

THE SUNDAY BEE COUNCIL BLUFFS.

SUNDAY MORNING SEPT. 26. OFFICE, NO. 12, PEARL STREET. Delivered by carrier in any part of the city at twenty cents per copy.

H. W. TILSON, Manager. TELEPHONES: BUSINESS OFFICE, NO. 14. NIGHT EDITOR, NO. 23.

MINOR MENTION.

New York Plumbing Co. New fall galls at Reiter's. Cheap railroad tickets at Bushnell's.

United States court will meet to-day. Dr. W. H. Sherraden, dentist, 27 Main. Richmond furnaces, Cooper & McGee.

The democrats are to hold their city primaries this evening. Fine lot stoves, furniture, etc., for sale on payments by A. J. Clark.

M. M. Adams, of Council Bluffs, and Mary E. Folsom, of Crescent City, have been licensed to marry. This is a good season for residence building.

Mrs. William Lewis has purchased of G. Boys a house and lot on Seventh avenue, between Eleventh and Twelfth streets.

Good wages paid to a competent girl to do plain cooking, washing and ironing. No second work. Mrs. S. Farnsworth, South Eighth street.

P. Flander, who picked up the painter's vest Friday, was discharged yesterday, as his statement that he thought the vest was an old one that had been thrown away was not believed.

Christian Peter Christensen has a permit from the county clerk to wed Steen Petersen. They are both residents of Council Bluffs. They went before Justice Frayne and were married. Good luck.

The ladies of the First Baptist church will give a "Hard Times" social at the parlors of their church next Thursday evening for the benefit of the Scandinavian Baptist church of this city. All are invited.

Last evening those who attended the social of the congregational church, entertained at her residence by Mrs. G. W. Crofts, passed a very enjoyable time. This pleasure was not a little contributed to by the fine music.

Dead.—Hector DuBois, on Friday evening at 9:30 o'clock, aged 88 years, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. J. J. White, No. 411 North Eighth street. She leaves two sons and one daughter.

Friends are invited to attend the funeral to-day at 2:30 o'clock from No. 411 North Eighth street. Every time it rains the people of Council Bluffs take occasion to make very unpleasant remarks about the city council.

There are miles of paved streets in the city, but those who are not adepts in the art of wading might walk miles and not find a place where a crossing could be effected safely and comfortably.

The six-year-old son of J. W. Conger, residing on Market street, on Friday night, while playing sea-saw with some other children, was accidentally knocked off and in falling injured his head so badly that he remained unconscious a few minutes. The little fellow is quite seriously injured, but hopes are entertained of his recovery.

It may be that the good, law-abiding citizens of Sioux City are perfectly satisfied with the manner in which the investigation into the murder of Rev. George C. Haddock is being prosecuted. But to a great many in other parts of the state it has seemed that the effort was directed rather low than high.

In this city a subscription is being quietly raised to employ Council Bluffs detectives to work on the case. There is still some hopes that the assassins will be captured and punished.

Z. T. Lindsey & Co. have commenced an action against the Western Union Telegraph company for $175 with interest and costs. The claim is that last May when Mr. Lindsey was out in Colorado, at Cannon City, he was charged with a message sent from there to Pueblo, ordering his sample trunk sent to Salida, in that state, but that the message was bungled so as to read Salt Lake. That he had to pay to have it reshipped and that he lost valuable time and hotel bills waiting for it.

The case will come up at the next term of the district court. As the little indicator seemed to couple the names of the two cities on opposite sides of the Missouri river, it was concluded to allow it to rest for future use, as the mammas are reluctant to let their dear children leave the paternal roof, and if the mammas have voice coupled by this ingenious invention "it's a go," sure.

The Odorous Sanitary Co., of Omaha, cleans cesspools, cisterns, etc., with the odorless pump. Office, No. 1022 Farnam street, Omaha. Orders for Council Bluffs may be left at H. Eisceman & Co.'s.

New line of millinery just received at Mrs. W. J. Scoles', No. 236 Broadway. Personal Paragraphs. Mrs. W. J. Scoles has returned from the east.

E. M. Ainsworth, of Vail, was in the city yesterday. Mrs. James Schneider and Mrs. Peter Beck left last evening for Logan to visit Mrs. J. Ernstdorf.

BLUFFS SOCIETY EVENTS.

Some Parties the Past Week and More Planned for the Future. COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Council Bluffs Likely to Have a Yearly Sunday School Assembly—Gleason Goes to Jail—Church Services To-Day.

