CRICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 .- (Special Telegram to the BEE. |-Wheat opened 34@ 4e higher this morning on strong cables and the destruction of over 750,000 bushels of wheat at Dulath. The tone of the market was buoyant and the crowd felt bullish. Many who had bought Friday and Saturday thought it a good time to take their profit. This feeling proved to be widespread. There was a vast amount of realizing near the opening and the market yielded to the pressure, receding a full We the first half hour. From 75%ce December sold down to 75% c, and May from 823%c to 82%c. It was a common report that two or three leading local operators were free sellers of January and May, principally of January. However, New York was a good buyer, and advices from that point were bullish. After the decline the market hardened appreciably, December going to 75/4c, January to 76 ke and May to 82%c. The report gained wide currency that the deliveries of wheat on December contracts would be very heavy, and the name of Armour was bandled about as one of the carriers who would shorten his lines considerably. report could not be verified, but it found plenty of believers and the story was an influential bear eard. Values again softened and the market became placid to a tain extent, but the undertone was quite ong at times. Nevertheless, the abolition privilege trading is turning out to be a certain extent, but the undertone good thing. A great incubus has been removed from the shoulders of speculation, and increased freedom of action is giving a greater independence to operations. The market improved in tone toward the close of the session. The advance in Liverpool and a very notable and welcome increase in outvery notable and welcome increase in outside speculative business proved more than enough to counteract bearish influences. Values advanced in the face of vigorous and powerful local opposition, and the close at 1 powerful local opposition, and the close at 1 o'clock was within the smallest fraction of the best prices of the morning. The tone was one of stubborn and aggressive strength. Among the late items of news and gossip was the statement that sixty boatloads had been taken in New York for export. This was one of the prime elements of strength at the close. The exports for last week came in about 2,000,000 bashels in wheat and flour. Corn was quiet and steady, with only modcorn was quiet and steady, with only moterate business passing. The large decrease in the visible supply lended to put up prices, but, as the indications point to increased receipts in the near future, the good news about offset the bad and left the market stationary and the crowd indisposed to trade to 4214@4134c and advanced to 4224c, sold to 4214@4134c and advanced to tested at ck. December was quoted at 3734c at the last. Oats were unusually active but fluctuations were slight. May closed the same as Saturday. Speculation is getting into provisions at last, and with the advance of 20e in pork, 1236c in ribs, with a small improvement in lard, trading was on a larger scale than any day for many, many weeks, and the tone of the market was one of great seeming buoyancy. The packers, however, were liberal sellers on the advance.

On the afternoon board values for all

On the afternoon board values for all products were higher. Pork and wheat were both unusually strong. Wheat was strong on export business and covering by shorts, and provisions were strong on heavy buying by several strong parties. Wheat was active, strong and higher at 76% for November, 77%c for December, 77%c for January. Corn was strong and higher at 37%c for January. 42%c for May. Oats were stronger at 27c for De-cember, 27%c for January. Pork was excember, 27 ke for January. Pork was excited, active and higher at $10.25 for November, $10.25 for December, $10.95 for January, $11.05 for February. Lard was strong and higher at $6.05 for December, $6.12½ for January. Short ribs strong and higher at $5.57½ for January, $5.57½ £6.60 for February

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.-|Special Telegram to the BEE. |- CATTLE. -Buyers wanted only pretty good to choice fat cattle, and the supply consisted very largely of inferior to tair stock. The market in a general way was dull and weak. It opened very slowly and seemed to get worse rather than better. There was a very excessive supply of thin and half 1at cattle, besides a great many fairly fat but very rough steers. Prices were 10@20c lower than on Saturday, and there were numerous droves of inferior to fair cattle, which could nor have been cleared at a greater reduction. Thin western cattle were quite plentiful, and sold at only easy rates, the general trade was very unsatisfactory. Shipping steers, 1430 to 1500 lbs, 84, 3565,00; 1200 to 1550 lbs, 83,9064,30; 950 to 1,200 lbs, 83,8063,90. Range cattle offerusogio 1,200 ibs, $3,30/a3,90. Range cattle offerings were fairly large, the demand weak and the market quite dull. Prices were about 15c fewer, and in some cases greater reductions had to be made in order to effect sales. Trading was very slow. Representative sales of Texas cattle: 20 cows, 778 lbs, $2,40; 19 bulls, 1,015 lbs, $1,60; 114 cows, 786 lbs, $2,45; 169 cows, 730 lbs, $2,15; 18 steers, $28 lbs, $2,80. Northern rangers: 196 mixed, 966 lbs, $3,25; 34 cows, 998 lbs, $2,75.
Hoos—Business was active and prices fully 10c higher on packing and shipping fully 10c higher on packing and shipping sorts. Light and common underwent but little change. Fancy lots of light may have sold here and there a shade stronger, but there was no chipping demand and no orders for Yorkers. Packing sorts sold larrely be-tween $3.80 and $3.90, and choice heavy at $3.95@4.10; light sold within a range of $3.40g3.30.

