Some Sensational Injunctions Rumored As Liable to Appear T-oday.

The City Marshal Tells What He Knows About Drunks .- The Levee and Its Protection-A Circling Runaway.

Mixed Drinks.

The situation in regard to the saloon injunction cases is expected to reach a crisis to-day. Judge Thornell is expected to be here, and there are a variety of conjectures as to what action he will take. He ordered the issuance of writs of injunction some time ago, but the defendants filed supersedeas bonds, and the clerk declined to issue the writs. The question arises whether these supersedeas bonds stay the issuance of the writs or not. It is a question on which men differ. How Judge Thornell will look upon W. H. Somers has joined the throng that now ride on bicycles, and rides as handsome a orse as any.

The United Brethren are talking of selling their "sun-flower" church, and building a new one in Streetsville. predicted by others that Judge Thornell will do nothing about it, as the same question has been submitted to the supreme court from another county, and that he will wait to hear the voice of the higher court. Some have predicted that he will bring up the clerk at once for contempt, but it is not thought this is probable or practicable, as the clerk has > appear that the clerk was wrong in de-clining to issue the writs, it does not necessarily follow that he acted wilfully or did more than err, which is but human The sensational feature of the complication arose yesterday in the form of a report that Judge Aylesworth, of the perior court, had issued injunctions restraining the clerk from issuing the injunctions, and the sheriff from serving them on the saloens. Judge Aylesworth was at Colfax, and no information could be easily obtained from that source, either confirming or contradicting the report. The clerk of his court declared he knew nothing of any such writs. No such papers had been served upon the clerk of the district court or the sheriff up to a late hour yesterday afternoon, and they claimed to know nothing about them. It is a fact that there were blanks prepared for the issuance of such writs, shown no intent to be contemptuous to the court. Even if it should afterwards and perhaps this gave rise to the report that the writs were already out.

The attorneys for the defendants have shown themselves to be always ready for every emergency, and it is not improbable that they are preparing to meet another one. It is not unlikely that if Judge Thornell concludes to order the Judge Thornell concludes to order the clerk to issue the writs forthwith, these rumored injunctions may come to the front, and the clerk will then find himself in a condition of perplexity. If he refuses them Judge Thornell may get after him for contempt, If he issues them Judge Aylesworth may do likewise. It seems that the drinks are getting badly mixed. mixed.
The attorneys for the defense, Wright

Baldwin & Haldene have certainly made the strongest and sharpest fight on these questions of any attorneys in the state. In no city in Iowa have the saloons been more ably defended, and there has in no city been so successful a fight in the courts against the enforcement of the prohibitory law. These attorneys have been ready for every new change of the situation, and they have raised questions and forced issues which had not been thought of elsewhere. There seems to be a general feeling that at some indefinite time in the future the open saloon will be unknown in Council Bluffs, but the saloon men cannot complain here of any lack of ability and zeal in their attor-While in other cities the saloons have had to go the fight here has been kept up, and the saloons in the meantime running as though no prohibitory law had passed. The ingenuity and foresight with which these attorneys have prepared to meet previous emergencies has caused their clients to have present confidence that they will pull have great confidence that they will pull through the crisis which now seems so near. Attorney Sims, who has been conducting the cases for the prosecution, has found his hands full. He is an able attorney, and has sharply improved the advantages of his side of the case, but he has had no weaklings to contend with. In no part of Iowa has the contest over these questions been sharper or more earnest, If Judge Aylesworth issues the reported injunctions, it will make a fresh issue between the district and superior court. What such a side skirmish would result in is difficult to determine, and

The Levee All Right.

While other cities along the Missouri are either fighting high water, suffering from it, or scared nearly to death because they see it coming, Council Bluffs is smiling complacently, confident that the treacherous Missouri will not do any damage here. Contractor Moore, who is making the dirt fly on the levee, says that the water would have to be four feet higher than in the great flood of 1881 before it could get over the levee in its present condition even, and such an event is not deemed at all possible. The work is being pushed along rapidly, and while the river is raising rapidly there is little apprehensions felt even among the nervous ones who always see trouble ahead. With the Missouri all things are possible, it seems, but the confidence of the city is strong. If as is expected, the prescity is strong. If as is expected, the present protection proves ample then there will be an end forever to the gloomy predictions heard every spring as to what the river may do. In case the present work is not sufficient no damage can be done and before another spring the work can be enlarged and made more permanent, thus giving complete assurance for all time. Council Bluffs is to be congratulated, after all, for being among the cities which have to look out for high water. Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago and other fairly prosperous cities have worse troubles yearly than this city ever had, so Council Bluffs is in good company, even looking at things at their worst.

