THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS

FRIDAY MORNING DEC. 3. OFFICE, NO. 12, PEARL STREET. Delivered by carrier in any part of the city at twenty cents per week.

MINOR MENTION.

N. Y. Plumbing Co. New fail goods at Reiter's.

The delinquent tax sale begins Monday. Last night of the Christmas Market.

Everybody should go. A called ball is among the projects being talked of for a benefit for the hospital.

J. M. Scanlau's market now has telephone connection, the new instrument being No. 201.

Reuben Hoyt and Emma Moss, both of Loveland, were yesterday married by Justice Schurz, Elegant suppers still continue to draw crowds at the Christmas Market. The coasters should provide their sliders with rights and horns, bells and signals, so as to warn those coming along cross

George Corning, the Omaha man ar-rested on suspicion of having stolen the silver cup he was trying to sell, is still being held for investigation.

'Squire Biggs, who on the first of January succeeds Justice Frainey, has concluded not to occupy the office now used by the latter, but will fit up an office over DeVol's store on Broadway.

The complaint made against Vic Sadowsky was yesterday dismissed in Jus-tice Schurz's court, there appearing to be nothing to the case, the prosecuting witness not putting in even an appearance. The clerks are ousy getting ready for the district court which opens Tuesday next. There are a large number of cases, and the criminal docket is enough to take up the full time of the court, without any civil business. Rev. Henry De Long has taken a firm stand in the salvation army. He has evidently entered it, as he enters every-thing, with a determination not to withdraw, as so many do, when their first enthusiasm is spent. It is estimated that there are in Council Bluffs more Christian science healers than all the doctors put together. Some wonderful cures are reported, and the number of those investigating and studying the new science is increasing rapidly The enthusiastic coasters are taking their annual occupation of Willow syenue and Park avenue. The number of merry sliders is nightly increasing, and the noise proportionately. The coast-ing carnival promised the Omahans by the Bluffites last season should not be

Judge Aylesworth is still deliberating over the Walnut seduction case. He proposes to go over the evidence carefully, and thus far has not had time to do so. The grand jury meets next week, and perhaps they will relieve him of the negative for the proposes. cessity of deciding whether McFadden should be held to the district court or

L. Kirscht & Co., having closed out their grocery business, are now confining their business to the wholesale handling of eigars and liquor. They are making some marked improvements in their of-fice and warehouse, and will soon have as convenient and attractive an office as there is in the city, the finishing touches now being put on.

State Master Workman Wheat, of Colfax, la., was expected to address the Knights of Labor here some time ago, but was blocked by the snow storm and unable to meet the appointment. He now writes that he will be here on the 15th, and an attempt is being made to have the lecture a public one, so that those outside of the order may have an opportunity of hearing him.

Another narrow escape from a fatal accident by a land slide is reported as having occurred on Damon street. A teamster hauling dirt from a bank just got out of the way in time, his wagon being caught by the fall of the dirt, and his horses nearly buried. The banks in this vicinity are so treacherous that it seems that too much care cannot be taken by those engaged in work in and about them.

It is almost impossible to find any houses to rent in Council Bluffs, and real estate agents say that by spring there will not be a greater demand, and a greater searcity than has ever known in the history of the city. This is a practical way of testing the growth and prosperity of Council Binffs. People are staying by the Bluffs and others are coming in, and the city can't build houses fast enough.

James Rutherford, and James Blake, two strangers in the city, have been arrested for selling without a license. This charge seemed to be made against them more for the purpose of holding them for further investigation, than anything else. They are said to have disposed of a large number of pocket knives here, peddling them out one at a time, probably a hundred in all, and getting such cheap prices for them as to arouse the suspicion that they were not straight goods. The young men explained to the officers as to how and where they got the goods, and investigation is in progress to determine the tigation is in progress to determine the truthfulness of their stories. The pair are looked upon with suspicion, but as yet no proof has been gained of crooked-ness.

A Punny Free Show.

