Law Enforcement. THE SALOON ELEMENT KICKING.

Many Compliments Being Passed On Van Wyck's Latest Speech-The Benteen Court Martial Finding Approved.

Under the Ban of Blue Laws. WASHINGTON, April 16 .- | Special Telegram to the BEE. |-To-morrow is expected to be the most perfectly observed Sunday known in Washington for the past two score years. The blue laws are to be enforced and In earnest. Every article sold for a profit, excepting medicines, plain meals and newspapers, cannot be dealt in between 12 o'clock to-night and the same hour to-morrow night. Even newspapers cannot be sold on the streets after 1 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. Every restaurant, cafe, boarding place and hotel with bar attachment must be closed on Sunday. Only ice and milk wagons can be operated. There is bitter protesting by the drinking classes, but the great body of people are supporting the district commissioners In this work, although many smile that the reform is begun by the demogratic administration. "Liquid provender" is being laid in to-night by those who "lush," people carry-It home by the armful or basketful. Beer warons supplied many homes to-day for the first time. The saloon elements declare they will have the street cars and all public conveyances stopped on Sundays, and they shall retaliate in every conceivable manner, and that the Sunday laws, including not only the old blue laws, but the almost absolete Maryland laws, enacted in the 18th century, will be enforced all the same and Washington will have Christian as well as Jeffersonian COMPLIMENTARY TO VAN WYCK.

A great deal of very complimentary comment has been made upon General Van Wyck's remarks at the meeting last Thursday night which protested against the Irish coercion bill pending in the British parliament. The friends of Ireland and her cause say it was just the thing. The Star of this city, referring to the meeting, says: "The great speeches of the occasion were those of Senator Van Wyck and General Sheridan, which were received with the wildest applause. It also cites as showing General Van Wyck's popularity with Ireland's sympathizers the fact that when he stepped for-ward at the meeting, "he was received with great enthusiasm," and his remarks were in-terrupted constantly by applause.

CLEVELAND FOR RENOMINATION.

There is much discussion here regarding the president's candidacy for renomination. There are many who assert that Cleveland will seek renomination and that plans are al-ready being arranged by Lamont and other trusted friends to bring about such a result.
Other friends of the president are positive in their assertions that Cleveland will not seek renomination and that he has written a letter to that effect.
It is declared that Dorshimer, editor of the New York Star, has now in his possession letters in which the president says he will letters in which the president says he will not be a candidate; that he was the first man to lead the party to success in many years; that he recognizes the fact that he has not satisfied many of the leaders in the party and that he has no desire to be the first man to lead the party to defeat. The correspondent's informant says that this letter has been in the hands of Dorsheimer for some time and that the latter has nstructions to make the contents of the same Instructions to make the contents of the same known when, in his opinion, the proper time has come for se doing. The president feels that his administration will satisfy the country, but recognized the fact that the political leaders of his own party are against him and that it is doubtful whether he could secure the nomination, and that even should he succeed it would be after a bitter fight, which would leave the party in such a divided condition as to render success almost impossible. Few of the leading democratic ble. Few of the leading democratic papers are supporting him and he can now only hope to have a voice in naming his suc-

THE FOURTH SECTION. More Petitions For Suspending the Long and Short Haul.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Howard Morris, attorney, and William S. Miller, general manager of the Wisconsin lines, presented to the inter-state commission to-day a petition and a brief in its support asking that the operation of the long and short haul clause be suspended in so far as it prevented them from accepting traffic at rates fixed by water lines and by more direct rail lines between their various terminal points. They set forth orally that a denial of this privilege would compel them either to reduce local rates beow a paying point or abandon all through

The inter-state commerce commission has promised to hear, next Wednesday, represen-tatives of Boston Interests who seek author-ity for railroads to make rates from the west ity for railroads to make rates from the west to that city, to meet those made by roads whose termini are at New York.