The Social Season. The social season is near at hand and many a fair damsel, as well as married woman, is taxing her brain and slyly pumping others for suggestions by which she may receive a pointer as to some new method of entertainment for her "dear five hundred" and thereby outdo her social rivals.

Council Bluffs is not forward in setting the social ball a rolling, but there is little doubt but when social fairly awakes to the idea that the season is on her, she will open with a "six nights' season" as a starter.

Some four or five "affairs" are being arranged for the near future, but what they will be no one dare predict until these "affairs" have formerly been "christened" by the authors.

Next week will witness as grand a party as has been given in this city for some time, the mother of a handsome and stately brunette debutante of the fourth ward being the hostess. Preparations are already being made and as soon as publicity is given to the affair, it will create a furore among the young society people.

Initiatory events of the season were given the past week, one being on Wednesday by Mrs. E. A. Clark, at her home, No. 216 Harrison street, in honor of her guest, Miss S. D. Reise, the artist, now of Nebraska City, who for several years was a resident of Council Bluffs. The reception was a novel arrangement, and at Mrs. Clark's suggestion Miss Reise painted on eggs the names of the lady guests, together with other appropriate decorations. The eggs being wrapped in tissue paper, were selected by each gentleman present, who took as his partner the lady whose name was painted upon the egg.

Among the guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Brookbeck, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Bryant, of Chicago; Miss Crawford, of Sola Springs, Idaho; the Misses Lona, Clara and Ada Bodison, Miss S. D. Reise, Miss Ralston, Miss Bray, Mr. and Mrs. Bryant, of Chicago; W. R. Warren, of Cheyenne; J. P. Bouler, of Omaha; H. C. Hollis, of Omaha; Charles Bray, C. R. Ralston, of Omaha; W. C. Morgan, Edward Parsons, F. Johnson, L. Winter, of Ohio, and Arthur Hoffman.

A rainbow party was given Wednesday evening by Miss Clara Lebbington, at the family residence, No. 164 Park avenue, in honor of Miss Anita Hudson, of Indiana, who is at present her guest. These present were: Misses Misses Haas, Kennedy, Brown, Sackett, Merkel, Walker, Pusey, and Messrs. Keeline, Sherman, Sapp, Bowman, Haas, Atkins, J. L. Brown, Miller, and Mr. Woodbury, Ernest Hart and E. H. Hart.

THE HYMNOMETER. This little instrument has for some time been in vogue in the past, again is put in vogue in order, and at its first opportunity finds plenty of work.

The hymnometer is an instrument that never fails in its duty, and although it occasionally indicates far in advance that the hour is not soon, its prophecy is of necessity apt to find.

With this introduction the hands begin to move around the dial of the little instrument, and after a few seconds quivering remain stationary at prominent names of a commission merchant of this city, and a young lady in Omaha whose sister is very shortly to be wedded.

From indications it looks as if this couple would soon be wedded to follow in the wake of the young lady's sister.

The hands, noiselessly and with seeming exactness, now point to the name of a young man of this city, and a young lady residing among the hills of Council Bluffs and a young man of Omaha, and the indications are that a union will take place ere "the flowers that bloom in the spring."

With the dexterity peculiar to this instrument the hands again move and quiver as they rest on the names of a gentleman connected with a banking institution in Omaha and a pretty young girl, a resident of the second ward of this city.

The name of a young traveling passenger agent connected with one of the great trunk lines having its terminus in this city, next seen linked with that of a lady of the next, and the instrument indicates a union by the new year.

Council Proceedings. Last evening the council met as per adjournment, all the members present, Mayor Evans in the chair.

Horace Everett presented a petition asking that he be relieved for an over assessment for curbing along Pearl street. J. J. Stewart and others petitioned for a lamp post on Mynter street, between Seventh and Eighth streets.

H. H. Field and others also petitioned for a lamp post at the corner of Stutsman and Platner streets. The petitions were all referred to the appropriate committees.

The council took up the matter of the obstruction in front of the Union Avenue hotel on lower Broadway. The facts seem to be that when Broadway was paved the street was filled in about five feet above the door of the hotel, so the city built a brick wall along the outside of the front porch, and filled up to the wall. After that a heavy rain washed the dirt under the wall and caved it in, so George Gotschke put up a fence around the whole thing and across the sidewalk, which was unsafe to use.

The public have ever since been forced to take to the street in that place, and as the city never well, hardly ever thinks of cleaning a paved street the mud is too deep for comfortable wading. After discussion it was decided to tear down the fence, rebuild the wall and lay concrete sidewalk, and settle the question to who should pay for it after the work was done.

