat die in de Lord.'"

Liberality digs but few graves in this world. If it ever should make a grave it would be an honorable one. Liberality starves few churches, and shrivels up few souls, said one who knew. "Give and it shall be given to you. Pressed down, shaken together and running over shall men pour into your bosom."

So, as we look at the record already made: as we look at the work done, at made; as we look at the work done, at the churches built in the heart of the metropolis and out on the plains, on the heights of civilization and the depths of barbarism, as we look at the college founded, at the presses send-ing forth the mighty tides of christian literature, as we look at the benevolent institutions established and maintained by christian enterprise and liberality we know that there must be in the world some who have done their work, not under protest, but with a willing spirit and a generous hand. But at the same time not one-tenth part of what ought to be done has been done. The demand has always been greater than the supply, and all because there has been a withholding on the part of God's people of that in-fluence and the means necessary for the rapid prosecution of the work placed in their hands. As much labor as the church is devoting, and as much money as it is expending in its various enter-prises at home and abroad, it is but a fraction of what it might and ought to and indegnation the logical inference of its own acts. We cannot blame the its own acts. We cannot blame the world if, in its judgment, it applies the rule of the Master, "By their fruits ye shall know them." Indeed, this doing things under protest, and what comes of it, is an intensely vital question. It is not because the world opposes the church that it is not a greater force and making greater progress, but rather because the church to so large an extent allows its

and going forward, there would be little attention paid to the caviller.

I admit that the church does much—much in the way of elevating society, much in the way of spiritual and moral reform, much in the moulding of character and making good citizens as well as saints. But what I say is, that it might do a great deal more. It might do its work so cheerfully and willingly that the effect would be ten times as great and good. Now, when the world says that the church has but little interest in what it professes to believe of the utmost importance, how are we to answer the charge?

forces to lie dormant. It is because what it does it does so largely under protest.

If instead of apathy or protests there was all along the line of Christ's vast army a hearty and spontaneous rising up

We all know that where one man or one woman is heartily engaged in the appropriate work of the church there are ten hangers on. That where there is one hearty, live consecrated soul there are ten who are careless and unconcerned.

This we know to be a painful fact, and how are we going to successfully meet the charge of the world when it is brought against us? Shall we say that men feel a deeper interest in these things than is apparent? We may say this very truly, but the apology does not go for much in the argument. It is not by feeling but by fruits that we are known. And then, I apprehend that if a man's feelings and convictions are as strong as they should be, he will not rest until an effort is made in that which most harmonizes with in that which most harmonizes with them. But feeling, unaccompanied by action, is a poor thing. Good wishes of themselves never made any advancement in this world. They have never built a church nor a school house; they have never comforted the mourner, healed the sick, clothed the naked, nor fed the hungry. Says Jesus: "Blessed are those servants whom His Lord, when He cometh, shall find so doing." Doing, not feeling, is to be taken as an evidence of feeling, is to be taken as an evidence of nerit and loyalty, and as a basis of reward. We want not less feeling, but more doing. The church needs to move, not merely by a representative few, not by proxy; not by its officers; not through some consecrated souls who are already doing all in their power, but it should move en masse, as one mighty army, not failing to close up the ranks when one falls, keeping the army solid and ever moving on to the destruction of the works of the enemy.

It is sad and painful that the church is

Diphtheria is again making its annual visitation. Ten years' trial of DR. THOS. JEFFERIS' REMEDY for that fatal melady has demonstrated the fact that it is infallible as a preventive and cure. If you permit your children to die with diphtheria, "Their blood be upon your head." C. H. Blakesiee, of No. 1440 Campbell street, Ornaha, who recently bost a beautiful and interesting daughter, aged about 15 years, by diphtheria, under the treatment of one of the best physicians in Omaha, writes to Dr. Jefferis, of this city: "Your remeily for diphtheria came too late, our dear daughter was dying when it was received. I am satisfied that her life could have been saved. Another one of our children who had the diphtheria, her throat was filled up with the putrid ulceration, we used your medicine and in twelve hours the disease was completely subdued. In the future we will keep your medicine at all times in our house. We feel that it saved the life of one of our children. We are very thankful to you, and only regret that we did not call on you sooner." From the Council Bluffs Daily Herald:

Mrs. E. M. Gerard, wife of Engineer Gerard, of the Union Pacific, this city, has been a great sufferer for many years, with what was supposed to be cancer of the throat. It was so bad that she was threatened with starvation. Her general health was completely broken down. She could only swallow liquid food, and even that her stomach could not digest or assimilate. Physicians of Council Bluffs and Omaha attended her for three years and gave no relief. Dr. Jefferis, of this city, was called. In four weeks' time he cured her throat, and completely restored her general health. Had Mrs. Gerard not obtained relief soon she would have

Frightful Accident.

The following account of a very sad accident which occurred in Waupun, Wis., may interest some of the readers of the BEE in Council Bluffs, the Mr. Hooker referred to being a near relative of Mr. P. M. Pryor, of this city:

A very sad accident occurred at Wanpun Tuesday afternoon which resulted in the death of Mrs. Dacey and two little enildren, daughters of well known residents of Waupun. Sarah Hooker, a 5-year-old daughter of C. E. Hooker, of the Waupun Times, and Edith Jones, youngest daughter of Charles Jones, with Mrs. Dacey, an attendant, were run over by train No. 4 white they were attempting to cross the railroad bridge All three were instantly killed, the engineer being unable to prevent the snocking accident. The remains, badly mangled, were at once conveyed to the different homes, where many sympa-thizing friends have called. The accident causes deep sorrow at Waupun.

From the Council Bluffs Daily Globe: M.A. McPike, editor of the Cambria (Ebens) burg, Pa.: Freeman, has been the personal friend of the editor of the Globe for more than twenty years, and is known wherever he is known as one of the best men living. He is also an intimate friend of Mr. Clark of the Nonpareil. He has been unfortunate in the fact that his family was ravaged with diphtheria, and greatly distressed. Mr. Clark having heard of his calamity sent him some of Dr. Jefferis' Diphtheria Cure, it was used at once, and the lives of the rest of his children saved. Letters from Mr. McPike are unbounded in their expressions of gratitude for finding some means of averting the loss of his whole group of little and tender ones. Five of Mr. McPike's children out of eight died from diphtheria before he had an opportunity of using Dr. Jefferis' remedy.