Prof. Ned Parker has commenced a series of musical and free presentation series of musical and free presentation entertainments at the vacant store, Nos. 33 and 35 Main street, lately occupied by Groneweg & Shoentgen. He is immense, not only in size and weight, but in his ability and tact in keeping a crowd as full of fun as he is himself. He is a whole show of himself, and no admission being charged there is no reason why he should not have a crowded house every night. If any one doubts but that he can hold the crowd after they are once inside, step in and see. Prof. Ned Parker is a character, an old soldier, fifer of company D. Eleventh Rhode Island infantry, and dram major and principal musician of D. Eleventh Rhode Island infantry, and drum major and principal musician of Third Rhode Island heavy artillery. He is brim full of music and running over, and he makes music for the crowds. Everybody invited, except boys and ladies, and front seats are given those the context the most. who enjoy it the most.

GOVERNOR LARRABEE'S VISIT He is Pleased With the Institution at

Council Bluffs. TALK OF PAVING WITH BRICK

A Suspicious Youth Roped in With a Rope-A Trio of Scolding Women An Assignce's Sale Notes About Town.

The Governor's Opinion.

Governor Larrabee has been making a personal visitation of the various institutions of the state. In a chat with a reporter he said of his visit to Council

Bluffs:

At the deaf and dumb asylum, we have a new man in charge, and he is a pleasant, modest gentleman who will certainly do good work. They do a remarkable work there, training these unfortunates and they are given a good education. There are many bright and intelligent boys and pretty girls, and they seem to enjoy themselves. The teachers insisted that I should talk to the pupils at the time for the usual morning lecture and in spite of my protest that I wouldn't cut a very graceful figure attempting to talk in deaf and dumb, they insisted that I should go before the pupils. The superIntendent stood at one end of the platform, and as I talked, interpreted in sign language my words, which were given at the usual rate of speed. I talked to them quite a while about their work, their duty, how grateful they should feel and how much they owe to their terchers, the tobacco and liquor habits, and other matters. It was interesting to see how the luttle fellows followed the quick motions of their teacher and grasped the ideas. About an hour afterwards I went through the class room just as they had finished writing out their version of the lecture I had given them, a custom which I found is followed. It was amusing to see the different reports of my words made by the pupils. Some of the older and better pupils made excellent reports and got as accurate a report as would be obtained by a newspaper reporter, while others had received erroneous ideas through their inability to rightly interpret the signs. Their work is very interesting.

Paving With Brick. The question of brick paving is being agitated here somewhat, partly by reason of the fact that there is brick to be easily had here, and largely on account of the desire to lesson the expense of good paving if possible. The question is also being discussed in other places, as will be seen from the following comments on the same subject from the Burlington Hawkeye:

Now a new kind of brick is made vitrified, very much harder and better adapted for the use of pavements. Why not try this kind of pavement, or try some other kind that is likely to prove a success, here in Burnington? It would not only be more serviceable, but also much more profitable.

Little Old Folks, The Masonic hall was litterally packed last evening at the ontertainment given under the auspices of the Presbyterian ladies in connection with their Christmas market. The programme was given the general title of "Little Old Folks' Concert." It consisted of choruses; duets and recitations. Among the choruses "Jingle Bells" won the honors of the evening. The little folks appeared in the costumes of fifty years ago, and clad as old people, adding special interest. In this chorus they jingled their bells, cracked their whips, and took on all the ways of a mercy sleighing party, the fall of the snow being represented by a shower of bits of white paper.

"The Palace Car" represented the lit-tle folks traveling by more modern methods. The old couple, personated by Herbert Dohany and Ida Vaughan, chat-ted most quaintly upon the wonderful ted most quaintly upon the wonderful improvements in travel since they went on their wedding trip years before. They took their parts excellently.

The last, but by no means the least in merit of the recitations was "Thanks" by Roy DeVol, a very cunning little fellow who captured the house, and called forth enthusiastic applause. All of the choruses and regulations showed not only choruses and recutations showed not only talent on the part of the participants, but a wonderful amount of patient and wise drill on the part of the elders. Much of the credit for the entertainment is due to Miss Laura Baldwin, who was assisted by Miss Officer, Miss Carrie Stevens and Miss Officer, Miss Carrie Stevens and Miss Lu Jones.

