Talks About the Change of Uncle Sam's Builder-Ring Out the Old Fire Alarm and Ring in the New -A Birthday Surprise,

The New Chief of Police. Mayor Groneweg was yesterday comfortably scated in his parlor, smoking his eigar and calmly writing his inaugural, when he was interrupted by the call of the BEE news gleaner. He submitted to the interruption with his usual smile, and cordially invited the interrogation point to pose in one of the casy chairs, but the hospitable invitation was declined, so eager was the caller for an answer to the query, "Who is to be the new chief of police?" Mayor Groneweg did not seem quite ready to impart the desired information, but when urged that the business men and many other renders of the BEE were deeply interested, he finally revealed the desired fact by saying: "Well, I do not care to have it made public before the appointment is announced to the council next Thursday Only a little of the contents were night, but the appointment will be made Monday morning, at the request of the present chief, who wants to be relieved at once, so I might as well tell you that Mr. J. Mullen is the man." The BEE is therefore pleased to introduce to its readers this morning "Jerry" Mulien as the new chief of police. He hardly needs an introduction, as he is well known here as the result of his long residence. He was a member of police force during Mayor Bowman's administration, and for a year and a half has been deputy marshal under Guanella. He is thoroughly experienced for the office, and has apparently the requisites for making an excellent chief of police. He is familiarly known as "Jerry" Mullen, but his proper name is James Mullen, the niekname having arisen from his first being called "Jay," and this in course of time drifting into "Jerry." The appointment will be a surprise of many and a disappointment to some. It was supposed by many that Officer Nick O'Brien would be the fortunate man. Had he been chosen, there is a possibility that the police department and marshal's department would not work together as harmoniously as they should. At least, by the appointment of Mullen, there is less liability of any clashing, he having been long associated with Guanella and

It was thought by some that Guanella would be appointed, thus combining the office of city marshal with that of chief of police, but this would have been an experiment which might have resulted in complications.

The mayor, as the head of the police force, could control Guanella as chief, but would have no control of him as city marshal, he having been elected to the latter office by the people, and being responsible to the people. To secure cooperation of the police and marshal's forces, and to avoid possible complica-tions, probly the best course was taken in placing in the chief's position the dep-uty marshal.

It is understood that there will be no hasty changes in the police force. The roll of the new force may be presented at the meeting of the city council next Thursday night, but probably not until later, as there are many other matters of business to be disposed of, and there is no necessity for any immediate changes in the police force.

Chats On the Change. The BEE's special dispatches announced n tast Thursday's issue that the supervising architect of the treasury department, M. E. Bell, was soon to be removed, and they were yesterday followed by the BEE correspondent's naming the man likely to be Mr. Bell's successor. A BEE representative sought several gentlemen who are quite well acquainted with Mr. Belt to ascertain their opinions in regard to the chances of the supervising architect's brother, C. E. Bell, retaining his position in this city as clerk to the superintendent of the government building. One gentleman said: "I see by the BEE of last Thursday that Mr. Bell 'managed the office with reasonable suc-ces;' also, that there had been 'some complaint of favoritism in letting contracts for building stone.' Well, if you remember there was no direct charge of fraud at the time the contract was let for the government building in this city, but it was intimated that something was wrong There was quite a fight as to who should ard to get it, and from what I learn was entitled to it so far as being the lowest bidder was concerned, but unfortunately there was a 'miss' which, as the saying goes, 'is as good as a mile.' This Omaha firm sent their sealed bid to Washington and by some means or other, whether by fair or foul, the letter was laid on the table of an official in the interior department, who was at that time absent from the city. This official re-turned to his desk just forty-eight hours after the contract for the stone had been let, and hastily sent it to the treasury de partment, where they discovered that the bid was $2,000 below that of the contractor who was awarded the contract. Had this letter been mailed in Council Bluffs there would have been a fearful howl, but as it was the man forget to mail it while here, and accidentally, and fortunately for Phil Armour, who was then postmaster, it was mailed from Omnha. There is no doubt but some favoritism is shown in most all of the is the old contractors are on the inside, and some way get pointers and Another man well acquainted with Supervising Architect Bell yesterday said: "I am very sorry, as all the plans for new buildings, where the contracts heve not yet been let, will now remain at a standstill. This new man will of course have his own ideas and will in many, if not in all, cases, have new plans drawn government contract lettings. If it were

"Mr. Bell has had the assurance from the president on several occasions that he need not anticipate any doubts as to his tenure of office; that he should and would be allowed to reman unmolested, and in consequence of this assurance Mr. Bell rejected an offer of $5,000 per year for four years to take charge of the Cook county asylum, in Illinois."

Another one said: "I am satisfied that Mr. Bell has been exspecting this recently, because I am authoritatively told he has made preparations to go in business in Chicago and will not return to his old

Some people who watch the political changes and make it a study claim that C. E. Bell, of this city, who is now clerk of the new government building, will be apt to remain, as he is a young man well up in his business and is very much liked by Superintendent Maxon.

Hammered By Harris. Will Harris, a colored barber, was last evening lodged in jail, where he was given the "soft side of a board" to sleep on, and this morning he will be introduced to the police judge to answer to the charge of "whipping is his wife and disturbing the peace" as it registered against him on he blotter at the station. It seems Harris is rather a new arrival from Chicago, where he got mashed on a white girl said to be now only 16 years of age. It is claimed that the two, of age. It is claimed that the two, one white and the other black, concluded to join hands and hearts, and consequently they skipped away from where the girl's parents lived and came west. Since arriving in this city they have re-sided on North Madison, near Broadway. On Saturday Harris got full of whisky and raised the mischief in general, and yes-terday continued his spree and pounded his wife until the neighbors sent for the police. Marshal Guanella lodged Harris in jail, and it was afterwards learned that his white wife's parents had sent her money oth which to return to her home, and Harris had squandered it after he prom mised to fit her up with a new dress,

The Salvation Army made a sudden attack on Council Bruffs, and after trying two different stands, they as suddenly quit, probably thinking this too tough a place for them. The army finally dwindled down to one cadet, and he being left all alone concluded to rest on his arms. Yesterday he took to his heels and quietly walked down Main street to the Council Bluffs, St. Joe & Kansas City depot from whence he departed for Kansas City, returning home.

On his way down to the de-pot a BEE man charged on him and throwing up both hands he "gave up" all his secrets. He said that all the army had gone off and left him and he could do nothing but await for funds to return home. "We'll be on for funds to return home. "We'll be on hand again soon," he said. "Our people think that women can do more and beter work in this city than men and inside of two weeks we will send some of our ladies here. They will continue the work we have started and I think they will be more successful. We've opened up a station here and we shall continue it, notwithstanding many believe because we have not had a meeting in over a week that we have given up the attack.

Such were the words uttered by a drunken man while sitting on a box on Pearl street late last night. The police waltzed him to where he said his name was Francis Sullivan, and as he was being put behind the bars he asked for "just another whif of that whisky of mine before ye lock me up.
