Personal Paragraphs.

Sir Knights E. K. Long and L. H. Korty returned from the St. Louis conclave last night Hon, John D. Howe, of St. Paul, attorney for the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha, is in the city meeting lus old friends. W. A. Long, formerly telegraph editor of the Republican, has resigned his position and will go on the road as a Pullman conductor. Yesterday evening Mrs. Belle McGraw. who has been visiting her daughter, the wife of Mr. D. Honin, of the Railway News, left for her home in Moberly, Mo., aiter an absence of several weeks.

Mabel Orenard left vesterday to re-enter the seminary at Cincinnati, which she has been attending for a couple of years back. She was accompanied by Miss Gracie McManus, a niece of Mr. R. Kitchen. Mr. Samuel Orchard went as far as St. Louis with the young ladies.

Allison Samuels, one of the most popular of the postal clerks on the Northwestern between Omaha and Cedar Rapids, is at the Metropolitan, Mr. Samuels has been on the line for four years without missing a day's duty, and is just now en-joying a few days' vacation granted him by the department. He figures up that he has traveled more than four times the distance around th world during his long stretch of service and handled mail mat-ter enough to keep a man busy a year working ten heurs a day to count the number of pieces.

A "Star" Transplanted. Genial Tom Peironet, of "the finest," has long borne the reputation of being a humorist in his own way, but his friends have hardly expected him to doff the blue and don the cap and bells of the mimic stage. Such, however, appears to be the case, the bill boards in front of Boyd's opera house bearing his name as one of the leading supports to Mr. and Mrs.

Gold Fields.

Chambers' Journal: For some years the government of western Australia has offered a reward of £5,000 for the discovery of a payable gold field within 300 miles of a declared port. From recent news from Perth it would almost appear that a profitable gold field has at last been discovered. We learn that Messrs. Malet and McEwen, who were sent by the government to explore the Kimberley district, in the extreme north of the colony, have returned, after an expedition which nearly proved dis-astrous to the explorers They lost their horses, and, having consumed all their provisions, only assented struction, by provisions, only escaped starvation by coming unexpectedly to a settler's hut, where they obtained assistance. The party arrived barefooted, their boots party arrived barefooted, their boots having fallen to pieces on the tramp of 100 miles. Mr. McEwen nearly succumbed to the hardships of the journey. A quantity of the new gold has already found its way to England. According to advices from Derby, the port of the country—named after the present Lord Derby, and situated at the head of King's Sound—large numbers of neople, who were -large numbers of people, who were totally unfitted for the work, were starting for the Kimberly gold fields. As the and dear, with an absence of water, it goes without saying that no one need venture in search of wealth without being supplied with plenty of money and an ample supply of provisions. The country is described as closely resembling the Peak Down district in Queensland. The gold is much scattered, but the gullies are numerous. It is expected that so soon as the alluvial gold is worked out, productive reefs will be laid bare. The Kimberly district, contrary to what many have supposed, is a country about four and a half times the size of Scotland, with splendid rivers and with millions of acres of pastoral and agri-cultural land. The climate has been commended by Captain Gray and other explorers as one of the finest and healthlest in the tropics. Last year the population numbered only about 100 white men. The blacks, who are not numerous, are tractable. Sheep, cattle and horses thrive well, so that whether or not the gold fields fulfill the expectations of those who seek their fortunes at the gold fields, there is a fine country to develop. Derby, the capital of this district, at the mouth of the Fitzroy river, consisted lately of but a few huts and tents, and is the station of a government resident. Should the "rush" to the gold fields continue, doubtless all this will soon be Earthquakes and Building. From the Sanitary Engineer: The re cent severe earthquake shocks which have wrought such havoe in the city of Charleston and vicinity are probably unique in being the first in this country to cause destruction of life. The wide-spread destruction of property also accompanying them cannot but bring to the mind of every thoughtful engineer and webster the guestion whether this and architect the question whether this hitherto apparently remote danger to permanent structures is not of sufficient probability to require its recognition in all designs. There have been well-defined earthquake shocks in the vicinity of New York and many other parts of the country, and it would seem desirable that the practical bearings of the subject should be carefully studied. A recent paper by Professor John Milne, F. G. S., of the Imperial College of Engineering at Tokio, Japan, suggests the support of buildings in earthquake countries upon horizontal cast-iron plates, between which are east-iron shot one quarter of an inch in diameter (the cracking strength of each of which is about 1,800 pounds. He also suggested deep foundations free from the surrounding foundations free from the surrounding earth; that all arches where such are nec essary shall be curved into, and not form an angle at, the abutments-in other words, the substitution of elliptical or other curved forms for segmental arches that windows and doors shall not be vertically over each other since they form lines of weakness, as has been repeatedly illustrated in destructive shocks; that high buildings should be avoided; that upper parts of walls, and also roofs, should be made as light as possible, and that steeply pitched roofs are dangerous.

