ODDS AND ENDS.

Stray Leaves From a Reporter's Note Book.

There is at least one man in Omaha who is a firm believer in dreams and prophetics of what is to happen. He is a druggist in a down town block. He had built up a thriving trade in his particular locality and for sometime had been harrassed by attempts made by interesting parties to drive him from his stand. He at last managed to secure a two years' lease of the place. Before he had filed the lease he had a dream. It was to the effect that the property on which his store was located had been sold to an eastern syndicate which proposed to tear down all the buildings thereon and erect a large and handsome structure. He had failed to record his lease, and as it was consequently worthless legally speaking, he was, according to his dream, driven from his store along with the other occupants of the property.

The next morning bright and early he dispatched his man to the office of the county clerk, with instructions to record the lease at once. This was done. A few days ago he received notice that the property had been purchased by an eastern syndicate of capitalists. But now, thanks to the warning dream, he is prepared to refuse to remove his drug store or demand a heavy recompense for the surrender of his lease.

"Did you ever notice," said a sporting man the other night, "that the habit of carrying a tooth brush in the vest pocket is one practiced almost exclusively by gamblers? All of the high-toned sports carry a tooth brush about with them. Why this is so, I'm sure I don't know.

"I knew one gambler—a fellow in Indianapolis"—he added, "who had this habit I refer to. For years he carried in his upper left-hand vest pocket, a large, heavy bristled tooth brush. It never seemed to wear out. The owner insisted that it was his "Mascotte"—that without it his luck would fail him. The boys used to laugh at this superstition and one time "put up a job" on him. They managed to substitute another tooth brush for the one carried by the gambler, without his detecting them. Strangely enough the fellows luck did go, back on him. He played on for half an hour, losing steadily. Finally he detected the trick that had been played upon him and indignantly demanded the return of his tooth-brush. He got it back, went on playing, and when he quit playing at 4 o'clock the next morning was a winner by some $450."

"Whisky Jack" says that the legend explaining the manner in which he got his nickname is partially untrue. He says he did take a mammoth drink of whisky at one time on a wager, but that the dose was only one pint. He does not want credit for more than he can do.

Colonel Chase returned yesterday from a visit to Chase county, Nebraska, on the Colorado border. He speaks in terms of the highest praise of that region and says that since the cattle men left it two years ago, it has been rapidly filling up with first class settlers. The colonel brought home some fine specimens of buffalo horns, some of which show that they had been bleaching in the sun and storms many years. Now that the B. & M., and other railroads are being built through there, would it not be well for Omaha merchants to look that way for an increased trade?

"Kansas City may be a greater town than Omaha," said Officer Tom Peironet last night, "but one wouldn't judge so from the amount of traffic on its streets. I was in Kansas City three days last week. During these entire three days I did not see as much traffic on the main thoroughfare of that city as I can see on Sixteenth street any one day of the week."

Police Pointers.

G. H. Nichols and James Parquit, two old time crooks, were arraigned before Judge Stenberg yesterday morning as suspicious characters. They had been arrested last night by Officers Ormsby and Mostyn, who found them working the three-shall confidence game on numerous verdant victims about town. Both of them have a hard record in Council Bluffs, where they are well known. Each man was given forty-five days in the county jail. Fred Smith, a vagrant, was convicted and sent up for fifteen days. Several drunks were disposed of, with the usual fine.

A warrant was sworn out for the arrest of H. A. Day, an agent of Geo. S. Meck, who sells articles on monthly payments. Meck accuses Day of embezzling a number of articles valued at $54.

The Year 1887.

During the year 1887 the people of this city will see the greatest growth it has ever had. This is acknowleged by all good judges. Property in and about the city will advance in price so rapidly that hundreds of fortunes will be made in a few months. The new packing houses, factories, etc., locating in South Omaha will make that a business part of the city and as a consequence property in that locality will be much sought after. Now, this week, is the time to buy this property. We are sole agents for South Omaha proper and an investment made there now will return the purchaser his money and 100 to 200 per cent added to it. Anybody with a small amount of money can buy a lot in South Omaha.