Miss Beulah Hoagland gave a pleasing recitation. Bell Snyder showed a charming voice in a solo, a wonderful voice in fact for a child of her age. Tom Farnsworth and Daisy Harkness gave a very cute duct, "Rachel and Reuben." Winfred Gray gave a solo, quite a difficult one for one so young, and her manners one for one so young, and her manners were charming and voice sweet. Mabel Brown gave a solo, every word of which was most clearly heard, and which won a generous amount of approbation from

The entertainment was so enthusiastically received that to satisfy the public demand a portion of the programme will be repeated in connection with to-night's entertainment.

A Bluffs' Witness. The murder trial of May Foster for killing a companion, Jessie Carter, is now in progress in Des Moines. One of the chief witnesses for the state is J. H. Baxter, a young man who is well known here, and is said to be still remembered by the proprietor of the Bechtele house to the extent of $50. Baxter's account of the affair is as follows:

He stated after some considerable questioning of his intimacy with the two girls, and how he had made arrange-ments with Jessie Carter to go with him to Sioux City. How, according to promise, he had awakened her about 8:30 o'clock on the morning of March 18, in order that she might prepare for the trip to be taken that afternoon. Return ing at 10 o'clock, he found the house locked and evidently deserted, and had gone away to return at 1 o'clock and find it still looking the same. His suspicions then became aroused, and securing aid he had forced his way in through the window. Entering a back room, he found defendant, May Foster, standing in the middle of the floor, while Jessie Carter was lying on the bed covered with blood. Defendant explained that Jessie Carter had shot herself while playing with a pistol, and that she had been afraid to leave her to go after a doctor. The witness then stated what was done to care for the wounded girl, all of which is well known to the public, as is her death the next Saturday morning.

Three of a Kind.

There was a lively tongue contest between three little maids from Pierce street, who called each other all sorts of names over the fence, and made the neighborhood resound with their discordant notes. Minnie Lee then went straightway to headquarters and had Ella Turner arrested for disturbing the peace. Ella was fined, and then she peace. Ella was fined, and then she sought revenge by having Minnie Lee and Susie Meyer arrested on a like charge. They had their hearing in the atternoon. Susie pleaded guilty and was fined, and then turned about and served as a witness to help Minnie Lee out of the scrape, and did so successfully. The two maidens who were fined were allowed twenty four hours to raise the lowed twenty four hours to raise the needed funds to keep them out of jail.

A Coasting Accident ..

Last evening there was a serious coasting accident which marred the evening's enjoyment to a merry party on Willow avenue and injured the victim, Miss Edith Campbell, very seriously. The details of the accident could not be fully learned, but it appears that near the end of the course the traveler was wrecked as it turned, and the young lady fell in front in such a position that the point of the traveler struck her on the side of the face, cutting a deep wound, from which the blood flowed freely. She was at once taken to her home on Sixth avenue and Dr. Lacy called in haste. He pro-nounced the injury serious, but could not t that time state the probable result.

Freddie Captured. For several days the officers have been on the lookout for Freddie Gerstenberg, who is wanted in Omaha for the larceny of a watch. Last night he was found to be hovering about the place where Mrs. Gerstenberg lives, and when the officers appeared he slipped out of the house and ran, with but little of his clothing on. He was too drunk to run fast, and was soon captured. The Omaha officers will probably take steps to day to have probably take steps to day to have him taken across.

M. L. Jacquemin, who has been taking a two months' respite from business, has returned home greatly improved in health. He has applied himself very closely to business, and the needed rest and recoperation has greatly benefitted him.

Another Suspicious Youth. Officer Leonard found a young man ranging the streets when honest folks ought to be pointing toward home, and as the fellow was trying to seil a clothes line for a nickel the officer nabbed him. The fellow gave his name as E. Kling-ingsworth, and said that he bought the rope at C. Larson's, on Main street, but inquiry there did not corroborate his statement. He will be held for further examination

Personal Paragraphs. Samuel Haas has gone to Laramie,

Miss Kate Pusey has returned from Chicago.

Would Bear Watching. Last evening the police had their attention called to a young man who was trying to trade a gold watch for an overcoat. As they had been notified that gold watch answering the description of this one had been stolen in Omaha they took the fellow in charge. He gave his name as L. Levy, and explained that he had come by the watch legitimately, but the Omaha authorities telephoned to hold him until morning.