Hon. George F. Wright, on behalf of Mr. H. P. Niles, stated that he owned some property on the corner of Fourth street and Tenth avenue; that he had a frontage of about one hundred feet on Tenth avenue; that the city ordered a sidewalk along that front and frontally built one, taxing at $40 for it; that the sidewalk was laid lengthwise. That soon after it was laid the city ordered the street filled and the contractor filled onto the sidewalk, so that while Niles has an assessment of $40 for sidewalk still against his property he has no walk.

Mr. Niles has also just discovered that he has been assessed $1,000 on his stock, more than the entire stock is worth. Both these matters were referred to the committee on assessments. Mr. Wright then stated the matter of the sidewalk in front of the property on Pearl street, owned by himself and Dr. Woodbury, ought to be settled. He stated that when the sidewalk and walk was laid, it was done by the city and assessed to the property. It was supposed that the city was enough to put a sidewalk on the grades, but such did not prove to be the case. When the city took up the curbing to raise it to grade, preparatory to paving, new curbing was all broken up so that the curbing was necessary, which the city had put in. They now considered it the duty of the city to raise the walk to grade, but that he and Dr. Woodbury had talked the matter over, and had decided that the new curbing was really an improvement, and they were willing to pay for half the curbing if the city would raise the walk. The matter was left with the committee, adjourned to meet at next regular meeting.

Muscular Christianity. From the Davenport Tribune: The office and usefulness of muscular Christianity as a shield for the weak and defenseless was well illustrated on the express train which left the city for Kansas City last evening.

According to the Muscatine Tribune, a half-witted woman boarded the train at Davenport, and before it had made a half dozen miles, wandered into the smoking car, "when she made herself familiar with the men, not knowing any better, of course. Several traveling men undertook to take advantage of her ignorance, and gave her liquor to drink besides taking up a collection for the purpose of getting her to perform an act that no gentleman would think of asking any female to do, let alone a half-witted creature. One bald-headed traveling man, who was bolder than the others, stepped up to her, and in the act of doing a most disgraceful thing, when a left hand fell upon him from Rev. C. H. Seymour, of Davenport, who was in the car, saw what was going on and determined that these so-called gentlemen should not succeed in accomplishing their object. The fellow attempted to hit back, but the professor followed up his first blow and gave the bald-headed traveler several good ones from the shoulder in the face, and taught him a lesson that he is not likely to forget very soon. The man who struck his mate, the worst beaten fellow that has been seen for many days. He was so ashamed of himself that he scarcely spoke a word to anyone after that. When Muscatine was reached his actions were reported to the marshal, who at first thought best to arrest him, but after investigating the matter concluded to let him go, thinking he had received a lesson that would last a lifetime. The poor woman was given charge of the station agent in Muscatine.

Prof. Seymour has for years been considered one of the ablest divines in the pulpits of the state, and out of the many he is a practical philanthropist whose walk and conversation are in accordance with the precepts of the holy religion he believes in.

Only a Stew. "What will it be?" inquisitively asked a man with a dirty white coat, the sleeves of which shone like ebony around his wrists, as a BEE man seated himself at a high stool before a lunch counter.

"A stew," was the reply to which the man who wore the apology for a white coat remarked, "a ha!"

The man behind the counter then hunted up a small stew pan with a handle, and after opening the ice chest, in which the oysters were kept, he produced his "counts" New York counts. Holding the stew pan in his right hand he turned his back to his customer, and with the left hand dipped into a bucket of oysters, pulling out one at a time until he had repeated the dose six times, no such invention as a fork being used, it being wholly unnecessary. As the last "count" was counted and fopped into the stew pan the cook grabbed a black looking rag, which possibly at some remote day had been used for a mop rag, but had recently lost that character, and wiping the moisture from off the hand that had been dipped low in the "count" bucket in search of the "counts," he inquisitively looked the BEE man in the eyes as he remarked, "Do you wish it in milk?" As he was answered in the affirmative he poured some milk into the stew pan, and noticing some object in the milk that he thought probably would be offensive should it be hollowed out, he turned his right hand into the bucket, and with a flop of the hand sent it to the floor. Turning half way around, he then grabbed a pinch of salt, and also some pepper, with the hand that had just left the milk, and returning to the counter, he dumped butter was kept in went his hand and healed up some butter. The stew being then ready, it was placed on the range where it was allowed to remain a few minutes while the customer examined the contents of the pan dumped into a bowl, which rested on a saucer, and this palatable (?) oyster star was set before the newswriter to devour before retiring for the night.

