Coming Into Omaha.

Well defined rumor has it that the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road is projecting the immediate construction of its line into this city. It is stated that the road will soon ask the city of Omaha for a subsidy and that if its overtures are favorably received it will commence work at once.

Mrs. C. H. Prescott, wife of General Manager and Vice-President Prescott, of the Oregon Railway and Navigation company, is at the union depot in her special dining and palace cars. She is en route to New York with her daughter aged thirteen. They remain in New York for a year. They are to-day the guests of S. T. Smith, general superintendent of the Union Pacific, and leave Omaha to-night by the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad.

MORE SWITCH ENGINES. The Union Pacific's increased traffic has necessitated an increase in the facilities for handling cars in the yards. Ten new switch engines have recently been put to work in the upper and lower yards.

NEW FREIGHT TARIFFS. The Union Pacific freight department has six men constantly employed on the new freight tariffs, which have to be issued in accordance with the interstate commerce law. The work involves a vast amount of details and it is hardly probable that the new tariffs will be out before April 15.

A RECENT APPOINTMENT. A circular has been received in this city announcing the appointment of Mr. Burton Johnson as second assistant general freight agent of the Chicago & Northwestern.

NOTES. Railway officials say that they apprehend no further danger from the river. Pat Humphries, the well-known freight agent of the New York, Lake Erie & Western, is in the city.

FALLING WATERS.

The Missouri's Impetuosity Dropping into Its Legitimate Channel. The water in the Missouri has fallen considerably since Tuesday. The Union Pacific railway is ballasting its track and straightening out its sinuosity. South of the waterworks a large box-car is partially submerged, and is nearly tilted over. The engine and house of the Grant King and Stone Paving company are in the water, as is their car. William Davis, whose house near the bridge was moved smoothly to Kansas City on Sunday, has an idea that Omaha will pay him and has notified the authorities. Ira Jones trundled along the track with an iron bed of bedding on his back, a strong comforter enclosing all. He waded into the mud to get into his house. The crowds of poor people who are out on the track in the water picking up wood and other articles are still industrious. It will take two weeks before the water subsides fully, it is claimed, and then will follow a season of mud, and if the sun shines warm, bad odors may be expected in the neighborhood.

CHARGED WITH CRIME.

A Man Registers Under an Assumed Name and Passes a Bad Draft.

W. J. Baker is the name of a partly suave gentleman who came to Omaha about two weeks ago. He registered under an assumed name at the Cozens hotel, at which hostelry he has since been stopping. He announced that he represented a big starch factory in the east, whose goods he desired to sell in Omaha. Mr. Baker ran up a big bill and a few days ago pretended to settle by giving Mr. Law, the proprietor, a draft for $50. This was accepted by that gentleman who returned to Baker a small balance in cash. The draft has since been discovered to be worthless, having been returned protested.

HELD THE HORSE.

Contractor Corby Performs a Deed Which Averts an Accident. J. O. Corby, the well known contractor of this city, performed an act Tuesday which averted a serious catastrophe, at the same time that it brought one upon himself. During the parade of the Knights of Pythias band and lodges, a horse attached to a telephone pole in front of Drexel & Maul's, on Farnam street, became frightened and started to dash up the street, which was thronged with vehicles and people. Some one would surely have been hurt had not Mr. Corby, who was standing by a flag on an arm around the neck of the frightened animal and with the other held on to the telephone pole. The horse did his best to break loose from the grasp of Mr. Corby, but that gentleman was there to stay. He held the animal until some one came to his rescue. His hand was badly lacerated, but otherwise he was unharmed.

That Humane Society Arrest.

To the Editor of the Bee: In your issue of Tuesday allusion was made to the arrest of McLaughlin by the agent of the Humane society, in which an attempt is made to give the impression to the public that the man was arrested for "clipping" horses, and that this will be made a test case to determine whether "clipping" horses is cruelty to animals; the names of a number of prominent horsemen are mentioned who, it is said, will be subpoenaed as witnesses to give their opinions. The plain facts are simply these: The man was arrested, not by the agent of the Humane society, but by Officer Turnbull; not for "clipping" a horse, but for beating the animal with an iron rod, as several responsible gentlemen who also witnessed the affair will testify. The Humane society has never "made war upon horse clipping." A suggestion by one of the members that mid-winter, during the coldest weather, was scarcely the proper time to shear a horse of its warm coat is not making war upon clipping by any means, nor do we know of any member of the society who proposed clipping horses at the proper time. Officer Turnbull arrested this man for what appeared to him and others to be an inhuman treatment of the animal, and it is greatly to the credit of that officer and would redound with credit to all the members of the force to be equally vigilant in this direction. As we have said repeatedly, it is not the intention of the Humane society to annoy or meddle with others' affairs, but to enforce a law on our statute books which will put a stop to scenes which are distressing to human people and a disgrace to our city. We have known valuable horses to be ruined through the violent, ungovernable temper of grooms and drivers, and he must indeed be a queer owner who does not appreciate a society which through purely human motives endeavors to protect his property. This case has been reported to the society's attorney as a case of cruelly beating a horse, and will be so tried, and those who imagine they will be regulated by a spread-eagle trial to determine whether "clipping" is cruelty to animals will be disappointed, as this will not enter into the case at all.

IMPROVING A KNAPSACK.

Colonel Merriam the genial soldier from Fort Laramie, is in the city shaking hands with his friends. He has propped a long leave of absence and is on his way to Europe. He intends to visit the military headquarters of the continent for the purpose of obtaining points which will enable him to improve the new knapsack which has just invented. This is a knapsack which is intended to throw its weight not upon the back of the soldier, but upon his hips where it will rest easily. In long marches, a knapsack, when perfected by Colonel Merriam, will be a quiet factor in preventing "waste of energy."