Prices were decidedly weak in early trading, Reading and West Point being the principal sufferers. That Delicions Dish-Hash! Washington Correspondence New York World: I neard a story of high social life he other day which may interest people fond of studying the lights and shades of Washington life. The wife of a certain millionaire who is well known in Washington for her lavish social entertain-ments and her equally lavish social eccentricities was calling the other day upon the wife of a prominent Washing-ton resident. The call was made just before luncheon hour. The lady who was receiving this call is very plain and mat-ter-of-fact. She hoped all through the call that lunch would not be announced She had heard so many stories of the Oriental spiendor of the feasts served each day in the lavishly furnished house of her caller that she did not care to have so distinguished a guest without some special preparations in her honor. That day a hot hash had been prepared by the cook. That was the main feature of their lunch, and the Washington lady thought with horror of asking the distinguished caller to go out and lunch upon common, vulgar, every-day hash. But before the caller was ready to go the servant opened the door between the parlor and dining-room and announced "Lunch!" The lady of the house could not do less than invite her caller to take lunch with her, hoping that she would refuse and go. But the latter accepted and sailed out with great dignity to the bright, modest dining room. Hash was placed in front of the great lady. She tasted it at first with great caution, and then she ex-claimed with great vivacity: "Oh, what a delicious dish! You must tell me what it is. I must have the recipe for that for my cook." The lady of the honse said in reply: "It is hash," The visitor then repeated the word "hash," as if to fasten repeated the word "hash," as if to fasten this hitherto unheard-of word describing this unknown dish in her mind. But this is not the end. The lady of the house was surprised at receiving the next day a note from the rich lady, in which she said: "You must surely send the recipe of that delicions dish—hash, I think you cailed it; I am going to give a lunch party to-morrow, and I wish to introduce that delicious dish in my menu."

A Growing People. San Francisco Call: In round numbers the population of the United States increases at the rate of 1,000,000 a year. The census of 1889 showed a population of over 50,000,000, and close estimates based on local censuses give in 1886-56, 000,000. Of this increase about one third is from abroad. Two natives reach the stage of action for one foreign-born resident. The ratio of native increase must in the future be greater, as the native element is constantly growing larger while the foreign is about stationary. The inimigration for last year was a little larger than that of 1884, and this year promises to exceed the last; but both years show a decrease on several preceding years. Many thoughtful persons are apprehensive of future trouble through this rapid increase of population, so largely drawn from foreign sources. The spectacle of from 300,000 to 400,000 foreigners being absorbed annually into our industrial force is one, they think, which can not be continued without it ime producing a serious disturbance, t should be borne in mind that when a foreigner comes to this country and be comes a part of its laboring force he becomes also a part of its consuming force. In many cases he does work in this counry which in his absence would be done in Europe. Until the population approaches the limit of our producing capacity the foreigner may as well work here as in Europe. We now export grain and meats which are consumed in Europe and the product of the consumer's labor is sent to us. When the laborer comes over and works in this country he consumes more of our agricultural product than when he is in Europe and he only adds to the consuming force. In tim the foreign immigration will decrease in actual numbers, as it is already decreasing relatively. The number of born Americans, is every year larger, and will increase for years; but the inducements for foreigners to come here will grow less and less. The immigration question is therefore largely one of the imagination. The politicians who are disturbed over it ive a quarter of a century too late. country has passed successfully through the danger they now think they see in the future. Whatever peril there may have been in that question when the na tion was young and the population was small has now passed away.

Umbqua Joe, well and favorably known throughout Southern Oregon as chief scout for General Fremont in his explorations through Northern California and Southern Oregon and the firm friend and ally of the white settlers in the Rogue River Indian war, was killed by his son in-law. Albert Pico, on the 12th inst., at his home on Rogue River, eighteen miles below Grant's Pass. Pico, after receiving a mortal wound from Joe, who acted self-defense, fired three shots from a Martini rifle, one taking effect in Joe's neart and the other penetrating the right lung. Both men were dead in one ninnte after the firing commenced.

James Smith committed suicide at Reno recently. He had been playing poker at the Palace saloon. In the last hand he held four kings and staked his wealth-about $10-on the cards. His pponent held four aces, and raked down walked to the center of the bridge spanning the Truckee river on Virginia street, and leaping into the stream below was

"Indian George," a Cherokee Indian who has resided for many years in Oregon, was found dead recently on the Klaskanine. He had been out hunting with his pack of hounds and evidently had fallen dead from heart disease. His hounds guardep his body and refused to let anyone touch it for several days. When the body was placed in the coffin one of the faithful dogs came up, licked his dead masters face, and then with a low moan laid down and died.

Miss Sadie Hamill, of Sacramento county, Cal., had two lovers, J. B. Humphrey and Henry Mitchell. She could not tell which she liked best, and the party drove to Sacramento, and by agreement she remained sitting in a vehicle on K street, while the two young men went into the Peerless saloon and played a game of poker to see which should retire from the contest for her affections. Humphrey won the game and drove off with the young lady, while Mitchell drowned his sorrows in the flowing bowl.

Judge Stenberg had a short session yesterday morning, at which a number of un important cases were disposed of Drunks, vagrants and thieves made up
