PARTICULARS OF A BIG PLAN.

The United States Government Cooperates With a Railroad -Other Local News.

An Important Move. A big scheme, which has just been perfeeted by the Union Pacific with the cooperation of the United States government was unearthed yesterday by a reporter for the Bug. It is nothing less than the establishment of a weather service on the Union Pacific exactly similar, though on a small scale, to the one now used by the United States government. Observing stations, fully equipped, are to be established at different points along the Union Pacifie's lines, with headquarters at Omaha, from which weather predictions will be issued based on observations furnished by the men along the line. The particulars of the scheme in detail are

Two years ago, when General Superintendent Smith came into his present position in the Union Pacific directory, he found that his company was sustaining severe losses through extreme cold weather and snow blockades, as well as in the seasons of extreme hot weather. Perishable goods, and especially live stock, were oftentimes damaged to the extent of thousands of dollars by these extremes of heat and cold. He set to work to devise some means of remedying this evil. It struck him that if a system could be established by which reliable information of impending cold or hot weather or coming snowstorms could be furnished, the difficulty could be obviated. The matter was agitated, negotiations between the company and the government being carried on through Mr. Pike, representing the former, and Mr. Pollock, the local signal officer, representing Uncle Sam. Within the last two months the maiter has been entirely adjusted, and the details of the scheme are now for the first time made public. THE SCHEME.

There are to be thirty-two stations at principal points on the different lines of the Union Pacific. Nine of these will be known as first-class stations, and will be provided with a full set of observing instruments, namely mercurial barometers, thermometers, hygrometers, (for determining the moisture of the atmosphere), anemometers (for measuring the velocity of the wind), wind vanes, and rain guages. Nine more stations will be known as second-class stations and will be supplied with all of the aforementioned instruments except barometers. Fourteen others are to be thirdciass stations, and will be equipped with, thermometers, hygrometers and rain gauges. It has been decided to take the observations at 4 a. m., Omaha time, all along the road, and 4 p. m., so that in the morning predictions can be sent out before any of the trains start and in the afternoon before the Omaha headquarters are closed. These observations will be taken by one of the men already employed at each station, thus rendering unnecessary the employ-ment of additional help. The observations will be sent to the predicting officer at the headquarters, who will make his prognostications accordingly.

In making these arrangements Gen eral Superintendent Smith wisely thought it best to invite the co-operation of the government officers, and this has been freely extended by General Hazen. Two or more observers of the United States signal corps will be sent out at once over the line of the Union Pacific to instruct the observers in the proper way of reading instruments and transmitting their reports. In making these reports the Union Pacific observers will be allowed to use the government cipher, which is correct and cencise, beside being easily understood.

The indication officer who is to make up the predictions will arrive about the first of Decemper. His name is Lieutenant Joseph S. Powell, and he is said to be one of the best men in his line of work in the signal service. Omahans will be interested in knowing that he is a brother of Major Powell of the Fourth infantry, who was recently at this post. The gentleman will have his office in the Union Pacific headquarters building and his services are to be exclusively at the disposal of the company. He is to be paid, however, by the government. The in-struments will shortly arrive here and it is thought that by the second week in December at the farthest, the system will be in full operation. The expense of putting it into operation will not be as heavy as the casual observer might think. The Union Pacine, of course, has its own lines for the transmission of re-ports, no extra help will have to be em-ployed in making the observations, and the expense of the instruments will amount to but a few thousand dollars.

THE ADVANTAGES. The advantages of this system will be at once apparent to any one. It will be especially valuable in that it will furnish the officials with private information concerning the state of weather and storm probabilities in the territory traversed by the Union Pacific lines. It will thus enable them to govern the running of their trains accordingly. For instance, if the predicting officer foretells a heavy snowsform impending in the west, the outgoing trains will be despatched with two engines or snowplows, so as to be able to light the storm. Or, when an extreme cold wave, with probable snow blockade, is predicted the stock, which is likely to perish, will be left behind. In numerous other ways, which need not be recounted here, the service will prove itself invaluable.

