CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, March 8,-[Special Telegram to the BEE. |-There was a wild wheat market on the Chicago board of trade to-day. The range of prices at the opening was %c above yesterday's closing, the initial figures being on a basis of 83%c for May and June. The market displayed signs of great strength. Steam was on and the fires under the boilers were evidently being fed with fresh fuel. May was the bulglest month and speculative inquiry for property deliverable in that month sent prices jumping upward at a rapid rate. From 83%c the market advanced sharply and strongly to 84%c, June lagging reluctantly behind and only going %c higher than the opening price. After the first half hour June sold at a discount from May ranging from %c to 134c. The crowd traded in both months wildly. There was a general belief that June must take its natural position with relation to May, but the difference varied constantly and May so often displayed an ungovernable propensity to forge ahead regardless of months or other markets that the scalping element became hopelessly bewildered. From 84c up there was free realizing of property bought at a lower range of values and several lines of wheat held by local operators were sold at a handsome profit. These sales were so large in the aggregate that the market settled back under pressure, May going to 83%c and June to 82%c. The decline was nearly as sharp as the advance and dealings were on a large scale both ways. The quotations last mentioned proved to be the bottom and during the last part of the long session general and extensive buying put prices up general and extensive buying put prices up once more, away beyond any price previously touched on the bugel. The sudden increase in the number of outside orders could not be accounted for until it became known that a very large proportion of the bucket shops throughout the country had refused to take trades in May wheat, thus debarring bucket shop traders from dealing in their accustomed way in the commodity in which they had faith. The multiplicity of small orders from the outside gave to the market a support it has not had for months and years, and the result was an astonishing bulke. May wheat climbed rapidly to 86c and June to 843c. The general public has not taken and the result was an astonishing bulge. May wheat climbed rapidly to 86c and June to 813 c. The general public has not taken hold of wheat for a long time. The effect of its touch to-day was electrical. There was a heavier realizing on the last bulge than on the first and the market settled back 3 c. resting excited and nervous at the adjournment of the long session, with 85 c for May and June quoted at 84 c. Nat Jones said: "Wheat is undoubtedly cornered; there isn't any doubt about it; they can't fool me. It is cornered by somebody with plenty of money." Howard Jackson said: "The biggest buyer in this market for weeks has been Armour. He has bought steadily and without regard to price." W. T. Baker said: "A week or two ago, when wheat dropped back to 84c, everybody thought it very cheap. Now, because it dropped to 78c, everybody thinks it a deal at 84c. I am a buil on wheat." Mr. Sayer, of C. W. Brega & Co., said: "The wheat is manipulated. There is no doubt about it. Liverpool, California and New York markets are manipulated as well as this. There is to be a squeeze. There is no doubt about it. Arthur Orr said: "I don't believe Armour has a bushel of wheat and I'm a bear on the market." Corn did not display especial excitement, and although the opening range was higher than yesterday's close, in sympathy with wheat, the tendency of prices inclined downward. May sold from 40 c on the opening to 393 c, and June from 41 c; to 403 c, with free selling against cribbed bed corn for country accounts. Provisions were generally quict, and but for a little spurt of trading in ribs and lard early in the day the market would have been designated as uniformly dull. No change of consequence occurred in pork. An important gain is uniformly dull. No change of consequence occurred in pork. An important gain is noted in the other products, however, and holders are tenacious in their views. holders are tenacious in their views. 240 p. m.—Wheat opened at 86% of for May at 2:30 o'clock. From this time there was a cessation of general inquiry followed by free realizing. There was a wild market until the bottom was struck at 83% c, when it became steadier, closing at 84% c. May corn sold down to 39% c, closing at 400.40% c. Pork afternoon May wheat stood at 84%c. CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, March 8 .- | Special Telegram to the BEE. |-CATTLE-Receipts this morning were over estimated. The general demand was not strong, there being light shipping orders as usual yesterday, and in some cases values were considered 5@10c lower on common to fair cattle. In other cases the most desirable offerings were considered more saleable at fully former rates. On the whole, however, there was no quotable change in prices. The market was certainly not active, though a large volume of business was done. FINANCIAL NEW YORK, March S .- | Special Telegram to the BRE. | STOCKS-The stock market opened very strong this morning, with Jersey Central and Western Union leading the advance. Jersey Central stock was made so scarce that it loaned at 14 of 1 per cent, or $50 per 100 shares over night, and the shorts were forced to cover, causing a sharp rally of 2 per cent. The talk in regard to Western Union was quite as bullish as it has been at any time. One report states that at the meeting of the Western Union executive committee a resolution recommending the retirement of outstanding serip would be adopted. Reading was bulled on the report that nego-tlations between the Scully-Corbin-Brice party and the Baltimore & Ohio railway company were progressing for the purchase of the Reading. Cotton seed oil was rather erratic, but advanced when it was found that Armour refused to go into the rival com-pany, as reported in New Jersey Saturday. It was generally believed that as soon as Armour had secured a favorable contract for his cotton seed oil he would turn up as an advocate of an American company. New England was rather quiet, but insiders were giving out points that it would be the next bull card. London prices were generally a shade higher and the feeling abroad on American securities was reported to be bullish. At noon the market was strong at about the top prices. Sales to noon were 121,000 shares. Western Union slumped off Prevailing Prices.