That Tired Feeling

Afflicts nearly every one in the spring. The system having become accustomed to the bracing air of winter, is weakened by the warm days of the changing season, and rapidly yields to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It tones and builds up every part of the body, and also expels all impurities from the blood. Try it this season.

Mayne Place.

We have a few lots left in Mayne Place south of Leavenworth street. These lots are being sold at less figures and on easier terms than lots in Hanscom Place, while they are the same distance from the city.

Rail Notes.

The latest rumor about Union Pacific headquarters is to the effect that General Dodge, of Council Bluffs, is to succeed Charles Francis Adams as president of the Union Pacific railway. The officers, however, declare that they know nothing about the matter.

The following circular has been issued by the traffic department of the Union Pacific railway:

"To all concerned: You are hereby notified that a compliance with the interstate commerce law, which becomes effective April 5, 1887, demands various and important changes in the tariffs o this company, affecting inter-state business.

"All existing tariffs and special rates (rebates or otherwise) now in effect or that may be in effect between stations on the lines operated by this company, except those applying to local business between points in the same state, prior to April 5, 1887, will be void on and after that date.

"New tariffs, published in comformity with the requirements of the inter-state law, will be issued as early as practicable."

Hermann as a Speculator.

Professor Hermann, who appeared at Boyd's opera house last night in his wonderful performance, is a great speculator in real estate. He has invested in Kansas City and Minneapolis, and will no doubt buy some Omaha dirt before he leaves the city. He invested $20,000 in real estate about a mile from Los Angeles, Cal., during his engagement there a few weeks ago. He is negotiating for six acres more adjoining his property, for which he expects to pay about forty thousand dollars. The professor is infatuated with Los Angeles and its picturesque surroundings, and says he would like to live there, but that his real estate investments are merely a speculation, as he expects to double his money within a year.

DANGEROUS TO DUCKS.

Mysterious Meanderings of Hunters Near Valley.

The spring hunting season has received a startling inauguration by the success of a party of Omaha gunners who have, so to speak, made the feathers fly. It consisted of Harry Johannes, Charles Fitchett, Al. Howk and Charles Lane. They have just returned from the lakes near Valley and the stories they tell are more formidable and numerous than the fowl they captured. These gentlemen were the guests of John Zies, a prominent pioneer farmer in the western part of Douglas county. From the reports they give of their treatment by Mr. Zies it is evident that these gunners went out more for the indoor pleasures that would be afforded than finding game on the borders of the lake. Seventy-seven is the number of ducks said to have been shot. The fact that a resident of Valley sold seventy-seven ducks on the same day the party left for Omaha is rather significant. Then again the stories of the individual members of the party are very conflicting. Each of the quartette, in his own words did all the shooting while the others were asleep and, inasmuch as the matter has assumed the character of wagers being made, a notary public has been sent out to Valley to see if Mr. Zies, the kind hearted host did not do all the shooting himself while the Omahans were dancing and otherwise enjoying themselves in his hospitable house. In fact one gentleman in town says the party never left Omaha at all but only made this spring meeting memorable by calling up a previous season's fun. This is easily contradicted, however, by the fact that Mr. Zies had to come to Valley for supplies the day the party left.

Increasing the Valuation.

The assessors for the various city precincts held a meeting at the city clerk's office yesterday afternoon and decided to increase the valuation of city property for 1887 20 per cent. over that used as a basis for taxation last year.

Fixing For Further Improvements.

SEWARD, Neb., March 15.—[Correspondence of the BEE.]—At the meeting held Saturday evening to boom the town the committee on waterworks reported at length showing the probable cost for plant to be about $20,000 and annual expense about $3,000, inclusive of interest on bonds at 6 per cent. A committee was appointed to circulate a petition asking the city council to submit a proposition to vote bonds for water supply. There seems to be a general feeling that Seward needs better fire protection and the matter will no doubt take a definite shape ere long. The committee on railroads were not ready to make any report, but the chairman seems to have some information that he was not yet ready to make public. The committee on the extension of the city limits recommended a very large area of territory to be added to the city of Seward and the readers of the BEE need not be surprised if the same committee do not at the next meeting recommend that our limits be extended so as to include the village of Omaha. A gentleman from the east has been here looking up the prospect of establishing a flax mill, but nothing definite is known of the project. The B. & M. railroad has a force of men here to move their track and depot nearer town, which will be a great convenience to our people.

