Warring Musicians.

A lively dispute, which threatens to lead to a war among local musicians, has arisen between Nathan Franko and Julius Meyer, respectively managers of the Philharmonic and Musical Union orchestras. The trouble was occasioned by the fact that both gentlemen are anxious to furnish the music for the Elks ball, which comes off on February 7. It was the intention of the committee at first to let Franko have the contract. However, he asked $50 for twelve musicians, while Julius Meyer agreed to furnish the same number for $25. Accordingly the agreement was made with Manager Meyer.

This made Manager Franko wroth, very wroth. He was met by a reporter for the BEE yesterday, to whom he declared that Julius was trying to cut down the price of good music, and that he would never, no never, reduce his price one cent from $50. "It is an outrage that he should make such a cut. I can't afford to do it, and I won't," he added.

Mr. Franko evidently changed his mind later on, for yesterday afternoon he went to Mr. Miner and offered to play for nothing. When told that the Musical Union had already been engaged, he asked that his orchestra be allowed to play every alternate dance number. This would furnish the Elks twenty-four musicians for the price which has hitherto been commanded by an orchestra of six men. The committee will meet at once to consider Mr. Franko's proposition, which it is thought will be accepted.

A REPORTORIAL RACE.

A Great Athletic Event Which is Soon to Occur.

Among the athletic events which will occur within two or three weeks is a bicycle race between the newspaper men of this city. Several of the pencil pushers of the local press have, with the kind assistance of John S. Prince, mastered the intricacies of the bicycle, and are now thirsting to exhibit to the public their newly-gained powers. They will therefore risk life and limb in the attempt to run down each other, some three or four weeks hence, in a three-mile bicycle race. Already four entries are assured, and it is just possible that five men may go into the race. Notwithstanding the fact that all of the reporters are comparative greenhorns in this business, the race will be, no doubt, an interesting one. The reporters are men of brawn as well as brain, and their record, it is anticipated, will make Prince, Dingley and Bullock look sick. Further particulars of the event will be given to the public in time to insure a big turnout when the race comes off. An ambulance will be at the door ready to carry off the dead and dying, when the race is over, and a special corps of surgeons will be engaged for the evening.

TONSORIAL TALK.

A Barber Tells About the Latest "Hair-Cut."

"The pompadour? It is going out of style," said a barber to a reporter the other day, as he was clipping the scribe's silken tresses. "Like other fashions," he continued, "it has had its run, and now must take a back seat. It will probably be revived in the future, because it is undoubtedly a cleanly, comfortable and good-looking method of dressing the hair. What is to be the popular method of cutting the hair?"

"Cut fairly short, parted very near the middle, and banged. That is, that is the eastern style. Whether it will be adopted extensively in the west, I don't know. Very few young men in Omaha will wear their hair that way. They think it's too effeminate. And they are right. But it's style. The pompadour will doubtless be worn a good deal by young men who cannot wear their hair any other way, or who do not care for style. Yes, that is the most difficult style of hair-cut to execute properly. Few barbers can thoroughly master it."

A NEW DEPARTURE.

A Move Soon to Be Made By the Metropolitan Club.

At the last meeting of the Metropolitan club, it was unanimously decided to make a number of improvements in the rooms of the association, as also to enlarge the scope of the club itself. The hall of the association is situated in the old story of Kuony's building on the corner of Fourteenth and Dodge streets. It is intended to remove the present ante rooms to the hall, thus throwing the whole floor into one apartment, and thus considerably increasing the accommodations of the place. Besides, instead of being a club devoted solely to entertainments of a dancing nature, the Metropolitan intends to launch out into the social field, after the style of the Omaha, the Union and Deutscher clubs. For this purpose it now proposes to secure the second floor of the building in which its dance hall is now located, and turn it into card, billiard, reading and refreshment rooms, in the adornment of which the association will leave nothing undone to make them inviting and commodious in every respect.

Had Counterfeit Money.

L. C. Taylor, an old time crook, was among the prisoners whose name appeared on the jail docket yesterday. He was arrested late Monday night at the St. Paul depot by Special Officer Thompson. While riding to jail in the patrol wagon last night, he slipped several counterfeit dollars out of his pocket, under the seat. When he was searched fifty cents in good money was all he had. It is supposed from this circumstance that he is one of a gang of counterfeiters which has long been infesting Omaha and Council Bluffs.

Taylor has several times been arrested for larceny in this city and the Bluffs. About a month ago Judge Stenberg shipped him to a small town in Iowa on his promise not to return to Omaha.

A DOOR SMASHER.

A Telegraph Operator's Offense—Police Court.