A printed petition has been received by the commission from the Iowa Barb Steel Wire company, of Marshalltown, Ia., stating that up to the 1st of the present month that company has had an "equalized rate" of weight charges upon its receipts and shipments—that is, the through rate from Chicago to the Missouri river being 25 cents. The company has paid 15 cents for carrying its rails from Chicago to Marshalltown and 10 cents for transporting its finished pro-10 cents for transporting its finished pro-ducts from Marshalltown to the Missouri. The railroad company, fearing the penalties of the law, and not having any de-cision of the commission sanctioning this equalized rate, has now suspended the ar-rangement and has made rates from Chicago to Marshalltown, and from Marshalltown to places of consignment of the company's goods which are enormously higher than the rates from Chicago to such places of conrates from Chicago to such places of con-signment. As a result of this action, the petitioner must either ship at great financial loss or shut down its factories and discharge its employes. The petitioner therefore asks that the system be sanctioned or that the law be suspended until such time as the subject

The commission modified to-day the order heretofore granted on the application of the Mobile & Ohio Kallaoad company so as to conform with the order made on the applica-tion of Southern Railway and Steamboat association; limiting its operations to points south of the Ohio river, and to business to and from such points, and to points north of the Ohio river. A similar order was also granted upon petitions to the other railroads south of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi rivers.

DEFIED A DEPUTY. Lively Experience of a United States Officer in Boston.

BOSTON, April 16,—[Special Telegram to the Brg.] Deputy United States Marshal Galloupe had a lively adventure in South Boston to-day while attempting to serve attachment papers in a patent suit. The de-fendant is Nelson Ruberg, who is charged with infringing a patent on a machine in the manufacture of shoe sharks. Galloupe found that the machine was only to be reached by going down a sort of ladder through a dark scuttle-hole. When he started to go down a voice from below sharply ordered him to keep away. "I'm a United States officer, and I have a writ to serve here," was Galloupe's explanation. "I don't care who you are; if you try to come down here I'll shoot you," was the rather startlitz response. The marshal had gone down only two or three steps when a bullet whistled by him. Galioupe came out rather faster than he went down and becan to parley. "See here my man, I have fill authority to place an attachment here, and your resistance will only get you into trouble. If you don't believe me come up and examing the writ." The only response was a renewal of the first threat. As Gallorpe made another writ." The only response was a renewal of the first threat. As Gallotpe made another dash for the hole a second shot came so promptly from below that he wisely retreated and began further negotiation. He declared that he would remain on guard until the man below surrendered, if it took all summer. Finally Ruberg came up, and while reading the writ was seized by Galloupe and disarmed. He was taken down town and arraigned before Commissioner Hallet on the charge of felonious assaut on a United States officer. He was ordered to furnish $500 for further examination.

BANKERS PRESSED FOR FAVORS

Foreign Exchange in Moderate Supply With a Fairly Active Demand & -Activity in the Leading Produce Markets.

The Week in the Commercial World.

