The Dependent Pension Bill Recommended For Passage Over the Veto.

THE COMMITTEE UNANIMOUS.

The Reading of the Report Listened to With Great Attention and Frequently Interrupted With Applause.

House,

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19,-Mr. Matson of Indiana, from the committee on invalid pensions, reported back the dependent pension bill with the president's veto message thereon. He asked that the report be printed in the record and gave notice that he would call up the bill for action on Thursday next.

Mr. Breckenridge of Arkansas objected to the report being printed in the record and thereupon Mr. Burrows of Michigan demanded that it be read. The speaker derided the report must be read and the clerk then proceeded to read it. The report states that two facts will arrest the attention of any one who reads the president's message. The first is that no objection is made to the bill on any ground of its constitutionality or the right of congress to enact the law is not questioned. The other is that the first section of the bill is not touched upon by the message and no intimation is given by the president as to whether that section of itself, embodying as it does an independent proposition, and in the precise form specially urged by the secretary of the interior in his last annual report, meets with his approval or disapproval. The committee then analyses the objections of the president that the bill is vague in in its provisions in that it might apply to various grades of disability or dependency and submits to the judgment of the house and country that those who framed the bill, after months of careful consideration, have made no mistake and have confined the bill to a class-and that class can be well defined as consisting of these disabled or dependent on their daily labor for support. We regret, says the committee, the strained interpretation put on the bill in the message as an excuse rather than a reason for returning it to the house, and believe we do no injustice to the executive, when considering the whole message, to say that if its provisions had been plainer and no question could have been raised as to whether included only those unable to labor, he would have interposed his objection. The report goes on to say that such distinction made by the acts of the president, the com-mittee cannot believe, will be endorsed anywhere by the patriotic sentiment of the country. Referring to the expenditures of money which the ena-tment of this bill would necessitate, the committee contends that the necessitate, the committee contends that the estimate of the president is extravagant. The report said that the committee was lothe to believe that the people of the country were willing for the defenders of the nation's honor and life during their declining years in misery and want. The committee ends by recommending, without a dissenting voice, that the bill be passed, potwithstanding the objections of the president. The report was listened to with great attention, though the reading was with great attention, though the reading was several times interrupted with applause, which broke out afresh when the concluding

Mr. Lanhan of Texas presented the ference report upon the trade dollar bill and it was agreed to without debate or discussion. The house then went into committee on the whole for the consideration of the senate amendments to the sundry civil appropria-tion bill. In speaking of the verbal amend-ment Mr. Gifford of Dakota took occasion to criticize the Dakota enabling bill reported by the committee on territories, denouncing it as a miserable pretext, an insult to his people and a miserable proposition which the would spurn with contempt.

Mr. Hill of Ohio incidentally gave notice that he would call up the Dakota admission bill on Wednesday next.

TROUT FOUND GUILTY. The End of the Trial of the Slayer of Hatch. Stoux City, Ia., Feb. 19.—[Special Telegram to the BEE.]—The jury has returned a verdict of guilty as charged in the indictment against George Trout and fixed the penalty at imprisonment for life. On the first ballot only five held for murder in the first degree. This is the first time in the history of Woodbury county that this sentence has been rendered. Many are still inclined to think the sentence should have been hanging, but generally the verdict seems to give good satisfac tion. The murder was one of the most coldblooded imaginable. "I came here," said Colonel Dwyer, "at the instance of the cattle growers of Colorado and New Mexico. They are much alarmed lest congress fail to pass the pleuro-pueumonia bill. We must have some energetic and heroic action on this measure. It congress does not appropriate money to reimburse the owners of cattle when the disease has a footbold, for the purpose of destroying them and thus stamp out this terrible disease, it is only a question of days and weeks when the farmers and dealers in fancy stocks will ship their cattle afflicted with the disease to our ranges and thus inoculate our herds. When once the disease gets a footbold there it will never be eradicated until there are no more animals to take the infection. We cannot quarantine and isolate the diseased cattle as you can in the states. It took England many years and cost millions of dollars to stamp it out. It is estimated that over 200,000 acres are involved.

TWO MORE VETOES.

