

THE DAILY BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS

SATURDAY MORNING, JAN. 15. OFFICE, NO. 12, PEARL STREET. Delivered by carrier in any part of the city at twenty cents per week.

H. W. TILTON, Manager. TELEPHONE: 111. BUSINESS OFFICE, NO. 12, PEARL STREET. RIGHT EDITOR, NO. 12.

MINOR MENTION.

N. Y. Plumbing Co. Heavy suits cheap to order at Reiter's. A roller skating rink is to be started in the McAdams block.

The jury in the case of Brown vs. Wise yesterday afternoon returned a verdict for the plaintiff for about $100.

Permit to wed has been given James Winans and Mary Walker, both of this city, also C. Dufflock and Bell Weaver, both of this city.

The meeting of the city council Monday night will be an interesting one, as the Tenth avenue project is set for consideration at that time.

An information has been filed against T. C. Laing as to hold him until more can be heard from the Chicago authorities, by whom he is probably wanted.

For sale or exchange for clear land Council Bluffs or Omaha property, a most promising and fashionable trotting bred track of 1/4 mile, standard bred Rule 6. Address P. B. Hunt, Harlan, Ia.

The drawing of prizes at the People's store takes place this evening. There is much interest felt, as the prizes are many and valuable, and a large number of people have tickets.

Rev. Mr. Reichenbach led the union meeting in the Presbyterian church last evening. The meetings have been of increasing interest, and are doubtless resulting in much good.

Will be like services held in the Congregational church.

A. J. Mandel is considering the advisability of purchasing property and putting up a store building in the city, for the purpose of establishing a branch of his large furniture house. The plans are not definitely decided yet.

Rapp & Allen are not going to vacate the place now occupied by them. The place taken over by J. E. Ernsdorf, is next door to Rapp & Allen, the store recently occupied by H. P. Niles with his wall paper establishment.

Brinton & Woodman, who recently went from here to Sioux City, and there opened a general store, are reported as doing a large and increasing business, and prospering in all their ways.

They are young men of push and business ability and it is success is among the possibilities.

There was a brilliant gathering at the ice-skating rink on Fifth avenue last night. There was good music, a goodly company of the city, and all the efforts of arrangements were provided for both the skaters and the lookers-on.

In the district court yesterday the case of Hebeus vs. the Equitable Mutual Endowment association of Waterloo, was on trial. This is a case brought to force the company to pay for furniture bought by its agent Randall, who skipped out and left the association as well as others mourning his untimely mode of leaving with bills unsatisfied.

It is stated that one of the teachers in the public schools was so certain that Colonel Daily was elected county judge, instead of counting on the fact that he was going to punish one of the pupils who insisted that she was mistaken. The boy had to bring documentary evidence to keep the dust off.

A big game is reported as having been played here Thursday night, in which one of the former officials sought to realize enough money to enable him to move into Omaha with a flourish. In this he was disappointed, however, and the amount of his loss is variously estimated from $300 to double that amount. The game was watched by many eager eyes, and was the theme of talk yesterday among sporting circles.

Sheriff Rainbow, of Harlan, was in the city yesterday, his mission here being to get Frank Hinkle, who was recently captured at Portsmouth, Iowa, and brought to this city for arraignment, and who was taken to the city jail by Sheriff Minden. Hinkle escaped some time ago from the officers at Harlan, and they feel that they have a priority of claim upon him. Sheriff Hinkle did not feel like giving him up, however, and he will be held here for a time at least.

A young man named W. O. Pryor, living at No. 1150 South Madison street, yesterday picked up a well-filled pocket-book, and left it in a room, and who was an owner. It was soon claimed by a young lady, a dressmaker, who had dropped it, and who could ill afford to lose it. The finder is a mere boy, who is out of the city, and who, whose honesty recommends his case to any one who can utilize his services. Such a boy ought not to be compelled to hunt long for work.

Justice Barnett has been presented by the Methodists with a beautiful clock, as a slight recognition of his services in contributing to the musical attractiveness of the services in that church.

Under some circumstances it is well for a man to blow his own horn, and this seems to be one of them. In leading the congregation in the singing of inspiring hymns Mr. Barnett has made his cornet almost a necessity to the service, and a more fitting present nor one more worthily bestowed, could hardly be suggested.

The argument of the motion for a new trial in the Edwards case occupied Judge Carson's time for some time yesterday. Colonel Daily, who defended Edwards, made a strong argument in support of the motion, and did not complete the review of the testimony taken at the trial of the case. He will conclude his argument this morning. He seems quite confident that he can secure a new trial for his client, but the public would in that case be no less convinced that Edwards is a clever crook, who ought, for the public good, to be put behind the bars. It is reported that he belongs to a gang, and is so valuable a man to the others that they are furnishing him with every possible means of securing a release. As the major got clear of the charge of killing Hughes, the precedent may be followed by the release of Edwards, who is looked upon as fully as hard a fellow.

George R. Beard has about got his stock in shape for removal to Omaha, and by the first of the coming month will fairly opened up in his new location over the river, having leased No. 12 and 1319 Douglas street, near Fourteenth.