Burning a Criminal 100 Years Ago. The Leipziger Zeitung reminds its readers that just 100 years ago the pun-ishment of burning a criminal to death was carried out for the last time in Ber-lin. Its quotes from its issue of the time lin. Its quotes from its issue of the time a letter written on the 18th of August, 1786, by an eye-witness, describing the punishment. All Berlin had been in considerable excitement some days before. It was seventy years since a similar punishment had been carried out in the Prussian capital, and it was supposed that the enlightened views of the king, no less a person than the great Frederick, would move him to commute the punishment. The criminal was a servant, one Hopner, convicted of robbery and of setting fire the ground seven or eight feet, upon which there was a framework, secured with a door, making it a sort of open open, within which the condemned man was inclosed. The whole was covered and surrounded with wood and straw. D. M. Carr, of the Lincoln Journal, is J. G. Allen of Des Moines, is at the R. A. Whitaker, of Waterloo, In., is at the Millard. and surrounded with wood and straw. The culprit was brought from his prison at 6 a. m. and placed before the rath haus, and on being interrogated, rdmitted his guilt. As sentench was then read for the last time, the officer of the court broke his wand of office, and Hopner was handed over to the executioner. On arriving at the place of execution he was stripped to his shirt and inclosed in the frame. The nile was lighted and it John A McMurphy, of Schuyler, Sunframe. The pile was lighted and it burned for three bours.

A Talking Terror. Cincinnati Times Star: "I am a holy terror from Falmouth, Kaintnek, an' I kili men as easy as gnats:" howled a farmer in Podesta's saloon yesterday, as he grabbed the barkeeper and yanked him from behind the counter and snaked him into the street.
"Whar's somebody that kin fight?

Hain't none of youse city fellers got spunk null to tackle me? I'm sick, an' I come inter town to see a doctor, but I'm a wild cat from up the mounting side Whoop! His song of exultation was suddenly cut short by a little policeman, who necked him and bundled him into a waiting pa-trol wagon. This morning the holy terror had a weary, far-away look in his 'Are you a terror?' asked the court.

"No, sir, I'm an onfortunate fool that hain't got no seuse," was the "Do you kill men? Where do you plant them? How do you kill them?" rapidly demanded the court.

'Never killed nuthin' ceptin' a coon."
"Who was the unfortunate colored man?" asked the court.
"What colored man?" asked the prisoner.

"Didn't yon say you killed a coon?"
"It was one of these air long-tailed coons as what I treed in Scroggins' It wuzn't no nigger coon.' "I'm sad!y deceived in you, prisoner," remarked the court. "I expected to see a real genuine old-fashioned terror. A regular killer in fact! But you are a fraud, sir; an unmitigated fraud of this first water! You couldn't whip a man in the last stage of hydrophobia! Write down 'Louisa Sharp, alleged terror; four minutes and eight seconds to get across the river and make tracks for Florence! Now, my terrorizing friend, put out and never come near the Ohio river again!"

