Richmond's "Best Citizens." To the Editor: The attempt of the Herald to palliate or justify the conduct of the white residents of Richmond in their expressed determination of murdering worthy citizens from other communities. lawfully assembled there as representatives of one of the noblest of organizations, was necessarily a very weak production. The proposed gathering of the Knights of Labor at Richmond was fixed upon several months ago, and was of course known to those "best citizens" spoken of in the dispatches. They had ample time, therefore, for the prevention of any infringement upon their cherished customs in respect to the negro by notifying northern knights that they would not be allowed to have colored delegates in attendance with delegates in attendance with them as equals. It may safely be asserted that the noble knighthood of the north would never have dishonored itself by sending delegations into such a miserable community. As the Bee has lately said in an excellent article, if the fact of the pro-posed presence of a colored man at a meeting of whites was sufficient to arouse the passions of the latter to such a pitch as would have insured the precipitation of a bloody riot, it becomes a serious question whether those who have been fondly entertaining the belief that they could see the clouds which have all along covershudowed the south rapidly retreatovershadowed the south, rapidly retreating before the continual march of intelligence as to the true relationship and mutual needs of the two races, have been wrapt in the embrace of a pleasing but delusive dream. Nor does it brighten the case to note—as is remarked with appar-angry demonstration against law and life was led by the "best citizens." In their efforts to apologize for the outbursts of lawlessness on the part of the whites of the south, their northern the whites of the south, their northern ponsors, with characteristic subtlety, ten endeavor to set in motion the forces of the prejudice by discussing this matter.

In conclusion, allow me to add, with due respect to those of different opinion, that such sallies of rage on the part of the whites of the south afford evidence too strong to be ignored that their oft repeated declarations of friendship towards the colored populace among them, and desire for their elevation, are followed by few, if any symptoms of sin-certty. The Tale of a Ring.

Joseph Pascal is the name of an Italian who has for some years resided in this city. During the course of his stay here he met a woman of easy virtue known as Annie Latham. He managed to gain a complete control over the young woman-so much so that she seemed perfeetly infatuated with him. Among other things that she possessed was a valuable ring. The ring one day she placed upon the finger of her dear Joseph, as a token of her plighted affection for him.

It was only a short time after this little episode that the two lovers had a falling out. Annie immediately wanted her ring back. Pascal would not return it. The woman swore revenge and had the Italian arrested on a charge of larceny. The case came up for trial yester lay morning, and after a careful hearing Judge Stenberg discharged the Italian. He still has the ring.

Thievery in Oats.

Yesterday morning Henry Stiger and Curley Love, the latter a colored man, and both employes of Jim Stephenson, were ar rested by Captain McCormick and Officer Rowles for theft. They have been working in the barn for some time, and for many weeks back the owner has been missing large quantities of oats, which could not be accounted for. Suspicion, however, finally rested on the men, named and they were subjected to a close watch. Sunday they were tracked to a barn near Thirteenth and Jones streets, where there are six horses kept, the owners of which claim that they have been buying oats from them for some time. The plan of the men evidently was to put the oats in a wagon in the stable and then smuggle it out and sell it as de scribed. Steiger denied his guilt, but Love had nothing to say. They will be tried to-day.

Attached the Bloodhounds.

For some mysterious reason actors and actresses seem to prefer Omaha as a place for instituting legal action against their managers. The latest instance of this kind developed in Justice Helsley's court yesterday in a suit commenced by Miss Minnie Foster, alias "Topsy," of Draper's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company, which was here the latter part of the week. She sued the management of the company on a claim of $125, for salary and other incidental matters. A writ of attachment was placed in the hands of Constable Chas. W. Edgerton, who at once seized the baggage of the company, including three "bloodbounds," Frank Fritz and Nero. The outfit, including the dogs, is at the Planters' house. The case is set for trial on October 15.

Bagged With a Harness.

Yesterday morning Officer Peironn arrested a fellow named James Daily at the haymarket on Jackson street. The latter had a harness in a bag, which he was offering for sale for $2.50. Officer Peironnett had been looking for such a sale for several days because or the number of barn robberies which have lately taken place. He knew that the haymarket would be a good place to dispose of the stolen goods to farmers, and was not mistaken. His watchfulness and sagacity were rewarded as above mentioned He thinks the harness is the property of William Preston, the stealing of which was mentioned in these columns.

GERMAN COMEDY. Finely Played at the Boyd Last Night by the Home Company.

The performance of the German company at Boyd's seem to improve with each entertainment. The audiences continue to increase in size, and the actors, encouraged by the numbers and appreciation of the auditors, the magnificent accommodations of the stage, and the cozy interior of the theater seem impelled to work of the highest order.

