Proprietors of the Gambling Houses Say They Will Close Up.

They Will Close Up.

The anti-gambling bill which closes up the gambling houses, at the same time that it prevent the selling of pools on horse races, base ball games, and all similar events, has become a law. It will doubtless have the effect of closing up all the houses in this city, as none of the present proprietors care to run the risk of going to the penitentiary by disobeying the law.

An old sporting man said yesterday "There is no question in my mind but this law will close up all the houses in this city just as soon as it goes into effect. There are over 200 men connected with local houses, most of them working on salaries, who will be thrown out of employment so far as Omaha is concerned. This includes faro bank dealers, roulette dealers, hazard dealers, stud poker men, cash keepers, managers, cappers, pluggers, etc., also the colored waiters. Most of them—probabiy all of them-will leave town,

Following are a few expressions of opinion from the different proprietors:
William Søderstrom—"I shall certainly close up, as I don't care to risk my liberty by defying the law. I shall probably Jack Morrison -"I am not anxious to run any chances of spending any of my future in the pen, and will close up. The aw may be a dead letter and it may not. I'll not take any chances."

C. S. Higgins—"1 told you when the bill first came up that I would quit the business if the law passed. My business will be less affected than that of any other man in the town who runs a gambling house, as that is but a very small branch of my business.

Goodley Brucker—"I have announced already that I would not run in violation of the law, and July 1."
"Blanch" Kennedy—"Of course I'll close up. You don't take me for a fool, do you? I don't take any chances in a do you? I don't take any chances in a game like that. Few people understand the scope of the bill. It will stop all races at the fair grounds for money, and will abolish boat races, bicycle races and everything else for stakes. Of course I'll quit. The business will pass into the hands of a lot of disreputable sharks I'll quit. The business will pass into the hands of a lot of disreputable sharks who will do a robbing business in back rooms, out of the reach of the police au-

ENFORCING THE LAW. Children Over Five Years Must Pay Half Fare—Rail Notes.

The U. P. representatives at the depot are beginning to enforce the provisions of the interstate law, with reference to children riding on half-fare tickets. Hereafter all children over five years of age must pay half fare rates. Children over ten years of age must pay full rates Heretofore the passenger officials have been very lenient about collecting fare from children.

MINISTERS WHO TRAVEL. The Union Pacific is now sending out a circular to ministers, a part of which reads as follows: "DEAR SIR:

sel that the Inter-State Commerce Law prohibits the issue of tickets at special rates, except to railroad officers and employes, and to ministers of religion, and that orders or permits for special rates not authorized by the law, though issued prior to the passage thereof, cannot legally be honored.

'The term 'minister of religion,' is understood to mean a person regularly ordained, licensed or appointed as a minister by a religious organization, according to the prescribed or usual form of procedure of such organization, and wholly engaged in religious work, without any other business or occupation which does, or may, require such person to travel by rail. "Special rates cannot be made for persons not ministers, engaged in philan-thropic or charitable work, or for minis-ters who are engaged in other occupations, in the pursuit of which the privilege of traveling at reduced fare would give them an advantage over other persons engaged in the same occupation.

"Special rates cannot hereafter be made for the families of ministers.

"As any journey between two points in the same state may become part of an inter-state journey, it is necessary that state business shall be conducted in strict accordance with the law governing inter-state business. The penalties imposed for any violation of the law are so severe that until it is otherwise construed by the commissioners or the courts the company does not feel justified in assuming any risks." TWO HUNDRED CARS.

Clarence Howard, of the Missouri Car and Foundry company, with head-quarters at St. Louis, is in the city. His company has just closed a contract with the Union Pacific to furnish 200 new Blaine dump cars for carrying ore. MR. NEWTON RESIGNS.

Mr. C. F. Newton, who has long been supervisor of bridges and buildings for the Union Pacific, has resigned. Mr. J. E. Hubbard has been appointed as his

By agreement of all lines in Kansas and Nebraska, all land excursion rates to points in these states will be abolished on March 31st, except that extension land excursion tickets will be sold as heretofore to holders of land excursion tickets to our land points purchased in the east on or before March 31st." ### FOR FALLEN WOMEN.

A Home for Repentant Magdalenes to be Established Near Omaha.

The news that the legislature has passed the bill appropriating $15,000 for an industrial home for women is received by the W. C. T. U. in this city with much rejoicing. They have been working hard to secure this, and now that the state has promised to give subatantial aid to the scheme they are happy,

Mrs. G. W. Clark, one of the ladies of the Buckingham Home, and a prominent mover in the scheme, said yesterday that they should try at once to raise more funds, so as to make the amount $25,000. Subscriptions will be solicited both in the city and in the state. The home will probably be situated near Omaha, and the ladies expect to secure a donation of the land on which it will be located. A large tract of land near Florence has been offered and may be accepted.

The home will be exclusively for fallen women, who have turned from a life of sice, and desire to reform. The W. C. Line and passenger the Line, Briggs Place is property in the cits.

THEY WILL TAKE NO CHANCES since opening its headquarters in the Buckinham on Twelfth street, but owing to the fact that its quarters for the accomodation of these unfortunates were limited, it has been greatly hampered. There are many unfortunate women who would reform if they were given the opportunity, and it is this opportunity that the women of the W. C. T. U. desire to furnish these unfortunate outcasts. The home will be made as nearly as possible self-supporting. The inmates will be taught to sew and do house and general work, as well as practical work in the garden which will be a feature of the Home. Those who so desire will be given instruction in shorthand and telegraphy. In fact, every possible opportunity will be furnished the inmates to lift themselves from the mire, and to train them-selves for a life of usefuluess.

Why pay $3,500 for a lot when you can buy one for from $1.000 to $1.500 in Briggs' Place immediately adjoining?

WRESTLING WITH A BURGLAR. A. Bernstein Receives a Visit at 4

O'clock in the Morning. Abraham Bernstein, who runs a second hand store at 713 North Thirteenth street, had an exciting tussle with a burglar about 4 o'clock yesterday morning. At about that hour his son was awakened by hearing a noise as of some one moving about the house. He looked and saw a gentleman of decidedly burglarious aspect in the room. Young Bernstein aroused his father and the two jumped out of bed and tackled the intruder. They had a lively tussle for a time, and had they stood together, would undoubtedly have downed the burglar. As it was the son left to hunt for a policeman. He searched and yelled in vam, for no officer came to the rescue. When he returned he found that the burglar had escaped, after knocking Mr. Bernstein down. The old gentleman was pretty badly used up, though not seriously injured. So for an agent he seriously injured. So far as can be learned at present the burglar did not secure anything for his pains.

The officer who belongs on this beat was John Donovan. Marshal Cummings censured him severely yesterday morn-ing for failing to respond to the calls for help of young Bernstein, which were loud enough to be heard four or five blocks, Farnam always has been, is and always

STREET CAR NEWS.

A Line to Walnut Hill-Crossing

The latest move of the street railway company is in the direction of building an extension of its line out Cuming street to Lowe avenue in Walnut Hill and thence indefinitely. The line is already extended as far as Brown street on Cuming, and work will no doubt be commenced on the extension this summer. If the company secures its charter soon enough this may be a cable line. Several of the directors of the company who are now in the east, will be back in a day or two, when the scheme will be fully considered.

Next week the company will commence building its extension from Farnam street across Virginia avenue to Hanscom Park. On this line cars will run every ten minutes to the park. This, with the green line cars, will give a five minutes service to the park from Fifthteenth and Farnam streets, Another line which is projected, and will be built soon, is one from Twentyfourth street to Creighton college. This
