A DOSE OF HIS OWN MEDICINE.

Sluggo McCormick Badly Worsted by McDonald, the Montana Champion.

A JUGHANDLE GLOVE CONTEST.

The Record of the Union Pacific Players—Omaha and the League—A Bicycle Race—Other Notes.

An Interesting Affair. The glove contest between McCormick and McDonald attracted a large crowd to Cunningham hall last evening.

At 9 o'clock, "Baby" Barnes, as master of ceremonies, stepped into the 24-foot ring, and announced the first event of the evening, a four-round set to be fought between Matt Richardson, the champion middleweight of Minnesota, so called, and Steve Carroll, of Des Moines, Ia.

"I don't allow no nigger to do me up," was the remark of a big, overgrown man, Charlie Short, who faced Jesse Smith, the colored pugilist, in the next contest.

The main event of the evening, the glove contest between James McCormick, who claims the championship of Nebraska, and Duncan McDonald, of Butte, Mont., was announced at exactly five minutes of twelve.

William McCune was chosen to act as referee. John P. Clow acted as time keeper for McDonald and Jack Nugent for McCormick.

A few minutes after 12 o'clock both men were ordered together. "By—", said McCormick to his second, Ritchie, as he eyed McDonald curiously, "I'll show that dude something about fighting. I'll break his jaw worse than I did Marx's."

knock that worthy flat on his back. McCormick stumbled to his feet and returned the assault with a counter or two which did no harm.

Both men rushed together and some lively short-arm work was done, honors being about equally divided.

McDonald toyed with his antagonist exactly as he pleased, rushing in and tapping away before the latter could return the compliment.

At the close of the contest the referee awarded the honors to McDonald, who had scored 136 points against McCormick's 46.

John P. Clow, the Colorado champion, who was present, challenged the winner to an eight round contest.

Schock, the brother and trainer of the famous long-distance bicycle rider, is in the city and has arranged a fifty mile race to take place between John S. Prince and Schock at an early date in this city.

Omaha and the League. The prospect of Omaha entering the Western league for the next season has created a considerable interest among ball players throughout the west.

Western league the last season. Joe Walsh, of Kookuk, and Charley Briggs, of Leadville, both of whom were members of the Union Pacifics in their palmy days, have expressed a desire to join the new club.

The Union Pacifics' Record. Frank Brande has prepared, from the official score, the following table showing the standing of the members of the Union Pacifics for the past season:

A number of local players who were engaged by the Union Pacifics for two games made the following averages:

For the last sixteen years Mr. Davitt has given the use of his time and his pen to the advocacy of the cause of his countrymen.

A Lost Boy. Charlie Colson was the name of a disconsolate young lad who wandered listlessly around the Union Pacific depot last evening as if in search of someone.

The County Hospital. The county commissioners were busied yesterday afternoon in examining the plans for the proposed county hospital.

Licensed to Wed. Judge McCulloch has issued marriage licenses to the following parties:

A Cold Wave. Clothing merchants who have been de-voting their energies to the business of fixing up their show windows with over-coat displays will rejoice, with the coal merchants, at the following bit of weather intelligence that was received last night.

Suing a Railroad. John and Kate Christener have filed suits in Judge McCulloch's court for damages in the sum of $1,500 against the Omaha & Southwestern railroad for personal injuries.

The Widow Wins. The case of Mrs. Dunk, of Florence, vs. Dr. Solomon, was decided in favor of the plaintiff by Judge McCulloch yesterday.

Learn to Read Music. Mr. F. P. French, an experienced teacher, proposes to form a class in sight reading and singing in this city, and will give exhibition lessons on Tuesday and Thursday evenings of next week.

Dexter L. Thomas has laid out an addition to the city of Omaha named Mascotte, and we notice that the streets are properly named Rocco, Lorenzo, Bettina, Pippo and Frederick.
