How the City Has Lost Money on Its Official Scales.
WEDDING AT THE PLANTER'S.
Sneak Thieves Open a Saloon—A Happy Find of Money—Personal and the Local News—Boiled Down.

MINOR MENTION.
 N. Y. Plumbing Co. Burbank next Tuesday. New fall goods at Reiter's. Get your seats for Burbank. A child of Mr. Theodore Beckman is quite ill. The city council meets next Monday night. The Harmony mission folks held a social last evening. "Pat's Panorama" given by Burbank next Tuesday in Masonic temple. Burbank's impersonations are fine. The Baptists have prepared a pleasing public entertainment and supper to take place at the church to-morrow evening. The tax tickers are growing less in number and less in influence yearly. This is an encouraging sign for Council Bluffs. The funeral of the unfortunate James Colburn will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the family residence, No. 1510 Tenth avenue. Charles Cook has a sprained ankle as the result of the traveler Alligator running into the curbstone. The Alligator ought to be called a curbstone breaker. The death of Mrs. Fannina Barnes, mother of Major H. C. Barnes, was not unexpected. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon, and the remains taken to St. Joseph, Mich., for burial. If some of those who are afraid that Council Bluffs has made some technical mistake in special assessments, were as eager to have the law carried out to the letter in other respects, it would be well. It is said that the Union Pacific has made arrangements to go along without Tenth street avenue so far as getting dirt for its bridge approaches is concerned, and that it will get the dirt by means of the Northwestern track. The council has at last got so far as to agree to pay the policemen half in cash and half in city warrants. The police get small pay at the best, considering the nature of their duties. It seems that they should get all cash as fast as they earn it. Frank Ranyer has been arrested so strangely as to arouse the suspicion that he was either permanently drunk or temporarily insane, was yesterday taken in charge of by Omaha friends and taken across the river for care and treatment. A drunken fellow with a violin was run into the city cooler. He insisted that he was the only and original Arkansas raveler, and was registered as such, but yesterday he concluded his name was simply John Peel, and he was only a plain drunk. There were some smart young fellows who tried to have a monkey show of their own in the back seats of the Salvation Army hall during prayers. One of them got led out by two of his sisters, and was taken in charge by the police, but the case was dropped at the request of those in charge of the meeting. The fame of the "district school" entertainment given here lately has been extending far and near. There have been numerous inquiries for details by church committees desiring to get up a similar entertainment. The ladies of Scotia, Neb., have decided to give one next early date. E. C. Cole's home was suddenly saddened yesterday by the death of the little babe, which has been such a joy and comfort for the two months past. The little one had a severe cold, but was not deemed dangerously ill, and the coming of death was a shock indeed, which calls forth the tenderest sympathy of many friends. The funeral will be held at the family residence Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The council should brace up and decide fairly and squarely what they want to do about the Tenth avenue project. The needed information has been thrown on the question, all sides have had a fair hearing, and now the council should decide either to pass the ordinance or kill it. If killed the public want to know just who is responsible for the death, and if passed who take the responsibility. One of the handsomest of the holiday season's greetings is that sent forth by the Mueller Music company, of this city. It is an ivory panel, gilt edged, and the central picture is that of a little child looking wonderingly into the mouth of a huge bell, which is evidently ringing out the old and ringing in the new. It is a beautiful souvenir, and is an excellent reminder of the character of this well-known establishment. One fellow who was arrested for being dead drunk and laying on the gutter on lower Main street, had the cheek to plead not guilty when brought into court yesterday. He claimed that he had just laid down on the sidewalk to save a hotel bill, and fell asleep and tumbled off into the gutter and the police picked him up and thought he was dead. He was fined, and given the advice to go into the newspaper business where he could have more scope for his lively imagination to have play. It is amusing to hear a man howl about taxes, and at the same time own and be allowed to maintain a lot of dirty hovels, rented to persons of disreputable reputation, and thus be allowed to go on until the very nature of the street becomes a stench in the nostrils of decent people. Then when the city wants to have any substantial improvements the howl is raised. If law must be enforced to the letter, then the same principle is applicable to clean up this class of disreputable houses the better. A young man named John Kirk started out yesterday morning with the expressed determination to have a tooth pulled, it having kept him awake for two nights. He thought to get courage by taking a strong drink of whiskey, and followed it up by another. Before he got to the dentist's office he was in charge of a policeman who had him on the floor of the city jail to sleep off the effects of his drink. The poor mother of the lad hearing of it came to his rescue, and pleaded to have him let out, but he couldn't get out even if the doors had been opened, and the tooth and the dentist had to wait until afternoon. William Jefferson was yesterday tried on the charge of assaulting William Bohning, dentist, and others who were shaking dice in Bohning's saloon, when a dispute arose, and Bohning ordered Jefferson out. Not moving as quickly as he might, Bohning grabbed him by the shoulders and helped him out. As a successful exit was being made Jefferson turned suddenly and hit Bohning, knocking him down and inflicting a bloody wound on his face. Jefferson was let off with a fine of $5 and costs. Jefferson's father then threatened to make it lively for Bohning for selling to minors. Bohning agreed to pay the costs of the assault case, if Jefferson would keep his toy out of his place. Stamping and full variety of embroidery materials. Mrs. H. P. Niles, 402 B. way. Five hundred overcoats for boys and children, from $1.50 up.

