FILING OF OFFICIAL BONDS,

Officers of the State Comply With the Law in That Regard.

THE NEW RAILROAD SECRETARY

Two New Banking Concerns Incorporated and Amended Articles Filed By the Carter White Lead Works-Lincoln News.

FROM THE BEE'S LINCOLN BUREAU. There were a number of official bonds filed with the secretary of state yesterday, noticeable among them being the bond of J. H. Ager, of Ord, Valley county, who is Mr. Babcock's appointee as secretary of the railroad commission. Mr. Ager's name is unknown to fame as yet in state matters or in regard to special fitness in regard to the position, but as the commission is a feeble infant, absolutely without power, prestige or the first elements of worth so far as the public is concerned, the matter of appointment is of little question in any event. Secretary of State Laws has evidently not made his appointment yet, and it is apparently an open question yet whether Judge Mason will be retained, Gere revarnished into life, or a new man entirely be named for the place. The bond filed by J. H. Ager is in amount $10,000, signed by himself and Messrs. P. Mortensen, Thomas L. Harris, T. R. Linston and J. F. Colby, Charles Busehow, reappointed to the commission by the attorney general, has filed his bond in the prescribed amount, with F. Purnger, James McNevy, F. C. Buschow and O. C. Case as sureties. Among the state officials who have filed their bonds are Joseph Scott, commissioner of publie lands and buildings, bond for $50,000, with Joseph Scott, R. C. Downing, John J. Bartlett, Wallace A. Downing, F. G. Keens and F. Sivits as the signers; William Leese, attorney general, bond $50,000, signed by William Leese, Claudius Jones, Joel Tishue and S. C. Langworthy; George B. Lane, superintendent of public instruction, bond $50,000, with the following signatures; George B. Lane, C. W. Minmead, W. D. Haller, Theo Haller, A. Castellar, S. B. Taylor, V. G. Lanty, Alex Reed, Milton B. Wild, John Dulaney and C. T. Boggs; H. A. Babcock, auditor of public accounts, bond $50,000, signed by H. A. Babcock, George W. E. Dorsey, William H. B. Stout, C. W. Mosher, P. Mortensen; Thomas H. Benton, deputy auditor, bond same as auditor, signed by himself and George W. E. Dorsey, C. W. Mosher and E. C. Babcock. ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION.

There has been filed with the secretary of state articles incorporating the Bank of Tobias, the commencement of busi-ness fixed for the 1st day of Febru-ary and to continue to a like date 1907. The capital stock of the bank is fixed at $25,000, divided into shares of $100 each. The indebtedness is limited to two-thirds of the capital stock, and the following named are the incorporators: W. O. Southwick, William Burke, L. E. Southwick, S. F. Nuncimaker, John Ains-

The Hamilton Loan and Trust company, of Kearney, Neb., has also filed articles incorporating their company, which will do a general loaning and banking business, dealing in real estate securities and bankable paper. The capital stock of the company is $100,000, one half to be paid down and the balance April 1, 1887. The stock is divided into shares of $100 each and the indebtedness limited to twothirds the amount. This company will commence business February 1 and continue until 1937 of the same date. The incorporators are J. N. Beach, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Charles H. Wheeler, Brooklyn; F. W. Popple, Passiae, N. J., and E. Wright

Nelson, of Kearney.

The Carter White Lead company, of Omaha, filed amended articles, increasing the amount of their capital stock to $500,000, the shares remaining as before

IN SUPREME COURT. A few items made in supreme court not incorporated in yesterday's report previous to adjournment were as follows: Reargument ordered in the case of Bis-sell vs Fletcher, error from Harlan county. Motions for rehearing were overruled in the following cases: John G. Fritz et al vs C. Grosnecklans, error from Holt; George V. Kay vs George Noll, error from Gage; Nebraska City vs Rathborn, error from Otoc. The following dec sion in a case of the past year was als filed:

MISTAKEN IDENTITY A peculiar case was quickly disposed of in United States court yesterday in which Richard Rainferth, now living at Hastings, was brought into court for an offense against the government committed twenty years ago. At that time the government found that a lieutenant in the army by that name was deficient in his account with the government, and this case was now brought by the United States district attorney under instructions from the treasury department. Richard Rainferth, however, quickly proved that he had never been in the army and was in England at the time of the alleged shortage, clearly establishing an alibi and a case of mistaken identity. Rain-ferth states that he has heard that a cousin of his, bearing the same name as himself, but whom he has never met, is somewhere in this country in the regular army, and he is evidently the party

The usual number of civil cases, mo tions and arguments were heard in this court yesterday, and an important rail-road case in which the B. & M. is interested, was the call for the afternoon.