Mr. Beard has been in the wall paper and decorating business here for seven years past, and has established a reputation for carrying choice and reliable goods. His artistic skill shown in decorating. He will continue to occupy his residence here, and will so arrange as to accommodate his Council Bluffs and Iowa customers as well as before. He proposes to put in his new store the largest and finest stock ever shown up west of Chicago, and to have greater facilities than ever for doing the best work. No man in this part of the country understands better the needs of the trade, nor how to meet them, and for proof of his really artistic work he has many evidences in the interior of many houses and public buildings in this vicinity.

At the skating rink this Saturday afternoon BAND CONCERT.

Admission 25c.

LIKE FATHER AND LIKE SON.

Young Haddock To Enter an Iowa Pulpit and Fight for Prohibition.

INFATUATED BY A WOMAN.

Tom Brooks Undecided Whether To Shoot Himself or Drink Himself To Death—A Boy Tries a Case In Court—Sings "Hay," the Merry Weighmaster.

Haddock's Son. Frank C. Haddock, the only surviving son of the late Rev. G. C. Haddock, has accepted a call to preach in the Methodist church at Bagley, Ia. Mr. Haddock it aged about thirty-five years. He was graduated from Lawrence university, Appleton, Wis., the same institution from which the writer, and also Mr. Jacob Sims, of this city, were graduated.

In college he took high rank, both in class work and literary societies, and in the years since then he has risen in scholarship. He was for a time engaged in editing a religious paper in Milwaukee, and was afterwards ordained as a Methodist minister. After a short pastorate he accepted a call to a Congregational church, and resigned to enter the law. In the legal profession he gained no little reputation for a young man, and especially as a law writer showed much ability. The tragic death of his father has caused some change in his plans and life. He has been of late preparing a biography of his father, and now has decided to take up the ministerial work again and succeed his father. He intends to enter into the temperance work with enthusiasm, and it has been suggested that he take the pulpit at Sioux City, where his father was a minister.

The suggestion is, however, not to be followed out at present at least. He will enter upon the pastorate at Bagley at once. He has been received into the Methodist church as an accredited minister of the Congregational church, and will be limited somewhat in his functions, under the rules, until the regular meeting of the conference in the fall, when he will be admitted to the Methodist ministry in full.

L. B. Crafts & Co. are loaning money on all classes of chattel securities at one-half their former rates. See them before securing your loans.

An Infatuated Young Man. Tom Brooks was before Judge Aylesworth yesterday, he being charged with having violated the conditions of his bond, by which he was to let Emma Goodwin alone. It appears that Emma was so greatly infatuated with him, as to have her until lately, when she evidently sidetracked her affection. He has coaxed her and thumped her, and will not give up the idea that she is through with him. She is now living in Stella Long's house, and after giving bonds and his word to have nothing to do with her, it is said that he still insists on seeing her, and states that he met her near the postoffice, and told her that if she did not return to his arms he would shoot her, and then kill himself. Some one, whom she thinks that the woman has been talking to, and who is nearly heart-broken over his conduct. He insists on disgracing himself and bringing shame upon his own family by sticking to a prostitute, despite the fact that the woman has the word of him, his friends have urged him to regain his manhood and the court has placed him under bonds and taken the most solemn promises from him. Judge Aylesworth gave him a sharp lecture yesterday, but concluded not to lock him in jail any longer for the present, but to hold the case open, so that if Tom does not show speedy signs of being weaned he may be again thrown behind the bars until his infatuation is cured.

Mr. Hanchett, office No. 12 Pearl street; residence, 129 Fourth street; telephone No. 10.

Substantial abstracts of titles and real estate loans. J. V. and E. L. Spire, No. 101 Pearl street, Council Bluffs.

A Boy Lawyer. Yesterday the case of Gladwin, charged with assaulting little Charlie Vaughan, son of the ex-mayor, was called up before Judge Aylesworth. It appeared from the evidence that Gladwin was driving along Washington avenue, a crowd of boys amused themselves by throwing snowballs at him. He became wrathful, and jumping off his vehicle tackled the first lad he could catch. The victim proved to be the little fellow named, and he disclaimed any part in the snow-balling. David Vaughan, another son of the ex-mayor, conducted the prosecution, the judge telling him to go ahead and examine his witnesses if he desired. The boy went into the case with the case of an old attorney, and with all his native confidence. He showed up the facts in favor of his little brother, and against the aggressor, and came out of the trial with flying colors. Gladwin paid $3 and costs. David's talk was as proud as any boy with his first red top boots, and will probably be soon knocking for admittance at the bar.

Electric door bells, burglar alarms and every form of domestic electrical appliances at the New York Plumbing Co.

Pianos and Organs. W. W. Kimball, of Chicago, has opened at No. 328 Broadway with a full and complete stock of pianos and organs new and fresh from factory which will be sold regardless of cost or time. Call, we can suit you. C. W. Ewers, manager.