THE NEW CITY ENGINEER.

George W. Tillson was Tuesday evening appointed city engineer in place of A. Rosewater, lately resigned. Mr. Tillson is thirty-four years of age, and was born at Tomstown, Maine. He graduated at Portland university, and is an expert in the sewerage business. In 1879 he had charge of the sewer system of Memphis, Tenn., and in 1881 of the system in Kansas, Mich. In the autumn of 1881 he came to Omaha and has been in the city engineer's office ever since. His experience renders him very competent to fill the new position to which he has been appointed.

THE CHARITY UNION.

The Charity Union on Sixteenth street will probably cease to exist after April 15th, the lease for the present quarters then expiring and none others being secured. Manager McMurray says that during the past winter lodging has been furnished on an average to twenty-five persons each night. Men only are accommodated. Meals are furnished to workers, the work consisting in preparing wood for fuel with saw and ax. The wood yard is back of the Creighton block. The institution has been conducted under the auspices of nine young men to help needy strangers in the city.

THIRTY-THREE YEARS.

Tuesday William Lehman, the well known painter and sign writer, celebrated the thirty-third anniversary of his birth. Although he endeavored to keep the festive fact from the knowledge of his friends, a large number "gathered him in" and an impromptu banquet was the consequence. Mr. Lehman is one of the leading members of the Turnverein, and an athlete of no small abilities, in addition to being one of Omaha's popular young men.

POSTPONING A CLUB PARTY.

The Phileon party, which was to have taken place this evening at Masonic hall will not occur until Friday evening, April 8. The change is made for the reason that so many social events are to take place this week and the members and their friends desire an opportunity to "rest" for a few days.

A family in Nikolsburg, Austria, celebrated a curious "bimetallic" wedding the other day. On the same day a young man and a young woman celebrated their golden wedding, and his son-in-law, living in the same house, celebrated his silver wedding. The double event was made still more picturesque by the marriage of the latter's daughter in the midst of the festivities.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Stray Leaves From a Reporter's Note Book.

"Yes, the corner of Thirteenth and Farnam streets is going to loom up big and don't you forget it," said an old settler Tuesday. The two bank buildings will be grand business structures. Then Meyer Hellman, one of our oldest and most enterprising citizens, has added a story to his block, which will correspond with the other corners in line shape. Mr. Hellman deserves the credit of having built the first brick business block of worth in Omaha. He don't say much, but he acts that block of his were at different times the military headquarters, the Western Union telegraph office, the first police court and several other prominent offices. I understand he intends to continue this spring's improvement by fixing up by the H. Snodden liquor store with one of the finest plate glass fronts in the city. Oh, yes, the Thirteenth street corner will boom as long as such men as Meyer Hellman have anything to do with it.

"The security of houses in Omaha," said a railroad official yesterday morning "is shown by this flood. People who have been driven from their homes by the high water have tramped every street and alley in the city looking in vain for houses to rent. They have been compelled to seek temporary shelter in cow stables and such places, and the cold wind seems to have come with the flood makes their condition extremely uncomfortable. There is furniture in nearly all the submerged houses, and the effect of the soaking muddy water will be disastrous.

BREVITIES.

Judge Dundy returned yesterday from his southern trip. The case of Fitzpatrick vs. John M. Thomas, on a plumbing contract, is being argued before Judge Neville. A letter has been received from Sherman J. Canfield saying that he expected to sail with "Buffalo Bill's" troupe for Europe to-day March 31. The jury in the Rice case brought in a verdict yesterday morning to the district court finding defendant guilty of assault and battery. Judge Stenberg yesterday held H. E. Day, the embazzaing agent of Geo. S. Meek, to the district court in the sum of $1,000. Day could not give bond and went to jail. It is the opinion of those in a position to know that the passage of the city charter will cause the election of two justices in each of the Omaha wards under the act of 1855. Drs. Hoffman and Galbraith, who are attending A. H. Swenby, the man who was knocked off the Union Pacific bridge a day or two ago, say that he will recover, though one shoulder will be useless for life. The registration of school children has been completed in the first ward. There are 1,591 male and 1,640 female pupils, making a total of 3,231. Last year there were 1,934 male and 1,103 female, total, 3,037. The increase is 1,694 over last year. William B. Sloan, the inventor of a new switch fastening, commenced proceeding in the United States court yesterday against the B. & M. railroad to prevent that road from using his patent, which he claims it is doing unlawfully. Mary E. Kellogg, wife of ex-Senator Kellogg of New Orleans, filed an appeal yesterday in her case against the city of Omaha. She claims damages on account of property injured by grading. A gentleman from Columbus, now in this city, received yesterday a telegram from Columbus, informing him that Stephen McAllister, of that city, was run over and almost killed by a runaway team yesterday morning. It is doubtful whether he will recover. The gentleman a brother of State Senator McAllister. Zina Smith, in the employ of the Transfer company, lost his pocketbook recently. It contained two annual passes and $10. Yesterday he received an anonymous letter, enclosing the two passes and expressing the hope that he would find opportunity to use them before their usefulness expired. The writer neglected to mention the $10. Jas. S. Hagemann, a man who has been drinking hard for the past few days, was sent to the county jail by Judge Stenberg yesterday for ten days, for the purpose of getting the whisky out of him. E. even disturbers of the peace were arraigned and four were fined. None of them had any money. Six girls who had failed to leave "Rotten Row" in accordance with the instructions of the marshal were released. They promised to move out at once.

CRIMINAL CASES CONTINUED.

The case against Henry Mittenman, charged with the murder of Walter Durham at Millard, and that against William White, policeman, charged with the killing of Jacob Richardson, have been continued until the May term of the district court.
