

IN ARMS AGAINST COERCION

North - of - England Men Almost Solidly Against the Government's Bill.

JOSEPH COWAN'S OPINIONS.

A National Idea Cannot Be Extinguished by Legal Enactments, and the Tories Will Learn That Truth in Bitterness.

Protesting Against Tyranny.

Copyright 1887 by James Gordon Bennett. NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, April 6.—(New York Herald Cable-Special to the BEE.)—All the north of England is up in arms against the coercion bill. Every newspaper on either side in Durham, Yorkshire, Lancashire or the border counties, prints accounts of the excitement over the question in the United States. That veteran, Joseph Cowan, who refused to enter parliament at the time of the last elections, has been much sought after here to-day for an expression of his views, remarked that all the evidence goes to show that the government mean to persist in their headlong career, that they mean to face the consequences of their cross policy. They will differ from other governments that have played at the same game if they have not to repent. He also added that the government, by aid of doloire, will not doubt get their repressive measures, but it will fail, as all similar measures have failed. It would appear that every English party becomes demoralized when they come to deal with Ireland, notwithstanding the bitter, humiliating experience of a generation. They will recognize the truth of the axiom, endorsed by all history, that it is impossible to extinguish a national idea by legal enactment. The Irish people are resolved to live their own life, to manage their affairs in their own way, and there is no power in England to prevent them. The sooner this conclusion is accepted and acted upon the better it will be, both for England and for Ireland.

Mr. Cowan was twelve years in parliament and was really suspected of union views, but the above proves he is the same independent sturdy Northumberland thinker of old. The force of American opinion is strongly recognized everywhere in this vicinity.

ANTI-COERCION DEMONSTRATIONS.

LONDON, April 6.—The council of the liberal federation met to-day. There were numerous delegates present from the provinces. President Sir James Kitson denounced the policy of the government as brutal and said that they were trying to reduce the Irish to the level of the Hottentots. He moved that the federation protest against the coercion bill as retrograde in policy, retrograde in principle and vindictive in detail. The president's motion was approved, as was also a resolution expressing gratitude to Gladstone for his wisdom and courage in exposing coercive measures. The delegates made arrangements for a series of anti-coercion demonstrations throughout the country.

IRVINGVILLE DUE RELEASED.

LONDON, April 6.—Doyle, the invincible, has been released on ticket of leave. He complains bitterly of the treatment he received while in confinement, and alleges that the prison authorities single out the Irish convicts for especially harsh punishment.

THE TENCHES.

At a meeting in Chelsea to-night a letter was read from Gladstone in which he said: "Our adversaries have availed themselves of the fact that I have taken a large share in placing the Irish problem as a question of practical politics before the country to plead that it is a personal matter, that it is not a true conviction, and that the people are not in genuine sympathy with the justice of the Irish demand. A little reserve on my part will help them to be sooner undecieved and to profit more effectively by the teaching they are already beginning to receive—the teaching of events."

DEBIL.

DEBIL, April 6.—The attempts of agents to compromise with the tenants on Lord Lansdowne's estates have failed and the work of evicting all who refuse to pay rents will be resumed about April 20th. Dunne and Kilbrick, two of the principal tenants of Lansdowne, recently evicted from their extensive holdings near Lagacareen, have been elected chairman and vice chairman respectively of the Atby board of poor guardians. It is decided that the national league will remove its headquarters to Encland in event of the passage of the coercion bill.

Hunting a Bulgarian Ruler.

VIENNA, April 6.—(New York Herald Cable-Special to the BEE.)—Poor M. Stieffell's woe was not yet signed. His arrival here has been vainly endeavored to induce Prince Alexander of Battenberg to allow himself to be renominated as a candidate for the vacant Bulgarian throne. As the Battenbergs show no eagerness to return, I hear from Sofia that M. Stieffell is now telegraphically instructing by the agency to make an appeal to Prince Ferdinand of Coburg.

Great Excitement in Hayti.

HAYTI, April 6.—Advices from Port Au Prince, dated March 26, says: The excitement continues throughout the republic over the demand of England for the possession of Tortugas island or a payment of $1,000,000 in settlement of old claims. It is reported that a special commission has been appointed to England's ultimatum to the Haytian government and has threatened the bombardment of the principal ports of the republic after a lapse of five days. England's claims are not acknowledged. Great consternation exists among the foreign residents, as it is stated that the Haytian government will not yield to England's demands.

Royal Squibs.

LONDON, April 6.—Prince Alexander of Battenberg has again declined to be re-elected as ruler of Bulgaria. Queen Victoria has arrived at Aix-Les-Bains and her majesty is much fatigued after the journey.

Doings of the Pope.

ROME, April 6.—The pope is about to issue a letter sanctioning the principle of the creation of a Catholic university at Baltimore. The pope persists that Dr. McMillin must come to Rome.

The Rock Island Robbery Case.

MONROE, Ill., April 6.—The testimony of the convict, William J. Gallagher, was continued to-day in the Schwartz-Walt murder case. Gallagher testified that he had conversations with the late Schwartz in the Cook county jail. Schwartz was to have Gallagher take $2,000, which was in $100 bills, changed to $5 and $10 bills, and offered to pay Gallagher $500 if he would arrange the matter. Gallagher asked Schwartz if the money was part of the proceeds of the Rock Island express robbery. Schwartz declared that it was not. He said a few had left a satchel on the Rock Island train and that he had taken the money in the satchel.