THE FIRST OF THE KIND. "This railway meteorological service is the first thing of the kind ever attempted in the United States," said Signal Officer Pollock yesterday. "If it proves a succes, as I have no doubt it will, it will inaugur-ate a new era in the system of running trains. I presume that it will be extensively adopted before long by the great railways of the country. Already the Northwestern and Central Pacific roads have been invited by the Union Pacific to co-operate with them. Yes, though this is the first system of the kind adopted it is safe to say that it won't be the last."

CLIMBING HEAVENWARD.

How the Preston Truck Will Give the Firemen a Jacob's Ladder.

Councilmen Lee, Lowry and Goodrich and Fire Marshal Galligan returned Thursday from Chicago, where they had been to purchase a patent extension ladder. Before going to Chicago they encountered the snow and blizzard in Minneapolis and St. Paul, then rolled to Milwaukee where they did not get out of the cars because of the rain, and then struck Chicago. They signed a contract for a Preston truck with a full equipment of firerighting apparatus, the principle feature TERSON, COR. 15TH AND HOWARD.

of which is the patent extension ladder. When the truck is drawn to a fire the horses are unharnessed and, by means of a crank, a ladder fifty-five feet in length is raised to any angle, even to a perpendicular if desired. If not high enough to reach an objective point, another ladder of twenty feet may run be run up in the same mapper and fastened. Should the same manner and fastened. Should these be inadequate, a third ladder of twenty feet may be raised to the top in a like manner, thus presenting ninety-five feet of support in the air. This is braced upon a turn table on the truck, which may be easily turned so as to face either side of the street. The cost of the truck and ladder is $3,500 and will be finished in sixty days. Before it is painted it will be subject to inspection by somebody ap-pointed by the council or marshal and will be exhibited here for ten days before it will be accepted.

"I don't think anything about it. I am not worrying at all on that point."
"Do you believe that it is true?"
"No, I don't. It is like a good deal of other trash that is printed in the papers simply published to injure me or to give the papers something sensational, I have heard from home every day, and I have not heard one word about this."

'How do you suppose the report originated?",
"I can't say unless it is because my brother has been speaking some sharp words of truth to the people. The mat-ter may have been discussed in that light by the quarterly conference. How long has my brother been in the ministry? Only one year. He is a sort of lone preacher, has no charge and is not a regularly ordained pastor. He is two years older than myself."

In reply to further questioning, Mr. Jones said that he would leave Omaha on Monday for Bostou, where he is to hold

CAUGHT IN THE ELEVATOR.

James Gildea Fatally Injured Yesterday Morning.

A very serious accident happened yesterday morning in the Jones building on Dodge street, adjoining the Arlsngton block. Ayoung man named James Gildea engaged as man-of-all-work, at the residence of G. M. Hitchcock, was caught between the floor of the elevator on the second floor, and the door leading to the same and crushed between both so as to stop the elevator, which was ascending. The unfortunate young man was suspended about three feet from the floor, his abdomen resting upon the floor of the apparatus. He had been in that position it is estimated, about twenty minutes, and to extricate him the door had to be broken town. When relieved by Professor Caynore he was in an unconscious condition and blood was run-ning from his nostrils. Dr. Dinsmoor was called, but he could not satisfactorily determine the extent of his injuries. The victim was carried to Mr. Hitchcock's residence, and subsequently to the Child's hospital.

At 6 o'clock last evening Gilden died, having remained in an unconscious condition from the time of his injury. His remains were taken to Drexel & Maul's, where they will remain, awaiting in formation as to their disposition from his mother, who resides in Baltimore. Mr. Gildea was without relatives in this city,

