THE HISTORY OF HIS CRIME.

The Bicycle Races-Election Splinters -Clow will Meet McDonald-Other Local Matters.

A Benedict Arnold.

On heard one of the sleepers of the overland train yesterday morning was an aged gentleman, [whose appearance have impressed most people most favorable manner. He was known to no one on the train, the conductor even being kept in ignorance of his name and destination, Yet he was the party who passed through here two months ago, and to whom the BEE then referred by name. While stopping temporarily in one of the mountain reserts, this gentleman bought a copy of the Bee, and in reading over its columns came upon the article which referred to himself. The article in question told his name, former occupation, and at the same time gave a de-scription of his personal appearance, coupled with a resume of his connection with one of the most diabolical conspiracies which ever originated in the civilized world. Other copies of the BEE circulated in the same resort. The purchasers read the article re-ferring to the odd looking stranger. Some of the readers viewed him with surprise, others with curiosity, and others aversion, so much so, that the next morning he left the place and no one knew whither he had

The great attempted crime with which he had been identified was the conspiracy to liberate the rebel prisoners and burn the city of Chicago, shortly be-fore the close of the year 1835. It may be remembered, at that time it was pretty generally circulated throughout the country, that after having been crushed in the war of the rebellion, the rebels had made up their mind to be revenged by a cowardly destruction of leading northern cities. One of these was Chicago, where at the time, many hundreds of rebei prisoners were confined. This burning was to be accomplished through the instrumentality of mercen-aries from the south, with the co-operation of local abettors, some of whom were to of local abettors, some of whom were to furnish horses, others arms, others still clothing in which to disguise the prison-ers after they should be released from the camp. The plot very happily was discovered by Colonel Sweet, then com-mandant of the fort, and by him reported to the government officials. The information was kept a secret, and in the meantime a number of reputable Chicago cit izens were arrested and confined in jail. This led to the disclosure of the secret workings and aims of the order known as the Sons of Liberty, through which this foul conspiracy hoped to attain its end. As a consequence of this disclosure, the conspiracy throughout the country was crushed and the country saved from foes from both within and without. The abettors arrested were all democrats, and while sufficient proof could not be adduced to secure conviction, none of the suspected ones who were more or less tainted with guilt ever regained their earlier standing in the community. Some of them died from shame, others sank into oblivion, and now there is probably none left, at least as known to the writer, save the venerable but timid gentleman above referred to. When approached by the BEE reporter yesterday afternoon, in remembrance of the manner in which the early article in these columns had bounded him in his retreat, he curtly refused to have anything to say to the reporters. Such was the fate of Benedict Arnold, who as everybody familiar with his history must remember, slunk away from Talleyrand, when the latter, flying from his own country, unexpectedly met the traitor who was endeavoring to hide himself from those who knew of his crime.

The Bicycle Race. The wheelmen of this city have made arrangements for a grand parade just before the Prince-Schock fifty-mile race this evening. A score or more of wheelmen will be in line.

A sketch of Mr. Prince's career may not be uninteresting in this connection. John S. Prince, the champion long distance bicycle rider of the world, was born in Birmingham, England, in the year 1859. He stands 5 feet 10 inches high and weighs, in condition, 170 pounds. He has met and defeated all fastest men in the world, He has eighty-six medals of different designs, and nineteen cups, most of which he won when an amateur. He came to this country in 1879, and has been here ever since, being a citizen of Boston for the last three years. He has traveled all over the states, racing against fast horses, distances from five miles up to twenty. His greatest performance was a ten-mile match race against Scotland of Philadelphia for $500 a side. Prince won by a quarter of a mile, bringing the horse to a stand-still at nine miles and three quarters, making the ten miles in twenty-nine minutes and thirty-six seconds, the best American record at that time. He will run his first race here next Saturday night, October 30, at the exposition building, a fifty-mile race against Albert Schock, of Minneapolis, for $100 and 70 Schock one mile start. Last May he beat every world's record from thirty-five miles to 1.042 in a race against Schock for $1,000 a side and the championship of the world.

BASE BALL MATTERS.

Mr. J. C. Pentzel yesterday received a letter from Will C. Bryan, formerly of the Omaha club and now manager of the Des Moines club. The following extract is taken from the letter:

Dear Sir—"I was instructed by the president of the Northwestern league to correspond with Omaha with reference to their putting a club in the league for next season. Des Moines being in, it was thought Omaha would strengthen it. If you can inform me whom to address or if you will speak to the party w.o is most interested and ask him to write to me, I will be glad to correspond with him, and I will, if it is thought advisable, go to Omaha and consult with him about the matter."

