

THE CHAMPION PUGILIST.

He Arrives in the City With His Combination.

WHAT SULLIVAN HAS TO SAY. Two Weddings—The School Board—Political Pointers—The Omaha & Northern Road—Other Local.

Sullivan and His Combination. The members of the John L. Sullivan combination, which appeared at the exposition building last night, arrived in the city yesterday, and are stopping at the Merchants. The combination comprises the great John L. Sullivan, Patrick E. Sheehy, his manager; Steve Taylor, the celebrated heavy-weight; Jimmy Carroll, the champion light-weight of New England; George La Blanche, better known as the marine; Tom Hinch, the famous middle-weight; Dan Murphy, the treasurer, and Dr. Crawford, Sullivan's physician and trainer. Taylor lays claim to some distinction as being the first man Sullivan knocked out in Harry Hall's place in New York years ago.

Nearly all the members of the combination were thoroughly wearied from want of sleep and retired to their rooms to secure a few hours' rest. Sullivan and his wife were in bed at 10 o'clock, when he remained until about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A reporter for the Bee was given an interview, which, owing to the fact that the champion was so badly in need of sleep, was not prolonged greatly. "Yes," said Sullivan, in reply to the leading query of the reporter, "I am on my way to San Francisco to meet Paddy Ryan on the 14th. The conditions of the fight are that the winner is to receive 75 per cent. of the receipts, and the loser 25. The contest will be one of six rounds, and will be with soft gloves."

"What do you think of Ryan's chances?" "Well," replied big man, "he is a clever fellow and all that, but I don't think he is in any better condition than he was when I met him the first time. I propose to show him what I can do, and I shall be very much surprised if he shows up at the end of the third round."

"Is it settled that you are to meet Smith, the champion of England?" "Not by any means. Smith, in my opinion, is a big bag of wind. We've tried to get him over here to make a match, but he won't come. So soon as we are through with the show business, Sheehy and I will go to England to see if we can't arrange a match with him. What do I think of his chances? They are about even with those of Ryan."

In speaking of Sullivan, Mr. Sheehy, his manager, said: "John never was in better condition than he is to-day, both in science, muscle, wind and general physique. No, sir, he don't drink a thing. I'll bet all the money there is in this satchel to a dollar that he hasn't tasted anything stronger than water in six months. He is keeping straight, resting regularly, has good hours, and altogether is in splendid trim. He now weighs 300 pounds, and is five feet ten inches and a half high. His flesh is just as hard and firm as iron. His fighting weight is about 220 pounds, though he can train down to about 210 pounds. He is a wonderful man in point of quickness, for you must bear in mind that though he weighs 220 pounds he is just as quick as lightning. The man don't live to-day that can best him. You must remember that during all his fights he has never been knocked down, and he has never received a scratch. He has never been knocked down, either. The nearest he came to it was when he met Mitnell. The latter struck at him, and John, dodging the blow, caught his foot in a wide crack in the platform, tripped and fell. He was the angriest man then that I think I ever saw, and he was in a fine feat when he knocked Mitchell clean over the ropes. Mitchell was put back on the platform, and John hit him again, this time knocking him right through the ropes. Charles Williams, of the police then interfered with the protest. 'Don't kill him, Sullivan.'"

"I don't think Sullivan will ever have any more bare knuckle fights," said Sheehy, in answering another question of the reporter. "I am certain that he won't while he is with me, and I think when I leave him he will be about ready to quit the business. I don't approve of a bare knuckle fight. It is a crime against nature and a crime against the law. Neither do I approve of knockouts. What the people like is a good, clean, fair display, without any features of brutality.

The champion is possessed of a face, which, while it does not stand out as a man of any remarkable intelligence, is, nevertheless, a pleasing one. In physique he is perfectly proportioned, but walks with a certain swagger. His movement, which is distinguished by a characteristically pugilistic vigor. He sports a heavy hat and is tastefully attired in a dark Prince Albert coat with light trousers, and patent leather pointed shoes.

CHAMPION'S SHAGHNESSY. A Ceremony Which Occurred at St. Philomena Cathedral. The marriage of Mr. Patrick Duffy to Miss Agnes O'Shaughnessy was celebrated at St. Philomena cathedral Wednesday morning, Rev. Father McCarthy officiating. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. Miss Sarah Brady acted as bridesmaid, while W. R. O'Shaughnessy, the brother of the bride, was the groom's best man.

