J. W. E. L. Squires' abstracts are giving good satisfaction.

The move for lighting the streets with electricity should be kept going. Pearl street has set a noble example. Let others follow.

Mrs. Mitchell, the lady in charge of the trimming department of H. Friedman's millinery establishment, leaves to-day for the east after spring and summer styles. Upon her return Mr. Friedman will have his annual spring opening.

Two unkind riding bores have for a second or two past days annoyed the residents in the vicinity of the Congressional church. This season opens with them on the grounds as usual, destroying foliage and parking. They should be pounded this year, just for a change.

E. Peterson and George Roper were fined the other day for being drunk, but were allowed to go out and get the money. They failed to return as they promised, and after hanging about Omaha for a few days sneaked back to this side, expecting that the matter had been forgotten or forgiven. They were picked on being picked up and placed in the cooler.

One article was yesterday busy driving around in a buck picking up the road too drunk to walk. He found one fellow lying at the transfer waiting for the new bridge to be done so he could walk over to Omaha. The fellow was sleeping so soundly that it was thought to be cruel to wake him up enough to have him tell his name. He will disclose it to the judge this morning.

The high price of gas in Council Bluffs is one of the evils which should be remedied some way. It does not appear clear why the price of gas here should be so much greater than in other cities, unless it is that the citizens will pay it, and the company naturally will take it. If the company would reduce its rates to somewhere near what other cities get gas for, it would be an act of partial amortization for the prices charged in the past.

The discussion is opening up in regard to the legality of the recent school election. It was rather a peculiar election in regard to the registry at least, or rather the lack of registry. Under the new law a registry is necessary for all elections, but the superintendent of public instruction gave it as his opinion that the law did not have any reference to school elections. The discussion is now opened up again, only more so, there being a different registry book used as reference simply.

It seems that if any one could enough about the result to make a fight the courts the chances are good for having the election pronounced as of no account.

There was some uneasiness yesterday about the new aldermen, or at least two of them, Lucius Wells, and George Metcalf. Mr. Wells is in Moline, and Mr. Metcalf in Colfax. It was time for them to identify and unless they should appear to day it was feared that they would be disqualifed from serving. At the event a new election would have to be held. Telegrams were sent to them, and they will probably appear and swear in. The only chance of avoiding a new election is in the fact that the clerk notified them by mail of their election, and if this was not a legal notice, he can notify them again, and thus give them an extension of time. They will have to swear in before Monday as it now appears. The new council is to meet Monday night.

New goods will arrive to-day at Harkness Brothers.

The City's Wallet.

The city officials are putting the finishing touches upon their annual reports.

The showing on the financial side is an excellent one. It indicates that there are $15,000 less city warrants outstanding than a year ago. The city council has kept its expenses $5,000 under the limit, instead of overrunning as so many previous councils have. The fire department has cost less than $8,000, whereas in previous years it has run two or three thousand dollars more than the amount. Streets and alleys have cost about $7,000, about one half of what was expended the previous year. The economy of the council has had an excellent effect upon the city warrants, which have now reached ninety cents on the dollar, and rapidly going up towards par. The city is to be congratulated on the financial showing for the year.

THE INJUNCTIONS ORDERED.

Supersedes Bonds Filed and the Clerk Declines to Issue the Writs.

The Old City Council Holds Another Session - Dr. Pinney's Blooded Horses - The City's Finances Hopeful and Healthy.

The City Parliament.

A special meeting of the city council was held yesterday afternoon, at which all were present.

A number of bills were allowed. Judge Aylesworth's written acceptance of the proposition to certify and compile the city ordinances was received.

Property owners on Avenue F petitioned for establishing grade on that street. Referred.

A settlement was made with C. R. Mitchell, and $500 of bonds granted him.

An ordinance was adopted making it the duty of city officials to make a full report of accidents on the streets, in which the city may be liable to be a party in any possible suit. Heretofore suits have been started, and by the time of trial the city could not find witnesses or evidence. The purpose of this ordinance is to secure in such cases the needed record of details and witnesses.

The money for the extension of Fifth avenue was placed in the hands of the sheriff. It is thought that its ensures the opening of this thoroughfare, which is an important change.

The council then adjourned.

THE INJUNCTIONS ORDERED.

Two Dozen Bars Ordered Closed But Supersedes Bonds Filed.