The play Sunday night, "Kuenstlerle-ben" or "Verfehlter Beruf," is an excellent sample of the polite musical comedies in which the German abounds. It is of a kind with many which have been pirated and rendered in English under strange names and without more than localizing the time and name of the characters. It s full of action, sparkles with wit, and abounds in opportunities for the intro-duction of delightful pieces of vocal music. Last night, of this feature there were not less than nine selec-tions in which Messrs. Baureis and Schmitz and Mrs. Puls-Ahl and all of the performers took part. The singing of all the soloists was en-cored, that of Mrs. Puls-Ahl and Mr. Baureis, at the close of the first act,

In brief, the play is the story of four impecunious artists, personated respectively by Messrs. Koch, Puls, Baureis and Schmitz, one of whom is in receipt of a letter from a young lady, requesting an audience, which each answers, and, while answering it in person, is intruded upon by the others in one-two-three order. This results in a most humorous complication which provokes the great-est merriment. The plot is sustained by a number of incidents growing out of this suggestion, together with a little intrigue which introduces a leaven of seriousness to the rollicking gaiety of the whole piece. Of course, the play ends in the marriage of everybody, and this denouement is accomplished when the characters seem indeed to have merited it because of the escapades into which they have been inducted. The piece was signalized by the second appearance, this year, of the venerable Julius Grossman, one of the most capable and esteemed actors the German stage, Omaha, has ever known. His seting as "Baron von Eichenstein," showed that absence for several years from the boards had in no manner impaired his theatrical powers. Mrs. Baureis was as painstaking and interesting as she always is Mrs. Puls-Ahl's versatility in the part of of a young women of volatile propensity of a young women of volatile propensity and an elderly lady of demure manners was excellently displayed, while her voice was sweet and clear. The dressing of these ladies was rich and elaborate. Messrs. Koch, Puls Schmitz and Baureis were thoroughly identified with their respective parts, the humorous work of the latter two persiells. the latter two especially awakening rounds of applause. Mr. Lindemann a ery pains taking young gentleman had a more ambitious part than usual last night, and acted it in a very clever man-Mr. Denicke made a good deal out of his tumbling character. Next Sunday the play will be "Der of men engaged in extending the Cuming street track west to Brown street, a distance of about three blocks beyond the present terminus. This brings the cars to a point about a block east of the Sacred Heart convent and to the base of the hill near the city limits.

Sunday the ears commenced to run on the double track on Saunders street, which extends to Seward. This improvement enables the cars to make more regular time and make the run to the depot in five minutes less than formerly.

A New Dry Goods Firm.

The store room recently occupied by W. V. Morse & Co. is being fitted up for occupancy by Thomas, Belden & Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, who will open a retail dry goods establishment on a large scale in a short time. Their goods are now ar-riving over the Rock Island and will be arranged for the opening as soon as the store is ready for them. The firm comes strongly backed and endorsed by leading capitalists and business men of Cleveland and will form a valuable acquisition to the city's business enter-$110 and Papers.

Yesterday morning a cartle man living a few miles south of Rogers, in this state, a little town near Schuyler, lost a pocketbook containing $110 and a number of valuable papers on the Grand Island train coming to this city. The book was in one of the pockets of his overcoat, which he carried in his arm in going from one car in which there were but fee sengers, to another which was full of His name could not be ascertained, and he was in ignorance as to whether it dropped on the floor and was picked up, or stolen from his pocket.

The New Hotel.

Contractor William Flynn yesterday morning secured the contract of diging the excavation for the new hotel building hich is to be erected on the corner of Tenth and Farnam streets. Work will be commenced as soon as the old buildings which are now on the lot can be moved off, prebably by Wednesday. The con tract will probably require one month for completion. As already stated in the BEE, the structure will be 132x132, six stories high.

Striking Shovellers.

Yesterday atternoon at 1 o'clock about fifty of the men engaged in the excavation for the foundation of the new city hall refused to go to work, because, they claimed they had not been paid for two weeks. The foreman, P. O'Toole, said that the contractor, Mr. Reagan, was in Des Moines, and that the regular pay day was Tuesday, and further that he did not understand why the men had anticipated the usual time for receiving their wages;

12,000 Registered Letters. In the last published report in the BEE of the business of the registry department in the postoffice, no mention was made of the fact that during the last quarter 12,000 registered letters passed through the office for delivery in this city, an increase of 20 per cent over the business of the corresponding period one year ago.

The Cable Line Route.

Mr.L. B. Williams said yesterday morn-ng that it would not be det ermined before next spring what the cable company would do with reference to building on Farnam street. He claimed that the statement made by interested parties that Harney street had been selected for the track was entirely groundless.

Could Not Recover.

Chas. Mehuiln, the young man who last week was kicked in the head by a horse, died yesterday morning, at 845 South Seventeenth street. From the start there was but little hope of his recovery as his skull was fractured and his brain was injured. His folks in Warren, Ohio, have been notified of the sad affair, and the body has been sent to Iowa for was like fire to the sore, causing intense pain. I saw a statement in the papers telling what S. S. S. had done for others similarly afflicted. I procured some at once. Before I had used the second bottle the neighbors could notice that my cancer was healing up. My general health had been bad for two or three years-1 had a backing cough and spit blood continusily. I had a severe pain in my breast. After taking six bottles of S. S. S. my cough left me and I grew stouter than I had been for several years. My cancer has healed over all but a little spot about the size of a half dime, and it is rapidly disappearing. I would advise every one with cancer to give S. S. S. a fair trial. Mas. NANCY J.