After the solemn words had been spoken, the couple repaired to the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Hawley, 317 north Seventeenth street, where a pleasant and largely attended reception was held. The list of presents was as follows: Groom to bride, seal clock, muff and pearl earrings; W. R. O'Shaughnessy, brother of bride, check of $100 to bride and bedroom suite to groom; Mrs. Hawley sister to bride, new Home sewing machine; Eddie Bradley silver cake basket; Miss Brady, silver spoon holder; Mamie C. Horrigan, jewel case; Mr. and Mrs. R. Downey, dining room suite; Prof. T. T. Downey, silver butter dish and set silver napkin rings; Mr. and Mrs. J. O'Boyle, statuary, "Rock of Ages"; A. Brennan, gold lined silver fruit dish; Feeney & Connolly, gold lined dessert basket; Mr. and Mrs. Attwood, hand painted, gold lined, landscape scene; Mrs. Margaret Donnelly, cousin of bride, one dozen napkins; Misses Croighton and Braden, dresses; Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Richard, china tea set; Mrs. Durnall and daughter, variegated water set; C. Brennan, individual silver tea set; C. S. Whipple, cologne case; Mrs. M. Paul, cut glass ice cream service; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Murphy, cut glass water service; Mr. and Mrs. N. Morgan, and son Philip, gold card case with cut glass bouquet holder; Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Murphy, silver butter dish; Harry and Morris Husow, pickle caster; C. R. Ryan silver show-case; Mrs. C. R. Ryan, silver show-case; Mrs. J. J. Ryan, silver show-case; Miss Julia Leon, hand painted pin cushion; Mr. and Mrs. D. O'Connor, towels; Mrs. J. F. Smith, cut glass home-made set; Mrs. E. Cookin, "Mater Dolorosa"; Miss Grace Conklin, marble vase; E. J. Taggart, gyp cup and saucer; Miss Mamie Frenzer, Marcellite bed spread; J. N. Kelly, silver napkin rings in fan trays; Mr. and Mrs. E. Fearon, willow worked basket; Mr. Percy Snyder, Tennyson poems complete; Miss Fannie Arnold, Bayard Taylor's home ballads; Wm. P. McDewitt, marble top stand; Edmund Burk, parlor chair.

STERNSDORFF-BECKMAN.

The Nuptials of Two Well Known Young People Celebrated Today. The marriage of Geo. J. Sternsdorff to Miss Kittie Beckman occurred yesterday afternoon at the residence of Henry Bolin, on Sixteenth and California streets. Rev. W. J. Harsha performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of invited friends and relatives. The bride was attired in a handsome costume of white satin, which greatly enhanced her natural charms. She was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Beckman, as bridesmaid, Mr. Harvey J. Fueller officiated as best man for the groom.

After the ceremony was performed, a jointed repast was served which was accorded ample justice by those who sat down to the table. A reception was then held, lasting well into the afternoon. A large number of the friends of the happy couple called and paid their respects in person. The guests were numerous and attractive and showed well the esteem in which both of the contracting parties are held by their acquaintances.

PLANS AND PLANS.

The Hospital Commission Now Considering Architectural Designs. The county commissioners, after the postponement taken a week ago, in the matter of the consideration of the plans submitted for the proposed county hospital, resumed the subject this morning.

There were present a full board and all the physicians upon whom the selection of the more successful plan will depend. The matter was discussed for some time, and then an adjournment was taken until 2:30 o'clock. In the mean time, Architect Meyer, of Detroit, the gentleman who built the court house and who is to erect the new city hall, was given permission to introduce the plans which he had prepared. This afternoon the gentleman went before the joint commission and exhibited his plans, at the same time taking occasion to explain them both in design and theory. The diversity of plans now before the board, is somewhat remarkable, especially when it is considered that but few have been presented. Some of these are plain, representing a building costing not more than $100,000, while others are those of a structure which will cost up into the hundred thousands.

Despite this fact, however, the impression seems to prevail that of all those submitted, the commission is composed of men who will act for the best interests of the community.

Election Leagues.

John D. Creighton—"This talk about Howe's contesting McShane's seat is all nonsense. The fact was—and it can easily be proven—that Howe used money to secure his election. His corrupt methods were notorious—and notorious in fact that the voters of the First district were thoroughly disgusted with him."

R. S. Hall—"I am not in possession of the complete returns, but I know enough to be sure that I am about 200 votes behind."

A Farnam street merchant—"The republicans deserve their defeat. With such a man as Howe on the ticket, they could not hope for success. Howe's nomination was the only thing in the way of a sweeping victory for the county republicans."