The Market Place. The enforcement of the ordinance compelling the hay and wood teams to stand by the city buildings is causing quite a commotion. Only one arrest has been made thus far for its violation. A complaint was filed against Stephen Dunn, but when the case was called up yesterday, it was stated that all the officers wanted, and all the city weigh-master wanted was that the ordinance should be obeyed. They did not desire to prosecute the case, provided those engaged in this business would agree to abide by the ordinance, and that the ordinance violating the case was dropped. Those who violate it now that it is understood fully will be prosecuted without any such leniency being shown. Such is the arrangement made, and while there are many complaints, and many protests, the market place will be established for the present at least by the city buildings.

Sued the County. The registers who served for the special city election are having hard work in getting their pay. The city paid one-half, and left the other half for the county to pay. The county board claimed that the registry being made for the sole purpose of a city election, the county had nothing to do with it, and should not pay its half of the expenses. J. M. Shea, one of the registers, who also acted as deputy county clerk, commenced suit before Justice Schurz for his pay, and yesterday was given a judgment for $20. This is the first of the cases, but it is said that others are to follow.

Stoves! Stoves! Stoves! For the next thirty days I will sell heating stoves at cost for cash only. P. C. DeVoe.

Found His Diamonds. George Gerstpaecher again wears upon his shirt front the sparkling cluster diamond pin, which he lost in his recent squabble in McAdams' saloon. Bert Forney, the bartender in the place, found it and restored it to the owner. George still clings to the suspicion that an attempt was made to rob him of the pin, but he will not go into court to prosecute anyone. Thus the matter drops.

See that your books are made by Moorehouse & Co., room 1, Everett block.

At the "People's Store" this evening, 7:30 o'clock, the award of the 100 grand prizes will be made. A committee of eminent citizens will conduct the exercises in the interest of the ticket holders and will see that each is fairly served. The numbers of the winning tickets will be published in the Sunday morning papers and also on Monday.

Delayed by a Wreck. The Chicago & Northwestern passenger train due here yesterday morning did not arrive until 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The delay was caused by the collision between two freights between Boone and Clinton. No one was injured in the wreck.

See the new meerschaums and the smokers' articles of all kinds at Moore & Kiplinger's.

Personal Paragraphs. L. A. Rees, a Hamburg prominent, was at the Pacific yesterday.

William McNelly, of Kansas, is visiting his sister, Mrs. S. Terwilliger, in this city.

O. C. Woodman and O. D. Woodman, of Plum Hollow, were in the bluff yesterday buying goods.

Rev. Stephen Phelps, D. D., late president of Col. College, has been invited to receive the pulpit of the Presbyterian church on Sunday the 23d.

Colonel C. R. Scott, of Omaha, has been in the city for a day or two engaged in the trial of a case in the district court. He makes his headquarters at the Pacific.

E. Scamman, who was formerly a prominent book and stationery dealer here and now located in New York, is visiting his brother, W. T. Scamman, in Omaha.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sims are expected to return this evening from their wedding trip, and will for the present reside at the residence of Mr. J. E. Harkness.

Mr. John Quinn, the ever watchful night policeman at the transfer, has received the sad news of the death of his brother at Davenport, and has gone there to get the remains and bring them to this city for interment.

L. C. Baldwin, of this city, has been chosen as the superintendent of the department of horses and mules for the state fair to be held next September. He is one of the best stock men in the west, and the choice is a good one.

Mayor Riley Clark, of Neola, was in the city yesterday. He has made himself the idol of the school children, by a recent order giving them the freedom of the streets for coasting every afternoon after school hours. They all hurrah for Riley now.

J. T. Roberts, wife and son, are stopping at the Pacific house until they can settle in their new home, the late residence of W. R. Van Sledright, but are going to Omaha. Mr. Roberts is a valuable addition to Council Bluffs, and he and his wife will be warmly welcomed to the business and social circles here.

Yesterday Messrs. Odell Bros. & Co. sold the interest of F. M. Hunter in the Ballard estate to William Saunders, of Omaha, by which Mr. Hunter more than doubled on his investment. The syndicate that purchased the Ballard tract in the west part of the city was one of the first formed and the transfer was made about November 1. This is one of the boom stories.

THE QUEEN OF SONG.

Patti's Success in Mexico—A South American Tour Probable. Patti made her appearance in the City of Mexico last Thursday night at the National theatre and was received with great enthusiasm, being recalled five times after one song and showered with roses.

The great theatre was packed, and the display of diamonds and superb costumes recalled the days of the empire. Patti will give the opera "The Barber of Seville" Sunday night and one other concert. The diva has been banqueted by Mrs. Diaz at the castle of Chapultepec, and will be entertained by the Jockey club at the race grounds. Her success in Mexico and the extension of the season there has made it necessary to cancel her proposed visit to Los Angeles, and she will go direct from Mexico to San Francisco.

For some time past negotiations have been in progress between Henry E. Abbey and Miss Patti for a South American tour. The almost unexpected furor which her concerts have created in American cities, supplemented by a like cordial reception in the City of Mexico, has convinced her that a tour through South America under Mr. Abbey's management would be attended with results of a similar satisfactory character, both artistically and financially. Miss Patti is also satisfied with the outlook, and it is said a contract for the South American tour will probably be arranged before Miss Patti again appears in New York.