CHICAGO, April 16 .- | Special Telegram to the BEE. |-Financial affairs have attracted more attention during the past week, and business in monetary circles has been more active. Bankers have been pressed for favors by parties in various branches of business, and while they have a fair surplus of funds on hand, they have been compelled to refuse some paper, which has been presented. Some bankers were unwilling to center their funds in a few hands, and gave their own customers preference, even when only small amounts were wanted. Speculators were quite anxious borrowers, and in some cases asked for round sums. In most cases they succeeded in obtaining the favors they requested, but some round lots of grain were placed in the hands of outside parties as security for temporary loans. Rather free calling of margins on May contracts for grain and provisions, has stimulated the local demand for money. Packers, while not borrowers to a great extent, are a little backward in payments of former loans, as they have been carrying their property for delivery on contracts next month. Shippers of grain and provisions ask for very few favors, and their demands are generally for small amounts. Lumber dealers require some little assistance at this season of the year, and they obtain all the favors they require. The demand from the interior for money was quite active and more currency was forwarded to the country than for some weeks past. There was some inquiry for loans from parties at other large western markets for the purpose of carrying grain, but bankers generally refused to accept such paper. Wholesale merchants are borrowing very little money at present. Their trade is quite brisk for this season of the year, but the greater proportion of it is from near-by points. Rates of interest are well maintained-rather stronger than last week. Call loans are firm at 6/46/4. per cent and time loans 6/4/48 per cent, according to the standing of the borrower, and the amount of the money desired. Some paper was accepted on the street at 6@8 per cent for good names. Fastern money markets are reported rather firm, with a little more pressure for loans, though interest rates are without material change. Foreign money markets are easy, the demand for money being light. Discount rates are more favorable to borrowers. New York exchange was in lighter supply, and the demand was a trille more active. The light shipments of grain and provisions have curtailed the of-ferings of shippers' bills. The market ruled stronger and rates were considerably higher. Sales were made between banks at par at 25 cents premium per $1,000, and the markets cents premium per $1,000, and the markets closed steady at 25 cents premium. Foreign exchange was in moderate supply and the demand was fairly active. Shippers' sixty day documentary bills were stronger and sold at $4.83\\\ a\) (a4.84\\\ a\), and closed steady at $4.83\\\\ a\) (a4.84\\\ a\), and closed steady at $4.83\\\\ a\) (a2.84\\\ a\) (b) a way of the week just closed and trading was quite active. The prices of leading properties were generally higher, though extreme figures were not maintained, excepting for specialties. Wall street operators were more liberal traders, and foreign operators purchased with more freedom than usual. Chicago operators traded rather sparingly, their attention being attracted to affairs around home. American securities were stronger in foreign markets and sold at higher prices. Sales on the New York stock exchange for the week were 2,192,000 shares. Petroleum was quite active at irregular and higher prices Petroleum early in the week owing to a more active demand from "shorts." Later a more quiet feeling prevailed, though the market exhibited considerable steadiness. Sales on the New York petroleum exchange aggregated 7,639,000 barrels. Opening sales were made at 64% cents sold at 04@66% cents, and closed steady at 64% cents. The leading produce markets have exhibited considerable activity during the past week, but it was almost exclusively on speculative account. As May approaches more interest centers in leading grain and provisions and operators, while not trading very liberally, are watching the not trading very liberally, are watching the course of events very anxiously and preparing to make quick changes should any disclosures be made. For several months trading has been heavy for delivery during May, and now as that month approaches parties are anxious to learn the result of all this speculative trading. Of course half are this speculative trading. Of course "all are at sea" except those who are directly interested in large transactions and they are confined to a select few. The bulk of trading at present is in near deliveries for small profits or losses, or in more deferred deliveries. Operators are exercising considdeliveries. Operators are exercising considerable caution, both for their customers and themselves, and are unwilling to be placed in a position where they cannot extricate themselves on very short notice. Prices have ruled somewhat irregular, ruling higher for some articles and easier for others. Trading on shipping account was light orders form some articles and easier for others. Trading on shipping account was light, orders from distributing markets being smaller than usual. The receipts of grain were smaller, as was anticipated when the inter-state commerce law went into effect. In provisions little more strength was manifested, due in a measure to the report of the decreased supply of hogs in the monthly statement of the department of agriculture. Packing in the west is progressing favorably and receipts of hogs are enlarging. Stocks of grain are not hogs are enlarging. Stocks of grain are not diminishing to any extent, and supplies of provisions show little change.

The Rahway Mystery Solved. NEW YORK, April 16 .- To-morrow's World will have a long account of the unraveling of the Rahway mystery as made by its reporters. The victim is Anna Christine Larsen, a Danish girl who arrived at Castle Garden on the 2d of March last. 'The body was identified by Count De Zaleski, a Polish refugee, who had known her well in Denmark. A former lover of the girl, who had been working on a farm near the scene of the murder, left his job two days before the crime was committed, and was not afterwards seen. It is known the girl had threat-ened him for a wrong done, and had come to this country with the object of finding him.

