Have you seen the new books at the Publishers' book sale.

It don't cost anything to look at slippers at Adams' shoe store. D. F. Eicher has purchased the Pearl street property opposite the court house.

Books of all kinds very cheap at Bush-Call and see the elegant stock of books at the Publishers' book sale? Nearly a car load of "Joe's Boys" artived at the Publishers' book sale yester-day. They are a lively set of fellows.

"Busted"—High prices on Christmas at Adams". Remember we self cheaper than ever at Adams, No. 417 Broadway. An infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Kirkwood died yesterday. Mr. Kirkwood is a nephew of Robert Kirkwood. Some sneak thief got away with a seof billiard balls from the saloon lately owned by Harry Inman on Main street

Books of all kinds very cheap at Bush-Don't forget Adams' clearance sale sign comes down January 1 and then prices will be unusually low but ficmer. Lucy Summers was yesterday assessed a round sum for getting so angry at Mrs. McDonald as to grab her by the throat

The entertainment given by the Y. M. C. A. last evening consisted of readings and recitations, sketches from Ben Hur, music and conversations.

Metcalf Bros, show windows are nightly drawing crowds, for there again appears there this season the apparition of the legless body. It perplexes and puzzies all, and is indeed a mystery. We carry a larger stock than ever before. Our stock is the cleanest, best as sorted, newest designed in the city. Our prices defy competition. See and convince yourself. Burhorn, Jeweler, No.

The boxes being put in for the Richmond fire and police alarm are even better than the ones shown as samples. Some improvements have been made since the contract was made, and the city gets the benefit of these.

Permits to wed have been granted John Kildore, Ogallala, Neb., and Lizzio Kavanaugh, Beebetown, Ia.; Alpinus Casey and Polly A. Gustine, of Wheeler Grove; C. G. Peterson, of Omaha, and Gracie Buchell, of Council Bluffs: J. L. Smith and Grace Spannon, both of Omaha

An old resident of Omnha, a resident of that city for thirty-three years, vester-day purchased a very elegant gold watch at Burborn's, on Main street, and seemed satisfied that he got a greater bargain than he could find in his favorite city. Tally one for Council Bluffs, and for Bur-

"In the Clouds" by Charles Egbert Craddock at the Publishers' book sale. The alder men accessed to be looking with more favor upon the Tenth avenue project than they were. It begins to seem that the ordinance stands a show of being passed in some form, and the petition of the jobbers and business men granted. The council cannot either add to or take away from the rights of property owners along the avenue, and if property is damaged the owners can recover such damages without any question.

J. W. Camp and M. P. Ellis, two young men who have been for some time with Foster & Bro., are arranging to open a retail drug store in the opera house block under the firm name of Camp & Ellis. They have leased the corner store for three years, and will open for busi-ness the first of March. They prepose having one of the most attractive and best stocked drug stores in the west, and will doubtless make a success of the venture. They are both young men of thorough experience in all the details of the business, and their popularity will cause them to win a large patronage from the very start.

"What Katy Did" next can be learned at the Publishers' book sale.

The announcement made in yester-day's Nonparell that Marshal Turley and Alex Obert had both died the day before was very premature. Mr. Gbert lingered until noon yesterday and then passed away. Mr. Turley was reported yesterday as being better and with very fair chances of recovery. He is an old citizen, whose condition is being watched closely by anxious friends, who were greatly shocked in reading the sad announcement made yesterday by that paper, and who were glad to learn that paper, and who were glad to learn that it was untrue. It is to be hoped that he may live for years yet.

There seems to be sad need of a real estate reporter in the city. One of the morning papers takes great pains to chronicle the sale of the Phelps tract of eighty acres at $75,000, and the evening paper takes equally great pains to make the correction to the effect that the Phelps tract is in Farry addition. The man tract is in Ferry addition. The map shows the tract to be north of Broadway and west of the driving park. The price is said to have been $60 an acre. The papers place it at nearly a thousand dollars an acre. There is some question about its having been sold at all, the papers not having been recorded. It is a good thing to boom the town all possible, but there are enough facts to record without making such laughable items which make the boom seem ridiculous.

Who Shall Have the Daughter?

The Rock habeas corpus case from Denison has been decided by Judge Ayles worth, and the order was issued yesterday, in regard to the little daughter of the litigants, who are husband and wife. By the order the mother is to have the ustody of the child, but ne hasband is allowed to visit her under certain conditions. He is also given the right to go to Denison and get the child and take her, at his own expense, to his home in Harlan, and there have a visit with the daughter. This privilege is granted him for the first week in January and the first week of every alternate month subse-quently. The stay of the child in Janu-

ry is to be only a week, that in March i o be four weeks, and after that the visit can be four weeks. In other words, the court has arranged so that after a few months the father can have the child about half the time. The probability is that a divorce case will be brought, and its termination will cause this arrangement to be broken up and some new order issued by the court in regard to the cus-tody of the child.

Complaining About Baggage.

Complaint is being made, especially by rayeling men of Council Bluffs, that they have tried at several different points on the Union Pacific to check their baggage to the Broadway depot in this city, but they are unable to do so. Those at the transfer baggage room say there ought to be no difficulty in checking to the Broadway depot from all points, and that agents have such instructions, but agents refuse to thus check baggage, and much neonvenience is thereby caused

Broadway depot is numbered O O, but t does not appear on the baggage check ists at any of the stations. Christmas at the Opera House. On Friday and Saturday evenings and the Williams murder case is left hanging for Christmas matinee, "Woman Against Woman" is to be given at the opera house. Frank Harvey, the author of "Wages of Sin." wrote this play also, The story is one of country life in England, and shows the sacrifice of a woman wno, like Walter Scott's heroine, thinks nothing too hard to save her sister from shame. The Chicago Tribune gives an description of the peculiar method of the play thus: The drama that is presented at Hooley's this week bears the same relation to a finely polished play that a charcoal sketch does to an etching; but the charcoal is held in a firm hand, and the picture shows strength, decision and truth. A Bad Start in Life, A fruit peddler named Baker, who has stand on upper Broadway, was near the packing house yesterday, when he was assaulted by a crowd of boys, one of whom hit him over the head with a club, inflicting quite a serious wound. The police made a search for the boys and arrested William Marble, Fred and Otto Kahler. These boys insisted that they were innocent, and the police started out to find the really gullty ones. The boys have been delighting in bothering Baker, and it seems that they carried their sport to the extent of angering him, and hence the trouble, which has resulted more seriously than the boys expected.
