Last night the opera house was crowded to see Mme. Steen. The audience was seemingly well pleased throughout. The gentlemen upon the stage were H. D. Harle, Colonel Hoffmayr, Mayor Evans, S. S. Stevens, D. W. Bushnell, Colonel Sapp, Simon Eiseman and George Brown.

J. T. Hurley, who has been away convention at Kansas City, has returned. A BEE man met him and asked him for the news. He tried to put off the news-paper man by saying, "Oh, we had a good time there." But a BEE man can scent news as far as a bee can honey, and usually finds it. Mr. Hurley stated that the name of the organization had been changed to the Switchmen's Mutual Aid association of North America, so as to permit Canadian switchmen to obtain membership. Also that the grand lodge was now directed by five instead of seven directors. After considerable pumping the fact was elicited that Mr. J. T. Hurley, of this city, was chosen one of those five directors. Mr. Hurley bears the honors blushingly.

Open Letter.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Sept. 25 .-- Mr. W. R. Vaughan-Sir: We were promised at the last city election that if we could get rid of you as our chief executive our improvements would go on and our bonds be brought up to par. We were also promised that the filth deposits in the creek should be kept out and not poison us any longer, but in spite of such promises nothing at all has been done, and we are to-day undergoing the scorn and contempt of strangers visiting our city. In addition to all that our laboring men have been driven to seek employment and homes at Omaha and other places, because no one will invest in a city where the interests of all slike are unprotected.

Now, Mr. Vaughan, if you, with your usual energy, will promise to do what is fair and right in regard to our health, and promote the building of a wagon bridge across the river on the north side of the bridge, as you have had immense success in getting the heavy donations for the cable road at Omaha, we will promise you our support for the place of mayor. Well, barring that, you will beat the drones incapable to govern a city.

J. E. AHLES.

The above letter was written by the same J. E. Ahles who a year ago called the meeting in the park one Sunday and made such a bitter speech against Mayor Vaughan, and who was the author of the resolutions which were passed at that time denouncing Vaughan in stronger terms than any passed at any other time. Verily, some men who aspire to lead are rather unstable.

HOME MISSION WORK.

Reasons Why All Who Love Their Country Should Extend It. Yesterday morning Rev. Dr. Cooley preached on the subject of "Home Missions" at the First Baptist church. He selected as his text, Luke, xxiv; 4-7: 'And the repentance and remission of sins should be preached in His name unto all the nations, beginning from Je-

Here two things were commanded: First, that all the world should have salvation, through Christ, offered them. This command was given to the disciples of Christ, and is as much a command to-day as the day it was uttered. It is to every disciple of Christ. To-day we are commanded to preach the gospel to every nation, in every clime, in all lands. Second, that the beginning should be Jerusalem. Why was this to be the place of beginning? Because this was the nation of promise, as the seed of Abraham. The Lord had coveranted with them that to them first should the Savior be presented.

This nation was known to Christ and the disciples, and were kinsmen, neighbors and friends. Here were centered the ties of friendship and love. What more natural and proper than that the gospel of salvation through Christ should first be given to them. A man's first duties are always to his kin, his friends his own country. Here, too, God had for ages been preparing the way for the propagation of His truth, and here was where the disciples were ordered to first preach it. But they were not to stop here. They were to make their own land the first point, and the central point, from which those who received the glad tidings were to start to publish it to the world. It is plainly taught that a man's first duties are to those of his own home, his own city, his own nation, and from these and through these he must reach out to the The theme deduced from these facts is that it is through our country that the whole world is to be blessed, and, therefore, it is of vital importance that the United States be a truly Christian

One of the reasons why our own country is to have such an influence on the world is that it is the great highway of the nations. If it were off in one like Sweden, Denmark, Alaska corner or even Russia, it might still make its in-fluence felt, but no such opportunity would be offered as now, when right across our land, through our state and even through our city, pours an immense throng traveling to and from all the nations of the earth. The quickest route from Europe to the great nations of Asia is right across our continent. Another reason is that the Anglo-Saxon race, to which we belong, are to-day the dominant race. As in olden times various nations have shaped the destinies of the whole earth, to-day the Anglo-Saxon race make themselves felt more than any other. It is because they are possessed of superior energy and talent. And the composite race of this country is superior to that of England. Here may be found more than twenty distinct nationalities from the old world, and the composite race thus roduced is the most nervous. energetic, the most intelligent race on the face of the globe.