President Cleveland Continues His Disapprobation of Pension Bills.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 .- The president sent two messages to the senate to-day, vetoing an act granting a pension to Charlotte O'Neal and an act granting a pension to John Reed, sr. The first named bill proposed to grant a pension to the widow of Richard O'Neal, late colonel of the Twenty-sixth regiment of Indiana volunteers. In his message in this case the president says: "The records of the war department fail to show that there was a colonel of the Twenty-sixth Indiana regiment named Richard O'Neal, but it does appear that Richard Neal was a lieutenant-colonel of said regiment; that he was mustered in August 31, 1861, and resigned June 30, 1862. If this is the officer whose widow is named in the bill the proposition is to pension the widow of a soldier who, after ten months' service, resigned and who, seven months after his resignation, died of a disease which was in no manner related to his military service. There is besides such a discrepancy between the name given in the bill and the name of the officer who served as a lieutenant colonel in the regiment mentioned that if the merits were with the widow the bill would need further congressional legislation."

In his message returning the act granting a pension to John Reed, sr., the president says: "The records show that the beneficlary named in this bill filed an application for a pension in 1877, alleging that he was the father of John Reed, who died in the service, and that his wife, mother of the deservice, and that his wife, mother of the de-ceased soldier, died May 10, 1872, and t hat he (the father) was mainly dependent upon his son for support. He filed evidence of the mother's death and one witness alleged that he was present at her death and attended her funeral. In 1864, Martha Reed, mother of the soldier, filed her application for a pension, in which she at first claimed to be the widow of John Reed. She afterward, however, alleged that her husband, John Reed, abandoned his family in 1859 and had not thereafter contributed to their support, and that the soldier was her main support not thereafter contributed to their support, and that the soldier was her main support after such abandonment. She was allowed a pension as a dependent mother, which commenced in 1863, the date of her son's death, and was to have terminated July 22, 1884, when she died. The claim of the father was rejected in 1883 for the reason that the mother, who had a prior right, was still living, and when his claim was again presented in 1886 he was informed that his abandonment of his family in 1859 precluded the idea that he was entitled to a pension the idea that he was entitled to a pension as being dependent upon a soldier for support. Of course these decisions were correct in law, in equity and in morals. This case demonstrates the means employed in the attempt to cheat the government in applications for pensions, too often successful. The allegation of 1877 of the man who now poses as the aged and de-pendent father of the dead soldier that the mother died in 1872, when at that time her claim was pending for pension, largely based on his abandonment affidavit, of the man who testified that he saw her die in 1872; the effrontery of this unworthy father renewing his claim after detection of his fraud and actual death of the mether, and the allegahis claim after detection of his fraud and actual death of the mother, and the allegation of the mother that she was a widow when in fact she was an abandoned wife, show the processes which enter into these claims for pensions and the boldness with which plans are sometimes concerted to rob the government by actually trafficking in death and imposing on the sacred sentiments. death and imposing on the sacred sentiment of patriotism and national gratitude.'

WEEKLY BUSINESS REVIEW.

A Dull and Rather Weak Feeling Pervades Financial Circles.

THE BANKERS DISAPPOINTED.

Money to Lend But Only a Small Amount of Borrowing-Speculative Deatings Show Considerably More Life.

The Financial Week. CHICAGO, Feb. 19,-[Special Telegram to the Bee.]-Outside of a dull and rather weak feeling there is nothing of importance to note in financial circles the past week,

