She says his habits of drunk-enness and the sufferings which have been caused her thereby cannot be en-dured by her longer, and she asks for the court to set her free, and give her the children to care for:

The United States Masonic Benevoieni association, of this city, has written over $2,50,000 insurance in the last seven months. It has $10,000 deposited as a guarantee fund. It is doing not only a large business, but a safe one, Mr. Jamison, the secretary, carefully exnone to be accepted where the applicant is not considered a first class risk. When there is any question on the subject blanks are sent to several residents of the same locality, and so far as possible to members of the company, which, when filled out and returned, positively settle all doubts.

Sheriff Reed took personal charge of the novel revolving jail yesterday, Jimmy O'Neil being out to his farm. The sheriff succeeded in turning the big cyl-inder, but be offers a reward for the capture of the man who made the county board believe it would turn as easy as a coffee mill. It is said that one of the ministers in holding Sunday services in the jail took as his text: "Turn Ye, Oh! Turn Ye, for Why will Ye Die?" The sheriff thinks a fellow would die if he did turn yo. Surely, if he tried more than one turn a day.

A tramp was brought before Judge Aylesworth yesterday morning, and was promptly sentenced to jail for ten days. He begged so hard, gave such a pitiful account of his wanderings and made such good promises, that the tender heart of the judge was touched. He concluded to suspend the sentence and let the fel-low go. Two hours later the same fellow was seen staggering up to one of the windows of the city jail, and poking a bottle through the bars, was seeking to give the prisoners a stake for their thirst. He was put inside again and his bottle left on the outside.

The changes being made in the building will improve its appearance greatly. One of the most marked of these changes will be the raising of the cornice so as to make the front conform with that of the next building. In making this change it is discovered that the old corhad become so detached, and its fastenings so insecure as to render it dangerous. It is a wonder that long ere this it had not fallen on the heads of some of the numerous passers by on that street. The necessity of having a building inspector to look after such matters is daily growing more apparent. This city is getting large enough to demand such an office, as under the present arrangements we is no such protection afforded as in

THE CITY COUNCIL'S ACTION. A Black Lover Seeks to Brain a White

Woman-A Struggle with a Burglar-Jottings About Town.

Tried to Kill Her.

An ugly disipated darky named J. B. White made a desperate attempt yesterday to add his name to the roll of those who have jumped from the scaffold right into heaven. He is a hotel cook of irregular habits, and came here from Sioux City about three months age, working a few days at the Pacific house, and then getting on a drunk was discharged. He then got work at the Metropolitan and soon was again out of work. For three weeks or more past he has been loading about the streets. He has for months been living with a white woman, Jennie Thomas, with whom he became ac-quainted in Sioux City. Since they came to this city they have been living in a part of the house occupied by Mollie Scott, a colored woman, on Pearl street.

There has been trouble brewing for several days, and the white woman had decided not to live with the black man. Yesterday he came to the house and sought to get an entrance. Mollie Scott and the white woman tried to keep him out. He was drunk and was threat ening to kill the white woman. At last he gained an entrance, and, armed with piece of firewood, proceeded to club his woman. He struck her in the mouth and twice on the head, and would doubtless have finished his murderous work right then and there had not the colored woman, Mollie Scott, seized an axe and opened an attack upon him. She aimed well to split his head open, but he threw up his arm and received the bow there, it causing a good sized gash. He started then on the run with the Scott woman chasing behind him with uplifted axe. M. B. Brown, the manager of the telegraph office, chanced to come along Broadway and seeing the man bloody and running, caught him and started to take him to the police station, but was soon relieved of his unpleasant charge by an officer, who locked White up.

The white woman was found not to have been so badly injured as at first supposed. Dr. Capell attended to her and found no tracture of the skull, the blows having been glancing ones, in-flicting only scalp wounds, from which the woman will recover. After dressing these the doctor, in the absence of the regular city physician, Dr. Lacy, who is out of the city, dressed White's wound.

White denied that he intended to kill the woman, or that he even intended to hit her with the club. He was mad at the Scott woman, and in the rumpus the Scott woman hit at him with the club, the white woman unfortunately getting in the way, and receiving the blow by mistake. Such is his story.

White is a darkey who bears the marks or having been in encounters before. One hand is maimed, a part of his nose has been cut off, and his visage is scarred like a veteran's. The Scott woman de-clares that he has a long record as a fighter, and that he killed one man while hying in Chicago.

STILL AT IT.