A third reason is that we are growing more rapidly than any other peoplegrowing in population. In 1700 the Anglo-Saxons numbered less than 6,000,000. In 1880 they numbered 100,000,000. At the end of the reign of Charles II. of England the inhabitants of the English colonies in this country numbered 200,000. In 200 years the population of our country has increased two hundred and fifty fold. This mighty Anglo-Saxon race, though to-day only one-lifteenth part of mankind, rules more than a third of the surface of the globe and more than of the surface of the globe and more than one-fourth of its people. If this race should increase for the next century as during the past, in the year 1900 it would number 1,343,000,000. In the past the most rapid increase has been in the United States. With the present rate of increase in 1980 we shall have a popula-tion of 480,000,000. It is not unlikely that in the year 2000 the Anglo-Saxon race will outnumber all the other races of the world. And here in the United States is to be the center of power, and from the west, that vast country lying west of the Mississippi and east of the Pacific, is to radiate the influences that will rule the world.

We are growing, too, rapidly in wealth. In 1880 the value of the possessions of the people of the United States was forty-three billions, six hundred and forty-seven millions, more than enough to buy the Russian and Turkish empires, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Italy, and all South America—the entire possessions of one hundred and seventy-seven millions of people. Great Britain is by far lions of people. Great Britain is by far the richest nation of Europe. Our wealth exceeds hers by two hundred and seventy-six millions of dollars. The wealth of Europe is the accumulation of centuries, while the greater part of ours has been created within twenty years. In 1860 it was valued in sixteen billions, one hundred and sixty millions, while in 1880, in spite of the four years of devastating war, during which so many hundreds of thousands of our citizens were withdrawn from the ranks of the producers, it has increased 170 per cent. This, the young-est of all nations, has only begun to de-velop her resources. We have no standing army to support as they have in Europe. We do not withdraw our young men from the industries of the nation, but they are all wealth producers instead of wealth consumers. This nation is soon to be the great money center of the world.

But with this unparalleled growth, there also great perils and great responsibilities In the old times the Goths and Huns sent their hordes south and they overran and overturned the greatest nations of but never was there such an influx of foreign population to the shores of any country as there is now to this. Since 1847 more than nine million stran-gers have come to our shores. Of these three and a half millions have come dur-ing the past eight years—more in eight years than our entire population in 1876. Our present population is not far from fifty-eight millions, of these eight millions are blacks. Of the fifty millions white population of this country over half are are blacks. Of the lifty millions white population of this country over half are of foreign birth or foreign extraction. Some of the best men of Europe are seeking our shores, but alas, many, very many of the worst are also being landed here. Many of the nations of the continent are literally and the continent are literally and the continent are literally as the contine here. Many of the nations of the con-tinent are literally emptying their jails and prisons into our ports. And this vast mass we must Americanize, we must evangelize. Our distinctive American institutions are in danger of being swamped under this tide of un-American life that is pouring into this country. How is it with the Sabbath? Once the Lord's day was reverenced in the Lord's day was reverenced in America. But now in this city America. But now in this city or in Omaha, there are streets where men might walk and never imagine it was the Sabbath. It has been truly said, in referring to the German emigrants, that we must evangelize them or they will Germanize us. Another peril is the wonderful increase of wealth. History proves that nations are families which accumulate great wealth, lose their energy, their yigor, their hardihood and powers of endurance, and finally become extinct. This calamity will be averted only by the possessors of this wealth realizing that they are permitted to hold it only as stewards for the Lord.