The Marshal's Figures.

The city marshal's report for the past year has been made. It shows that there were 1,517 arrests, of which 497 were for drunkenness, 219 for disturbing the peace, 50 for larceny, 27 for askault, 26 or assault and battery, 13 for assault with intent to kill, 18 for carrying concealed weapons, 16 fugitives from justice, for threatening to bill .

THE DAILY BEE. MUCH TALK BETWEEN DRINKS bery, 44 on suspicion and for vagrancy 431. The remainder were for minor of fenses. In regard to sex there were arrested 1,439 males and only 78 females. The occupation of the males covered nearly all the employments known to a civilized community, from nothing at all to an honest granger. Three hundred and forty-two gave their occupation as laborers, 94 as farmers, 48 as carpenters, 89 as railroa 1 men, 2 civil engineers, 71 as teamsters, 2 insurance agents, 16 printers, 18 cigarmakers, 42 cooks, 20 as teamsters, 2 insurance agents, printers, 18 cigarmakers, 42 cooks, printers, 18 cigarmakers, 42 cooks, 20 hotel waiters, 17 horse traders, 3 real estate men, 10 merchants, 17 moulders, 5 musicians, 1 lone fisherman, and 73 considered themselves too worthless to have an occupation. Among the females were 17 housewives, 13 washwomen, 25 scamstresses and 2 school girls. The nationality of the parties arrested was: American 825, Irish 260, German 148, African 99, English 50, Swede 35, Dane 26, French 18, Canadian 14, Scotch 13, Norwegian 6, Israelite 5, Italian 6, Swiss 2, Welsh 4, Polander 1, Hungarian 1, Hollander 1, Cuban 1, Bohemian 1, and Turk 1. The total number of lodgers accommodated was 519, and the number of head of stock was 519, and the number of head of stock impounded was 176.

The marshal recommends the improv ing of the sewerage system of the city jail, the putting down of a new floor and the purchase of iron bunks for the use of the prisoners. He also recommends that the patrol wagon be put into immediate service in connection with the new police alarm, as he is of the opinion that the two should be combined to work successfully. To more fully show the advisability of this, he submits the report of P. Crowley, chief of police of San Francisco, in which a strong case is made in favor of the mar-shal's recommendations.

Running in Circles. The most sensational and yet not serious runaway of the the season occurred on Broadway yesterday. Tom Jackson was driving the Boston Tea company's delivery team, the wagon being loaded with groceries, when an axle broke, letting down the front of the wagon, causing Jackson to tumble off his seat and frightening the horses. The wheels passed over the young man, hurting him some, and he was also dragged a short distance, but was soon able to get up and walk to a doctor's office. The frighteued horses made a circle about the fountain, dashing upon the sidewalk in front of Bechtele's hotel, and narrowly escapof Beentele's note, and narrowly escaping dashing through the plate windows. They circled about again and came up on the opposite sidewalk, giving an equally close call to the front of a restaurant. A third circle was described by the wild steeds and they landed in front of Cockrell's store, the only thing saving the large plate windows being the slip-ping and falling of one of the horses on the stone sidewalk. The wagon thus whipped about was a sad wreck, but the mystery remains unsolved as to how all the jeopardized store fronts escaped being smashed. Garden hose 8c to 22c per foot at New York Plumbing company. Every foot guaranteed.

The City's Finances.

The showing of the city's financial condition, in detail, has been prepared by the city auditor, except so far as the city treasurer's report is concerned. The city treasurer has been ill, and hence a little more time was given him to complete his report and check up with the auditor. The whole statement will be ready by the first meeting of the council in April. Enough is known of it to show that the bity's expenses for the past year amount to only $57,000. The city auditor has been looking over the financial condition of other cities in this part of the world, and comparing them with Council Bluffs. He expresses himself as delighted at the result of the comparison, it show-ing that Council Bluffs has reasons for congratulation on its condition
