Saturday Night's Fire.

Sloan & Johnson's grocery store, on the corner of Farnam and Tenth streets, presented a changed appearance yesterday morning. The floor was covered with ice, which was mixed with tea, coffee, spices and various other kinds of grains. The piles of groceries, which left but a small aisle leading from the front to the rear entrance, were covered with ice, while here and there a broken package showed where the water from the streams had effected an entrance to some valuable goods. The ceiling was cut open and in many parts burned to cin-ders, showing some of the offices of the B. & M. road above. Messrs. Sloan & Johnson were seen by the BEE reporter and the former was asked what reporter and the former was asked what on he considered to have been the cause of this fire. He replied that he had an east min of his own, but because of the parce having been controverted by others, he declined to give it expression. Mr. Johnson was engaged in making up the insurance list, with a host of underwriters to assist him. He had not completed his work however, but, as underpleted his work however, but, as under-stood by the reporter he estimated the amount of his policies to be about $40,000, which he thought would cover the loss.

She said that for years past she had had trouble with her husband on account of his drinking habits. A short time ago she determined to rid herself of him, and accordingly applied in the distriet court for a divorce. Bauer was then put under $1,000 bonds to keep the peace toward her until January 1, 1887. THEY HAD NO MONEY.

A Bridal Couple Who Spent Their First Night in Jail.

It is seldom that a couple enter upon their married life without a dollar of the prospects of getting one. Such a case, however was reported to the police Sunday night. John Daily, a man about forty years of age, walked into the central station Sunday evening with a pretty young woman on his arm whom he called his wife. He said that they had just been married, and had invested their last dollar for a marriage license. They wanted a night's lodging, and would be much ob-liged if the turnkey could provide them with the same. The suave juder, Officer Sig-wart, took pity on them and assured them that, while he could not tender them the use of a bridal chamber, inasmuch as the jail was not so equipped, he would do the best he could for them. He accordingly locked Daily, the groom, in one cell, and his blushing bride in another. Daily protested vigor-ously against such treatment, and declared that he thought that such a course was against all rules of propriety and precedent, Sigwart, however, re-fused to relent, and the newly married couple were obliged to do their and cooing at long range. Yesterday morning they were released and were given two meal tickets to purchase breakfast with.

Daily comes from Batavia, Ill., and has been in Omaha but a few days. It was while here that he met and successfully wooed Miss Mary Mason, who certainly cannot be accused of having married box for mercenary motives. Daily says him for mercenary motives. Daily says that he is trying to get to a town in southern Nebraska, where he has friends and can procure work.

LOST HER ARM.

Tittle Swanson Badly Injured at the City Steam Laundry.

Yesterday morning a very painful and sorrowful accident took place at the City Steam laundry on Eleventh street. A girl named Tilhe Swanson, ag 1 about twenty years, had both her hands caught in the steam mangle which was running at the time. The left hand was badly crushed, while the right was broken and mangled up to the elbow. The former was carefully dressed and the latter the doctors, Rosewater and Dysart, were compelled to amputate immediately. The operation was performed in the laundry, after which the victim was taken to her home on the corner of Ninth street and Capitol avenue, where her sister and brother reside. It is customary on Monday morning at the laundry to take To do this the belt is thrown aside, the mangle off and renew the blankets of the mangle. To do this the belt is thrown aside, the mangle reversed, and the blanket taken off by hand. The engineer had spoken to the girl a short time before the accident, telling her that he would return in a few minutes and take off the belt and enable her to take off the blanket. She had disregarded his suggestion, and in-stead of waiting to have the engineer at-tend to the business, proceeded to take the blanket off without assistance. In so doing her hands were caught as men-roued. Mr. Evans, the proprietor, had taken pains and been to expense to put safeguards in connection with the mangle which would prevent any girl's hands from getting into danger, but it seems that the unfortunate girl had removed these and was as a consequence

THE B. & M. TIME CARD.

Important Changes Which It Has Brought About.

The B. & M. time card No. 79 has made Ha appearance and went into effect Sunday. Owing to the opening of the Ashland cut-off, which is known in the card as the Omaha Short Line, many the line shapes are effected by the new card. I iron.

