Leave to marry was yesterday given to James H. Reed and Betty Green, both of The Crystal mills are undergoing some repairs, and some important improvements are being made. An electric light has been hung on Broadway near the corner of Fourth street, to add still more to the attractiveness of the street at night. The funeral of the late Alexander H. Harris will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence, corner of Pierce and First streets.

Contractor Moore will begin on the levee again to-day if the weather permits. It will take about five days more to put on the finishing work of leveling

The new police and fire alarm was being thoroughly tested, though not formally and officially, yesterday. The boxes all came right, and there seemed to be cause for criticism.

The BEE yesterday stated by mistake The BEE yesterday stated by mistake that the evening train of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road left at 7:30 o'clock. It should have read the St. Paul train of the Sioux City & Pacific road.

Those who have been spending their time predicting that high water would prove a dampener to the boom so far as the western part of the city is concerned, have gone to crocking about security.

have gone to croaking about something else. With every foot of even the bottoms as dry as if the Missouri never got on a high, the people of Council Bluffs have renewed confidence in the future.

The Des Moines Register is to have a new literary editor. The old one got fooled last Sunday by publishing as the production of some new lowa poet, the well known "Hannah," written some time ago by Trowbridge. As soon as the mistake was discovered the lank, longhaired young man went out to hunt for another job.

A carpenter named Gilmore was before the police court charged with being drunk He stoutly maintained that he had not imbibed, but the officers swore straight, and he had to take the consequences. For the lack of ready cash he declared he would go behind the bars, and if some of his contracts suffered he intimated that some one besides him would have to make the loss good.

Last winter Officer Rose found Neils Anderson in the street, sleeping off a drunk, and freezing to death as rapidly as possible. He got him to the station where he was thawed out and taken home. Yesterday he appeared at police headquarters for the first time since then. He came after his effects. He showed up as the cost of that night's spree one hand with four fingers gone, and the other with two gone.

Every sunny afternoon there are to be seen a dozen or so rather healthy-looking fellows sitting on the steps of the First National bank, taking life easy. Still, it is almost impossible to find a man to saw wood. The bank folks occasionally secure a rest for the steps and clear the way for customers to get into the door renders them rather damp for the gentlemen of leisure who congregate there.

The largest oil painting in the city is that which will soon be hung on the walls of Rudio & Yenawine's new billiard parlors. W. W. Chapman framed it yester-day. The painting is six feet by eight feet, and has been framed with an eightinch gold leaf moulding. The picture represents some captive women, after the fall at Khartoom, their savage cap tors gleefully chatting, while the women show great distress. The oriental land-scape in the distance is also a fine bit of work. Some features of the painting are very finely done.

The BEE some days ago noted the fact that Mr. Ogden, of the Cooper iron works, Mt. Vernon, Ohio, was here negotiating for the Hendric foundry premises. Encouraging Factories.

The wonderful advantages of Council Bluffs for manufacturing numerous articles, and for distributing them when manufactured, are being pressed upon the attention of those who have capital and experience in such lines. The outlook is quite encouraging. Council Bluffs needs factories, and the factories need just such a point as Council Bluffs. Among the enterprises being planned for is a cigar box factory. There are a large number of cigar factories in the territory naturally trib-utary to this city, and they are now go-ing as far east as Wisconsin in order to secure boxes. The cost of getting boxes from such a distance is so much greater than the cost of getting in the lumber tant the cost of getting in the lumber especially for this purpose, and then making the boxes here, that those who have examined into the matter declare there is a rich chance for some one to start in this line. What is needed is some one of experience to take hold of it. The move for a starch factory is still being considered. There is no question but that such a factory could find no better location in the whole country than right here. There are men who are right here. There are men who are ready to put money into the enterprise, but the delay is caused by the lack of the right man to manage such a factory. Some correspondence is going on with parties east, and it is hoped that it will result in the securing of such a man as is

That Council Bluffs is to have a large sash and blind manufactory shortly there seems little doubt. Parties from the east are here and have selected the sight and mechanics are figuring on the construction of the building. As soon as it is an assured fact the parties' names, location and other data of interest will be made public.