A Democrat—"One of our duties, I see, is talking about Howe's contesting Jno. A. McShane's election. This is all rubbish, at least, so far as the grounds upon which it is based are concerned. Of course money was used, but I am satisfied it was utilized in a manner not greatly different from that in which it is always employed in elections. I am in a position to know that, and I am not at all disposed to be made use of for improper purposes in the campaign, will be confronted with facts of his own creating which will prove to every unprejudiced man that he relied upon a boodler and disreputable voters than he did upon the intelligence and respectability of the republicans of his district. I know of one case where he put $10,000 into a county, and that was Lancaster. Even in this city I know one man to whom he gave $300. I know of other cases, and when the time comes Mr. Howe will feel it perhaps advisable to cover up his tracks."

Police Points.

Sixteen drunks and disturbers of the peace were arraigned before Judge Stenberg yesterday. Six were fined—only one of them paying, and seven were sent to the county jail. Among the number was Geo. Yates, who had been on a spree and was on the verge of delirium tremens. Three suspicious characters were discharged and one was held.

A Lost Husband.

Judge Stenberg received yesterday the following letter of inquiry from an anxious wife, Laycye, Kansas: "Dear Sir: Two weeks ago my husband, A. Coomer, left here for Omaha, and I have never heard from him. As he is or was a man who drinks, I thought he might come under your notice. Any information concerning him or his whereabouts will be thankfully received by him or myself. He is about 35 years of age, and I am, very respectfully, Mrs. A. Coomer."

District Court.

Today Judge Wakely will take up the criminal case of Joe Wilson, charged with forgery of a check on Grant Lawrence.

Burglars at Work.

Two burglars were reported to the police yesterday. One occurred Wednesday night at the residence of G. W. Hamilton on Twenty-fifth and Leavenworth streets where the two succeeded in getting away with only a suit of clothes. Charles Karback was victim of the other burglary, and lost a valuable gold watch.

The General W. C. T. U.

will not hold any meetings till after the meetings of Jones and Small. All the members are urged to attend their meetings at the exposition building.

THE OMAHA ROAD.

A Meeting Last Night—The Northwestern's Plans. It was rumored on the streets yesterday that a secret meeting of the capitalists of the city was held Wednesday night to discuss the subject of a railroad to the northwest. As to what was done, nothing is known by those "on the outside." It is supposed that a big scheme is on foot, the particulars of which will be divulged in a few days, and which means the certain and speedy construction of the much talked of road.

Appropos of this, the Rapid City Journal has the following to say: From a gentleman connected with the construction department of the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley road a report yesterday for what has been a standing memorandum with a number of Black Hills people for a long time—that is to be done with the extra construction force of the contractors after the branches under way are all completed. At Douglas, Kas., or rather a few miles west of there, a force will be kept at work all winter, or so much of the time as may be, and such as are not employed there will be taken to the eastern part of Nebraska and set to work on the extension of the line to Omaha. The branch to Omaha will leave the main line at Arlington, a distance of twenty-three miles away. The contract for doing the grading and laying the track was awarded to C. P. Treat, and by him sublet to different contractors. There is considerably heavy grading to do on the line, and it will necessitate the employment of a large force of men, if the work is completed this winter as is desired. The iron, of course, cannot be put on until next spring. Next spring the iron on the Omaha branch will be laid and the track finished west from Douglas. This much of the company's plans has been definitely decided upon. What else will be done in the matter of track laying next summer is yet a matter of uncertainty. The gentleman was asked if he could give any definite information regarding the intention of the Black Hills branch, and he replied that he could not. This is as yet an open question.

NEW OUTFITS FOR NEWSPAPERS.

The Omaha Type Foundry and Supply House for Printers and Publishers. The Western Newspaper Union at Omaha is prepared at all times to outfit publishers on short notice with presses, type, rules, borders, inks, composition, sticks and rules, and in fact everything in the line of printers' and publishers' supplies. Better prices and more liberal terms can be secured than by sending to Chicago or elsewhere. Save money by buying near home. Second hand goods in the printing line bought and sold. We often have great quantities of second hand material. Send for THE PRINTERS' DIRECTORY, our monthly trade journal, that gives lists of goods and prices and from time to time proclaims unequalled bargains in new and second hand printing material. WESTERN NEWSPAPER UNION, 12th Street, bet. Howard and Jackson, Omaha, Nebraska.