First and foremost, the two stub trains each way between Plattsmouth and Omaha, connecting at Oreapolis with main line line trains, are taken off. These are the trains that have hitherto left Plattsmouth for Omaha at 9:25 a. m. and 5:40 p. m. and returned at 9:30 a, m. and 7:25 p. m. The time of the morning and evening trains west and the morning and evening trains east is unchanged at this point. The time of the morning Kansas City train to Omaha also remains un-changed, but the evening Kansas City train to Omaha, which has hitherto left Plattsmouth at 6:22, will leave hereafter at 5.01 p. m., arriving in Omaha at 5.45. A new train will be put on between Pacific Junction and Omaha, which will connect with Nos. 3 and 4 Chicago, Burlington & Quincy at the former place. It will leave Plattsmouth going north at 6:22 p. m., as a Chicago, Burington & Quincy train, and will return in the morning as an accommodation train at passenger trains daily each way will be run on the short line be-tween Omaha and Lincoln. Two of them are regular trains leaving Omaha at 10 a. m. and 7.45 p. m., and arriving in Lincoln 11.15 a. m., and 7.45 p. m., respectively. The other train is what is known as the legislative train—an experiment. It will leave this city at 8.20 a. m. and make the control of the cont 8:30 a m., and make the run to Lincoln in an hour and forth minutes. Returning it will leave Lincoln at 7:10 p. m., and arrive at Omaha at 8:55.

The new card as far as can be ascertained, leaves the Louisville, Cedar Creek, South Bend and Greenwood people in a queer predicament. If they wish to go to Omaha, they cannot go direct over the B. & M., but must first go to Ashland and go in over the cut off or else go to Plattsmouth or Oreapolis and wait for a trie neath.

It is understood that George Workman will run the engine on the fast legis-lative train over the cut-off, and that George Ballance will pull the regular day train and P. H. Swift the night train. It is not yet announced what conductors will handle those runs, but it is thought the three conductors who now run the stubs and the Kansas City train will be put in charge.

A lot of cars glittering with fresh paint were pulled out of the Plattsmouth shops Saturday for use on the short line.

SUNDAY GAMBLING.

How the Order Closing Gambling

Houses is Carried Out-Poker. The police are strictly earrying out the order closing all gambling houses and poker rooms on Sunday, and those who attempt to buck the tiger on the Sabbath are compelled to do it very much on the quiet. Sunday one poker room in the vicinity of the Areade hotel attempted to run, but was promptly closed by the police. The boys at once hired a room in a large hotel near by, and started playing again. The game ran until a late hour yesterday morning.

A sporting man, in speaking of the mat-ter yesterday morning, said: "This order closing the poker rooms on Sunday has little or no practical effect. The boys will play just the same. The only difference is that they have to be a little more quiet about it. Most of them now make a practice of getting rooms in a hotel and carrying on their play under cover of the strictest secrecy. A few of them enjoy a quiet game in the saloons, but the greatest portion of the Sunday gambling is done in hotels or private rooms."

TOOTLE'S DEATH.

The Effect It Will Have Upon the Firm of Tootle & Maul.

The BEE in the last issue contained an account of the death of Milton Tootle, the western dry goods man, and particularly well known in this city as the senior member of the wholesale dry goods firm of Tootle & Maul. A reporter for this paper yesterday morning called at the store of the firm in question and sought to learn from Mr. Maul in what manner the firm here would be affected by the semor's death. Mr. Maul was in New York, and Mr. Allan Koch, one of the junior members of the firm, was out on business There was nobody present who could answer the reporter's queries, but the impression seemed to be that the permanency of the firm would in no wise be af-

Mr. Perine's Retirement.

It was learned yesterday by a rporter for the BEE that Mr. P. L. Perine, cashier of the land department of the Union Pacific has tendered his resignation, and expects to step out of office on February 1. It is said that he intends to accept an interest in the business of O. F. Davis & Co. Mr. Perine has been connected with the land department for the past seventeen years, naving occupied a position there before Mr. Leavitt Burnham was land commis sioner. His loss will be keenly feit in the administration of the affairs of the department. It is not known who will be appointed his successor.