The Horse-Clipping Discussion. To the Editor of the BEE: In reference to the letter of Executive Committee Nebraska State Humane society, of November 23, I wish to say a word with your permission. In the first place, I do not believe in elipping horses. As a rule, it is the exception, and I think my letter to the BEE of a few days ago will bear me out in this, but I do believe a little newspaper controversy on this subject will be a good thing for the horse, for it will bring owners to study up the matter, and put the clipper in in the right place, and leave it out when it is not needed, or when it would be an injury. I would state for the benefit of Executive Committate for the beneat of Executive Commit-tee that I well remember the days of the "bob-tailed nag," and have made the horse a study for twenty-five years for pleasure, profit and the cause of human-ity, and having spent my life, until two years ago, in one of the large eastern cities he speaks of 1 have had one of the best advantages of schooling in this line. I look back with pleasure on my efforts in assisting "the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Ammals" in my own city, and will say to executive committee God-speed, but when I see any one condemning a custom as a wholeand I can see some good in it, I feel it my privilege to defend it. I would even have a word of defence for the over brace check, over its condemnation as a whole, and 1 am not in the harness business, neither am I interested in any clip-Did I not think I was imposing on good nature, I would be pleased to point out cruelties practised on horses in this city, by the side of which clipping and overhead checking sink into insignificance. Executive committee thinks I ought to confess my identity. I do not care for newspaper notoriety, but my address can be had at the BEE office, if any HORSEMAN. one desires it.

First Reunion. The alumni of the Wyman Commercial college met in the college hall Thursday afternoon, where a fine literary programme was rendered. THE FIRST STEP.

Inaugurating a Move to Secure an Addition to the Postoflice.

The BEE published the statement some time ago during the coming session of congress, an attempt would be made by Senator Manderson, and doubtless all the other members of the Nebraska delegation in congress, to secure an appropriation for the erection of an addition to the postoflice. For the purpose of fortifying the senator in his aim, it was decided that a showing of the inadequacy of all the departments of the building should be made by their respective heads. The prevailing idea of the parties to the consideration is that the lot west of the present building should be built upon, and devoted exclusively to the internal revenue and the custom business, leaving the present structure to be utilized for postal and U.S. court pur-

The first step taken in the matter is the showing of the great increase of business in the postoflice, and the need it experiences of more room. This is shown in the following letter of Postmaster Cou-tant, which has been sent to Custodian Jordan, and which will be by him transmitted to Senator Manderson and the treasury department at Washington: OMAHA, Nov. 24 .- Sir: The rapid growth of this city and consequent increase of business in this office will necessitate at a very early day enlarged facilities for its transaction. I do not see how it will be possible to transact the business of this office with the present room much longer. Within the last three years, the business of the office has nearly doubled. nearly doubled.

The gross receipts for the year ending June 20th, 1883, were $101,019. For the year ending June 20th, 1887, estimating upon the receipts of the first four months of the fiscal year, the income of the office will exceed $145,000, postage in the meantime having been reduced on letters 33 per cent, and on second-class matter 50 per cent.

Had the postage remained the same as in 1883, the receipts for the current year would approximate closely to $200,000, showing that the business in these years has about doubled. In December, 1883, the number employed in the office in various capacities—clerks and

In December, 1883, the number employed in the office in various capacities—clerks and letter carriers—was thirty-one. At this time the number is fifty-two, to which two additions will be made December 1. Should the increase of business continue in the same percentage in the immediate future, an increase of at least ten persons would be required to the force each year.

Nearly every department is now in need of more room, and steps should be taken to secure it the earliest day possible. secure it the earliest day possible.

Respectfully,
To Hon, R. C. Jordan, Custodian, Omaha,

MRS. FOUNTAIN.

She Appears as Defendant it Two Justice Courts. The celebrated, not to say notorious, Laura G. Fountain, was brought into Justice Anderson's court yesterday morning to answer to a charge of disposing of mortgaged property-namely, a $300 dramond ring, purchased, as alleged, at he Establishment of Edholm & Erickson.

Mrs. Fountain's plump and handsome figure was enveloped in a dark traveling dress of plain material, which was all but covered by a long ulster. Her comely features were obscured by a dark veil. Through this, however, her dark eyes could be seen to glisten and snap as she conversed with her attorneys, Messrs. Thurston and Bartiett, Her husband was also on hand.

The fair defendant's attorneys filed a motion for a change of venue and Jus-tice Anderson ordered the case re-moved to the court of Justice Helsley. This was done in spite of the emphatic protest of the attorneys for Edholm & Erickson, who wanted the case tried be-fore Justice Berka. Justice Helsley, upon request of the attorneys for the defense, fixed the time of trial for Monday evening at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Fountain's attorneys expect to prove that the ring was purchased by Mrs. F. as a present for her husband, and that a chattel mortgage was executed thereon;that Mr. F. didn't want the present on such terms and took it back to the jewelers, who assured him that Mrs. Fountain's word was good enough and tore up the mortgage, that the ring was then given to Mr. Fountain, and finally at the request of the jewelers Mrs. F. executed another mortgage on the ring. This property, it is claimed, was not her own, having passed into the possession of her husband. Hence, her mortgage on it could not have been rightfully given.

