

THE DAILY BEE.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING. TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION: Daily... $10.00; For Six Months... $5.00; For Three Months... $2.50.

THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY, PROPRIETORS.

THE DAILY BEE.

Sworn Statement of Circulation. State of Nebraska, ss. Geo. B. Tschuck, secretary of The Bee Publishing Company, do solemnly swear that the actual circulation of the Daily Bee for the month ending Dec 31st, 1886, was as follows:

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 1st day of January A. D. 1887, N. P. Felt, Notary Public.

Geo. B. Tschuck, being first duly sworn, deposes and says that the actual average daily circulation of the Daily Bee for the month of December, 1886, was as follows:

Sworn to and subscribed before me this 1st day of January A. D. 1887, N. P. Felt, Notary Public.

If a census could be taken to-day at Lincoln...

A NUMBER of names are mentioned for the Illinois senatorship...

The public debt statement shows a reduction during December of $9,400,000.

In the great Nickel Plate railroad case at Cleveland, Ohio...

To keep up with the fashions the New York World has sent Lieutenant Selwatsky to discover the hidden mysteries of the "straight goods" trade.

Another report comes from Europe of an alliance between Germany and Russia...

An Omaha contemporary has cut a country newspaper from its exchange list for stealing its telegrams.

Boards of trade and freight bureaus must not allow their good names to be used for endorsing unscrupulous men.

DURING 1886 capital to the amount of nearly one hundred and thirty million dollars found its way into manufacturing and mining enterprises at the south.

A CORRESPONDENT from Santa Barbara, California, writes us to ask during what hours postmasters are obliged by law to keep their offices open.

A CORRESPONDENT of a Washington paper suggests that the friends of General Logan purchase the plates of the "Great Conspiracy" of the publishers.

But there are at least two considerations which repel the idea of McLean being a party to such an alliance.

In the first place he would have to overcome a personal hostility much more bitter and inveterate than his antagonism to the administration.

aggravated form of displeasure. An alliance of Halstead and McLean, for a political or any other purpose, suggests a parallel of any nearly impossible occurrence.

since colonial days, though several mistresses whose cases were celebrated, notably that of Lydia Sherman, were sentenced to death.

Will Require a Special Edition. An exchange takes up half a column in telling its readers "What sallowkeepers owe to democrats."

Religious Speculation. Jay Gould has been to church six Sundays in succession. Now that he owns the earth, Gould is turning his thoughts toward heaven.

Lost Youth. "I want the moon we looked at; I want the crown we tossed a ball; I want the star we hoped a star would fall."

STATE AND TERRITORY. Nebraska Jottings. The holidays have gone. Honest fact. Fairly improved to the amount of $92,000 last year.

THE OPENING OF THE LEGISLATURE.

The twentieth regular session of the Nebraska legislature opens to-day in Lincoln and bids fair to prove one of the most interesting and exciting ever held in the state.

Much legislation demanded by the state will be passed upon by the present legislature. The question of the repeal of the bogus railroad commission will doubtless come up for debate and decision.

Not the least important issue which will present itself early in the session is the election of a United States senator to succeed Charles F. Van Wyck.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

Woman and the Death Penalty. The case of Mrs. Roxalana Druse, known in New York as the "Herkimer murderess," has been exceeded by few others in criminal annals.

An Improbable Story. The statement of a Cincinnati paper, supported by what may appear to some to be convincing circumstantial evidence.

Woman and the Death Penalty. The case of Mrs. Roxalana Druse, known in New York as the "Herkimer murderess," has been exceeded by few others in criminal annals.

PROMINENT PERSONS. Boston is indignant because Munkacsy, the artist, did not visit that city.

EX-SENATOR PADDOCK has contributed $500 to the fund for Mrs. Logan. Mr. Paddock is starting his senatorial campaign at high water mark.

General Nelson A. Miles, the Indian fighter, is said to be handsomest officer in the United States army.