Panhandle Employes Combine. PITTSBURG, April 16 .- An afternoon paper to-day publishes a sensational item in which it is stated that a secret meeting of the employes of the Panhandle road was held last night to consider a bold and decisive move to force the railroad authorities to some kind of a compromise. It is proposed to guarantee that no further arrests shall be made and all the men now employed on the road be com-pletely exonorated from any complicity in the alleged theirs. WEST VIRGINIA'S WHIRLWIND

Wake.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 10 .- When the whirlwind struck St. Clairsville it was split into two ascending and whirling columns united in a great mass of black clouds in the heavens. The destruction at St. Clairsville was, if anything underestimated by last night's dispatches. No adequate idea can be conveyed in words of the scene of ruin and destruction where the tornado struck. The streets are strewn with wreckage and in some places the roads were for a time impassible with broken trees, prostrated telegraph poles, wires and fences. There was a rush of sight seers to St. Clairsville to-day. Telegraph communication being cut off, there was great anxiety to learn how bad the situation of affairs was. No casualties reported last night, To-day the following are reported: C. W. Troll, manager of the Bellaire & St. Clairsville road, fractured arm; J. W. Riley, right leg broken and internal injuries; little son of S. W. Cochran, Northern railway expressinan (colored), fatally injured. Mayor Davies, of St. Clairsville, to-day sent out an appeal for financial help. At Martin's Ferry the distress is even greater than at St. Clairsville, the losers being in most cases poor working people. A meeting was held this afternoon and a committee appointed, with Mayor Keliar at its head, to administer to the wants of the sufferers. The means sent the mayor will be well placed, as nearly fifty families have no shelter except what is afforded by the skating rink placed at their disposal. ville to-day. Telegraph communication

AMUSEMENTS.

The Second Day of Robson & Crane's Engagement.

A large matinee audience witnessed the production of "She Stoops to Conquer" at the Boyd yesterday, Mr. Robson appearing as Tony Lampkin and Mr. Crane as Hardcastle. The effort of the latter was both painstaking and successful. Of that of Mr. Robson, the same may not be said. It was entertaining but not satisfactory. There are characteristles in Tony Lampkin which Mr. Robson's art cannot illustrate, as there are peculiarities in the actor which appear intolerable in the character.

The greatest success of these two celebrated comedians was given last night. The 'Comedy of Errors" drew an Immense house. At times it seemed difficult which to admire the more, the genius which designed the piece or the skill of the gentlemen who were engaged in representing it. The stars were admirably sustained, though the ballet, vocal and instrumental music and nondescript supers, might well have been omitted. The scenery differed entirely from that shown when last the piece was produced here, and most of it was excellent.

JEAN BAUREIS' BENEFIT TO-NIGHT.

This evening, one of the most entertaining plays yet produced by the company will be presented by the German Comedy company at the Boyd. It is entitled "Familie Horner," and in its production the entire company will appear. An additional interest centers in the performance hecause to-night Mr. Lean he performance because to-night Mr. Jean Baurels takes his annual benefit. There has never been a more popular German actor than this gentleman in this city, when viewed from both a personal and professional stand-point. Neither has there been a more suc-cessful German actor in our midst. He plays serious and comic characters with equal facil-ity and always with the studiousness and ity and always with the studiousness and care which denote an artist devoted to his art. If Mr. Baureis receive his deserts tonight, Boyd's opera house will be filled. Between two of the acts of the piece Mr. Franko will render a violin solo.

THE MINSTREL EVENT.

On Tuesday night. Thatcher, Primrose & West's minstrels will appear at Boyd's opera house. The Denver News says of the performance: "The best minstrel show that ever visited Denver, as Thatcher, Primrose, & West's company certainly is, drew a very lar e audience to the opera house, and the ar e audience to the opera house, and the first part of the show is very strong, and Primrose is making a name for himself as a specialist. The vocal part of the programme is well rendered. The contortion act, the dancing and specialties in the last part of the show are real novelties."

ROOTH'S ENGAGEMENT.