Judge Thornell has ordered the issuance of injunction writs against twenty-four of the Council Bluffs saloons, including the bars of the leading hotels. This action is by no means a surprise as it was conceded that Judge Thornell was inclined that way. Yesterday Attorney Jacob Sims, who represents the prohibition alliance, applied to Clerk Shea, presenting the order to have the writs issued. Mr. Shea declined to issue the writs, as he said the supersedes bonds had been filed, the defendant's attorney appealing to the supreme court. George M. Sims, a written statement to that effect. It seems that the saloon men anticipated that the judge would grant the injunctions and had prepared bonds, so as to take an appeal. The policy evidently is to keep the places open until the matter could be decided upon by the supreme court, which will take considerable time. During the delay the saloons can run as usual.

Whether this delay can be had remains to be seen. This seems to be a question whether the clerk of the circuit court decline to issue the writs after the judge has ordered them issued. If not, the clerk may find that he has overstepped the bounds in standing as a barrier between the court and the saloons.

There is also a question as to whether the filing of supersedes bonds will enable the saloons to run while the appeal is being taken. It is not unlikely that an attempt will be made to have the keepers removed from the court of appeals for contempt if it is found that they failed to file a bond for the injunction. It will make the business altogether too risky. The saloon men seem confident that they can go on with their business while the cases are slowly dragging their way to the supreme court. If so, the ordering of the writs of injunction will have little practical effect upon the city for some months at least. Judge Thornell is expected here on Saturday of next week and he will probably take some action at that time. The regular order the clerk peremptorily to issue the writs, or he may have cases brought before him for contempt.

There was some uneasiness yesterday about the new aldermen, or at least two of them, Lucius Wells, and George Metcalf. Mr. Wells is in Moline, and Mr. Metcalf in Colfax. It was time for them to identify and unless they should appear to day it was feared that they would be disqualifed from serving. At the event a new election would have to be held. The Department Commander.

Pottawattamie county presents as a candidate for the position of department commander of Iowa G. A. R. the name of E. A. Consigny, of Avoca. His name is receiving many words of hearty commendation. The Cedar Rapids Republican in a recent editorial thus endorses him:

We take pleasure in adding to the list of candidates already mentioned in the departmental commandant of Iowa G. A. R. the name of E. A. Consigny, of Avoca, commander of U. S. Grant Post, No. 123, of that city, and brother of our well known citizen, Mr. George Consigny. The following letter tells better of his services and character than we can do. We adjudge him as a soldier, for he measures him by the severe tests of camp and battle:

Editor Republican:

I am most pleased in calling the attention of Grand Army men to E. A. Consigny, commander of the U. S. Grant post of the G. A. R. at Avoca, in whose behalf we are prominently as a candidate for department commander of Iowa G. A. R. He has served in the First Vermont regiment, and was in the death of Lee's army surrendered at Appomattox court house. He was a gallant officer and an obedient soldier, and did as far as regular service as any one in the regiment. The grand army of the country confers honor on any one more deserving, or one who would serve them more acceptably. In honoring him we honor ourselves. Yours,

W. G. CUMMINGS,

Late Colonel First Vermont Cavalry.

Colonel Randis, in, March 1, 1887.

Mr. Consigny, whom of Colonel Cummings writes these strong words, is a prominent businessman of Avoca, is about forty years old, and is a member of the Ninth congressional district in the last session of the public convention, and is prominent and popular in all gatherings of war veterans.

He was one of three brothers who enlisted in the First Vermont regiment, though he was a private at first, and was appointed a captain by his cousin, Colonel Barney. He rapidly rose from the ranks, having been promoted from a recruit to a full captain in the last engagement made by the cavalry of the Army of the Potomac and was, as Colonel Cummings says, "in the death" of the southern confederacy. He was a brave soldier and bears the scars of his service on his person, and is an honest, upright, Christian man, who will grace the position of department commander. Several posts have already endorsed his candidacy.

Blooded Horses.

Dr. C. Pinney, who has a fine stock farm about three miles from the city, is a great lover of horseflesh and fine stock. He has lately been making some purchases in this line, and now has about twenty blooded horses, some of which are very finely bred. Some fine brood mares are also owned by him, and his stable is now one of the best in this part of the country.

Among them is a fine brown mare, standard and registered as Francis W. She is sixteen hands high. She is by Souvenir (449) by Enchanter (408) the sire of Valiant who has a record of 2:284 and of Ensign, 2:284. Her dam is Esthaline Strader by Strader (673) sire of Will Calendar, who was formerly known as Jack Peregoy, and whose record is 2:214. She is in foal by Captain Wilkes.