Colonel Frederick Grant has a small aquarelle painting in a gilt frame. It represents a group of Indians and shows evidence of artistic skill and training.

General Sherman, if now appears, does not like the way any better than St. Louis. He has bought the large double house built by Secretary Stanton in Washington.

The Denver Tribune-Republican no longer parts its name in the middle. It has dropped the hyphen and now appears as a stalwart Republican.

The trade of Denver for the year 1886, including the product of manufacturers and the value of exports, is $24,000,000. Of this the smelters produced $10,000,000.

The business of the internal revenue collector's office in Denver during the year amounted to $22,507,577.75. Of this $1,524,750 were made in the state and $21,982,827.75 in the territory.

Close estimates of the bullion product of Colorado mines last year are as follows: Silver, $16,450,921; lead, $5,123,246; gold, $2,087,562; copper, $124,550; making a grand total of $24,786,280.

The business of the internal revenue collector's office in Denver during the year amounted to $22,507,577.75. Of this $1,524,750 were made in the state and $21,982,827.75 in the territory.

Close estimates of the bullion product of Colorado mines last year are as follows: Silver, $16,450,921; lead, $5,123,246; gold, $2,087,562; copper, $124,550; making a grand total of $24,786,280.

The business of the internal revenue collector's office in Denver during the year amounted to $22,507,577.75. Of this $1,524,750 were made in the state and $21,982,827.75 in the territory.

Close estimates of the bullion product of Colorado mines last year are as follows: Silver, $16,450,921; lead, $5,123,246; gold, $2,087,562; copper, $124,550; making a grand total of $24,786,280.

The business of the internal revenue collector's office in Denver during the year amounted to $22,507,577.75. Of this $1,524,750 were made in the state and $21,982,827.75 in the territory.

Close estimates of the bullion product of Colorado mines last year are as follows: Silver, $16,450,921; lead, $5,123,246; gold, $2,087,562; copper, $124,550; making a grand total of $24,786,280.

THE ENGLISH SITUATION.

The new year opens with the political situation in England so seriously complicated as to perplex the wisest, and the only certain conclusion to be drawn is that the events of the not remote future will be exceedingly interesting.

There is, however, no appearance of any disposition on the part of Salisbury to surrender in order to allow the formation of a coalition cabinet. He will retain his hold on the premiership.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

It is not unlikely that Salisbury may regard the present as a peculiarly auspicious time, in view of the unsettled and somewhat threatening condition of European affairs.

THE NEW SOUTH.

Henry W. Grady's Address Before the New England Society. New York Commercial Advertiser. Mr. Henry W. Grady, of the Atlanta Constitution, made the speech at the event at the New England society dinner in Delmonico's last night.

What was the sum of our work? We have found out that in the general summing up the free negro commits more than he did as a slave. We have planted the school houses on the hill tops and made it free to write and black. We have sowed towns and cities in the place of theories and put business above politics.

We have established thrift in city and country. We have fallen in love with work. We have restored comfort to homes from which culture and elegance never departed. We have let economy take root and spread among us as rank as the crab grass which springs from the ground.

When Lee surrendered—I don't say when Johnson surrendered, because I understand he still alludes to the time when he met General Sherman last as the time when he met Lee. I don't say any further prosecution of the struggle—when Lee surrendered, I say, and Johnson quit, the south became, and has been since, loyal to this union.

When Lee surrendered—I don't say when Johnson surrendered, because I understand he still alludes to the time when he met General Sherman last as the time when he met Lee.

When Lee surrendered—I don't say when Johnson surrendered, because I understand he still alludes to the time when he met General Sherman last as the time when he met Lee.

When Lee surrendered—I don't say when Johnson surrendered, because I understand he still alludes to the time when he met General Sherman last as the time when he met Lee.

THE NEW SOUTH.