Another peril is socialism and monopolies. They are classed as one because one can not live without the other. there were no monopolies there would be no socialism. The gospel of Christ will remove all danger from this peril. It will teach the monopolists to do to others as they would be done by. And you never heard of a christian who was a

Another peril is ignorance or illiteracy. This peril threatens other localities more than it does our state, for in Iowa more than ninety-six out of every hundred of the population of over ten years of age can read and write, but through all the south half of the population can neither read nor write. If I would have a man feel a strong desire for education I would lill his soul with the love of Christ. There is nothing so quickly or so thoroughly awakens the dull plodding young man, who is content with his lot, and fills him with an ambition to be something better, higher, nobler, than to have his heart touched with the fire of the religion of Christ.

Another great peril is the tremendous pressure of the age in which we live. Professor Austin Phelps said a few years ago, "Five hundred vears of time in the progress of the world's salvation may depend on the next twenty years of United States history." Says another writer, "Ten years in the history of America is half a century of European progress."

Abraham Lincoln, though he was cut off in the prime of life, was older in thoughts and in deeds than Methuselah, who was counted to have lived nearly a thousand years. It is not sun risings and sun settings, or the journey of the earth round the sun that makes a long life, but heart throbs, thoughts and deeds. Ten years of life in this new west are in their results fully equal to half a century east of the Mississippi.

In conclusion he summed up by laying down the proposition that only christi-anity could make good citizens, and therefore it was our duty to exert our entire influence to extend the gospel of Christ to every creature, especially at this crisis of our own and the world's history

A Sense of Duty Performed, the Only Reward.

Sheriff Perry Reel returned yesterday morning from New Albany, Floyd county, Ind., where he went with James Lee Quinn. He left this city on Tuesday evening last, making the round trip in four and a half days. On his arrival one of the BEE force met the sheriff, who, in his usual cordial manner, greeted the reporter with a hearty grasp of the hand, and in answer to questions replied: "I had quite a pleasant trip, under the circumstances. Of course I obtained very little sleep, as I had to remain wide awake while I had the prisoner in charge. He gave me no bother whatever. His wife went along with us and will no doubt stick to him to the end. When we arrived, court was in session, but Quinn's lawver asked for a continuance of the case until the next term, which is in February next, 1 believe. The supposition there seemed to be that Quinn had no money with which to retain a lawyer and possibly that was the cause of the delay, have the case come to trial. As soon as I arrived I settled my business with the board and left directly thereafter, as I wanted to catch the train which was then about ready to leave. Some people there think it will be a hard undertaking to prove a case against Quinn even should he be guilty of the crime, as it occurred on August 1, 1880, and after a lapse of six years the evidence is not apt to be forthcoming. On his return home the sheriff stopped a short time at his old home in Indiana

after an absence of about thirty-five

Many people are of the opinion that a large reward had been offered for the arrest of Quinn, but such is not the case. The sheriff has a statement from Henry R. W. Meyer, clerk of the circuit court, with the seal of the court affixed, to the effect that there was, in 1880, a re-ward of $50 offered by the sheriff of Floyd county for the arrest and conviction of Quinn, but by reason of the expiration of the sheriff's term of office his offer was no longer standing and no reward has been offered to either by the county or state since then. The county paid the actual ex-penses of the sheriff.

There has been a report circulated in this city, since the arrest of Quinn by Officer O'Brien, on Sunday, the 19th inst., to the effect that the state of Indiana had a standing reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of any mur-derer, and in consequence many believed, and in fact it was common talk that had it not been for this reward Quinn would not have been arrested, but now it can plainly be seen that the arrest and quiet-ness with which it was effected was simply in the furtherance of justice.

