AMATEUR MUSICIANS. A New Orchestra of Fresh Material Organized Yesterday. Yesterday afternoon a very successful meeting of amateur musicians was held at Metz' hall on South Tenth street, not less than twenty-five young gentlemen being present. Each of these subscribed their names to a list to compose members of an amateur orchestra, which is to be under the instruction and direction of Professor Hoffmann.

Clever Practical Jokes Played by the Students of the University. N. Y. Tribune. James H. Beard, the artist, tells some anecdotes of the early career of Hiram Powers, the sculptor, which go to show that he was full of grim humor. When Powers was in the town of New York, he was making wax figures for a museum owned by a man named Dornell.

Mrs. O'Byrne's Funeral. Yesterday morning the funeral of Mrs. O'Byrne, whose death was mentioned in last Saturday's Bee, took place from the church of St. Patrick, on Castellar and Fourteenth streets, at 8:30 o'clock. This estimable lady was one of the earliest settlers in this city where she remained until her death.

Caught Him At It. Every Sunday evening for the past five or six weeks parties who have come from the country in carriages to attend church have complained to the police that during services their horses and buggies have been taken and used by outsiders. Officer Burdick took the matter in hand last night and arrested Charles Billups, who was driving the life out of a team which he had found tied in the street.

They Are Still Missing. The police have as yet been unsuccessful in their efforts to capture the men who were the aggressors in the two sensational Saturday night. The dog who shot young Parsell has not been seen since the affair. Parsell is still alive though in a very critical condition. Billy Ford, the colored gambler, who slashed into Charles Cook's throat with a razor is still at large. It is thought that he crossed the river late on Saturday night. Cook's injuries are by no means dangerous, and he will be able to be out again in a few days.

Broke His Leg. Yesterday afternoon Adolf Hobbie, who lives on South Hickory street, met with a severe accident. He was walking past No. 4 engine house when he stepped into a hole in the street and broke his right leg just below the knee. He was taken to his home where his injuries were attended by Dr. Darrow.

Escaped From Siberia. Adventures of Three Nihilists Who Had Been Sent Into Exile. The San Francisco Chronicle contains a story of the adventures of three fugitives who fled from Vladivostok and crossed the Pacific in the Russian man-of-war Moskova, and are now in that city. These three men were nihilist students at the university of Kiel. One night at a secret meeting the police descended upon the room and fourteen were captured. The evidence was clear, and one who was delivering a speech received twenty years in Siberia, while the others received ten years.

How You May Tell Whether You Are Likely to Have It. Fortnightly Review: If anyone would know whether he is likely to live long or die soon, let him inquire whether old age runs in family or not, for the good tissues of long life are apt to be hereditary, and he may commit a great many excesses or other errors without killing himself if he comes of a long-lived stock. In like manner, he may get much help toward a knowledge of the diseases to which he is prone and which excesses or other errors are likely to light up, by inquiring what diseases his father or his mother or his grandfather or his great-grandfather suffered or died from. Some diseases are notoriously reckoned to be directly hereditary in like kind, for example, epilepsy, phtisis, and insanity. When a disease has been inherited in this way, it is a sufficient explanation and to think that no more be said, but it is not really an explanation; it is merely an indication of the direction in which the explanation has yet to be sought. If it be a sufficient explanation, how does it happen that all the children of the same ungodly father or mother do not get the disease? How is it that twins, living under the same conditions, have not always, as now and then they have, the same diseases at the same ages? In entering a disease, however it is not really inherited, but the disease itself is actually inherited by the offspring, who, in that case, would be born with it; what is meant is that the latter inherits certain conditions of his father or his mother, and undergo that pathological development in the ordinary circumstances of life, is therefore described as constitutional predisposition or tendency to the disease. Little by little we gathered money contributions from our friends, and by doing various work for the ship people, so our lot was easy compared with the unfortunate beings who were condemned to live in silence and never see daylight, but they in underground cells, on beds of straw with mules that naut the ore cars. Their lot is terrible, a living death. When in June the steamer Moskova came to Vladivostok, we heard she was to go home by way of America, and we resolved to escape. Our few rubles we bought clothing and tobacco with, and upon the night previous to the departure we had our boards of and changed hats, disguised ourselves, and came on board the ship in the darkness. Most of the crew were drunk, but many of them were good friends to us and never betrayed us; indeed, it was through the help of one of the Moskova's officers that we came all safe. Our work was in the boiler room, and we kept out of sight as much as possible. The most singular feature of the escape of these fugitives is that they crossed the Pacific in a distinguished company of Russian officers, and that the Moskova was Vice Admiral Ivan Shostakov, minister of marine of the czar; Prince Wittgenstein, adjutant general of the empire, and Princes Galitzen and Tololui, relatives of the czar. These officials remained here for a few days, and then left for Yokohama, and then to Russia. The nihilist fugitives intend to work their way to the Menominee colony in Nebraska, where they hope to find an asylum. Each of the men looks ten years older than the age which they bear, and they all wear a hunted appearance, as they still fear pursuit and capture, although assured they are safe.