ADDITIONAL RESOLUTIONS. The following resolutions were yesterday prepared for publication and forwarded to the family of the late General George M. O'Brien of Omaha:

HEADQUARTERS ASSOCIATION OF IOWA SOLDIERS IN NEBBASKA—Circular No. 1 It is with sincere sorrow that we announce to the lowa soldiers residing in Nebraska the death of our esteemed comrade General George M. O'Brien, late colonel of the Seventh

George M. O'Brien, late colonel of the Seventh Iowa cavalry.

While we bow in humble submission to the will of our supreme Commander-in-Chief, who summoned our comrade to his last final muster we deeply feel our loss for him. As a citizen, a soldier and a comrade he was always true to that which manhood honors and which characterized the true comrade, W. S. RANDALL, President, HARRY S. HOTCHKISS, Secretary.

STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of the Nebraska
State Historical society, now in session in this city, while not largely attended has called a goodly number of the pioneers of early days to the capital of the state that they saw in its infancy. The opening meeting was devoted to the annual reports of the different officers, the secretary reciting the receipt of many valuable works secured the past year by donation and purchase which now form part of the archives of the society. Equally flattering was the society. Equally flattering was the report of the treasurer for the past year, which showed a balance on hand of over which showed a balance on hand of over $13,000. The officers elected for the coming year were: President, Robert W. Furnas of Brownville; vice presidents, Lorenzo Crounse, of Fort Calhoun; J. M. Woolworth, of Omaha; secretary, George E. Howard, Lincoln; triasurer, C. H. Gere, Lincoln; directors, J. Sterling Morton, Nebraska City; Irving I. Manatt, Lincoln; Mrs. Clara B. Colby, Beatrice, John A. MacMurphy, Wahoo; Henry T. Clarke, Omaha. At the first evening session of the society Hon. J. Sterling Morton was not present with his paper, but the venerable Hadley D. Johnson, now of Utah, presented a paper that was now of Utah, presented a paper that was very highly appreciated. Last evening's session was held at Representative hall. TOWN TOPICS.

J. B. Strode, who has just completed two terms as district attorney in this ju-dicial district, will remove his law office from Plattsmouth to Lincoln the coming week and enter upon the practice of law in this city. Mr. Strode, as prosecutor, made a great many friends in Lincols who are pleased to hear of his coming. Among the recent improvements for West Lincoln is the establishing of a meat market in that suburb for the accommodation of local residents. Fred Fisher is the man who fills the long felt want and will help feed the new town. In the report of house proceedings an error crept in which gave Fuller, of Gage, the credit of moving the committee on township organization, when Mr. Kenney, of Red Clond, is the man that did the

No Check to the Growth of South Omaha - The Syndicate Lands

Again Placed on the Market. The founder of ancient Rome gave vay to excusable passion because his brother joked him about the height of its walls, which he could leap over. The City of the Seven Hills has nevertheless become a central point of interest for the entire world, and its name will figure in every history until the hand of the last historian shall have written the everlasting "Finis" for his race. In much the same way men made fun of Omaha and its shortcomings when mud was king, but now see it rising like a creation of the conjuror's magic wand. It has often been heard from croakers, who are to be found in every city, that Omaha was not to meet the expectations of its founders, but not only has it far surpassed them, but to-day casts the shadows of its loftier spires upon-another city that has sprung up by its side. Surely South Omaha has had a most remarkable record, and yet it seems scarcely to have started in the race it is running with its older sister. When the syndicate scarcely to have started race it is running w three years ago, bought up the most beautiful farms in the richest county of Nebraska and established the Union Stock yards in the center, they were building better than they knew. Now the busy yards are surrounded by a magic city whose people have built for themselves homes and homes that dot the hilisides in every direction and have changed the once quiet little valley to a scene not less beautiful for being full of bustle and activity. For two years, how-ever, the finest portion of all the tract owned by the syndicate has not been available. These lands have all been platted and will to day be placed on the market, the exclusive agency for them having been given to C. E. Mayne, under whose control some of the most valuable and desirable properties in the city and its suburbs have been developed. This is news that will be eagerly read by those interested in the welfare and prosperity of South Omaha, and of this city itself, as the two will soon be built together and become one. As every one knows the land now for the first time open for purchasers is the fairest of all that fair ract originally bought by the syndicate That it will cause a general rush in that direction no one can for a moment doubt. The building sites are without a superior in all the suburbs of the city. Mr. Mayne rightly considers that he has never taken hold of any real estate that promised to meet with such general public favor and to give such satisfaction in return. It seems to be without a single feature that is other than desirable. The luckiest and most propitious event that has been recorded for the city in many months is this opening up of South Omaha syndieate land to the public and the boom be ginning will result in increasing the value of every foot of ground between the stock yards and the Omaha post-