At about 6 o'clock yesterday morning the temperature in this city was 11 degrees below zero. At 9 o'clock it was 3 degrees below zero, and at 12 o'clock 10 degrees above. The weather is gradually moderating and the signal service pre-dicts a warm turn. The velocity of the wind yesterday was at an average of fourteen miles an hour.

TRIED BY COURT MARTIAL.

Colonel Henry Writes a Letter on the Subject. Colonel Henry, who is in charge of the office of judge advocate, has written the following letter to the assistant adjutant general. It relates to the subject of the large number of soldiers in this department who were tried last year by court martial for various offenses:

Sir: I would respectfully invite attention to the numerous charges against en-listed men, recommended for trial by general court-martial, received at this office-many of them, upon trial, resulting in acquittal—showing a want of care-ful investigation into the alleged offenses, on the part of the officers preferring the charges, and of the post commanders forwarding the same.

During the year ending September 30, 1886, 2,197 cases of enlisted men, equal to about 78 per cent of the enlisted strength, were tried in this department, by general and inferior courts. and inferior courts.

Discipline, without a doubt, must be maintained; but I believe that a more careful inquiry into, and supervision over matters of discipline, by the officers con-cerned, would greatly diminish the number of cases for trial, which large num-ber certainly brings discredit upon this department, and with it inferences not corresponding with the good character of the majority of the command.

I would therefore respectfully recom-mend that in a letter or circular, company and post commanders be advised to make the most careful inquiry into alleged offences, before preferring or forwarding charges against enlisted men, and that cha ges be preferred only when deemed absolutely necessary for the maintenance of discipline, and then only if good grounds for them exist and there are sufficient provable facts to sustain them when brought to trial; and that no charges be forwarded to these headquarters, recommended for trial by general courts-martial, where the offences are such as properly come within the jurisdiction of inferior courts-martial. I am, sir, very respectfully, your obedient

MATHEWSON FIGHTS. He Takes His Case to the Courts in

Lincoln. The latest step in the Mathewson-Dawes imbroglio at Lincoln over the position of superintendent of the insane was taken yesterday morning. It consists of an action brought in the district court, in Lincoln, in the name of the people of Nebraska, by J. R. Strode, the district attorney, and against the present superintendent, W. M. Knapp. Messrs. Cowin and Green, of this city, and Dewces, of Lincoln, will work in favor of the superintendent. The bill sets forth that Dr. H. P. Mathewson was appointed superintendent of was appointed superintendent of the insane on the 15th of November, 1883, and for six years, and that, consequently, his lease of office does not expire until the 15th of November, 1889. During the time mentioned, it is alleged that Mathewson has faithfully performed the duties of his office; that on the 3d of December the commission of the said doc tor was revoked by Governor Dawes without giving any reason for the with-drawal of the same; that the said Math-ewson was notified of the appointment of his successor, and then requested by the board of public lands and buildings to turn over all the keys and and other property of the same institution, which at the time remain in his possession. It is further alleged that Mathewson refused to comply with Scott's notice to quit and was finally locked out and refused admission to the institution. He also avers that he are refused in the control of the second of the control of the second of that he has never neglected nor been guilty of malfeasance in office; that he of public lands and buildings, and has never been asked by them the cause of this violent outburst; that the removal of the said Matthewson was violent, foreible and informat and unlawful, and he is consequently entitled to hold his office. The plaintiff claims that the present defendant is not entitled to his office and prays that the petitioner be declared entitled to the office until the expiration of his term in 1889.

THE PENMEN'S CONVENTION. Music as an Adjunct in Teaching Penmanship. The penmen of Iowa and adjacent states held a convention at Des Meines, la., during the holidays. Many interesting features were illustrated and discussed. The following, chipped from the

Des Moines Leader, will explain itself: The Iowa penmen's convention closed this afternoon. Thirty good-looking ladies and gentlemen composed this representative gathering, the first exclusively penmen's convention ever held in the country. The forenoon session was extremely interesting, Prof. George R. Rathban, of Omana, conducted a class of penmen in a lesson with music, all the pens moving as one in a perfect rythm. Prof. Rathbun, of the Omaha Business College, is the first penman and teacher to employ musicas an agent in acquiring good movement, a thing so necessary to beautiful and rapid writing.