Henry W. Grady's Address Before the New England Society. New York Commercial Advertiser. Mr. Henry W. Grady, of the Atlanta Constitution, made the speech at the event at the New England society dinner in Delmonico's last night.

What was the sum of our work? We have found out that in the general summing up the free negro commits more than he did as a slave. We have planted the school houses on the hill tops and made it free to write and black. We have sowed towns and cities in the place of theories and put business above politics.

We have established thrift in city and country. We have fallen in love with work. We have restored comfort to homes from which culture and elegance never departed. We have let economy take root and spread among us as rank as the crab grass which springs from the ground.

When Lee surrendered—I don't say when Johnson surrendered, because I understand he still alludes to the time when he met General Sherman last as the time when he met Lee. I don't say any further prosecution of the struggle—when Lee surrendered, I say, and Johnson quit, the south became, and has been since, loyal to this union.

When Lee surrendered—I don't say when Johnson surrendered, because I understand he still alludes to the time when he met General Sherman last as the time when he met Lee.

When Lee surrendered—I don't say when Johnson surrendered, because I understand he still alludes to the time when he met General Sherman last as the time when he met Lee.

When Lee surrendered—I don't say when Johnson surrendered, because I understand he still alludes to the time when he met General Sherman last as the time when he met Lee.

THE NEW SOUTH.

Henry W. Grady's Address Before the New England Society. New York Commercial Advertiser. Mr. Henry W. Grady, of the Atlanta Constitution, made the speech at the event at the New England society dinner in Delmonico's last night.

What was the sum of our work? We have found out that in the general summing up the free negro commits more than he did as a slave. We have planted the school houses on the hill tops and made it free to write and black. We have sowed towns and cities in the place of theories and put business above politics.

We have established thrift in city and country. We have fallen in love with work. We have restored comfort to homes from which culture and elegance never departed. We have let economy take root and spread among us as rank as the crab grass which springs from the ground.

When Lee surrendered—I don't say when Johnson surrendered, because I understand he still alludes to the time when he met General Sherman last as the time when he met Lee. I don't say any further prosecution of the struggle—when Lee surrendered, I say, and Johnson quit, the south became, and has been since, loyal to this union.

When Lee surrendered—I don't say when Johnson surrendered, because I understand he still alludes to the time when he met General Sherman last as the time when he met Lee.

When Lee surrendered—I don't say when Johnson surrendered, because I understand he still alludes to the time when he met General Sherman last as the time when he met Lee.

When Lee surrendered—I don't say when Johnson surrendered, because I understand he still alludes to the time when he met General Sherman last as the time when he met Lee.

1887. 1887.

Take a new start with the new year, and see what "Omaha dirt" can do for you in the coming year. Take the experience of others for the past year and see if you can do as well in 1887.

We have a large list of both inside as well as outside property, which we would be pleased to show you at any time. We are selling South Omaha property very rapidly, and people are making from 100 to 300 per cent on money invested in less than 90 days.

We are agents for Cotner & Archer's addition. This addition contains about 20 acres of land and is perfectly level. To see the plat you would hardly know which lot to choose. This addition has been on the market about one week, and one-half the lots are sold.

See if anything in this list of inside property suits you: Block 18, 8 lots Credit Foncier, A bargain, $21,000. Brick block on Harney street, 4 houses, lot 25x125, $10,000.

We have unimproved property in all parts of the city. Inquire about them. We have a few choice bargains in business property in South Omaha.

We are agents for Baker Place. We have 50 acres of land within 3-4 of a mile of the packing houses in South Omaha, west. Price $800 per acre.

We have lots for sale in Rush & Selby's addition, or in any of the additions in South Omaha. Call or write us. We have money to loan on city or farm property improved for from one to five years at the lowest rates of interest.

We can sell first mortgage notes. Special attention given to exchange. Call or write us. D.R. Archer, C. H. Sobotker, Room 9, Redick Block, 1509 FARNAM STREET, 2ND FLOOR.