That Tramway Scheme. A couple of years ago J. J. Brown and others petitioned the council of this city for the privilege of running a tramway along some of the least important streets, for the purpose of running dirt cars from the bluffs to the bottom lands. The petition was refused, because some of the teamsters thought there would be less work instead of more if a tramway was built. The result is there is virtually no work at all in the line of dirt moving. The scheme is now being revived, and it is to be hoped that it will not meet effectual opposition this time. The talk is, and it comes from those who should know, that the Union Pacific will make use of it, if the charter is granted, to fill up beyond high water mark the large tracts of bottom land owned by that company on this side. On this filled land the company will locate a large round house in which to keep their engines, thus effecting a considerable saving of time and wear of the bridge. Large additional repair shops will also be put up. A great many cars on arriving at the transfer after their long runs are found to need repairs, and as the business increases in volume the capacity of the car shops in Omaha is more taxed. Then, too, it consumes a great deal of the time of valuable men and engines to run these cars across the river, and over the crowded tracks to the shops, often consuming an hour and a half to make the s ort trip, and as long to return.

The other roads centering here also desire to make their bottom lands available for use.

Citizens who are now utterly unable to fill their lots, owing to the great expense of hauling dirt such a distance by team, would be enabled to grade up their property, and in this way employment would be afforded to a small army of shovelers. Teams would necessarily be employed to make short hauls from the dumps, and at better wages than could possibly be paid for long hauls.

The subject is one worthy of careful consideration, and a narrow-minded selfishness should not be allowed to defeat the general and lasting good of the

A Union Candidate. Because Mr. R. Vaughan is in business n Omaha, and is seldom seen except during the evening, on this side of the river, it must not be inferred that he has no further thought of, or care for "my city." The inference would be entirely incorrect. Not only does "the Carter Harrison of the Missouri slope" think and care for Council Bluffs, but he has aspirations to be the "best mayor," etc. He would prefer to be a nomince of a regular convention, but if the people demand it he will run as a popular candidate. He will only consent, however, to enter the race upon one condition, and that is that all the petty jealousies existing in the minds of Council Bluffs people, against Omaha be forever buried, and every effort be made to unite the interests of the two cities, commercially, socially, metaphorically and hterally. He will metaphorically and literally. He will then consent to be mayor; he will reside in Council Bluffs; he will do business in Omaha; he will run over here whenever there is a council meeting; he will build a big free bridge across the Missouri; he will run cable cars across the bridge, up Broadway beyond the M. E. church, over onto Washington avenue where Mr. Vaughan resides, and all over the city, and inaugurate an era of peace, plenty and prosperity never dreamed of, and make city warrants worth twenty-five cents on the dollar. All this if the people demand his election to the mayoralty. If not he will let things jog along in the old way. Three Strikes.

C. H. Blakestee, of No. 1410 Campbell street, Omaha, who recently lost a beautiful and interesting daughter, aged about 15 years, by diphtheria, under the treatment of one of the best physicians in Omaha, writes to Dr. Jefferis, of this city: "Your remedy for diphtheria came too late, our dear daughter was dying when it was received. I am satisfied that her life could have been saved. Another one of our children who had the diphtheria, her throat was filled up with the puriful ulceration, we used your medicine and in twelve hours the disease was completely subdued. In the future we will keep your medicine at all times in our house. We feel that it saved the life of one of our children. We are very thankful to you, and only regret that we did not call on you sconer." From the Council Bluffs baily Herald:

Mrs. E. M. Gerard, wife of Engineer Gerard, of the Union Pacific, this city, has been a great sufferer for many years, with what was supposed to be cancer of the throat. It was so bad that she was threatened with stavvation. Her general health was completely broken down. She could only swellow liquid food, and even that her stomach could not digest or assimilate. Physicians of Council Bluffs and Omaha attended her for three years and gave no relief. Dr. Jefferis, of this city, was called. In four weeks' time he cured her throat, and completely restored her general health. Had Mrs. Gerard not obtained relief soon she would have died from blood poison, the same condition that destroyed the life of Gen. Grant.