In all probability as already intimated.

In all probability, as already intimated in the Ber. Omaha will not enter the Northwestern league, but will go into the Western league. A meeting of the stockholders will be held on Sunday to take final action in the matter and draw up articles of mean proposition. articles of meorporation.

Rail Notes.

On Monday next the Missouri Pacific branch from Omaha to Papitlion will be thrown open for business and trains will commence to run regularly over it. Heretofore the Union Pacific track has been used by the Missouri Pacific from Papillion to Omaha. The completion of this will give the Missouri Pacific a track of its own from Liucoln and from the south. Temporarily the St. Paul depot at the corner of Fifteenth and Webster streets will be used by the Missouri Pa-

There was no person injured though the pilot and reflector of the engine were considerably broken up.

AMUSEMENTS.

A Tin Soldier.

Charles H. Hoyt's "Tin Soldier" has marched across the continent, capturing every city en route. Their engagement in San Francisco, which lasted four weeks, was unprecedented in the history weeks, was imprecedented in the history of the Bush street theatre. Those who remember the fun of "A Bunch of Keys" and a "Rag Baby" can know what to ex-pect, as "A Tin Soldier" is a member of the same mirth inspiring class of pieces.
All the papers in Frisco gave A Tin Soldier the heartiest endorsement. The Chronicle says: "It is a long time since we have had anything to laugh at heartily, and it is still longer since such genuine and spontaneous laughter has b heard in any of our theatres. If anybody be asked what he laughed at, he will probably be unable to decide upon which of the numerous absurdities and extravagances he most clearly remembers. Tin Soldier" is a perfect series of sur-prises of various degrees of humor and effect, but all are funny and most of them howlingly so. It does not matter what it is about. You are not educated by Mr. Hoyt's eccentricities of humor, but you are amused and benefited by as but you are amused and benefited by as hearty an evening's enjoyment as any-body can call for. Yet the piece is not an idealless thing. Most of the ludicrous fun has a basis of human nature, and it illustrates in extravagant shape the foibles and weakness of ordinary life."

The Call closes its notice of "A Tin soldier" with the following sentences: "Summing up the performance we may say that it is roaringly funny, full of sur-prises and odd turns. It is not easy to submit it to criticism, further than to say hat its chief element is the grotesque. The audience laugh without caring about the absurdity, and, from appearances, full houses will continue to do this as long as the piece remains on the boards." The Examiner claims that "the com-pany is one of the best that ever came there with a piece of this kind, and the

Jas. Vogel was brought to trial in police court yesterday morning for disposing of an overcoat belonging to a friend of his. He borrowed it for a few days, with the understanding that he was to return it when he could purchase one for him-self. He@pawned it for whisky. Yesterday he was found guilty and sentenced to ten days in the county jail.

Albert Campbell and Moses Elliott, two badly scarred young men, were brothers-in-law. They had been fighting. When questioned about the matter they denied having had any fracas, and accounted for their brothers. for their bruises by saying that they had tumbled off a railing. The judge could not believe the story, and tined them $5 and costs apiece. Out of seven drunks, three were fined and the rest discharged. Four suspicious characters were discharged. Chas. Scott, alias "Sketchy" was held for further examination. It is rumored that he is one of the gang of burglars who are infesting the city at present. The police think that he is the man who has charge of the tools used by the gang in their opera-

Jack Nugent's Sentence. The case of Jack Nugent, the exyariety manager, gambler and all-around sport who is charged with vagrancy, came up in police court yesterday afternoon. Nugent appeared in court clad in a new suit of gray check and a highly polished plug hat. He appeared to take the matter very coolly, and when he faced the judge remarked that he guessed he might as well plead guilty. He was senmight as well plead guilty. He was sentenced to forty-live days in the county jail. The clerk drew up the papers for his committal, and in less than ten minutes from the time sentence was regis-in the county jail. The principal witness who was to have appeared against Nugent was F. R. Conklin, a green cowboy from Wyoming, whom Nugent and his gang had swindled out of his watch and $13 in money on a crooked game of cards. By skillfully stocking the cards, Conklin had been dealt three aces, on which he was induced to bet his watch and all his money. When the hands were shown his opponent was found to have a "straight flush."