Mrs. A. L. KAULE.
 Last evening at 8 o'clock, in the parlor of the Planters' hotel on Tenth avenue, Mr. Thomas McCard and Miss Emma B. Kahle were joined in marriage by the Rev. T. J. Mackey, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, in the presence of a large number of friends.
 The hotel parlor was tastefully decorated with cut flowers, etc., and as the Bavarian band rendered "Mitsommer Night's Dream" wedding music resounded, the bride and groom, Miss Emma B. Kahle, and George L. Kahle. The ceremony was with a ring and the bride's father gave her away.
 Mrs. Kahle was attired in black silk. The bride wore a handsome dress of tan sateen silk with ornaments of white roses, and carried a large bouquet in her hand.
 The costume of Miss Kappes, the bridesmaid, was of cream satin draped with lace.
 After the ceremony some time was spent in congratulating the newly wedded couple, and inspecting the numerous presents which were displayed in the private parlor of Mr. and Mrs. Kahle, they being in charge of Miss Jessie Linker, who acted as hostess. She was attired in a costume of blue silk and had a large bouquet of natural flowers.
 A fine collation was spread in the large dining room of the hotel, the room being handsomely decorated, and after supper was served the dining room was cleared for dancing, which was indulged in to the strains of music from the Bavarian band.
 Mr. McCard is a gentleman well known in the city, and was formerly for a number of years employed as express messenger on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Road, and for the past three years has occupied a similar position on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway.
 Miss Emma Kahle is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Kahle, who are old and well known residents of this city, having resided here for the past twenty years.
 Mr. and Mrs. McCard will leave this evening over the Milwaukee for a visit of a week or ten days in Chicago, when they will return and reside here at the Planters' hotel with their parents.
 An elegant line of short wares, newmarkets, etc., cheap, to close them out. JOHN BENO & CO.

 Last evening's mail contained an anonymous letter to the Bee, and while little attention is paid to such communications generally, this one was of such a peculiar and practical nature that it is worthy of special attention. The letter contained clippings from yesterday morning's Bee, one being an article in regard to a very destitute family in Omaha, thirteen children and three adults being crowded into one room, with no fire or food. The other article was the announcement of the proposed coming of Fatti to Omaha, and the subscription paper being started to guarantee her $5,000 in order to secure a concert. These also dropped out of the letter a five dollar bill. With these explanatory remarks the letter will be appreciated.
 Council Bluffs, Dec. 7.—To the Editor of the Bee: I have at different times felt highly gratified at your efforts through your paper to ameliorate the condition of the poor and distressed. Reading the Bee this morning I glanced at two items in close proximity, but distant as the poles in sentiment. One was the announcement of the coming of Fatti to Omaha, and the other was the announcement of the proposed coming of Fatti to Omaha, and the subscription paper being started to guarantee her $5,000 in order to secure a concert. These also dropped out of the letter a five dollar bill. With these explanatory remarks the letter will be appreciated.

 Council Bluffs, Dec. 7.—To the Editor of the Bee: I have at different times felt highly gratified at your efforts through your paper to ameliorate the condition of the poor and distressed. Reading the Bee this morning I glanced at two items in close proximity, but distant as the poles in sentiment. One was the announcement of the coming of Fatti to Omaha, and the other was the announcement of the proposed coming of Fatti to Omaha, and the subscription paper being started to guarantee her $5,000 in order to secure a concert. These also dropped out of the letter a five dollar bill. With these explanatory remarks the letter will be appreciated.
