

AMBLER PLACE has had a greater sale this week than was ever enjoyed by any addition to the city of Omaha. Out of all those who have attended the sales thus far scarcely one can be found who did not purchase one or more lots. It only requires $200 cash; $100 in six months, and the balance can be paid in one and two years. If you would buy only for an investment you can easily sell at a great advance before your second payment becomes due. Buy a lot now.

AMBLER PLACE is situated on the highest plateau in the southwestern part of the city, and affords a splendid view. Select any lot in the addition and you are sure to double your money before fall. Free carriages will be run to Ambler Place every day this week from Harrison, Ambler & Woolley's office, 418 South Fifteenth street, and if you have not seen this beautiful place you should call on them and take a free ride. You will be more than satisfied with your trip.

AMBLER PLACE is on special sale this week by Harrison, Ambler & Woolley at $700 to $1,000; $200 cash, $100 in six months, balance in one and two years at eight per cent interest. It is only a half mile from Hanscom Park, adjoins the Poor Farm and within the next sixty days street cars will be running by it. If you buy this week you will secure the benefit of the advance which will surely reach double the present prices before the summer is half gone. Buy now.

AMBLER PLACE needs but to be seen to be appreciated. Harrison, Ambler & Woolley, 418 South 15th street will furnish free carriages to see this property every day this week. The lots are selling rapidly and only a few more are left to be sold at the reduced price of $700 to $1,000; with $200 cash; $100 in six months, balance in one and two years. Don't delay nor think over it too long for this chance will not be held open longer than this week. Now is the time to buy.
