GATHERED FROM THE CITY. Pawnbrokers Who Keep Their Books in Hebrew. SAFE BROKEN OPEN Other Police News-District Court News-The Democratic Conven-

Chicago.

A Queer Complaint.

A queer complaint was filed in police court yesterday afternoon by the assistant city attorney. The person complained of therein is Abraham, the South Tenth street pawnbroker. It is charged that Mr. A. keeps his record of articles taken in pawn in the Hebrew language. This, of course, defeats the provision of the city ordinance which provides that each and every pawnbroker shall keep a record of the articles on which he loans money, in a suitable book, which shallbeall times be open to the inspection of the marshal and the police. This provision, it might be incidentally remarked, is made so as to enable the police in a search for stolen articles which they suspect may have been placed in pawn. Mr. Abrahams keeps his books in such a manner as to make them utterly useless to the police, none of whom are Hebraie scholars. The case, when it comes up for trial, will doubtless develope some inter esting points. Judge Stenberg had twenty drunks endipeace disturbers arraigned before him yesterday morning. Out of this number seven were fined, and the others were discharged. Among the number was Oscar Anderson, a boy twelve years of age, who had been arrested in a state of beastly intoxication.

Jas. Dailey was given twenty days in the county jail for stealing some clothing and harness from the commission store of Branch and Co Pearl Love and Henry Stager, arrested for stealing oats from James Stephenson, plead not guilty and had their cases continued for trial.

GLANDERS AND PINKEYE.

Their Prevalence in this City More Noticeable Than Ever.

Dr. Ramacciotti was yesterday called to attend a horse owned by a prominent citizen living in the northern part of the city, which was suspected of having glanders. The animal, however, was afflicted with influenza, but had suffered so much from it that his vitality had almost been exhausted. The poor animal was unable to rise and all the medicine in the world, the doctor said, would not bring him around. He was accordingly shot by a policeman.

Dr. Ramacciotti says that the city is now over run with pink eve, a disease among horses which most people do not understand, and seem to care little about becoming acquainted with it. The symp-toms of it are swelling of the legs, stiffand general weekness and prostration, which frequently results in death. At the present time, Chas. Split, who hauls away the dead animals of the city, takes two, and sometimes three victims of this disease, to be disposed of by the render-ing establishments. Dr. Ramacciotti svys that owners of horsesought to guard against the extension of this disease by carefully disinfecting their stables with chioride of lime, carbolic acid and other stable disinfectants.

The same gentleman is apprised of the fact that among the stock of the graders near the government quartermasters' depot there are a number of sick horses, which, however, are spirited away when the doctor's visit is expected. He pro-

BROKE THE SAFE.

Burglars Get Away With a Haul of Cash.

Monday night, at a time as yet unknown the grocery of Courtney & Co., correr of Twenty-fourth and Davenport street, was forcibly entered by burglars, the safe broken open and robbed of $185. The burglars first bored two holes in the front door behind the bolt slat, and filled these with fulminate, as it for the purpose of blasting or shooling the bolt. This idea was abandoned, and noticing that the large transom was open, they decided to effect an entrance through it. To do this, however, they forced them selves between two rods of thin iror which protected the transom. They then went to the safe, broke off the knob, drove out the combination worked in the lever, opened the door and then broke out the panels of the wood work. This enabled them to get possession of the cash box which they opened, cotting the bolt behind. There were $257.3 in the safe, sixty-five dollars of which belonged to a lady who had deposited it there or safe keeping. One hundred and thirty five dollars in checks were cast on the floor as worthless. No clue has been found to the burglars.

MRS. MATTIE MIDDLETON. A Good Woman Gone to Her Last

Rest. Sunday afternoon all that was mortal of Mrs. Mattie Middleton was laid to rest at Prospect Hill. Thus ends a life of peculiar sweetness and great usefulness. Mrs. Middleton was an active and earnest member of the Ladies' assembly of the Knights of Labor. The Ladies' assembly of the K, of L. placed upon the coffin a beautiful tribute of affection for their de-parted sister in the shape of a triangle composed of the most fragrant, rare and costly flowers, being an emblem of the order of which she was a member, and many knights and ladies were present to attest their affection and regard. The Rev. Mr. Copeland delivered a touching and eloquent address.

There will be a meeting of the Douglas county republican committee on Wed-nesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the office of Simeral & Redick, 1509 Farnam street. A full attendance of both committeemen and candidates is requested. W. F. BECHEL, M. F. GURLEY, Chairman. Sec'y.

SAN GOON'S COMPLAINT.

A Chinaman Who Wants to Live to Pay His Debts,

San Goon, the Chinese merchant on South Tenth street, is being outrageously persecuted by some of the boys in that part of town. It will be remembered that he was fined $20 Monday afternoon for chasing away with a revolver some of the young rascals who had thrown stones into his shop. Monday night he was again awakened by a heavy stone crashing through his front window. He arose and going to the door saw that the fellow who threw the stone was a heavy-set young man who has taken a malicious delight for some time past in persecuting him. A policeman was standing in front at the time Sam was standing in front at the time, Sam Goon says, and must have seen the fellow throw the rock, though he did not offer to arrest the young hoodlum. Sam Goon says that the policeman wore a star numbered 20. He thinks that it is strange that an officer should allow these young toughs to destroy, his property and en-danger his life, and at the same time arrest him for trying to defend himself from their attacks.

"I owe a good many debts," said Sam Goon, in his broken English, in telling his story to a reporter, "and so I want to live a little while longer yet, I want to pay off these debts before I die."

FOUND AT LAST.

Buffalo Bill's Itinerant Aborigines Come Into Camp.

Thee BEE of a couple weeks ago, contained a reference to the mysterious disappearance of two Indians who had been travelling with the Wild West, and had left that show in New York, to rejoin their tribe at the Pine Ridge agency. They had reached Glenwood, Ia., on their way home, when they left the train, and all that could afterwards be ascertained of their whereabouts was that they had applied at one of the institutions of that place for admission, thinking that it was an Indian school. A few days later, a value which one of them carried, was found torn to one of them carried, was found torn to ploces, and immediately it was feared by some folks that the Indians had been killed. Everything that Bufinlo Bill could do was done to ascertain their whereabouts, but without avail, until a few days ago, when Broncho Bill, writing from the agency mentioned, told Buffalo Bill that one of the missing men had re-turned and the other was at an adjoining agency visiting friends. These facis were turned and the other was at an adjoining agency visiting friends. These facis were communicated to a BEE reporter yesterda morning by George Cantield and Con Groner, both of whom learned the facts from Buffalo Bill. The Indians had missed their way and rambled around through the state, until finally they re-turned to their people.

"MIXED PICKLES" AT BOYD'S. Joe Polk, the celebrated comedian, long the reigning favorite at Wallack's and the Union Square theatre, New York, will be seen at Boyd's opera house this and Thursday evenings, in his new comedy, "Mixed Pickles." It de rives its singular but very appropriate name from the mixing up of two charac-ters by the name of Pickle. Mr. Polk, as Joseph Pickle, a scapegreace, imperson-ates his truly good brother, the Ray, Ar-thur Pickle, and thus occasions a great deal of confusion among the personages deal of confusion among the personages of the drama, and a great deal of amuse-
