The police noticed a suspicious acting fellow visiting the second-hand stores and trying to dispose of a seal skin cloak. On being led into the station he gave his name as T. C. Laing, and claimed that he came rightfully into possession of the garment, but it was deemed best to hold him until further investigation could be

The new ice skating rink on Fifth avenue, corner of Seventh street, will be opened this week. The ground has been fenced and flooded, and the skaters will have as fine a resort as any city can offer in this line. It will doubtless be liberally patronzed, and prove a popular cold weather place.

The street car lines were cleared of snow in remarkably quick time, the new management evidently believing in having the public accommodated if within the range of possibilities. The citizens note the change for the better, and appreciate the promptness and watchfulness shown by the present management.

The city building had a narrow escape from a blaze yesterday morning. By some means the fire in the stoye in the auditor's office caught the matting, burning several holes before it was put out. The incident suggests the great necessity for a vault in which to keep the books and papers, which are now lying about unprotected. Some valuable records might be destroyed in case the building was

Pete McNulty feels that the papers are giving it to him rather hot about the rows which have taken place at the "Do Drop " and in that vicinity. First and chief of all he says that he is not the proprietor of the saloon, and not responsible for the reputation of the place, it being owned by a man named Hammill, McNulty being simply employed as a bartender. He further says that he was not present when the shooting took place, and that it was on the street, as near other saloons as the one where he is employed. He denies, in fact, that he is in any way responsible, or that he has encouraged fellows hanging about the place, and has done what he could to preserve order and prevent such scenes.

"Do Not Drop In."

Judge Aylesworth vesterday examined mto the disgraceful row in the "Do Drop In," in which David Kippin was so seriously hurt by a beer glass. The evidence showed that there was quite a row kicked up in the house by Frank Peterson and George Roper. Both of these young fellows have been before the court otten, and have been warned that they must reform or they would get into serious difficulties. Roper seems to have been the one who struck Kippin, the blow being in the face, causing a wound the result of which cannot yet be de-termined. Kippin was brought to the court room yesterday in a hack, against the wish of his physician, who feared the exposure. Kippin was hardly recogniza-ble, his forehead being swollen to three its natural size. The evidence showed that the row was a most disgraceful one, and that it was chiefly caused by Peterson and Roper. They will be held to answer to the grand jury.

Judge Aylesworth also saloonkeepers for selling intoxicating liquors to minors. He said he would like to have some of these brought before the bars, for it was a shame to have the boys given drink. An information was filed charging McNulty with keeping a disorderly house, and this was put off for a week. Stoves! Stoves! For the next thirty days 1 will sell heating stoyes at cost for eash only. P. C. DeVol.

L. B. Crafts & Co. are loaning money on all classes of chattel securities at onehalf their former rates. See them before securing your loans.

The Shooting Affray. John Woodburn was brought before Judge Aylesworth yesterday on the charge of assault with intent to commit murder. Woodburn is the one who is said to have shot Burns the other night. He practically admits to having fired the shot, but claims that he did so in self defense. He has marks about the face and head showing that he has been badly punished by some one, and he claims that he was attacked suddenly and seriously, hence the shot, He is a young man, and his clothes and the poverty apparent in the place where he was found sleeping, suggests that he had better have sold his revolver and invested in some of the comforts of life. He secured J. J. Stewart as his attorney, and the preliminary hearing has been set for Monday, January 3. The wounded man is getting along all right, the hurts not being very serious. Woodburn's bail is fixed at $1,000, but he will not be able to furnish it at present. His home is in Hillsdale, Ill.

Death of Mrs. Rink. The death of Mrs. Autoine Rink, which occurred Sunday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, has proved a sad blow to the family and friends. Death came so unexpectedly, and following so closely upon giving life to a little one, that the event is pecu-liarly sad. Mrs. Rink, whose maiden name was Emma Heiss, came here from Germany in June, 1885, in company with her sister and Mrs. Straub, who had been on a visit to the old country. In the following September she was married to Mr. Rink, to whom she was betrothed in the old country. The funeral is to be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

An Ancient Document,

An old deed was placed on record yesterday. The document was dated November 27, 1856, over thirty years ago. The deed is from J. M. Kline, as attorney in fact for Emily Kline, and conveys to P. Sidney Post and Marshal Turley, "the sw 1 of the sw 1, section 31, township 75, north range 43 west," the consideration being $2,000. The acknowledgement is before Dudley S. Nye as notary public. The blank on which the ancient deed is filed out bears the imprint of the Chronotype office, Council Bluffs.

Laid at Rest. Yesterday William Noble was laid at rest. Brief services were held at the house at noon and the remains taken to his old home in Shenandoah, where they were buried. The Odd Fellows attended in a body and paid due tribute to his

The Closing of the Year. Brooklyn Magazine: A few more days and the year which to some has brought happiness and to others misfortune will be added to those which have passed before it. Many will during the present month sit in retrospective thoughts over the events which have marked the year in their lives. To the young the years speed not fast enough; to the old they are all too short. The young man enjoys the closing of one year in preparing for the next, the aged man muses over the events of past years, and contemplates the mys-teries of the future. In the lives of many the year has proved a memorable one, while in those of others it has been marked with no special events. The hopes of one have reached fruition, the aspirations of another have fallen short of success. And thus the last day of De-cember will bring alike pleasant and sad memories. There is a lesson to be drawn from the close of every year that may well teach us of the opening of the new one. It is by deriving profit from the past that we can improve the future. If we have undertaken enterprises during the present year that have proved unsuccessful, we can now, on looking back over the ground, see more clearly what our mistake was or wherein we failed, and by having undergone such experiences we are by far the better off. We have been taught lessons which we might otherwise never have learned, and in our future undertakings the great value of them will be apparent to us, if now they yet seem unnecessary and unproductive of good. There is a lesson in all our failures, if we will but regard them in the proper light. So long as we profit by what has occurred during the year now rapidly drawing to a close, it will not have been wasted. The ex-perience of the old year will make our success during the new more assured, for we will have learned what shoals to avoid in the sea of life. If our bark has just ground over the rock reefs with but slight injury, let
