An Interesting Report of Nebraska's Patients Bereft of Reason.

EVERY CLASS BUT LAWYERS.

Another Transcript of the Vote Erecting Box Butte County Received at the Capitol-Other Lincoln News.

PROMITHE BEE'S LINCOLN BUREAU.

The report of the state insane asylum has reached the commissioner of public lands and buildings' office, and the document throws a great deal of information broadcast concerning the most populous of all the state institutions. The asylum, besides the large appropriations from the state, has a large farm, well cultivated, in connection, and the income from this aids materially in the support of the institution. The income in one year from this is $8,714.26, which is very good for one farm, but still a small figure in the maintenance of the institution that asks for its support from the state the coming two years a total amount of $165,000. During the past two years a number of patients from Wyoming territory have been cared for at the institution, and the revenue derived from the care of these is $3,283.56. There are at the present time in the institution a total of 384 patients, 227 of whom are males and 147 females. Nearly if not quite every organized county in the state is represented in the attendance, Douglas county ty leading the list with thirty, Lancaster following with twenty-six, and Richards third with twelve. Of these inmates there are native born 141 males and 81 third with twelve. Of these immates there are native born 141 males and 81 females, and of foreign born 103 males and 62 females—figures that will no doubt be considered surprising in the fact that the number of patients foreign born so nearly approximate the number. This time of your mainterence to the gospel has resolved itself into the single proposition: Would you rather sit patiently and hear me through, or go to the devil?"

The gawk drew himself up to his six feet three, stretched his arms and replied, sortonically. of native born inmates. In this report there is a long list of the profession and business that the inmates were en-gaged in prior to their misfortunes. In these lists every known protession and avocation is represented in a greater or less degree, except attorneys. There are no lawyers there, but two physicians and two printers are enrolled on the lists, and a little compensation is found in that one sewing machine agent is an inmate. The tabulated statement of the diseases from which patients were suffering when they lost their reason is also an interesting item in the report, the leading causes ascribed being Hereditary, twenty; intemperance, eighteen; sunstroke, mueteen, and from religious excitement eleven males and four females have lost their reason. The greatest number of inmates are, according to ages, between thirty and forty, while there are 114 males and 105 females who are married and 119 single males and 25

BOX BUTTE COUNTY. Shortly after election the officers of Dawes county state that they forwarded to the secretary of state a transcript of the vote whereby Dawes county was di-yided and, by vote of the electors, Box Butte county was erected from the south-ern half of it. This transcript and report of the result of the election never reached the state house, and after much correspondence a second transcript was received yesterday, which will be exam-med by the secretary and, if found in compliance with the law, the governor will issue a proclamation for the temporary organization of the county.

A PETITION FROM OTOE.
Yesterday the secretary of state received a petition from 100 citizens of Otoe county, asking that the state place upon the market twenty-four acres of ground adjoining the town site of Ne-braska City, and known as the Fulton tract. This is a piece of ground bought from the state at an early day by a man named Fulton, and a failure to pay for it caused it to revert to the state again. The petitioners ask that the tract be appraised and placed upon the market for purchase as required by law.

AFTER A REQUISITION.
P. A. Van Tassel, of Indianola, ia, was in Lincoln yesterday interviewing the governor of the state after a warrant of requisition for the return of a man named Joseph Patterson to Iowa soil for trial. Patterson is now in jail in Omnha having been apprehended by officers in that city. He is wanted by parties at Indianola for grand lareeny, committed a year or more ago, and he has broken jail as well being a man of larcenous intent. Mr. Van Tassel also stated that officers in Omaha were confident they had a case against Patterson for highway robbery.

IN POLICE CIRCLES. They have several hard cases in the city jail at present, some of whom are lite less than unfortunates, one of them eing a man with a broken ankle that caused in the summer some time and never been given proper treatment. A woman wrote to a subscription house in New York not long ago and asked if they thought if she took one of their books she could make $5 a week. They told her that would depend upon herself; that they could not tell any better than she could till she tried it; they only knew what others had made, and did not know why she could not do as well. She sent her $2 for a sample book, and within a month she had made a profit of $175. Now her father, who is a green grocer, wants to sell out his green grocery and become a book canvasser. ABOUT ALGERNON'S AGITATION. The B. & M. Juggernant and Captain Phillips' Dirty Work-Inhuman Treatment of a Funeral Party.