Gleason Gone to Jail. As Policeman Nick O'Brien was hunting up some stolen property he stepped into the second-hand store of M. Marcus, on Broadway, yesterday afternoon, and shortly afterward a fellow walked in with a black deskpin Prince Albert frock coat and wished to borrow some money on it. As Marcus refused to loan him any money on the coat he left O'Brien, having had his suspicions aroused, arrested the man.

By the name in the back of the coat it was learned that Harry Skelton was the maker. O'Brien asked Skelton who the coat belonged to and he named Dr. Hart or William H. Robinson as the owners. Dr. Hart said it was not his, but in Mr. Robinson an owner was found.

The man was taken before Justice Schurz where he gave his name as "Jim" Gleason and claimed to have purchased the coat on Friday in Omaha. Squire Schurz suggested that perhaps Gleason could find the man he purchased the coat of and bring him before the court, in which case Gleason would become a free man could he prove that he purchased the coat in good faith. J. J. Stewart, the prosecuting attorney, suggested that the accused might have until December 1 to bring over the name of the man from whom he purchased the coat, as he claimed to have forgotten it. Whereupon the justice said that if it was given publicly through the BEE the seller might come to the front, but to give Mr. Gleason time he could remain in the county jail until the grand jury met next December.

Sunday School Assembly. Two weeks ago the BEE mentioned the fact that there was a project on foot to institute a Sunday school assembly to be held here every year after the plan of the great Chautauqua assemblies. This project is not dead by any manner of means. The gentlemen who are interesting themselves in this movement are quietly looking the ground over before deciding. They have their attention fixed just now on a forty acre plot on the bluffs adjoining Fairmount park. It seems as if a more delightful, picturesque spot could not well be chosen. In the summer there is always a breeze there and plenty of shade, plenty of room, and with the waterworks plenty of good water. If this project is successfully carried through it will prove of immense advantage to Council Bluffs, and it is to be hoped, to this part of the world. An assembly of this kind was held last year at Ottawa, Kan., and 10,000 strangers were drawn to the city during the session. Owing to the great advantages Council Bluffs possesses in the way of railroad facilities three times that number of persons might reasonably be expected to attend here. Of course it is contemplated to make the organization a permanent one, and hold an assembly every year.

MURDER!!

It is a sad thing to see a man making his annual visit to the city of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and to see him for that fatal malady has demonstrated the fact that it is infallible as a preventive and cure. If you permit your children to die with diphtheria, "their blood be upon your head." For sale only at the office, No. 23 South 8th street, Council Bluffs, Ia., or sent by express on receipt of price, $2.

From the Council Bluffs Daily Herald: "Dr. Jeffrey, who recently lost a beautiful and interesting daughter, aged about 15 years, by diphtheria, under the treatment of one of our best physicians in Omaha, writes to Dr. Jeffrey, of this city: 'Your remedy for diphtheria came too late, our child was dying when it was received. I am satisfied that her life could have been saved. Another one of our children who had the diphtheria, her throat was filled up with the purulent ulceration, we used your medicine in two weeks, and she was completely cured. In the future we will keep your medicine at all times in our house. We feel that it saved the life of one of our children. We are very thankful to you, and only regret that we did not call on you sooner.'"

From the Council Bluffs Daily Herald: "Mrs. E. M. Gerard, wife of Engineer Gerard, of the Council Bluffs Daily Herald, is a great sufferer for many years, with what was supposed to be cancer of the throat. It was so bad that it cured that she was unable to eat. Her general health was completely broken down. She could only swallow liquid food, and even that her stomach could not digest or assimilate. Physicians of Council Bluffs and Omaha advised her to give up, but she was cured by Dr. Jeffrey's medicine. In four weeks' time he cured her throat, and completely restored her general health. Had Mrs. Gerard not obtained relief soon she would have died from blood poisoning, the same condition that destroyed the life of the young girl mentioned in the Council Bluffs Daily Globe: 'M. A. McPike, editor of the Cambria (Iowa) News, writes to Dr. Jeffrey, the personal friend of the editor of the Globe for more than twenty years, and is known wherever he is known as one of the best men living. He is also an intimate friend of Mr. Clark of the Non-Resistant, and he writes to Dr. Jeffrey, 'I am a man of family, and my family was ravaged with diphtheria, and greatly distressed. Mr. Clark having heard of your remedy sent him some of Dr. Jeffrey's Diphtheria Cure, it was used at once, and the lives of three of his children were saved. Letters from Mr. McPike are unbounded in their expressions of gratitude for finding some means of curing his children, and for the recovery of his tender ones. Five of Mr. McPike's children out of eight died from diphtheria before he had an opportunity of using Dr. Jeffrey's remedy.'"