Leading banks are well supplied with loanable funds and managers are a little more anxious to increase their discount lines. In terior banks are gradually increasing their deposits here, and the accounts of some of the leading wholesale houses are enlarging. Bankers have to some extent been disappointed by the outcome of the packing sea son, as they have not been able to loan prekers the usual amount of money. The labor troubles, too, have made manufacturers very conservative. The speculative interest in grain, provisions and stocks has borrowed little money since the opening of the month and packers and shippers of grain and provisions were virtually out of the market and asked very few favors of the banks. Call were quotable at 5@6 loans cent, and time paper ranged at 534@7 per cent, according to the standing of the borrower and the amount of money required. Outside paper commanded 8 per cent. Money at eastern financial centers appears to be in good supply, with rates of Interest tavoring borrowers. Foreign financial affairs show no important change. Interest rates are steady and money is apparently in sufficient supply to meet the general requirements of the trade. New York exchange was offered to a fair extent and the demand was limited. The market was weak and sales light between bankers at 25/460 per and sales light between bankers at 25/acc0 per cent discount per $1,002. Foreign exchange attracuted very little attention during the past few days. Rather more life has been manifested in the speculative branch of trade in the produce markets during the week just closed, attended with considerable excitement at times and accompanied with marked irregularity in prices. The "Bear" interest obtained control of the grain market, while the "Bulls" were apparently master of the situation in provisions, prices ruling lower for the former and higher for the latter. The receipts of grain were not very large, and shipments were moderately free. Arrivals of live stock show some improvement, but are still limited for this season of Arrivals of live stock show some improvement, but are still limited for this season of the year. The foreign markets were inclined in favor of the buyers of grain, and a fair number of export orders were provided for. The upward tendency of prices for provisions has checked the foreign demand, but inquiry on home account was fairly active. The eastern markets have sympathized to some extent with the course of the markets here. The settlement of the labor troubles in the east will probably revive export business to some extent and enable shippers to forward breadstuffs and provisions which have accumulated at the seavisions which have accumulated at the sea-board during the troubles. The packing of the west is progressing rather slowly and the prospects now are that the shortage in the number of hogs packed will be larger than generally calculated upon.

Ordnance and Coast Defenses, WASHINGTON, Feb., 19,-The house committee on military affairs to-day resumed consideration of the McAdoo ordnance bill Cutcheon presented a substitute for the bill before the committee. It provides for the erection of a gun factory and for first-class modern guns for the army, sea coast and other defenses. It appropriates $10,000,000 for the purpose. After the bill had been read Chairman Bragg stated that he was engaged in the preparation of a substitute for the original measure which he hoped to be and with a view of allowing comparison of the various measures and a combination of the best features of each the committee adjourned without voting on Cutcheon's propo stion. General Bragg indicated that his sub-stitute would provide for the erection of a government factory and the creation of a testing board, of which Lieutenant General Sharidan is to be a new box. Sheridan is to be a member.

He Ran Things For Awhile. PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—Officer John McIntere, of the Twenty-third district, came to the station house this afternoon mad with drink. On entering the roll room he made a dash for the pistol rack and before any one could get near him seized a pistol and began firing at the occupants. There was a general scurry for the doors, and in a few seconds he was left in full possession. Lieutenant Lyons who was in his private office, attempted to enter the roll room and capture McIntyre, when McIntyre commenced iring and the lieutenant was forced to retire. He opened the door wide enough to admit of his getting a good aim and brough the madman down and began firing at the occupants. There a good aim and brought the madman down with a shot. McIntyre was helpiessly wounded and was taken to the hospital.

Church Split. GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Feb. 19 .- | Correspondence of the BEE. |-A site for the soldiers' home is being actively hunted up, and several fine ones are being debated. Justice & Peterson have recently purchased real estate to the east of the city at $300 per acre, for speculative purposes. These lots are a mile from town, showing a rapid advance in real estate prices far out. Parties are inspect ing the city for a wholesale grocery house, and have about decided to locate here. An iron foundry is now considered among the probabilities of the near future, with a capital of $10,000 ital of $10,000.

The Baptist society in this city is likely to The Baptist soclety in this city is likely to divide on the question of who shall be the pastor for the next year. Rev. J. C. Read came here to velp Mr. Storms, the present pastor, in carrying on a series of revival meetings, which were very successful, but at the same time he set to work to ingratiate himself into the favors of the church membership and succeeded so far as to win to himself enough of the disaffected few and new members to cut out the presiding pastor. It seems, however, that most of the paying members, it not all of the praying ones, still adhere to the reverend Storms and will ask for a division of the church property and start a new society. There seems to be general regret that so untanely and disagreeable affairs should have come up at this particular time as the good effects of a successful revival are likely to be neutralized. Those seeding will secure a place of worship on the south side.
