THE DAY OF DELIVERIES

They Cut But Very Little Figure in Making the Market.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, Jan. 3 .- [Special Telegram to the BEE. |-The delivery boys occupied the floor of the board this morning until 10:30. The market, except perhaps in pork and other hog products, is so altogether free from manipulation of every sort that there was little significance in the way grain went around. Armour & Co. delivered out a good deal of wheat, but he does this on the 1st of every month for the simple purpose of making the difference between eash and May wheat a little wider. During the day he took advantage of this "to change over" at a bigger profit than before the delivery. Fleming & Boyden delivered out a good deal of corn. There was little more significance to the movement of hog product. George Stewart & Co. delivered out a great lot of pork. This supposed to be Hutchinson's, who says that he now thinks the product high enough and is willing to let the "other fellow bull it from this on." Armour took it and now has about all the cash product there is here, especially pork. Armour is consequently the biggest buil. Deliveries cut a very little figure in making the market-perhaps none at all. It was the day for the visible figures to be made public, but these are now so far anticipated and so closely that the effect is disclosed on the Saturday precedeing. The wheat market started this morning in possession of the New York traders as completely as if they had all moved out here and taken possession of the pit. Cables which were higher, and export business, which showed a most substantial clearance of wheat both at New York and Philadelphia (about 450,000 bushels for Friday alone), all tended to make prices here strong. May wheat did open very strong at $73%, the very top figure for months for this option, but from the opening it declined a little. Ream, for the first time in a long while, appeared in the pit in per-son and sold wheat. The visible supply figures showed an increase of nearly 468,000 bushels in wheat and this was about 100,000 bushels less increase than was generally predisted. This stopped the decline at 574-5c. A dispatch from New York said that some cables there were not quite so strong, and exporters at Gotham were reported as in some cases reselling. Ream himself did not sell above 500,000 bushels of wheat, but is supposed to have got off a big line through brokers. Hutchinson was a very large buyer of wheat a larger buyer of wheat a larger buyer. supposed to have got off a big line through brokers. Hutchinson was a very large buyer of wheat, a larger buyer than keam was seller. The market sold off to 87½c for May, under pressure, but worked back slowly to 57½c by 1 o'clock and closed at that figure, Corn was fairly active, and trading at the opening and around the close was quite animated. Seller May sold at an extreme range of 43½c and at 1 o'clock rested at 45½c, or a small fraction under last Friday's closings. Both New York and Liverpool were reported lirm, and the only weakening factor at this point was an increase of nearly 1,200,000 bushels in the visible supply. The feeling generally among the bulls was pretty firm. The receipts continue moderate and the shipping demand fair. In oats trade was quiet and prices for futures closed about the same as for Friday, or at 31½c for May. Sales of that future were at a range of 31½c@31½c. On the regular or cash market there was nothing doing. Provisions were strong at the beginning, but the market eased off, not so much because there were many sellers as because there were few market eased off, not so much because there were many sellers as because there were few buyers. The crowd of local speculators got well out of their holdings the last of the year,

2:30 p. m.—There was a moderate amount of activity in wheat during the short session. May delivery sold at $75.06$73.60, back to $73.08$73.60, and closed at the top. Corn was steady, closing at 433.60 for May. Provisions were quiet, May pork closing a little higher at $12.80.

taking in profits and becoming passive spectators. It was commonly believed that Armour, Plankinton, and the "country" are the principal owners of hot product at this junc-

ure. Prices at the close to-day show very little change as compared with Friday and that change is in the direction of a lower

CHICAGO, Jan. S .- | Special Telegram to the BEE. |-CATTLE-Trade was slow and prices 156220c lower on the ordinary run of good and useful medium steers, such as are usually taken for shipment and the dressed beef trade. The decline is almost equal to the advance of last week, and the decline is also on the same class that went booming last week. Some salesmen, especially those who had big, heavy steers, said that the drop on such was only about 10c. Native butchers' stock underwent no particular change as compared with last week. There were but few stockers on sale, with prices about the same as last week. Country buyers are not on the as ast week. Country buyers are not on the market to any great number, hence there is little or no business. There was active trading during the first hour and dealings were accompanied by considerable feverishness and irregularity. The entire market finally yielded. The same state of affairs continued with short reactions until after 1 o'clock, when a general upward movement took place, which gathered force toward the close and the market closed moderately active and strong, close to the best prices reached. General Produce.

Monday, Jan. 3. The following prices are for round lots of produce, as sold on the market to-day. The quotations on fruits represent the prices at which outside orders are filled.

The Week-Last year during the holiday week and just prior to Christmas there was a terrible glut of poultry of all kinds. A great deal of it was sold for almost nothing and hundreds of pounds had to be thrown away as a total loss. This season quite the opposite has been the case. While chickens have been in fairly liberal receipts turkeys have been scarce and there were not enough in to supply the demand for either the Christ-mas or New Year's trade. While the com-mission men did not handle nearly as much in bulk this year the trade upon the whole was far more satisfactory, Better prices were obtained for their consignments, and the country shippers were better pleased. Aside from poultry there were no especially new features in the market. In the line of game, quall sold for a few days higher than quoted below. Eggs, a few days higher than quoted below. LOGAN DIED NOT A PAUPER. Real Estate Worth $30,000 Left to

His Widow and Children. Chicago Tribune: Gen. Logan's relatives are somewhat irritated at the much advertising of Mrs. Logan's alleged poverty. The general leaves over $17,000 worth of unincumbered property in Cartagoria. bondale, Illinois, namely; fifty-five acres within the corporate limits and worth $100 an acre at a forced sale, 250 acres adjoining the limits and worth $40 to $50 an acre, and a dwelling house in West street near the Normal University valued at $1,500. He also leaves over 200 acres near Murphysboro worth over $50 an acre, fifteen acres worth $100 an acre, and thirty town lots worth $100 each. This Jackson County property is worth at least $30,000 altogether without incum-brance. 'That secretary of the General's, Mr. Taylor, who writes letters saying that Mrs. Logan has nothing but what ever she may get from the general's book, seems to be a man who isn't par-ticular about the truth," said W. S. Rogers, the general's brother in-law, yester-day on the platform at Murphysbore, as he and Tom Logan, the general's brother waited for the train to Washington "They may say my brother died poor," said Mr. Logan, "but that means comparatively poor, not absolutely poor. He was poor for a man holding his rank and position. His place at Washington is incumbered, but there isn't a cent against our property around here." The report that Grand Army posts are raising subscriptions to pay off an alleged mortgage on the general's old homestead was an special irritation to the relatives here. Of course such reports were erroneous, the homestead for which subscriptions were intended being the place at Wash ington. Less than four months ago the ington. Less than four months ago the general was negotiating for the purchase of the Baird farm here and also of Dr. Robarts' farm, both of which join his property at Carbondale. He talked of building a house and settling down here as a gentleman farmer. The Logans have always been well off. Dr. Logan, the general's father, donated the sight of Murphysboro where the town was laid. Murphysboro where the town was laid out and owned over one thousand acres in the vicinity at that time, most of which still remains in the family

The carriage built for the triumphal entry—which never took place—of the Comte de Chambord into Paris is now the state carriage of the Queen of Greece She paid $5,000 for it.
