THE SPECULATIVE MARKETS.

Whent Tame and Weak on Bear Advices From the Northwest.

CORN A CENTER OF ATTRACTION

A Lively Day in That Cereal-Provisions Firm-Friday's Prices Rule in the Cattle Market-General Quotations

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, Oct. 39:- | Special Telegram to the Brg. |- The wheat market was tame and even weak this morning. The estimate of the amount of wheat in store at all points in Minnesota and Dakota, viz: 32,053,324 bushels, was a most depressing factor, and bear advices poured in from Minneapolls and St. Paul and other points in Minnesota and Dakota throu .h the whole day. The estimate in question was not in the least surprising and on careful analysis it proves to be less of a bear argument than it seems at first blush, but the figures were big enough to be somewhat startling to the contempla tion of weak-kneed bulls. The northwest, too, sent in a good many selling orders, but the impression found firm lodgement in many minds that millers are trying to depress values to the lowest level and hold them down as long as possible in order to get hold of wheat for milling purposes at bedrock prices. Thus it happened that after the first wave of weakness had swept across the ocal market there was good buying. De cember, which had sold off to 74% @ 74% c. rallied to 74%c, where it closed at 1 o'clock. The market in the afternoon during the first hour was firm. November closed at 7254c, December at 74%c, and May at 81%@81%. Corn was fairly active and a liberal aggregate amount of business was transacted, though there was no excitement. During the last half of the session the market showed considerable stubborn firmness, the final close being strong and a small fraction higher than last night's closing. In early dealings there was a weak tone developed, as most of the scalp-ing crowd were bearishly disposed. Some said an attempt was being made to force out said an attempt was being made to force out Leopold Bloom's long corn. Instead of this result there appeared to be plenty of buyers at around 41%(2641%), and prices turned upward, advancing a full half cent from the lowest point. No long property was unloaded, nor was there such an overwhelming desire manifested to sell short. On the contrary there appeared to be a good many people very friendly to corn before the day's business was over. Late in the session W. T. Banker & Co., Fleming & Boyden, Pariridge, and Helmbolz were all 1 ood buyers, and outside orders, which were quite numerout, were nearly all on the buying side. The receipts continue light for the season and receipts continue light for the season and the outward movement is sufficiently large to cause a steady reduction in warehouse stocks. May corn closed at 4134c after stocks. May corn closed at 41½c after selling at an extreme range of 41½c up to 42½@42½c. Oats were quiet and featureless in the special active market, price changes being very slight. May solo at 20½c at the opening, then at 30½c@31c on the split and closed at 30½c. November closed easier at 25½c. Provisions were firmland rather more than usually active. A good deal of changing over into deferred futures was indulged in and considerable new business in the January option was reported. October ribs were pary option was reported. October ribs were marked down to $4.00, a nominal drop of 40c. It is evident that the short interest in that month has pretty thoroughly disappeared. The settling price on overplus lard vember delivery was fixed at $5.80.