ALGERNON, Neb., Dec. 18. - To the Editor of the BEE: If there ever was a case where the iron heel of monopoly was crushing the commercial life out of an industrious and honorable community it is right here in Algernon. The outrages committed apon the higherto promising town by the B, & M. Railcoad company are so open and bold that it almost seems incredible that they can have existence in this enlightened day. Our good people have partially kept the matter from the general public ear so far with a hope that the rado on the democratic ticket, tells a friend here that the voters in the opposite party seem to have come to the same the injustice done by their hirelings and the injustice done by their hirelings and the injustice done by their hirelings and make haste to right a great wrong. Forbearance, however, has ceased to be a virfue, and it is but the [promptings of true western manhood to let our fellow citizens of Nebraska know how in Nebraska.

THE RAILROAD SUGGERNAUT s rolling through the state, crushing out of existence business centers created by the common consent and hard work of worthy people who have for years labored to secure homes amid all the hardships of frontier life. Algernon was located long before there was any talk of a railroad connecting it with the outer world. The site was chosen by the residents of this portion of Custer county, after que deliberation, because of its advantages as a market center and postoffice. When the Grand Island & Wyoming Central railroad, one of the forked tongues of the B. & M. monopoly monster, surveyed its line through the center of the town, naturally there was general rejoicing. A general welcome and every possible encouragement were given the company. The owners of the town site not only gave the raitroad the right of way gratuitously but offered to lay out 160 acres in the control of the course of town lots and donate every other lot to the company in consideration of its visit. Citizens who had substantial buildings on the line of survey moved them away at their own expense. In fact, was willing to do anything that the company might desire. But no, the monopoly had it its own eards to play, The Lincoln Land & Town Site company the big Burlington dirt cart with Boss Phillips on the driver's seat-rejected all these magnanimous offers. Notwith-standing the fact that Algernon is by loeation, permanent settlement and established business, the proper place for a station in this part of the county.

THE RAILROAD CZARS went immediately to work to consign it to a Siberian existence. They went out on the wild prairie, four and one-half miles east and laid out the town of Mason and having more land three and one half miles west they laid out another town called Ansley—two monopoly mushrooms that will be dished up and seasoned at the company's land, office in Lincoin for the investment meal of east-ern suckers. Not a depot, not a switch, no conveniences whatever were granted Algernon nor its 200 permanent residents without even paying the cross road homage of ringing a bell or blowing a whistle. Business men here and the sur rounding farmers must go either to Mason or Ansley for receipts and ship-ments, and to secure a ride by rail.

was then added to injury by the monopolists boidly asserting that they would make the people of Algernon abandon their town and be divided between Mason and Ansley. In this the railroad reck-oned beyond its host. Our people have nobly stood by their chosen town and since the railroad surveyors' stakes were et here with the intention of making Algernon's grave its population has doubled and business of all kinds become correspondingly increased. The crisis has now come and the universal demand of our people is for justice which we will have though the heavens fall. The B. & M monopolists will find that they have a community of men to deal with-men who knowing their rights dare maintain committed the other day upon S. B. Harris, one of the oldest and most respected citizens of Custer county, has sounded the battle cry, and Algernon is for war. The facts are these: Mrs. Elizabeth Mirrick, of David City, Neb., who was visiting her daughter. Mrs. S. B. Harris, was taken suddenly ill and died on the night of the 15th instant. The next day Mr. Harris went to Ansley and telegraphed Superintendent Thompson, at Lincoln, politely requesting him to AN OUTRAGE at Lincoln, politely requesting him to stop a train at Algernon and take on the remains and mourners, as it was Mrs. Mirrick's dying request that she be buried at her old home. The following eply was received: LINCOLN, Dec. 12,-Webb, S.-Show this o con. 42 Dec. 15, as his instructions to stop at Algernon to pick up corpse.

D. E. Thompson. D. J. S. 10 p. m. Mr. Harris accordingly notified the relatives, friends and undertaker to be on hand promptly at Algernon with the renains. He then purchased the necessary ickets for himself, family, etc., from Ansley, three-quarter miles further than Prepared with strict regard to Purity, Strength, and Healthfulness. DUMB FOUNDED and as the monopoly courier of cussedness disappeared around a roll in the prairie, the remains were sadly escorted back to Mr. Harris' residence to await further arrangements for the interment The whole community is in a fever heat, for Mr. Harris is too prominent a man in this locality to be thus outraged. He is our leading implement dealer, and has paid the railroad company over $200 in the last few months for freight, notwithstanding the fact he has been placed to the greatest inconveniences in receiving his consignments. There are now $5,000 in the hands of business men of Al-gernon and surrounding farmers to ad Mr. Harris in the legally resenting this outrage and plenty more obtainable. Obedient to the law we have placed the fate of Algernon in the hands of the railroad commissioner, and if they can evade the unbiased testimony of the farmers of this section as to the superiority of Algernon as a station, then state laws are mere air bubbles. When Messrs. Cowdry and Babcock were here taking testimony, although they only cailed upon residing near Mason and near Ansley, every one to man

