do father. The young lady's name is Laura Lecker. Her father is a prosper-ous merchant and Laura is the only daughter, which makes her heir to all her father's wealth. Besides possessing ac-complishments of a high order, she was not without many suitors. Linesky, however, was considered best man at the Lecker mansion. He was very attentive to the young lady, taking her frequently to the theatre and other places of amuse Linesky had a rival in the person of a young man named Phillips, who left no stone unturned to oust the favorite suitor from Miss Lecker's attentions. His being possessed of more money than Linesky placed him at a great advantage, in that he could bestow more costly presents on the idol at whose throne he was so anxious to worship. It is presumed that the young lady was placed in a very delicate position between the two lovers, and was at a loss to know which one she

In the course of time a third suitor appeared in the field to share Laura's affeo-tions. His name was Harry Wilson. The new lover succeeded in driving the old ones from the Lecker parlor, and capa-vated the maiden's heart beyond a doubt. The wedding was set and all preparations begun for the ceremony which would make Laura Lecker and Harry Wilson man and wife. When the news of the en-gagement reached Linesky, he became very despondent, and to add to his dis-stressed state of mind, his friends twitted him about "getting left" and allowing an ordinary man like Wilson to cut him out. He was worried beyond endurance.

He said he would stand it no longer. He wanted satisfaction and he was going to have it. He according brought suit as him he could have married another young lady who is now a married woman and possessed of a large amount of money in her own name. He says Miss Leeker promised him faithfully that she would become his wife, and with this understanding he gave the young lady a handsome gold watch as a Christmas present, and jewelry of various other

City and blow it in at the gambling dens, saloons and other disreputable places. Cow punching is at best a very tough business, and full of risks to life and limb, and pay is small and by no means adequate, and after the round-up there follows a long period of enforced idle-ness, during which they are given food and lodging only by the ranch owner. The average cowboy was wont to turn up after his semi-annual spree with a very large head and not a cent in his pocket. Of late, however, the boys have taken a tumble to themselves and are saving their money. So common has the economical spirit become among them that Miles City has seen this year its quietest sea coming to Montana to herd cattle as the mistake of their lives. The glowing stories of thrilling adventure and sudden wealth of the cowboys' life which are common in the cast are in most cases responsible for their entering the guild, but the reality is quite a different matter, Many of the economical ones have been enabled by their savings to return to

People who have not been through the bad lands have but a faint conception of the utter desolation and worthlessness of a cowboy's home. He is roasted in sume mer and frozen in winter. The lands can never be used for anything but grazing, and the distances are therefore some thing immense. One peculiarity of the country makes rapid riding a very difficult, not to say dangerous undertaking. The earth is so friable that a tiny watercourse will speedily cut for itself a deep gully, or "coolie," as it is called, the depth of which when filled with snowing entirely problematical. A horseman who rides with a cowboy's recklessness may suddenly find himself at the bottom of a six or eight foot coolie, with his horse on top of him, and no way of getting outif he happens to be still alive—save tun-neling up to the head of the stream through the snow. Then one of your broncho's feet is as likely as not to sink suddenly two feet down into a coyote's hole when he is going at a furious pace. Result: His leg snaps off like a pipe stem, and you are shot through the air to a point far beyond, and picked up more dead than alive. The water is generally bitter with alkall, and scorches your throat as you swallow it, there is little to eat and that is hard to get.

They Will Teach. Mesdames Keysor and Sudborough and Mr. Curtis, composing the examiners of the board of education, made their report vesterday morning, regarding the examin-ation of the ten applicants for teachers cortificates which was concluded vester-day. There were five successful ladies These were Miss Kate Powers, Bertha Bir kett, Annie J. Gillen, Mary Makan, and Annie E. Rennie: Mines Powers, Rennie and Mikan reseived second grade and the others, third grade certificates.

will be satisfied with that amount. Miss Lecker told her father that he never expended this amount on her and she sent back his presents a month ago. The father says he knows nothing about his daughter's love affairs. He supposed she will marry the man she likes best, but under the circumstances he will not pay Linesky a cent of damages. He thinks it a ridiculous piece of business all through. If the plaintiff is in need of money he will donate him $1,000 to provide for his wants, but will not pay over any damages.

Linesky insists that the case must be tried in the courts.

The Prose of Cow Punching. Tomah Enterprise: Time was, and not so very long ago either, when the cow-boys received their pay after the round-up they felt in duty bound to go to Miles