Brevities.

Regan Bros. have a force of men clearing away the dirt preparatory to beginning work on the city hall foundation.

Lieutenant Colonel Collins, who has just been given a rank of promotion in the Seventeenth infantry, is in the city on his way home from Arizona to his new post at Fort Laramie, Wyo. He made a call at army headquarters yesterday.

There was a large sale of seats yesterday for Lotta's engagement at Boyd's Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Lotta seems never to tire in adding to her bank account, which, by the way, is larger than that of any other woman in the country who has grown rich by her own efforts. She will be seen in "Natouche," "Little Nell," "Mussette" and "Little Detective."

J. E. Smiley commenced a suit in the district court yesterday to recover possession of a piece of land south of the city, which is now held by William J. Connell. Smiley claims to have disposed of it to the Union Stock Yards company years ago, with the understanding that he was to receive an equivalent in stock. He gave a deed without getting the stock and has never received it since. Meanwhile the deed drifted into the hands of William J. Connell, who has since held it. Smiley wants this deed cancelled.

Personal Paragraphs.

Mrs. C. M. Jackman, of New York city, arrived here yesterday morning with the intention of locating as a teacher of music.

Mr. and Mrs. Orson Rumel, Miss Alice Rumel and Mr. Harry Margetts arrived in the city Tuesday from Salt Lake to attend the Sylvester-Rumel nuptials this evening.

Mrs. General O. O. Howard and daughter Bessie, arrived in the city yesterday evening from San Francisco, Cal. Mrs. Howard will stop a few days to visit her son, C. O. Howard,

Mr. Sam Collins has resigned his position in the accountant's office in the Union Pacific headquarters to go into the service of the Missouri Pacific at Nebraska City. He leaves for the latter city to-day.

A Prayer Sent Up For Reporters.

St. Paul Letter in Chicago Times: In the senate this morning Chaplain Allison startled that august body by closing his prayer with a word for the newspaper men. He said: And now, dear Lord, bless the reporters, whose nimble pens catch every word almost before it is uttered. Like Thyself, they are omnipresent and almost omnipotent. If we take the wings of the morning and fly to the uttermost parts of the world they are there. They meet us in the jungles of Africa; they waylay us in the solitary canyons of Colorado, and when at length we find the latitude of the magnetic pole behold they are there. May their light and goodness be equal to their power, and when the general assembly of heaven convenes let no reporter be excluded. Amen!"

Affairs at Anamosa.

ANAMOSA, Ia., March 15.—[Correspondence of the BEE.]—It seems as though a general charge had been ordered by the powers that be on the Iowa postmasters, and more especially in Jones county. Thus far this county has rested quiet and serene from all the postoffice blizzards, but of late a mania seems to have struck the faithful and scarcely a democrat can be encountered upon the street who is not a candidate or aspirant for posterial favors. At Monticello, twelve miles east of this city, where all has been quiet, is now the scene of commotion. A few weeks ago a secret petition was gotten up and and forwarded to Washington urging the appointment of a certain candidate. This fact, when it became known, caused considerable indignation. So another candidate got up a petition, one for democratic and one for republican signatures, and sent to the "great reformer." So the result is still a great mystery, and whichever the president decides he will make trouble in his own household. The same state of affairs exists in Anamosa, and the republican incumbents are quite liable to remain in charge indefinitely. Nate Rainsbarger, who was convicted of murder and sent to the penitentiary at this city for life from Marshall county, was last week released and returned to the county from which he was sent for new trial. Frank, his brother, who was recently convicted of the same crime, arrived at the prison Saturday to begin the service of a life sentence. He will handle stone for the time being.

It is generally understood here that Judge Giffen, now presiding over the district court, will transfer a certain liquor suit to the United States court on the strength of Judge Brewer's recent decision. Congressman-elect Hayes appears for the defendant.