D. B. Jones, a young telegraph operator who appears to have a special talent for breaking down doors, was fined by Judge Stenberg yesterday morning $10 and costs for disturbing the peace. At 2 o'clock yesterday morning the boarders in Isaac Abraham's boarding house, at the corner of Tenth and Davenport streets, were startled by the crashing sound of their front door as it was kicked from its hinges and splintered to pieces by the kicks of Jones. When he got into the house the boarders allege he pulled out a bureau drawer and began to search for valuables. Five officers had to put forth their strength to take the man. They led him a captive to Higgins' barn and while they were not looking the prisoner sprang against the barn door and mashed it down. He was cursed and caught on the street after a lively chase.

B. Starts was sent to jail for thirty days for beating his wife.

Mike Kelley stole a tub of lard from Paxton & Gallagher and was sent to jail for thirty days, twenty of which time he will feast on bread and water.

OLD-TIME HEROES.

Those Who Fought at Cherabusco and Molina del Rey.

The meeting of Mexican veterans, which is to be held at Desmond's hall on next Saturday afternoon, is warmly anticipated by all the old soldiers of that time who are now in this vicinity. They propose to make it the happy occasion to review old scenes and incidents, and at the same time felicitate themselves that their services have at length been appreciated to the degree of having a pension of $12 per month granted them. It is supposed that there are now about eighteen of these survivors in the city, and of whom the following are the names of some: Tom O'Connor, Jacob Honck, James Sexton, Judge Welch, Moritz Baswitz, A. Morton, Robert and Enoch McCarthy, A. Kaufman, A. J. Hanscom, Wm. Snowden and J. Soliber.

A Much Married Mute.

The following paragraph was sent to the BEE last night, from Baltimore. It seems to be an extract from the American of that place:

We learn that the woman "Lizzie Feldpus" has been lately married to Gus Smith, of Nebraska. This lady has three husbands living and divorced from none. Mites should beware of such a woman.

Officer Blom's Suspension.

Officer Blom of the police force has been suspended. On last Saturday morning he claims he went into the Goos hotel to warm himself, after he had been out in the cold for four hours consecutively, with the temperature about fifteen degrees below zero. While there he was discovered by Roundsman Mostyn, who removed Blom's star. The latter claims a roundsman has no authority for removing a star, and proposes to fight it out. The matter was brought up before the council last night, and referred to the committee on police.

MONGOLIAN FESTIVITIES.

What the Chinese Omahans Expect to Do on Saturday Next.

Learning that the Chinese of this city intend to give a grand celebration on next Saturday, in commemoration of some event, a reporter for the BEE set out yesterday to find the exact nature and occasion of the demonstration.

The first Chinaman interviewed was the proprietor of a 14th street laundry. After making a profound obeisance to the heathen wash-washer, the reporter opened up the interview by asking: "How do the China boys expect to celebrate, next Saturday?"

The Chinaman cricked up his ears, stared vacantly at the reporter, and with an air of profound contempt, finally replied in some such language as this: "Ki oski ask, Quong-a-wong a wing."

After a few more remarks of this kind, the Chinaman turned to his washing and left the reporter standing in an embarrassed attitude near the door.

The next Chinaman interviewed on the subject was the proprietor of a Japanese bazaar on South Tenth street near the tracks. He understood English moderately well and gave the reporter a fair insight into the plans of the local Chinese colony concerning a celebration on Saturday next.

On last Sunday, he said, occurred the Chinese New Year, which is celebrated very much as the Americans celebrate their New Year. On that day all trade is suspended, laundry work is laid aside and customers are barred out by the Chinamen from entering their respective places of business. In fact the day is a sort of sacred holiday. This sort of thing continues until the sixth day following. Then the New Year's week is considered at an end. Calling cards are laid aside for each Chinaman has his cards which he distributes among his friends and the Mongolian celebrates the day with great eclat. Next Saturday the Chinamen of this city intend to celebrate with firecrackers and fireworks, which will be exploded in the afternoon and evening, in front of the Buckingham.

The reporter's informant said that the China boys had raised $100 to buy "fire-crackers" with. As yet the supply of firecrackers has not been received. Last night the Chinamen telegraphed to Denver for 75,000 crackers and it is expected that the supply will be here in ample time for the celebration on Saturday. The day's programme also includes a Chinese banquet at the Buckingham, at which it is expected some twenty-five or thirty Chinamen will be present.

This anniversary is called by the Chinese, "Oketai," which signifies "opening day."

It is said that on Sunday most of the Chinamen celebrated the New Year with more formality than did their American brethren a few weeks previous. Most of them kept open house, and regaled visitors with nuts, candies, Chinese fruits and cigars. The visiting cards are red pieces of paper folded, with the name of the Chinaman painted in queer hieroglyphics on the outside.