The most notable event of the season in Omaha will be Mr. Edwin Booth's engagement at Boyd's opera house, commencing Monday evening, April 25, and will consist of three performances. Wherever he has appeared since the season began, business has been enormous. In Chicago his receipts in two weeks amounted to $42,000; St. Louis, $18,000 in one week; Cleveland, $15,000; St. Paul and Minneapolis, one week, $21,000. BOOTH'S ENGAGEMENT. Sis,000 in one week; Cleveland, $15,000; St. Paul and Minneapolis, one week, $21,000. His last engagement at the Star theater was the most successful one ever played in New York City. His present engagement at the Baldwin theater will amount to $70,000 in the four weeks. Mr. Booth's company has been selected and equipped by Mr. Lawrence Barrett, and is the strongest company he has ever been seen with in any of his tours. The reportory will be as follows: Monday night, "Richelieu;" Tuesday night, "Hamlet;" Wednesday night, "Othello."

Manager Boyd has issued the following announcement in connection with the engagement: No orders will be taken for seats. Parties living outside the city, desiring to secure seats, must do so through parties in Omaha, as the opera house management can not undertake to secure them. The box sheet will be presented free from scratches. First man in line will have the choice of the house (after auction sale). No one person can pur-

Arguments Finished and the Haddock Case Given to the Jury.

THEJUDGE LAYS DOWN THE LAW

A Very Voluminous Charge, Occupy ing One Hour and Twenty Min. utes-The Result Awaited With Great Interest.

The Haddock Jury Retires.

Sioux Ciry, Ia., April 16.—Hon. M. D.
O'Connell concluded his argument before the grand jury in the Haddo.ck case at about 8 p. m. to-day, and after a short recess Judge Lewis began with his instructions, which took until 4:30, at which time the jury retired. There is much speculation as to what the verdict will be, and it is awaited with much interest. The trial began March 23 and has lasted twenty-four full days.

The instructions of Judge Lewis to the jury are quite voluminous. The reading of them occupied one hour and twenty minutes. The preliminary instructions define the degrees of murder in the state of Iowa, acdegrees of murder in the state of lown, according to which, murder in the first degree consists of wilful, deliberate, premeditated killing, or killing by person, or lying in wait. The judge instructed the jury that under the indictment for murder in the first degree a verdict for inferior degrees could be found, as even a verdict for simple assault. The vital point of the instruction, however, was that relating to the question of conspiracy, upon which question the great battle of the case was fought, and the court instructed the jury that the question of the existence of conspiracy was one properly raised under the indictment for murder, and it is a question of fact for the jury to decide, and if the jury shall find that there was a conspiracy to kill Haddock and the defendant was one of the parties to it, then the court instructs Haddock and the defendant was one of the parties to it, then the court instructs that he may be found guilty of murder in the first degrees, even though he did not himself fire the fatal shot and even though he were not present when the shot was fired. If the jury shall find that there was a conspiracy to assault and do bodily injury to Haddock and the defendant was a party to the conspiracy, and if in carrying out the unlawful attempt, Haddock was killed, though not originally intended to do so, then the court instructs that the defendant may be found guilty of murder. When the jury shall find that there was a conspiracy to either to kill or assault Haddock, then all the declarations and acts of all the parties to the conspiracy in pursuance thereof, although declarations and acts of all the parties to the conspiracy in pursuance thereof, although not in the presence of the defendant, were to be considered as a proper defense for the defense for the considered as a proper defense for the defense of an allbi the court instructed that it was one easily manufactured and that it must be supported by a preponderance of the evidence and the evidence in support of it is to be considered with caution. The sensational feature of the charge was that in which the court alluded to one member of the jury. From the first of the trial said member had showed a stubborn dispositisn and a determination not to consider or study the evidence. The court said he had never before seen in the jury box so flagrant a violation of the duty of a juryman, and he added that the juryman to whom he referred was not Adair, in regard to whose conduct outside of the court room criticism had been made in the public prints. The court expressed in the public prints. The court expressed the hope that the juryman whom he had rebuked would dispose himself to a better course when the jury retired to its room. At 11 o'clock to-night the jury had not returned from its room, and there is no prospect of hearing from it to-night.
