

CITY CHARTER AMENDMENTS.

Suggestions and Recommendations by City Attorney Connell.

THE GROUND WELL COVERED

The Amendments Relate to Metropolitan Offices Having a Population of Over 60,000.

In view of the discussion of charter amendments and the appointment of a committee of fifteen to formulate plans for the new charter...

The first thing to be considered in connection with the proposed amendments to the city charter...

It is hardly probable that Lincoln will be disposed longer to remain as of the second class, and for the present, she probably is not prepared to assume the expense of a form of government...

From this statement of the legal relation of the two cities, it is manifest that Lincoln is directly concerned in the form of the charter...

It is hardly probable that Lincoln will be disposed longer to remain as of the second class, and for the present, she probably is not prepared to assume the expense of a form of government...

As a simple way out of the difficulty, it would seem to me a wise plan to entirely remove from the present charter...

The important thing, however, to be considered in this connection is the provision of our constitution which prohibits the passage by the legislature of any local or special law...

In view of a comparatively recent decision of our supreme court, I do not think the classification of cities proposed, would be repugnant to the constitutional provision referred to...

Among the first of the charter amendments which I would propose, is the extending of the corporate limits of the city.

The boundary lines of the city are the same today as fifteen years ago, when our population did not exceed twenty thousand.

Another amendment which I regard of the utmost importance in connection with our public improvements, is an express grant of power to the mayor and council in all cities of the metropolitan class...

The notification to property owners which has been given to make such connections has proved wholly unavailing.

AND DEFINED THAT IS DONE UNDER THE PRESENT EXISTING CONTRACT.

The charter now in force authorizes the taxing and licensing of liquor dealers, pawnbrokers and auctioneers.

Express authority should be given to create the office of inspector of boilers, and to determine their powers and define their duties.

It is already manifest that an increase in the judicial and county courts must be made, otherwise, the law's delays will be an ill too grievous to be borne.

A STORY HORRIBLE IF TRUE.

Mrs. Moffatt Tells How Her Husband Was Treated by the Thiemans.

A SCHEME OF REVENGE.

A Second Confession—Daggett Says That He Fired the Barker Block Intentionally—Other Local News.

The council committee appointed to investigate the death of John W. Moffatt, met in their chamber yesterday morning.

Rev. J. M. Wilson testified to being at Thiemans' house on Saturday evening, before he was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Dan Allen was the next witness. He merely testified to having seen Moffatt the two or three nights preceding Saturday.

Marshall Cummings was placed on the stand and told his story. Late that Saturday night, he was called by Moffatt.

When I came in the jail that morning I did not notice any blood on Moffatt's face, but when I saw the blood on the floor of his cell, I thought he had been bruised.

Peter Turkleson, driver of the patrol wagon, was called by Moffatt in the jail Sunday morning.

For the purpose of ascertaining the views of our judges and lawyers, who presumably are best informed upon this subject, I would suggest the calling of a meeting of the bar of Douglas county.

A committee should be selected at such meeting to draft and prepare such amendments to our present law, as may be necessary to carry out the views finally adopted.

The law relating to the board known as "commissioners of adjustment" should be so amended as to allow the report and acceptance of surveys of portions of the city.

Power should be given to the mayor and council, in addition to requiring property owners to lay out streets, to lay out streets, to lay out streets.

In addition to the amendments already suggested, there are a number of others of minor importance, and which, upon being called to the attention of the "commissioners of adjustment," should be considered by them, and by the citizens interested in the welfare of the city.

Many, if not all of the amendments which I have proposed, are of great importance to the success and welfare of our city.

Mrs. Moffatt testified, "My husband was taken to the hospital on Monday. It was on the second, Friday before he was taken to jail."

It is fortunate that an early start has been made toward preparing a bill covering charter amendments, so that all controversies may be settled, and a perfected bill may be prepared to be introduced at once upon the convening of the legislature.

Wm. Hertzmann, the Union Pacific employe who was buried for ten minutes, by the caving in of the bank in the excavation near the track at Seventh street on Saturday last, is still at the hospital, and in a dangerous condition.

A force of workmen is now engaged in placing on the iron cornice of the Paxton building, the wrought-iron brackets, and other ornaments which had been loosened by the heat of the Barker fire and dropped to the walk.
