J. W. & E. L. Squire's abstracts are giving good satisfaction.

There are about twenty-two cases which will come up in police court this

George McDonald and Charles Wilson were last night arrested for being drunk and obstructing the sidewalk.

Vote for Straub. He is in favor of improvements, has no pet schemes, has a record with no bad spots in it.

Ten special poticemen will be appointed this morning, two to act in each election district in the city to-day. Bluff City Typographical union, No. 203, held their regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the city building. V. Fletcher, of Cincinnati, has purchased twenty-five feet on Broadway, west of the Coy house, for $225 per front foot.

George Metcalf should receive the vote of every citizen in the Fourth ward wno wants the improvements to go on, and who wants to have straight business men handle the city affairs.

Judge Aylesworth will open police court at 9 o'clock this morning, as to-day is election day and there are a large numof cases, such as drunks, disturbances of the peace, etc., to come up.

William Brown yesterday left $7.60 at the city jail for being drunk. He will probably think it unnecessary to appear before the police judge this morning to be fined, as the $7.60 will answer as well.

J. C. Armstrong was begging for a drink of anti-prohibition on Main street late Saturday night, and as things looked a little suspicious he was lodged in jail to face Judge Aylesworth this morning. The city council meet in regular monthly session to-night, but the only business that is apt to be done is to attend to current business, such as paying the monthly debts, reading reports of officials George Nervy, who was on Friday night injured by a falling timber at the Union Pacific bridge and had his spine hurt, died yesterday morning about 1 o'clock at his home near the waterworks at the river. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Jeff Green, who was arrested Saturday night for disturbance of the peace, will cast a "dark" shadow before the judge of the police court this morning. Jeff wants his sire arrested for assault. When Jeff was arrested he had a hickory limb on which he was about to hang the old man's clothes had not Captain O'Brien put in an appearance.

A man who has been hanging around the city for some weeks past, who is of rather a weak mind, was yesterday taken in charge by the officers for awhile. He claimed he was six years old at first and later said he was sixty-five. He seems to live on what he can find to eat about the streets and gutters, and can be seen pick-ing up paper, rags, etc., and chewing Yesterday afternion from some un-known access, a bolt of dress goods in the show window of J. W. Dickey's store, No. 740 Broadway, caught fire, but by an early discovery the damage was confined to that particular bolt of goods. It is supposed the fire originated from a lighted eigar left there by some one concted with the store.

A boy who claims to be twenty-three years old and gives his name as Fred Stickelberger, was last night taken to the city jail on suspicion of being demented. He has quite a depression in his skull and claims to have received it by a kick from a horse. He says the girls are all after him and that he ran away from Buffalo, la., as his father used to beat

Yesterday morning a subscription paper was started in the Catholic church for the purpose of raising funds to complete the building of the new church. About $3,000 were raised, several persons subscribing $250 and $300 each, while O. P. Wickham, J. J. Brown and James Mitten subscribed $500 each. It is thought that a large amount of money will be raised in a short time, as many of the members who were quite well to do were not present to subscribe yesterday. Many outside the church will no day. Many outside the church will no doubt help it along.

Hon. B. K. Bruce, ex-senator from Mississippi, who is at the Ogden house en route to Sioux City to lecture there to-night, attended the Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning and upon his return to the Ogden house found an in-vitation from J. F. Smith of the B. & M. road of Omaha, to go over the river and take a drive about the city. Shortly afterward he received a telegram from G. W. Lininger extending a like invitation, but having accepted that of Mr. Smith he was compelled to decline the invitation of Mr. Lininger. He left on the 2:30 o'clock train and after a pleasant drive returned to the city. returned to the city.

Burglars Again Put in a Night. A gang of burglars and sneak thieves seem to be hanging about the city and almost every night manage to get a little plunder. Saturday night or early yesterday morning they made a raid on a number of houses, but fortunately secured only a small amount of money.

They visited the residence of Charles Baughn, No. 715 First avenue about 4 o'clock and effected an entrance through the front window. Mrs. Baughn was awakened by their noise but was afraid to awaken her husband until the burglars had stepped out onto the porch when Mr. Baughn got up, but in the darkness could not see them. He found his trousers on the front stoop, minus about $2.75 in silver which stoop, minus about $2.75 in silver which he had left in them. Fortunately, he soon after banking hours on Saturday, managed to deposit over $300, or that would have no doubt gone with the $2.75.

