An elegantly dressed couple, hailing from the east, were yesterday very quietly married in this city. After the ceremony they took a trip to Bayliss park, where they cosily sat in the shade, upon a rustic bench, and partook of a lunch, with which they had come prepared. They seemed to be enjoying the marriage feast fully as much as if they had arranged to have been served in a palatial dining hall. The famous pacer Cyclone, which was attached here on an eastern claim, was released, other security being given to make the matter right. The horse has been in Omaha since, and the claim not ocing settled, word was received yester-day that Cyclone was about to be removed from Omaha, and sent east. Papers were hastily got out to attach the horse, again, and officers were on the look-out for him last evening.

A STRANGER'S STRANGE DEATH.

Township Ticke: - Mullen Sworn In as Chief-A "C" Supper -Other Bluffs News.

A Drunken Murder. At an early hour yesterday morning, or late hour Monday night, there was a shooting affair which will doubtless end a the death of the victim and the trial of the shooter for murder. The two participants, a middle-aged man named P. S. Keating, and a younger man, A. B. Chisler, had been together during the evening drinking some, playing cards, and having a merry time, and between 1 and 2 clock started for home, they living as neighbors southwest of the packing house, on the bottom. They were in company with a man named Jones and another named Hayes, who works at the transfer. A boy, whose name is not learned, was with them also. As the party proceeded glong the street Reating and Chisler got to quarreling over some chickens which Keating was earrying home. Chisler broke off a sunflower stalk, and with this would keep striking the chickens, causing them to squawk lustily, at which Keating was greatly annoyed. At last, after telling Chisler several times to stop, Keating got mad and began calling Chisler hard names, and a quarrel ensued. Chisler pulled a revolver and fired, the ball taking effect, entering Keating's abdo-men, near the navel. The wounded man was taken to his home, and the police were called on to nunt up Chisler, who had fled down through the weeds and hid somewhere in the bottoms. While some of the officers went to the river to eatch rim should be attempt to cross, Officer Beswick laid in wait at Chisler's house. About 3 o'clock in the morning Chisler came sneaking home, and as he went to enter the house Beswick, standing around the corner of the house, standing around the corner of the house, had his revolver sighted on him, and told him to throw up his hands. He complied speedily and the officer took him in charge. He at once telt in Chisler's pocket for the revolver with which he did the shooting, but he had managed to get away with this. He denied that he had done any shooting at all, and declared that he had not carried a gun. He said he had been hiding in the weeds and had finally concluded to come home and give himself up, but on being asked why he himself up, but on being asked why he was going to give himself up if he had not done anything wrong he could give no very satisfactory explanation.

After being locked up in jail he did some talking, but kept denying the shooting, but in a very bungling way. He said that they got to quarreling over the chickens and that Keating charged him with stealing some of his chickens. Finwith stealing some of his chickens. Fmally Keating came for him with a revolver in his hand and he (Chisler) grabbing Hayes, pulled him around between them so that Keating could not hit him. The struggle was kept up for some time, but he could not remember anything about shooting. He was sure he had not shot Keating, and yet in the excitement he could not remember all that did occur.

Keating was yesterday lying in his house under Dr. Bellinger's care, but with little prospect of living for many hours. He has a wife and one son, a young man who works at the transfer. Chisler is also a man of family, having a wife and two children. A search of Chisler's house revealed the presence of about a dozen cartridges loaded. The will remain in jail until the result of Keating's wound is known.

Poisoned For His Money.

Yesterday afternoon between 2 and o'clock a laboring man staggered up to Isaac Doty's house, in Streetsville, and as the door was opened he fell upon the floor in a seeming spasm. He was recognized as a man who had been given dinner at the house yesterday about noon. On rallying a little he was able to talk some, and said: "If anything should happen to me send me and my things back to Neola. I've been up town and a man gave me a drink on the street. I've lost my money and I guess my life too." In a few minutes the man was dead, passing away in a spasm which had the indications of having been caused by poison.

From what could be learned of the man his name was Isaac Barrer, and he has until lately lived somewhere in Ohio. He lately came to Neola, and on Saturday last came from there to this city, and has been here since. He was expecting to go to work here shortly. He had some money and a check for $2.0, but it seems that he had been robbed of this. Mouday night he slept in a little house west of the bridge, near Broadway, and it is said be was seen in the notorious colored dive kept by "Texas." Yesterday he got his dinner at Mr. Doty's and started off in apparently good health and spirits, only to return in a staggering, dying condition. The supposition is that some one, learning he had this money and check, gave him ; drink which was doped or poisoned. This is supposed to have caused his death, which hore symptoms of arsenic or strychnine poisoning.

Coroner Faul summoned a jury consisting of C. Fisher, Ed Brinton and Charles White. Some evidence was taken, the substance of which is contained in the above statements. The jury then adjourned till this morning at 9 o'clock, when the inquest will be completed at Morgan Keller & Co.'s undertaking establishment, where the body has been taken. A post mortem is to be held by Dr. Bellinger and others. The police Iso got track of a man who was said to have been trying too pass a cheek for $20), and that trail was being worked. investigation was also being made among the drug stores to get some information, if possible, as to who had lately secured polson, hoping by that means to throw light upon the mysterious death.

Seal brand oysters at H. J. Palmer's. Changing the Stars. Yesterday morning Jerry Mullen was sworn in as chief of police. The pressure brought to bear by the opposition was of no avail, and Mayor Groneweg declared his manhood by sticking to his original resolution. Those who predicted that Pat Lacy and his followers would attempt to run Mr. Groneweg, if elected, were right, but those who predicted that they would succeed, are evidently as far off as Wiggins was on the earthquake. Mayor Groneweg has risen in the estimation of all by exercising the power which has been placed in his hands, and would have fallen far had he consented to let the gang dictate to him. It was not a ques-tion as to whether Jerry Mullen was the best man who could be selected as chief, but whether Mayor Groneweg was to be mayor, or whether Pat Lacy was to be. Pat is not. That seems scaled in the first round. That Mullen will make a good color there is little doubt and until he process dimension to be because of the confidence placed in him, the public will enclose the substitute heartily.

The making of Mullen chief of police leaves a vacancy as deputy marshal, and as announced in yesterday's B.E. John Barbyte has been selected for that position. The choice is a good one, and the duties of that position will be faithfully and well performed. He was sworn in yesterday, and enters at once upon his new duties, for which he has been fitted by a long and varied experience.