STATE AND TERRITORY. Nebraska Jottings. Indiana is without a saloon. A number of walnut groves have been planted in Cedar county. The packing houses of Nebraska City began slaughtering last week. Fremont has secured a soft snap. A cotton factory has been started in the city. The town of Grant boasts of an air well. It gives the town a breezy appearance. The Union Pacific shops at North Platte are running up to the full capacity. Preparations are being made for active work on the waterworks system of Nebraska City. The town lot sale in South Sioux City, on Tuesday side of the river, amounted to $20,000. Frank Benish, a farmer living four miles from O'Neill, tumbled off a load of wood and broke his neck. Beatrice papers report a Northwestern surveying corps in that vicinity, but the coroner has neglected to sit on it. Hastings feels reasonably certain of securing the Chicago & Northwestern, provided a friendly purse can be made up. The church district at Coleridge reported a Methodist Episcopal, not a Catholic church as stated in the jottings. The people of Plainville are considerably excited over the late survey through the town for the Sioux City & Denver road. A destructive prairie fire swept over the Platte bottoms near North Platte last week. Over a thousand tons of hay were consumed. The lurid gilding of political candidates by the country press does not fret the Meadonian cry, 'Corn taken on subscription.' The report is current in York that the Northwestern road has decided to accept the proposition of $50,000 in bonds to help the Meadonian road. The surveyors are now in Butler county. Niobrara snatches the wreath from Fremont's hairless crown by claiming to have the prettiest town site, the best hotels, the best court house, the finest school houses, and the prettiest girls in north Nebraska. The pair of Washington insurance frauds, who were hunted down by C. McMenemy, were sent to the state penitentiary last week. Paul Newman for eight years and E. B. Bailey for ten. The savings bank feature of the Mead county schools promise to be successful. The deposits made by the children, though small, are increasing weekly. The deposits of the first three weeks show a total of $25.50. Two slick toughs who were given the freedom of the corridor of the Plattsmouth jail disappeared Friday evening. There was a crude counterfeit and the other a low-down thief. They are twelve hours ahead of the sheriff. John Kirkman, an Indiana barber with a rotten tongue and the breath of an ancient sewer, was escorted out of a saloon given a farewell salute of loud eggs. He had insulted ladies of the town and heroic remedies were necessary. The girls of Plattsmouth will flirt with the railroad boys, even at the risk of ruffling the graceful rounding of the bustles and the graceful waving of the skirts. One day last week a young woman waved a sweet farewell to the hind brakeman. The latter waved a violent response, and the woman smiled sweetly and waved her hair. The next thing she knew she was jerked off the track by a yardman just in time to escape a backing train. She will squat on the hilltops hereafter to utter her sweet adieu. The B. & M. company is building a vast amount of political railroads these are and yellow days. Surveying corps and grading gangs are busily engaged running lines in close counties and shoveling out where they will do the most good. These gangs are camped in Otoe and Nemaha counties, in the first district, in Saline they are mapping meadow, and Van Winkle votes in every direction, and in Adams county they are engaged in distributing and explaining a bogus 'record' of the senior senator. The center and northern end of Hall county is well supplied with this brand of organized voters, while another expedition is heading for Dodge county from the southeast. The latter will spend the forenoon in Saunders county and return in the afternoon to Dodge county. Resident voters should closely watch the movements of these imported gangs. Iowa Items. Footpads are harvesting a vast amount of jewelry and some cash in Creston. The Foster block, in Des Moines, was sold on Monday for the sum of $55,000. Des Moines has decided to issue $255,000 in bonds to meet maturing warrants. Mondamin is offering a bonus of $1,000 for a flouring mill with improved machinery. Des Moines is to have a new $200,000 hotel. It will be called the New Savoy, and Frank Riley is to be its manager. A post-mortem held on a Mt. Pleasant cow showed that she had possessed in her liver a handful of small brass washers, eight shingle nails and one two-inch brick.