Burglars Continue to Make the Rounds-A Struggle With One. Despite the vigilance of the police the burglars continue to make nightly raids. At an early hour yesterday morning Mr. and Mrs. William Bohning, who live over the saloon kept by him, were awakened by some one prowling about, and going down stairs Mrs. Bohning found a man, whom she grappled and held to while her husband was getting his revolver. They had a lively struggle with the fellow, Mr. Bohning not being able to find his revolver. At last the burglar broke away from them and made good his escape. It appears that he must have secured Bohning's revolver, before the struggle took place, and also $40 in money, for both the weapon and the cash are miss-

Another burglary was committed at the residence of Mr. Ingliss, corner of Eighth street and Eighth avenue, the next house to that occupied by Detective Price, of the Milwaukee & St. Paul road. The burglar got hold of Mr. Ingliss pantand was just erawling out of the window when discovered. The fellow made good his escape, taking the pantaloons and

Broadway to be Paved Clear to the River.

Last evening there was a large gathering in the lobby at the council meeting. The citizens in general, and a goodly number in particular, were greatly interested in what action the council would take in regard to the important railway and bridge matters, which have so attracted public attention for the past few days. The roll call showed all present but Alderman Shugart. but Alderman Shugart.

A remonstrance was presented by property owners on Tenth avenue, between Third street and Main street, and protest against allowing the Union Pacific to occupy that part of the avenue. The property owners said they had been ordered to fill the street to grade, and had made improvements in accordance therewith, so that it was unjust now to give the railway company this part of the avenue The remonstrance was placed on file. George F. Wright presented a petition signed by a large number of jobbers and business men, favoring the change of the Union Pacific freight depot to the proposed site on Tenth avenue, and ex-pressing a belief that this change would be to the commercial interest of the city.

Received and placed on file.

The property owners along Tenth avenue, along the proposed line east of Main street, also presented a protest against giving the Union Pacific the right of way along the avenue. It was signed by fourteen. Received and filed. Property owners on Fletcher avenue, between Oakland avenue and Second street, petitioned for establishment of Referred Bonds of the newly appointed police presented and approved. Petition presented asking for an extension of the fire protection so as to include the transfer, elevator, stock yards, etc., Spoon lake having run dry and that property being unprotected. Referred.

The suggestion was made that the ordinance in regard to Tenth avenue be called up. Alderman Danfurth said that he had agreed with Alderman Shugart, who was absent, that it should not be taken up. Mr. Wright called attention to the agreement made at the last meet ing to have the ordinance passed to a second reading. Alderman Hammer moved that it lay over until the next meeting. Seconded by Danfurth and the motion carried.

The ordinance in regard to the Omaha and Council Bluffs Railway and Bridge company, was passed to a second reading, and laid over under the rules until the next regular meeting. Petition signed by railway officials at the transfer asking the city to appoint John Wagner as policeman at that place at city's expense. Referred to police committee. A petition was presented asking for a special election November 2 on the question of levying a 12 mill tax for the aid of the new bridge company. Accompanying it were the certificates of County Auditor Clauson and County Treas-urer Plumer, to the effect that a majority of the tax payers of the city had signed the petition.

The petition exiled out a discussion on one point mainly. A. C. Graham and others wanted to have it clearly designated to hav nated where the bridge was to be. If at the foot of Broadway then it should be so stated, and if to be on the Union Pa-cific grounds, that should be stated, so that voters could vote understandingly. The mayor wanted the city attorney to give his opinion as to the legality of the proposed election. The city attorney said that the bridge company being willing to run the risk of legal defects, he saw no harm in letting the company take that risk,

The mayor stated stoutly and forcibly that he would not sign any paper, or call for an election, if there was doubt of its regality.
The attorney then explained that he saw no reason why the special election could not be field on the general election In regard to the other objection, Mr. T. J. Evans explained that it was the inten-tion of the company to put the bridge at the foot of Broadway, or as near that point as possible. The change would throw it a block from that point. He was willing to have that put in the reso-Mr. Graham and others who had raised his objection declared that they were willing to vote the tax, but simply wanted to have the matter fixed so as to represent the city's interests. The resolution was then amended so as to obligate the company to build the bridge at the foot of Broadway or at some point within 300 feet of the foot of that street. In this amended form the resolution was passed ordering the special election. The citizens in the lobby seemed satisfied by this amendment, and enthusiastically applauded the passage of the resolution, and will doubtless vote for he tax with equal enthusiasm and will-

Alderman Danfurth presented a resolution ordering the property owners on Broadway to pave with cedar block with-in one hundred days, the entire length of the street to the Missouri river. The council then adjourned until Tuesday evening next.