It is an acknowledged fact among pen men that some sort of time, either beated or counted, is necessary to secure a uni form rate of speed. Acting on this idea knowing that music produced the most regular time, Prof. Rathbun conceived the idea of applying it to writing. How he has succeeded is shown by the above and the numerous letters of congratulation received from leading penmen throughout the country.

ROTTEN APPLES.

Trouble Between a Consignee and His Commission Merchant.

Charles A. Goss appeared before Justice Anderson yesterday and swore out a warrant for the arrest of J. C. Weeks, a commission man on Thirteenth street. The complaint charges that Goss' father, Alfred R. Goss, of Edenberg, Ohio, shipped to Weeks a lot of apples valued at $180 to sell on commission. Weeks, it is claimed, has never rendered any ac-count of the sale, and Goss thinks that he has appropriated the money. Weeks, on the other hand, claims that the apples only brought $18, as most of them were rotten and worthless when they reached

The Contest at Pawnee City.

PAWNER CITY, Jan. 1 .- To the Editor of the BEE: In the State Journal a statement s made that one of contestant's attorneys, R. W. Story, was proven to have ordered certain fraudulent titles to be printed, The facts are no fraudulent tickets were printed in Pawnee county at the last election, unless it be that democratic tickets were printed at the Republican ffice, with Church Howe's name for congress, but otherwise tilled up with demoratic candidates.

As to the tickets in question, three or As to the tickets in question, three or four of our leading citizens, George Warren, C. W., Maybery, J. M. McCay, and others are ready to make affidavit that R. W. Story had nothing whatever to do in ordering them. This was well known to the person who wrote the Journal squib. But it is a notable fact that all the way through the contest incumbent's attorneys seemed unable to do more and to have no higher object than form or other. But even in this, as in producing evidence of any force, they have been headed off and defeated. The evidence in this case shows a condition of buildozing and intimidation seldom equaled and never excelled, unless it be in some parts of the south in years that have past. The "Press" man got a little mixed, that's all.

The club recently adopted more stringent rules in the admittance of guests which at the last party was appreciated. The club begs to say it shall faithfully ad-bere to this decision and no one under any circumstances will be allowed to enter without an invitation endorsed by member of the club.

Target Practice.

Colonel Henry has received advices from Washington which show that the Department of the Platte is ahead of all other departments in the United States in point of target practice and general marksmanship. The figure of merit which represents the marksmanship of this department is 74. The Department of Dakota comes next with a figure of merit of 71. For years the Department of Dakota has been ahead of any other department, but at last the record is broken. Colonel Henry, instructor of rifle practice, will do everything in his power to keep the Platte in the lead for several seasons to come Changed With the Year.

Yesterday morning the business house of what has heretofore been known as the H. T. Clark Drug company, was bustling with activity. There was an increase in the number of clerks and a consequent incresse in the number of callers who had come to get acquainted with the members of the new firm, Bruce, Blake & Co., late of Ottumwa, Ia., by whom, as announced in Sunday's Bee the old company had been bought out. The firm have made up their mind to take up their permanent as well as business residence and will be excellent adjuncts to the so-cial and material circles of this city.

Building in a Building.

Contractor Coots started on Saturday last to build a temporary structure over the foundation of the Merchants National bank, which will be closed in, and enable work on the walls to be carried on during the winter. The roof of the structure, for the next few weeks will be about thirty feet high, but this will be increased ac-cording as the masonry in the main structure is finished. In this manner, the contractor expects to work a force of men during the winter so that when spring approaches, but a few stories will remain to linish the building.

Packing Industry.

Mr. Jos. Sheely was closeted yesterday with some of the representatives of the Stockyards company, with a view to ascertaining on what terms he may be able to secure land at South Omaha to build a new packing house in place of that destroyed a month ago. He told a BEE reporter that he had just been to Sioux City, where the house of the Sioux City Packing company had been offered him with thirteen acres of ground for $40,000. He does not yet