ARTIST AND HUMORIST. Clever Practical Jokes Played by the Students of the University. N. Y. Tribune. James H. Beard, the artist, tells some anecdotes of the early career of Hiram Powers, the sculptor, which go to show that he was full of grim humor. When Powers was in the town of New York, he was making wax figures for a museum owned by a man named Dornell. The figures which he molded were delicate and beautiful beyond anything that was known at that time. His ingenuity in mechanics was remarkable, and Mr. Beard thinks that he would have made as great a success in mechanical arts as he did in sculpture, if he had directed his attention to the former. There was a popular comic singer in Powers' day at Cincinnati named Alexander Drake. Powers modeled a wax head of Drake and fashioned a figure to match the head. One of Drake's songs which was in great demand with audiences was called 'Love and Sausages.' Powers took his wax figure to the theatre and placed it on a stage as a favor to an attitude, and when the curtain rose for Drake's song there stood before the audience two Alexander Drakes, both perfectly natural. The people were astounded. They were sure to wonder until the curtain went down and rose again on a single Drake. It was the wax figure, but so like the singer that it was not noticed until the curtain went down and rose again on a single Drake. It was the wax figure, but so like the singer that it was not noticed until the curtain went down and rose again on a single Drake.

At another time Powers was at work on a wax bust of Thomas Jefferson. There was a critic in Cincinnati in those days named Simms, who had incurred the displeasure of Powers at a dinner three days the people talked of the double Alexander Drake, and then the secret got out that it was one of Powers' figures.

The Rapid City gun club will import prairie chickens and quail into the Black Hills for the purpose of stocking the country with them. The Black Hills Sampling works is the name of an organization at Deadwood whose purpose is to sample and buy all ores delivered for eight hours. A barn, belonging to Martin Anderson, of Lake county, caught fire from the breaking of a lantern not long ago and was completely destroyed, together with six cows, one horse, two calves, five sheep, one goat and fifty tons of hay.

Wyoming. The Laramie Electric Light company has increased its capital stock to $75,000. The elegant residence of Judge Carey in Cheyenne was destroyed by fire last week. The Chinese official dives of Cheyenne received an official call from the police. The oriental druggists were fined $25 each. A passenger train on the Union Pacific struck a water car near Rock Creek Thursday, wrecking two engines and three freight cars. Nobody injured. Trains were delayed eight hours. Benjamin Twissleton, a notorious stock thief who was captured in Nebraska, has been caged in Cheyenne, pending trial. Prior to starting in business in Wyoming he had a record of two murders, and was a leading member of the Doe Middleton gang of Niobrara rangers. Beware of Scrofula. Scrofula is probably more general than any other disease. It is insidious in character, and manifests itself in running sores, pustular eruptions, boils, swellings, enlarged joints, abscesses, sore eyes, etc. Hood's Sarsaparilla expels all trace of scrofula from the blood, leaving it pure, enriched, and healthy. "I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took five bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and am cured." C. E. LOVEJOY, Lowell, Mass. C. A. Arnold, Arnold, Mo., had scrofulous sores for seven years, spring and fall. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured him.