TESTIFIED IN FAVOR OF ALGERNON.
Freight bills aggregating over $1,000 paid by our business men since July last were produced. The amount of these bills would be double had not freight to be hauled by wagon three and tive miles to destination over rough and sometimes almost impassable roads. Justice they say is slow but severe. It will have to be severe in this case or there will be trouble. We cannot have our town site and its best lots ruined for nothing by monopoly hirelings; a population of 200 and its important commercial interests cannot be forced to go many miles to pasture places, or to Kearney lifty miles away, for freight and ship-ments. We cannot have our beautiful and promising town deeried and slandered by monopoly hirelings in order to keep away settlers and investors. We will not submit to having our mail put off at Mason or at Ansley and then he from twelve to thirty-six hours when the law commands it to be laid down at our town. Neither will we longer submit to pay full fare for seven miles that we do not ride, should we have the good fortune to get on a passing train at the risk of our lives. The day of meek submission our lives. The day of meek submission has passed. This outrage cannot go on much longer. We will await the decision of the commissioners, but in the meantime we want our fellow-citizens to know the hydra-headed monster that is destroying our hard carned savings and robbing us of home, happiness and the future welfare of our children.

The Grants.

Washington Correspondence Cleveland Leader: Harrison teris me that Colonel Fred Grant is in business in New York and that the family are living there Jesse Grant is in San Francisco, and Ulysses is attending to the interest of his wife's estate in Mexico. I asked him as to how Grant felt when he gave his relies over to the government. He replied that the general was very well pleased that the government could get them. General Grant said he felt that they ought to be kept together, and if they were divided among his family they would be scattered. "There was danger at the time," said Harrison, "that the creditors of Grant & Ward might take them, and I remember well when I had finished packing them, and take him they were all read for him. and told him they were all read for ship-ment, how much releved he looked, and how he said, 'I am very glad of it.'

"But the taking away of those relies," said Harrison, "made little difference in the looks of Grant's house. The rooms were only bare for a day or two. After that they were filled with things fully a curious, and some almost as valuable. don't suppose any man ever received many presents as General Grant. He did not know what he had. There were boxes upon boxes of rare and curious things stored away which had been shipped from Europe during his tour, and some of which had never been unpacked. A great many things had been put away because he had not room for them, and these had been forgotten. They were brought out after the relies were sent to Washington, and I thought the house looked really better than When did Grant first realize the fact

"It was at Dr. Douglas' office in New York. He was alone with Dr. Douglas and myself. Grant had just had an examination of the throat, and he asked Dr. Douglas if he could assure him that his trouble would not develope into cancer. Douglas told him that he could not assure him of this fact, but that he hoped he might be able to cure him. General Grant then said: "If you think thus, Dr. Douglas, there is hope for me." Soon after this Grant's carriage came soon after this Grant's carriage came and he went away. As we drove off he told me not to say anything to the family as to what Dr. Douglas had said. Throughout his whole sickness General Grant's family never knew how much pain he suffered. From the time of his sickness till his death the time of his sickness till his death I was not two hours absent from him. Many nights he would walk the floor all night. When the family would ask him in the morning how he had rested he would say, 'pretty well,' and would try to appear cheerful. He had the most terrible pain all the time, and I don't think he had a moment's cessation from pain during those last months. He felt pain during those last months. He felt greatly relieved when he had finished his book, and his happiest days were those just before his death. During his whole siekness he never grew uritable or lost his temper. He was the kindest man I ever knew, and he had a great love for his family. Mrs. Grant called him Ulysses and she was very fond of him. He always called her Mrs. Crant, and he was corthe Main street crossing awaiting the tainly one of the best of husbands.

Newfoundlan'd Condition. St. John's Letter to the Montreal Gazette: The fall term of the supreme court opened on the 20th of November. In his address to the grand jury Sir F. B. Carter, chief justice, unimadverted in strong terms on "the exaggerated and false stories of starvation and destitution which had found a prominent place in newspapers abroad." "The destitution," said the chief juttice, "is not at all so ex-tensive as it was declared to be. I am very happy to acknowledge, from per-sonal observation, the kindly feeling which persons in other countries had and were ready to show in a substantial man ner, if the stories had turned out true Still the reports had damaged the coun try to a considerable extent, and he hoped that an effort will be made to discover author and to punish him with the tremest punishment that the law allows." As the season advances we learn more and more how correct are the remarks of the chief justice and bow grossly exaggerated have been the reports about the widespread destitution of our people which were put into circulation.
