THE DAILY BEE.

Sworn Statement of Circulation.

State of Nebraska, County of Douglas, ss. Geo. H. Tzschuck, secretary of The Bee Publishing Company, does solemnly swear that the actual circulation of the Daily Bee for the week ending Dec. 17th, 1880, was as follows:

Saturday, Dec. 12, 18,433; Sunday, Dec. 13, 14,600; Monday, Dec. 14, 18,300; Tuesday, Dec. 15, 18,350; Wednesday, Dec. 16, 18,350; Thursday, Dec. 17, 18,349; Friday, Dec. 18, 18,349.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 27th day of December, A. D. 1880, N. P. FEIT, Notary Public.

Snow plows are once more the most popular agricultural implements.

A spasmodic zergle now and then from Lincoln is the only sign indicating that Nebraska's bogus railroad commission is still alive.

Nearly every county in Nebraska found the promise of a new railroad in its Christmas stocking.

If the street car company would spend a few dollars in several snow plows such as are used in large cities east they would find less trouble in keeping their tracks open.

A fair assessment and a low tax levy should be the end aimed at in the new charter.

If Manager Hughtill only knew it, one of the most direct lines from Omaha up the Elkhorn Valley would be a short cut to Fremont by the old Dey survey.

Death of General Logan.

Another eminent leader in the councils of the republic has passed away. The announcement of the death of General John A. Logan is a surprise as sad as it is startling.

In the prime of life a brilliant career is suddenly closed, on the very threshold of still greater eminence. Among the galaxy of great soldiers and statesmen whose death the country has mourned during the past decade few have been nearer and dearer to the hearts of their countrymen, and especially to the Union veterans, than John A. Logan.

Few men who have served their country for thirty years in positions of great responsibility and trust have made a cleaner record. As a soldier, John A. Logan won his first laurels during the Mexican war, where he fought gallantly in the volunteer ranks.

Without that culture which wealth and collegiate education afford, General Logan was pre-eminently one of the self-made men of our times. In all the glory and emprise which fell to his lot he never lost his head.

As a candidate for the second highest office within the gift of the nation General Logan bore himself with a dignity which commanded the respect of men of all parties.

Will They Break Their Promises? The opposition to Senator Van Wyck's re-election is beginning to show its hand.

figure on a liberal support for their proposed policy, and profess to believe that they can rally a sufficient number of democrats to a measure simply reducing or cutting down internal taxes to pass it.