No Luck in Money Won in Bets. Louisville Courier-Journal: I met a gentlemen recently who told me that he never made but one bet in his life, and although he won it yet the money brought him so much bad luck that he never repeated the offense. It was made on presidential election and he won $800. He was away from home at the time and he invested the money in a handsome set of furniture for his wife. Their home was being improved and this set of furniture would be a pleasant surprise to her. The furnibure was packed and shipped, but an accident happened to the boat and it was tied up six weeks in a hot port. When delligered it was so much damaged that after removing the hand-some marble tops the furniture was sent to a cabinet shop for repairs. Shortly afterward the shop fook fire and the furniture was burned. On his return home, after hearing of the loss of his furniture, he found that one of the workmen had let something fall on one of the marble slabs and broken it. He thought that he would finish the business, so he got a sledge-hammer and smashed the whole lot of markle. His only son, a boy three years of age, stoba by to see the fun, but stumbled and fell on a sharp piece of marble, freeling a dangerous wound on his temple. He has grown to manhood, but will carry to his grave an ugly scar. A New Steam Engine. From Science: Considerable excitement has been directed of tate in England to the performances of the Marchant en gine, for which it is claimed that the difficult problem of the return to the boiler of steam which would otherwise be wasted, has now been practically solved wasted, has now been practically solved by it. Several stringent tests have been made of this engine, under the superintendence of respon-sible engineers previously unacquainted with it, and the result of one of the most recent may be here given: "The stated effective hore power of the engine (93.3) was therefore obtained at the expendi-tuce of 0.803 pounds of Welsh coal per horse power per hour, and we hereby certify to such ascertained result.' The boiler pressure was 241 pounds per square inch; the average yacrum in the condenser, seventeen inches, and the speed, 125 revolutions per minute. The results thus obtained work to a fraction over half a pound per indicated horse power per hour. The economy in coal is such that it is calculated that the Peninsular and Oriental Steamship company would save £1,000 ($5,000) per day by the use of such en rines As the condenser occupies only a exteenth of the space of an ordinary condenser, it is adaptable to locomotives, which might, says Mr. Marchant, the inventor, to built to run 1,000 miles without a fresh supply of water.

The London Athenseum is authority for the statement that the pigment known as "mummy" is nothing more nor less than your ancient Egyptain, his bones, his bandages, bitumen, and all, ground up with oil. It resembles asphaltum in its general qualities, except that, proba-bly owing to admixture of linen fiber, the mineral oil of the ancient bitumen has disappeared, so that mammy is not quite so liable to crack or move on the

It is explained that the reason the majority of women wear black stockings while bathing in the sea is to frighten away the sharks. At least that is what Frank Stockton assigns as the reason for wearing black hose in the water in his amusing story of "Mrs. Lecks and Mrs. Aleshine." One of the heroines propounds as a fact that sharks never eat colored persons, and the nearest they can come to being colored in the water is to wear stockings of a sable hue.

Catarrh Cured

Catarrh is a very prevalent disease, with distressing and offens ready relief and speedy cure, from the fact that's through the blood, and thus reaches every part of the system.

"I suffered with catarrh afteen years. Took Hood's Sarsaparilla and Lum not troubled any with catarrh, and my general health is much better." I. W. Linner, 1715 tal Clerk Chicago & St. Louis Raiiroad. "I suffered with extarra 6 or 8 years; tried many wonderful cures, maniers, etc., spending nearly one hundrell dellars without benefit. I tried Hood's Sarsabarilla, and was greatly improved." M. A. Absex, Worcester, Mass. Hood's Sarsaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities: 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the proportion; 3d, the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual strength, effecting cures bitherto unknown. Send for book containing additional evidence. "Hood's Sarsaparilla tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetife, and seems to make me over." J. P. Thompson, Eegister of Deeds, Lowell, Mass.