Mr. Mayne has his plats all finished and they can be seen at his office at any time. They will show some of the finest residence lots anywhere, which will be in great demand for aristocratic mansions as well as the comely cottage of the workingman. No time should be lost in examining into this matter, and certainly no one can afford to lose so line an investment as is here offered.

Have You Seen Them?

If not, call on W. G. ALBRIGHT and go out to SOUTH OMAHA with one of his agents to inspect the magnificent property known as Albright's Choice.

Park Vale Postoffice.

The residents of Park Vale, a hamlet beyond the city, and in the vicinity of Harris & Fisher's packing house, some time ago petitioned to have a postoffice established at the place. The residents are quite numerous, and being just beyond the city limits cannot have their mail delivered by the city carrier, and yet the distance is too great to come and get it at the postoffice. No word has yet been heard from Washington concerning the matter, but yesterday a letter was received from the assistant postmaster general at this office directed to the postmaster at Spring Vale, and this makes some people feel that the new office has been established.

"They Are Beautiful, and much larger than in other Additions." is the usual verdict regarding the 200 lots in Albright's Choice.

Three Feet of Ice.

A burst water-pipe in front of Dr. Amelia Burrough's residence on Dodge street, a week ago, flooded that thoroughfare as far as Sixteenth street. In the ditch nearest Leslie & Leslie's drug store there is three feet of ice, and a heavy coating of the same rests upon the walk. This thaw promises to make pedestrianism unpleasant at the place mentioned, and threatens damage to property. Mr. George Leslie yesterday morn ing was looking for a city official to avert the danger.

To the Public.

The South Omaha Land Syndicate uaving appointed me sole agent for their lots in South Omaha, I am now prepared to show my friends and patrons property that will undoubtedly double in value within a year. The prices have been placed remarkably ecasonable, the terms casy and the rate of interest 7 per cent. Those wishing to purchase lots in the wonderful little city can get prices and plats at my office. Salesmen with conveyances ready at any time to show the property. Nw. cor. Fifteenth and Harney.

County Business.

The county commissioners have decided that hereafter the heads of all county departments shall receive their books and stationery from the county clerk, and through him must do all their advertizing, a record of which the latter will keep for reference.

Great Excitement in South Omaha over the way acres and lots in 'Albright's Choice are going. Twenty-two lots sold in one day.

South Omaha. The prices on lots in South Omaha have been fixed at $250 to $1,000; terms very easy, deferred payments at 7 per cent interest. Now is the time to get lots, while they are cheap. Call on C. E. Mayne, northwest corner of Fifteenth and Harney for plats and prices.

Rouben Smith, a young man about 18 years of age, died suddenly on Monday, at 1420 Fifth street, and his remains were forwarded yesterday morning to Van Meter, Ia., by Barrett & Heafy.

Wild rumors were in circulation about o'clock yesterday morning to the effect that a fight had taken place at Storz & Her's brewery, in which a man had been killed. Sifted down it was found that two employes of the brewery had been en-gaged in a drunken brawl, and that no one was injured in the least.

Mr. E. A. Houghton, member of the wholesale tirm of M. E. Smith & Co., gave a complimentary dinner Tuesday evening to their treveling men at his residence, 700 North Nineteenth street. Among those present were George M. Tracy, Charles H. O'Brien, Frank H. Daniels, John P. Beall, Charles H. Morris, Harry H. Lodor and M. W. Rayley.