A WHITE HOUSE BIRTH.

The First and Only Child Ever Born in the Executive Mansion.

Chicago Inter-Ocean: The only person who carries with him the distinction of having been born at the white house is now a man in his forty-second year. When James K. Polk was president of the United States, J. Knox Walker, his nephew, acted as his private secretary, and resided, with his family, in the lirst house of the land. There, on September 18, 1845, was born Hai T. Walker. His father was a Tennesseean of some distinction as a local politician, and when the war of the union broke out fought on the confederate side.

When sixteen years old the child of the White house also entered the ranks of those lighting for distress. He was aidede-camp to General Preston Smith until the death of that officer who was killed in battle. From then until the end of the war he was on the staff of General Frank C. Armstrong, his brother in law.

On the collapse of the confederacy Mr.
Walker went to Memphis, Tenn., where he was in business about a year. In 1886 he removed to Montgomery, Ala. The same year he also married, was admitted to the lar and becam the results of law. to the bar and began the practice of law. Mr. Walker still resides at Montgomery, and is a man of considerable property and influence. In the year 1880 he was elected to represent Montgomery county in the general assembly of the state of Alabama. His political activity in that year was unusual, his attention, as a normal thing, being engrossed in Innerits an Enormous Fortune.

London Standard: A cook in the ser-vice of the Rev. C. G. Lane, rector of Little Gaddesden, Herts, has came into a fortune of £300,000. The lucky person is a widow named Adeock, and she has been with Mr. Lane only about a year. She has received assurances that her title is undisputed, and she has been accepted by the court of Chancery as one of the heirs. Nor has the amount been overstated. The legacy is part of the pro-ceeds of an estate in London of the value of between two and three millions, which sum is to be divided among ten claim-The estate belonged to Mrs. Adcock's grandfather, a gentleman named Atwell, and was originally very much larger; but in the lifetime of the testator some sixteen houses were given to one of the London hospitals. A singular circumstance is connected with the recovery of this property. Money deposited in chancery lapses to the crown in the event of no heirs turning up within a certain number of years, and is applied to the reduction of the national debt; and in the present instance the claim was lodged only two days before the expiry of the period. Since Mrs. Adoock received intimation of her fortune she has left her situation, and is at present residing in London. Although she is about sixty years of age, it is said she has already received thirteen offers of marriage. The rectory has during the last few days been besieged with shoals of letters from persons soliciting donations for all sort of charitable purposes.

If the Mr. Foster, of St. Louis, will address R. W. Gibson & Co., room 5, Withnell block, he will learn something to his advantage.

Found Stolen Goods.

A boy named Clarence Meyers yesterday morning found in a vacant lot on the corner of Thirteenth and Dodge streets a gold bracelet, chatelaine watch and some other valuables which were taken last night from the residence of C. T. Brady, 1619 Capitol avenue. A portion of the plunder, including several silver watches, could not be found. The plunder had probably been hidden there by the thieves for temporary safe keeping.

THE LOUIS THE LOUIS THE LOUIS

The STRICTEST EXAMINER may tryEVERY TEST of touch and sight without discovering that the care other than the GENOA VELVETS, they so closely resemble, while the necolar paragraments resulting in the FAST WOVEN PILE enable them to stand interminating any rough wear, which would ruin real volvets at four times the noise.

The Genuins LAUIS VELVETTEN has LONG BEEN THE FAVOUTE IN ENGLAND, and most not be confounded with any other velveleen. Every yard of the GENLINE beens the name of "LOUIS," and a GUARANTEE of wear accompanies every yard.

NOTE WELL The word "LAUIS" in connection with the Velveleen is spalled "LOUIS" and on the other way.

and in no other way. N. B. FALCONER.