Maynard's Promotion.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Judge Maynard relinquished the office of second comptroller this morning, and formally entered upon his duties as assistant secretary of the treasury.

CARR CAPTURED.

The Murderer of Warren Long Taken Into Custody.

ST. EDWARD, Neb., April 6.—(Special to the BEE.)—Ed Carr, the man who murdered Warren Long last night, was arrested this morning at 6:10 o'clock. Several small parties had been searching for him all night, and had been looking through the building in which he slept a small building used as an office by a grain dealer until this morning. As soon as day broke a party went down and surrounded the building, and on breaking open the door, found Carr inside. He offered no resistance, but protested that he was so drunk that he could remember nothing after a little time. Carr had happened about 10 minutes before the shooting. About 10 o'clock in the evening he entered an office in the building in front of the hotel and the quarrel seemed liable to terminate in blows. The landlord came out and ordered Carr to move on. Carr refused and abusive language was used on each side until John Vizard, the landlord of the hotel, becoming tired of it, knocked Carr down and threw him out. Carr then returned, and then interfered and took Carr to his room, where he promised to remain, but changed his mind and returned to Carr with a shotgun and returned, with the intention, it is supposed, of wreaking vengeance on Vizard. Long, among several others, tried to stop Carr, but he was shot in the head and fell. Carr then fled and hid in the building. Carr then fled and hid in the building. Carr then fled and hid in the building.

Railroad Extension.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 6.—(Special Telegram to the BEE.)—Articles of incorporation of the Cheyenne & Burlington railroad company were filed this evening with the secretary of the territory. The Colorado & Wyoming, recently incorporated in Denver, provides for the extension of the Burlington & Missouri from its present terminus at a point probably Cheyenne, to the junction of Crow creek and the territorial line, which brings it within a dozen miles of this city. The Cheyenne & Burlington is to continue it here, and the indications are that it will be a very profitable enterprise. The general manager Holdrege has been in town to-day in consultation with the leading citizens and the city will probably deal over to the said company. The announcement that the B. & M. is positively coming here has very materially stimulated the boom here. It is reported that about two weeks past and a season of unprecedented activity is now looked forward to.

A Debate Ends In Death.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 6.—(Special Telegram to the BEE.)—This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock a grader on his way east from the mountains was found dead in his wagon near Bohannon's livery stable. He had been run over for a day, and a vital labeled huddamum had been found on his head. The wagon was loaded with two horses for two miles. His name was not known. The driver's name is not known. The driver's name is not known.

THE FIRE RECORD.

Boston Suffers From a Severe Conflagration.

BOSTON, April 6.—A fire which started at 10 o'clock to-day, soon spread, and swept through that building in a few minutes and endangered the large building on the corner of Milk street and the postoffice. The fire was finally got under control before the fire department arrived. The damage done was estimated at $100,000. The fire broke out in the drying room of Wright & Potter, who are the state printers. A large quantity of paper was burned. The fire is estimated at $70,000. The fire is estimated at $70,000. The fire is estimated at $70,000.

At Missoula, Mont.

MISSOULA, April 6.—The Northern Pacific express office and Maguire opera house on Main street burned at 10 o'clock this morning. No insurance. The furniture in the opera house was saved, but the express company lost everything.

In Switzerland.

LONDON, April 6.—An extensive fire occurred to-day in the Swiss village of Buchel, in the canton of Saint Gall. Sixty houses were burned and many cattle perished in the flames.

Logan's Forthcoming Book.

FAIRBANKS, Dak., April 6.—(Special Telegram to the BEE.)—A resident of this city, an intimate friend of the late General Logan and of his family, who has received from Mrs. Logan the prospectus and some advance sheets of the general's book, entitled "The Volunteer Soldiers of America," now in preparation, and to be published in the near future. It is destined to create a sensation when it is issued and to provoke controversies that can not help but be of engrossing interest to the country at large. The book will be extremely popular in the West Point and what is termed the military lobby, but the feature of the work and one that will excite the widest comment, will be the pages devoted to General Sherman, whose criticism of Logan's military movements during the late war has been the subject of many letters which were written to her husband by General Sherman previous to the publication of the memoirs. The long correspondence between the two officers, which is not only assured Logan of Sherman's warm personal attachment to him, but testifies to the writer's high appreciation of Logan's military services during the war and admiration of his military genius. "I have seen the letters," says the gentleman who has the book in charge, "and can assure you that their publication will be most embarrassing to General Sherman."

The Railway Mystery.

RAHWAY, N. J., April 6.—(Special Telegram to the BEE.)—Chief of Police Tooker has received a letter from Mrs. Augusta Haas, of New York, in which she says that her husband and she visited the morgue Sunday afternoon, March 3, for this point, with a murdered girl as that of a young Swedish woman who occupied the state room with Mrs. Haas on the passage to America. A perfect reign of terror prevails among the railroad men, who are afraid to venture out of their homes after dark. The citizens are raising a large fund by private subscription for the purpose of rewarding the persons who shall identify the girl and detect her murderer.

Lost on the Pacific.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—The Merchant's Exchange received a dispatch to-day stating that the bark Edorado, captain Humphrey, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued at $20,000. The two survivors were rescued by the bark Edorado, from Seattle, March 3, for this point, with a cargo of coal, foundered off Cape Flattery and all but two of the crew of twelve were lost. The vessel was of seventy-six tons burden, owned by the city, valued