S. L. Diller, for many years with the A. L. Strang and now head clerk at the United States Wind Engine Co., was married on Monday in Philadelphia to a young lady of that city. He will return to Omaha after a short tour in the east.

Prince Bismarck's Health and Appearance.

New York Herald: Regarding the health of the prince, from time to time the most contradictory rumors are circulated. Some say the once gigantic figure of the man has fallen away and that he is unable to secure his own food, especially of severe attacks of neuralgia and sciatica, are marked deeply in his countenance, while other reports assure the public that the "Iron Chancellor" looks a little worn, but otherwise healthy. In a letter from Hamburg, received recently by a Brooklyn gentleman, this report is somewhat confirmed. The writer of the letter, who has lately seen the prince at his country seat, Riedersheim, gives the following report: "Prince Bismarck's face is thinner than some four years ago, when I saw him last. That the prince wears spectacles is entirely new to me, but I am told that he uses them as little as possible. He is now in his seventy-first year, and it is only natural that his eyes should have become weak and that he needs spectacles. But although he walks slowly and heavily, he carries his head erect. Any one seeing him must confess that he, like many men of his age, still possesses great physical power of mind. Although his general appearance is well known through pictures of every kind, we select a few characteristic points for description. His features were never either handsome or ugly, but were very remarkable and not easily forgotten if once seen. In his younger days, his biographers say, his face was strikingly clear and full of cheerfulness, even to the old age. His eyes were bright and earnest, almost solemn, with an expression of most indomitable energy and hardness. Beneath the bold forehead his large, projecting blue eyes do not look about with the vivacity of a young man, but turn quietly from one object to another. His eyes are so penetrating that many experience a disagreeable feeling from meeting them. His broad forehead and his remarkably long and bushy eyebrows heighten his strongly marked features, which often appear harsh. His large and heavy figure does not appear to be in any way out of proportion—the large, round head, the big neck, the broad shoulders and the stout limbs.

A Theatrical Dog.

Albany Express: "Poor Keyser is dead." For six years he had been a faithful attaché of the Leland opera house. At an early age he was taught to go through the motions of a dog, and his performance attracted and aroused any persons who might have failed to take their departure. He was known to every actor and actress in the country, and all had a kind word for him. With Mary Anderson he was a prime favorite, and Lester Wallace, at every appearance here wanted to take Keyser home with him. Keyser was only a dog, but was endowed with more intelligence than many human beings. As soon as the curtain in the theater was rung up the dog would seek the soft side of the carpet in the property room, and there doze away until the performance was over, when he would go on his nightly rounds through the house. He was a good natured brute and was very fond of children. His fate was sealed yesterday when he yielded to the seductive allurements of a poisonous button. Peace to his ashes.

One boy in Springfield, Mass., is so bright that he has got into the newspapers. The brightness consisted in asking his school teacher how far a procession of the presidents of the United States would reach if they were placed in a row. When she gave it up he answered: "From Washington to Cleveland."

This Day at 2 O'clock. To day at 2 o'clock is the grand opening of the bankrupt sale of the late tailor-made winter clothing, hats, etc., at 1118 Farnam st., Omaha, Neb. United States Court Matters. Judge Dunley yesterday heard arguments on a motion to remand the South Omaha syndicate case to the state court on the ground that the federal court has no jurisdiction. Webster, Cowin and Pritchett represented the dissenting trustees and Woolworth represented the Boston faction. Judge Dunley has reserved his decision.

SPECIAL REDUCTION.

The cold waves have been so long in coming that our expectations as to the sale of heavy overcoats have not been quite realized. In anticipation of a cold fall and early winter, we laid in the most extensive line of overcoats ever offered to the people of Omaha. These overcoats must be sold. It is better for us to sell them at a sacrifice than to carry this immense stock, so we have marked down the prices on the same as follows:

- 100 Mens' heavy Grey Beaver Overcoats, cassimere lined, reduced from $6 to $3.60.
100 Mens' heavy blue Chinchilla Beaver Overcoats, reduced from $9 to $5.50.
65 Mens' heavy blue Chinchilla Storm Overcoats, extra long with cassimere lining, trimmed with large fur collar and cuffs, reduced from $12.50 to $8. This Coat cannot be bought elsewhere for less than $14.
80 Mens' all wool worsted Overcoats, in black and brown, reduced from $12 to $7.75.

Please bear in mind that all these goods are new and fresh, and manufactured for the season by us, and that we guarantee every article to be as represented or the money will be refunded. All goods at strictly one price at the