Van Wyck and the Workingmen. OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 20. - To the Editor of the BEE: There is in the present campaign one overpowering issue, in which the workingmen of Omaha are deeply interested. That issue is the re turn of Van Wyck to the United States senate. In that body he has stood, practically alone and unaided on the side of the people. In view of this fact, well known to the people of Nebraska, his return is of the greatest importance, especially to the producing class, and the sentiment of the workingmen in Omaha is well known to be in conformity with that policy. How any man can ask the support of the producing classes, knowing this senti-ment and refuse to pledge himself to the support of Senator Van Wyck, is a mys-

Mr. Blackburn declines to say whether he is for or against him, in other words, he will go to the legislature as a dictator to the people rather than servant. This is a reversal of the American idea, and will and shall be such with a proper reproof at the polls. A Workingman.

A Tale of Cretan Love.

Hoy Johnson, an Americanized celestial of this city, with the characteristic immature smile, tells a harrowing tale of love and disappointment in which a German maiden and a dashing son of the Orient figured in Crete. A fifteen-year-old daughter of J. Yucker, a German carpenter, had won the affections of Geo. Loyer, a Chinaman who runs a washee-washee house in Crete. Loyer was engaged to marry the girl, but his adherence to the Methodist church sorely displeased the father of his would-be bride, who told him either to renounce Methodism or the girl. The celestial concluded to give up the girl, at which Yucker thew into a passion and threatened to make dog's meat of the Chinee laundryman. Loyer fled, but he claims to be out nearly four hundred dollars and an elaborate love and disappointment in which a Gerfour hundred dollars and an elaborate bridal trousseau. It is not known what the outcome of the business will be, as the girl refuses to give up her almond-eyed husband that was to be,

Dede vs. Weissman.

The latest phase of the Dede-Weissman case is that it has about exhausted all the justices in the neighborhood in coming to trial. The defendant's attorney, Mr. Hart, claimed that his client could not get an impartial trial from Justice Berka, while Attorney Kuhn felt that he could not receive an woright hearing mansard roof addition to the Union Pacific headquarters.

AN INSURANCE MAN.

He Swindles His Creditors and Jumps the Country.

Martin Moss is the name of a young man who came here about a month ago from Freeport, Ill. Freeport is a great insurance town, and Moss was a great insurance man-at least so he claimed. He procured work at the different agencies, finally securing a position as agent of the Nebraska and Iowa Insurance company. For a time he did well, but of late weeks his business affairs have become more and more tangled, and, in fact, it turns out that he is what is vulgarly termed a bad egg. He has not only swindled his creditors out of large amounts, but has also "done up" his friends, notably Aug. Weiss, whom he victimized by giving a forged check. On this charge a warrant has been sworn out for his arrest, and the officers are prosecuting a vigorous search for him. Among others who are more or less victimized by the young man are Dewey & Stone, Frank Ramge and others.

Moss, in leaving Omaha, deserted his young wife a handsome girl and daughter of Assistant Auditor Vanelbade of the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern railroad. A day or so ago that gentleman came to Omaha and hunted up Mrs. Moss and took her back to his home in Cedar Rapids. It is thought that Moss is somewhere in Iowa.

McDoneld and Clove.

McDonald and Clow.

On next Saturday night, week, one of the most interesting glove contests which ever took place in this city will be that at Cunningham's hall, in which John P. Clow, of Denver, and Dunean McDonald, of Montana, will decide as to which is the better man. Mr. Clow is the undefeated victor of thirty-four battles and is willing to meet any man with the exception of John L. Sulliyan, McDonald

McCoy. These men have long been aiming to come together, one the champion of Colorado and the other of Montana. his opportunity is new offered them. Bets are running pretty even. Pat Fal-lon is backing McDonald and John Roth-ery Clow, each of whom have large side bets on the issue.

Died of Want.

Yesterday morning a laborer named Jerry Fowler whose late residence is in the rear of 1308 Leavenworth, died of pleurisy after an illness of about three weeks. He leaves a wife and two children. It is re ported that poverty and want conduced to his death. Before he was taken sick he was considered a reasonably healthy man, though it was known that he had not succeeded in life in amassing what might have sufficed to keep him and his family during the proverbial rainy day He had not been sick many days when his resources became exhausted, and this led to a necessity of certain articles of food and kinds of attention which resulted as above outlined.