1. G. Taylor, who owns the house occu-pied by May Fuller, on Eleventh and Dodge streets, Tuesday commenced suit in the county court to get possession of the property on the ground that the woman has forfeited her lease to the property by keeping a house of ill-repute. On Friday night the happy home of A. Cruickshank was darkened by the death of his eldest son, Alex Grant Cruickshank, aged 14 years. The little fellow had been ill only about a week with typhoid fever, and the cruel blow was sudden as it was bitter. Services were held at the family residence at 2 o'clock p. m., New Year's day, and the mortal remains interred in Highland cemetery. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the family in their bereavement.-[Pasadena Star.

Another Bicycle Event.

Ed Bullock, the young professional wheelman of Omaha, has challenged Dingley to a twenty-five mile race, and the challenge has been accepted. The race will take place on Saturday night. Dingley will give Bullock six laps or three fifths of a mile the start. This will make the contest a close and exciting one. In addition to the professional race there will also be a boys' race for two miles and a five mile amateur race.

Fair and Exposition Officers. A meeting of the directors of the Fair and Exposition association was held last evening in Secretary Wheeler's office. Churchill Parker-was elected president, Richard Kitchen vice president and Hugh G. Clark, treasurer. The election of sec-retary and the executive committee was postponed to the 21st inst.

Not Ed Rothery. The friends of Ed Rothery desire i stated that he was in no way implicated in the rumpus at Fallon's road house on Tuesday night, as has been published. For Rothery was at the opera house when the trouble happened.

Johnny McClellan, who is responsible for the row at Fallon's road house on Tuesday night, was arrested last night, charged with shooting with intent to kill. He will be given a preliminary hearing to-day.

The raffle of the Laughing Girl oil painting at Turf Exchange will take place at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, January 13, 1887.

A RELIC OF THE PAST.

A Tele of a Murder a Century Old Found in a Musty Tome.

In a dark corner of the Pittsburg law library, says the Pittsburg Dispatch, are piled a number of old and musty volumes of legal law, but little used, the science of obtaining or delaying justice having advanced since they were authorities. While looking through one of these books Friday, Librarian P.G. Digby discovered, neatly folded, a time-stained sheet of vellum, inscribed in ancient Dutch characters. The document is apparently an official transcript of a criminal trial at ollicial transcript of a criminal trial at Haarlem, in Holland, in 1767. A free translation of the manuscript, divested of legal verbiage, brings to light a case of circumstantial evidence, which resulted disastrously, not only to the accused, but to the city of Haarlem.

Godfried Yohe, a Westphalian boor, or clown, was pursuing his way to Amsterdam in search of more profitable em-dam in search of more profitable employment than his own country afforded at that period. It happened that the party of immigrants with whom he had traveled stopped to drink at a wayside tavern in Haarlem Wood, where he soon became so completely intoxicated that they laid him under a tree asleep, and left him to get along as he could when he occame sober.

Great was his terror and inexpressible his amazement when, upon awaking, the poor wanderer saw about him a number of men dressed in blue and wearing silver hilted swords, and hearing himself accused of having robbed and murdered a merchant. Greater still was his horror and affright on seeing that the blade and hilt of his knife were besmeared with blood; that his right hand was bloody, and that in his pockets was found property which was known to have belonged to the murdered man.
The terror and confusion he manifested were naturally interpreted as unequivocal proofs of guilt. His protestations and supplications were alike disregarded. His country and his poverty combined to render him a subject of reproach and de-rision, for the indigent German laborers were subject to insult and wrong in Hol

After many months of close confinement Yohe was broght to trial. The companions of the accused appeared in his behalf, and they proved that he was dead drunk and neither able to stand nor walk when they left him in the wood. The public prosecutor contended that he had arisen in a state of frenzy, had robbed and murdered the merchant, and, being unable to proceed, had staggered back to the tree, and was there taken red-handed. The result was that Yohe was condemned to diz, and after having been tortured to make him confess his guilt and accom-plices, but without success, was be-headed.

The fate of the poor German had long been forgotten when upon a gang of desperate robbers and murderers being detected in Gelderland, and just as they were led out to execution, two of them confessed the crime for which Godfried Yohe had suffered at Haarlem.