They entered the residence of Mr. B Josselyn, No. 717 First avenue, the next door to the residence of Mr. Baughn. The fellows clumsily tipped over a stand, which made a racket which aroused the family. The thieves made a hurried de-parture, getting nothing for their

The residence of Wells Cook, South Eighth street, was entered through the parlor window, and his pantaloons, which were yesterday morning found by the window, had the pockets turned inside out and $9.75 missing. The bolt on the window was forced in order to gain admittance. Thomas Metcalf when he awoke yesterday morning could not find his pants and sent his son to hunt them, believing at the time he had been robbed. They were found in the yard with a $20 gold piece and his pocket knife missing. The papers he had in his coat pocket, also atape line he had in his vest, were found in the

The residence of County Attorney D. B. Daily, No. 916 Second avenue, was at tacked, but the thieves were frightened away, probably by the colonel's dogs.

The last place of attack was the home of Horace Barbee about 5:15 o'clock, where, as in all the other cases, a window afforded an entrance. Mr. Barbee's trousers, which lay under his pillow, containing $75, were the property of the taken from their resting place and after-ward found outside the house, but the ward found outside the house, but the money was gone. As the thief was taking the pants Mrs. Barbee awoke and thinks that his face was within four or five inches of hers. She awoke her husband, who speedily dressed and within ten minutes had the police hunting the burglars; they went to all the depots and remained on watch but without success. A pocket knife was found at Barbee's which was knife was found at Barbee's which was afterwards claimed by Thomas Metcalf; which shows they visited Mr. Metcalf be-fore they paid their respects to the Barbee residence.

None of the above places are under the protection of the merchant's police and Captain Anderson says he is not responsible for anything that happens to any residence or business house which is not Booming Buildings. The Council Bluffs Building and Loan association is also feeling the effects of the boom. The annual meeting of stockholders takes place this evening at the county auditor's office. A new series, Class I, now begins and a large number of shares have already been taken. M. F. Rohrer, who has been connected with the association for years, has been working up the new series in his usual pushing way, and enthusiastically sets the mark at 3,000 shares for this class. He has already secured over 500 shares, and there is every assurance that the number additional will grow so rapidly as to make this class alone grow as large as all the others put together. A number of stockholders have urged him to put in some time in working this up, and the result has been wonderful. This associresult has been wonderful. This association can do more than any other in helping build up the city. By it a man of little means can get himself a home by paying his rent into his own pocket. Philadelphia and other cities have been almost built by such associations, and there seems no reason why Council Bluffs should not avail itself of like help. The association is no experiment, having been conducted here for years, and successfully so far as it went. years, and successfully so far as it went. The only trouble has been that it has not been used as much as it should have been. The experience shows that it pays the investors and at the same time proves the easiest way yet found for a man to get himself a home. Mr. Rohrer is a caudiknown here that it need hardly be said that he would make an excellent one. Rice & Raymond offer a bargain in two adjoining blocks of lots; the highest ground in the west part of the city. Three blocks from the Manawa street car line, three blocks from the I wentieth

Still in Jail. H. Rothery and W. Moss, of Omaha, who are accused of the theft of a diamond stud from Burhorn's jewelry store on Saturday afternoon, an account of which was given in the BEE yesterday,

After reading of their arrest in the BEE yesterday morning, Ed. Rothery, a brother of one of the men, and his boon companion, Jack Hanley, the noted Omaha pugilist, with Policeman Nightingale, of the Omaha force, came over on the 11 o'clock dummy to use their influence with the Council Bluffs authorities and see if they could not effect the release of Rothery and Moss. On the same train with them was Deputy Sheriff Lew Grebe who, it is stated, was very anxious that Rothery should be held, as he had been allowed to go look up bonds in a case in Omaha and had skipped over on this side of the river. After reading of their arrest in the BEE in a case in Omaha and had skipped over on this side of the river.

The trio who wished their friends released were unsuccessful, as Judge Aylesworth placed their bonds at $1,000 each, which was above the "pile" of the gentlemen from across the "Big Muddy," and they returned home, after several visits to the county jail, saying they would let them remain and stand trial this morning.

In all probability the witnesses in the case will go before the grand jury to-day,

Motor Railways. George W. Cooley, of Minneapolis, is at the Ogden house. He has represented the eighth ward of that city as alderman for the past four years, and has been chief engineer of the motor railway of that city since it started. Mr. Cooley is on his way to Omaha, Kansas City and San Francisco, and came to this city to see about the Manawa motor railway and confer with the company, which will hold a meeting to-day. He says that property immediately upon the line of the motor railway in Minneapolis is that which is the most valuable for residences, and that a motor railway is the least expen-sive as well as being the most consive as well as being the most convenient, especially for rapid transit, outside of the elevated railways. He thinks, after some inquiry, that a motor railway in this city will be a grand success, the same as it has been in every other city in which one is operated.

To-Day is Election Day. The city election takes place to-day. In the First and Second wards the voters cast their ballots for an alderman-atlarge, while in the Third and Fourth wards they will vote for an alderman to represent their respective wards as well as alderman at-large.