Lucy Nutwood is another. She is by Nutwood Chief, and he is by Nutwood, who sold last fall for $30,000. Her dam is Daisy H., a fine driving mare, who has never been trained for the track.

Untie is a promising mare by Hooso, he by Administrator. Her dam is Dixie Copperbottom. She is four years old this spring. A year ago she trotted a mile in three minutes, and is speedy indeed. Tony Glass is also by Hooso, and her dam is a splendid roadster.

Young Lucy is another. She is by Laclede (1805), son of Happy Medium. Her dam is Daisy H., she by Gilford Morgan. Lulu Sue is a promising filly, standard bred and registered, sired by Souvenir, he by Enchanter, she by Administrator and he by Rynd's Hambletonian. The dam is Iowa Maid, she by Robert Bonner.

Royal Pascha, a young stallion, and one of the handsomest seen here. He is standard, and registered in Wallace Vol. 6. He is by Souvenir, and is a full brother to Lucy. He will be the same years old as Lucy.

Dr. Pinney has lately bought a fine stallion, Young Middleton, who was imported from England in 1882, by J. H. Truman, of Illinois. His stock has brought high prices. The agent for the king of Italy purchased a four-year-old gelding of him for $1,800. Young Middleton is by the thoroughbred race horse Aerobat, the noted trotter Congress by Velox, and grand dam Lady Congress, supposed to be fastest trotter England has ever produced, she by Flying Dutchman and he by Ray Middleton.

The doctor's wife, who is equally well drawn, is laying the foundation for a fine stable of horses as can be found anywhere, and takes great pride as well as pleasure in them.

MACHY Married.

Justice Barnett yesterday went over to Omaha to testify in the case against Hugh Thompson for bigamy. Thompson was married in Justice Barnett's office on a Sunday a couple of months ago to Anna Mach and claimed to be from Creston, while his wife, No. 2 was from Omaha. For over a month the marriage would become a secret, and the judge cleared the room, then being a lawyer, representing a lawyer and a retail grocer who expected to witness the ceremony. After they retired the ceremony was performed in the presence of two witnesses who had come from Omaha to witness the proceedings. It was a bitter cold Sunday and as the wedding party missed the 3 o'clock train the groom hired a hack and drove over the ice. The driver being a stranger in this city lost his way and did not find the justice's office until nearly 5 o'clock. After the ceremony was performed Thompson purchased a bottle of wine to warm up the party, who had become chilled by their long tedious drive, and then returned to Omaha. Yesterday Thompson claimed he had not married the Mach woman, when being tried before Justice Anderson, but when he was confronted with the man who married him he wilted and waived an examination, being placed under $500 bonds. Mrs. Thompson No. 1 was also in attendance at the trial.

A Charming Actress.

There was a small audience at the opera house last evening to greet Miss Lillian Lewis. Those who were in attendance were so greatly pleased, however, that there will doubtless be full houses this afternoon and evening. She arrived last night from Cora in "The Crocus." It is no light task to assume a role which Clara Morris has made so famous, but Miss Lewis carried the difficult part with a wonderful showing of ability. In the intensely emotional passages she was really above criticism, thrilling the audience and calling forth well merited applause. Her support was excellent. Mr. Walter Owen as George, and Clifford Dempsey as Victor Mazilier, were especially worthy of mention. The other members of the company averaged well.

This afternoon "Frou Frou" is to be presented, and to-night "Leah, the Forsaken."

Those who miss seeing Miss Lewis will miss much. She certainly merits the many words of praise given her by the coldest dramatic critics.

On complaint of his brother yesterday a man named North was arrested for abusing his wife.

The Cost of Jubilee.

London World: The public celebration of the jubilee will involve a considerable outlay, for which a parliamentary vote will be necessary. The coronation of the queen cost about £40,000, against £50,000 for William IV., and £40,000 for George IV., and in many respects the coronation forms a precedent for the jubilee. I hear that there will be a special meeting of the privy council on the 23rd inst., which will be held at Windsor castle on Buckingham palace, when the proposed arrangements and estimates will be submitted. To this council will be summoned the prince of Wales, the duke of Cambridge, the cabinet, the great officers of the household, the archbishops of Canterbury and York, the bishop of London, Mr. Gladstone, Lord Hartington, Lord Granville, and Lord Sidney. The details will subsequently be settled by a committee selected from the above persons, with one or two additional persons, whom whom all the work will be done. The rough estimate for the Thanksgiving service in Westminster Abbey is £12,000. A magnificent display of fireworks from Hyde Park in the evening is a good notion, but the idea of "throwing open" the theaters to the public