The criminals, in their joint confession, stated that as they were waiting the arrival of a merchant in a herberg or inn in Haarlem. Wood, who they knew would pass along near about that time on his way from Lemmer to Amsterdam, they noticed the German boors and the vary depole of the control of the contro very drunken state of one of them whom the rest of his comrades left dead drunk under an oaken tree. After they had murdered the traveler and plundered his person, events which took place only a very short distance from the spot where the unfortunate Yohe lay asleep, one of the banditti suggested the horrible ex-pedient of staining his hands, his gar-ments, and his knife with the yet recking gore of the slain, and putting into his pockets a few of the least variable trinkets found upon the merchant. The wretches were so hardened that they were present at the execution of Yohe and watched the death of their victim. An appendix to the document states that the facts of the case coming under the notice of the staats general, the authorities of Haarlem were held to have been guilty of culpable negligence in not ferreting out the real criminal. The city was, therefore, fined 10,000 guilders and lost the privilege of examine having its Patti's Album.

Pall Mall Gazette: Autograph collect-ing is one of the most harmless as well as the most interesting of hobbies, and when a celebrated person takes to keep ing an album of autographs a collection of more than usual value is likely to be the result. It is not generally known that among others who share this weakness is that greatest of singers, Mme.
Adelina Patti. For many years past no friend of any distinction has been permitted to pass the threshold of the prima donna until he or she has written a few words upon Mme. Patti herself or upon some other subject of interests. consequence is that the signatures of almost ever notability both in and outside the musical world are to be found in one of her albums, while, besides these are many letters of well known composers and musicians which Mme. Patti has had presented to her or has herself purchased. Of these are letters from Mozart, Beet-hoven, Chopin and other illustrious ones. Many extracts could be given from these albums: we will now, however merely give the following, which we trust the gifted songstress will forgive us for publishing. The first is from Rossini, and is dated to the following of the first is from Rossini, and is dated to the first is from Rossini, and is dated to the first is from Rossini, and is dated to the first in the first is from Rossini, and is dated to the first in the first is from Rossini, and is dated to the first in the first in the first is from Rossini, and is dated to the first in the February 16, 1864. He writes: "'Tis an easy and pleasant task which you have set me-namely, to jot down at random a thought or two in your album. are then three things which I shall ever do—first, admire you personally; sec-ondly, marvel intensely at your talent; and lastly be unto death your most faith-ful and grateful friend, G. Rossini." Meyerbeer is much more formal and stift. "I beg of you, he writes, "to accept this as a tribute of my respectful homage and my profound admiration." Berlioz on the other hand is characteristically witty. "How am I to translate oportet pati? It has been variously rendered, you know Pedantic scholars would have us believe means, 'Suffering is the lot of man Not so say the jolly monks; oportet pati is simply, 'Bring hither (apportez) the pate, while with a still nearer approach to truth I with all true lovers of music and song, say it means, 'It is impossible to exist without Patti' "

RUSHING TO DEATH.

In the attempt to swim the Niagara whirlpool rapids is no more reckless or dangerous than to trifle with disease which each day secures a stronger hold and hastens the end of life. This is specially true of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and nervous headache, which though perhaps slight at first are extremely dangerous, and readily secure a firmer grip until at last the agony is unendurable and sudden death brings relief.

These diseases can be cured by the use of Athlophoros which, in connection with Athlophoros Pills, never fails when properly used. Read the following from those who have tested it:

John S. Ksnnedv, Spearville, Kansas, says: "Nearly two years ago, four bottles of Athlophoros cured me of rheumatism, and I have had no return of the old com-

Mrs. A. Newton, wife or ex-Mayor Newton, Desmoines, Iowa, says: "I had been a great sufferer for years, and had remedies, but nothing would do what Athlophoros did for me. Athlophoros took the stiffness out of the joints of my fingers, which I had been troubled with so long.

Murray. J. Cochran, Denison, Iowa, says 'It is now two years since I used Athlophos ros, and I have had no rheumatism since. At the time I used this medicine I was crip pled so that I had to use crutches. The Carbolic Smoke Ball stands on its own merits. It has erected its own monument of praise. Other remedies have followed in the wake, and approximate as near the original as they can, but like the falling leaf they soon pass away and leave no history of their efficacy. This great discovery is being introduced throughout the United States and the highest commendations have followed wherever it has been tested.

No household should be without a "Smoke Ball" as it will care a cold.