"Monte Cristo."

The audience gathered in the opera house last evening had a treat indeed James O'Neill has appeared here before, and in the same play, by which his name has become so familiarly associated with that of "Monte Cristo." Dumas wonderful novel has been dramatized in various forms and has been presented to the public by a variety of combinations. Thirteen different companies have been on the road at one time playing the "Count of Monte Cristo." They have now dwindled down to two or three, and of these James O'Neill, with his support, stands foremost. He is the proprietor of Fechter's adaptation, and this is certainly superior in many re-spects to all others. There have been some changes made within the past two years. The spectacular ballet and carnival scenes have been cut out, and the drama strengthened. New scenery and accessories have been added this season, so that the play was never presented in so pleasing and striking a form as now. Of James O'Neill little need be said. He is an artist. He is wonderful in his strength of mealiness conductions. derful in his strength of manliness, com-bined with such tender pathos. He enters so naturally into the character, is so at home in it, and yet gives such grand out-bursts of passion, as to render his presentation remarkable on account of the variety of ability shown. O'Neill is also an actor with brains. He shows that he intelligently grasps the conceptions, and is far from being an imitator.

The company is one of more than or-dinary ability. J. W. Shannon, as Nor-tier, merits special praise. He was one of the original cast. S. Miller Kent, who took the part of Albert de Morceff, has been with the company three years, and J. H. Shewell, as Caderousse, is also at his best, having played that part for two years past. Arthur Leelerq, who for four years has been the stage manager, took the part of Danglars. It is evident that the statement that O'Neill had a new and inferior company is evidently idle talk. The Mercedes of Miss Grace Thorne was a wonderfully effective per-sonation. In fact the company through out was a worthy support to so brilliant a star as O'Neill.

The company appear again this even-ing, and from the looks of the diagram it is safe to predict a full house.

Death of William Welch. At 2:20 yesterday morning, after a week's illness, William Welch died at his nome of erysipelas of the brain. Last Wednesday the deceased complained of an aching in his body, and particularly a pain in the head. It was expected that t would wear away, but instead the pains became worse, and on Thursday he was compelled to take his bed. He grew constantly worse and death finally ended his suffering. The funeral will occur at the Catholic church Saturday morning at the Catholic church Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, the funeral procession leaving the late residence, corner Tenth street and Fifth avenue, at 8:30. The remains will be laid to a final resting place in the Catholic cemetery on Walnut Hill, east of the city. Friends are invited without further notice.

William Welch was born in county Galway, Ireland, March 31, 1837. He was therefore just fifty years of age at the time of his death. At the age of fifteen he left the "Emerald Isle" and landed in Canada: from their he went to Michigan, where he worked in the copper mines of Lake Huron. He was married in Michigan to the wife who survives him, at the age of twenty-seven. Sixteen years ago he came to Council Bluffs, where he has resided ever since. He had been successful in his life's battles and accumulated a sung competence. He accumulated a sung competence. He had been for several years proprietor of the store adjoining his home, also a coal and fuel yard on Main street, and one of the back lines in the city.

He leaves a wife, four sons and two daughters to mourn his sudden demise. The sympathy of a large circle of friends is extended to the bereaved family.

Back From the West.

John W. Paul returned last evening from the west and reports quite a boom at Denver but everything very dull at Ogden and Salt Lake City, the principal business in the latter city being the prosecution of "polygamous" saints who are indicted, fined and sentenced at the rate of one to three per day.

Mr. Paul was agreeably surprised when he saw the true state of affairs on the bottoms and stated that the danger of future overflows was entirely overcome and predicts a steady and permanent advance in all classes of real estate, and added further that much credit is due Mr. T. J. Evans for his push and energy in building the levy.
