WHEAT GOES STILL LOWER.

The Difference Between the Price of May and June Widens.

NO NEW CLIQUE DEVELOPMENT

Considerable Activity in Corn at Depreciated Prices — Oats Largely Traded In—More Strength in Provisions—Quotations.

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.

CHICAGO, April 28.—[Special Telegram to the BEE.]—May wheat settled some more today and the difference between May and June widened. June is not yet quoted at its natural premium of 2@2½c above May, but it ranged 1¼@1⅜c higher than May and the two months were 1⅜c apart at 1 o'clock. Trading was on a moderate scale and the feeling was nervous. It is an open secret that no very large amount of clique money has been brought to the city yet to take care of May wheat and the information is now common property that the local banks have been unwilling to meet the demands for money to carry grain that have been made upon them within many millions of dollars. This is the news the local speculative leaders were "onto" several days ago and the break found them "loaded for bulls." When the price got down low enough to let them out with a small profit or without loss, they hastened to close up their long standing open trades in May and get into later months. On the break yesterday several heavy lines of Chicago and New York wheat were cornered, and commission houses acting for country customers bought extensively to fill outstanding contracts. May wheat opened at 81⅝c, eased off slightly, sold back to 81⅝c, down again to 81c, back to 81⅝@81¾c, and at 1 o'clock rested at 81⅞c. The fluctuations in June were 82¼c at the opening up to 82⅝@83c, down to 82⅛c, up to 83⅜c, and back to 82⅝c, which was the 1 o'clock quotation. The range in July was ¼c. One o'clock quotations showed a decline from yesterday of ⅜c in May, ¼c in June and 1-16c in July. Corn was far from being dull, but the market continued heavy and prices showed a further depreciation of ⅜c all around in futures. Trading was on a generous scale throughout the session and the fluctuations were within an insignificantly narrow range, nine-tenths of the business passing in May corn being at 37¾c and 37⅝c. The opening figures were ⅛@¼c under last night's closings, or at 37⅝c for May, and from 37⅜c there was a drop late in the day to 37⅜c, that being the closing price at 1 o'clock; June resting at 39¼@39⅜c, and July at 40⅞c. Oats ruled active and prices for leading futures were fully as much lower as noted in corn, a ⅜c decline being scored up to 1 o'clock. May and June were active months, N. S. Jones selling fairly of the latter toward the close. There was a large amount of changing overdone also. May dropped from 27¼c at the opening to 27c, and June from 28⅝c to 28⅜c. The 1 o'clock closings were: May, 27c; June, 28⅛@28¼c; July, 28⅝@28¾c. April was ⅛c under May, and cash oats in store ruled dull and nominal. In the provision market there was more than ordinary activity. The stir and excitement of yesterday were by no means repeated, yet in speculative lines—short ribs and lard—there was a good, steady movement and also considerable interest from first to last. Pork, however, was as dull as at any time during the past two weeks. A few trades in May pork were changed over to June at $21.00, but for May and June the general quotation was $20.75@21.00. In both lard and short ribs the feeling showed increased strength, and in lard particularly the tendency was rather sharply upward. This article rested at 1 o'clock at prices fully 10c above last night's closings. Short ribs opened at a decline of 5c, ruled stronger though irregular as the day progressed, and closed at an actual improvement of 2½@5c. In lard and short ribs trading consisted largely in the changing of near-by contracts. The cash product was slow, though brokers as a rule reported an increase in their orders. Sales of 16 lb sweet pickled hams were made at 10¼@10⅝c, and of cash lard at May prices.

On the afternoon board wheat was quiet and sleepy. May sold at 81@81⅛c, closing at 81@81⅛c; June sold at 82⅝@82¾c, closing at 82⅝c; July sold at 82¼c, and 82⅜@82½c. Corn was weaker. May sold at 37⅝@37½c; then to 37⅜@37⅝c on the split, closing at that; June sold at 39¼@39⅜c; closing at 39¼@39⅜c; July sold at 39⅝@39¾c early, closing at 40⅛@40¼c. Pork was nominal at $20.50@20.75 for April, and $20.75@21.00 for May. Lard was steady.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, April 28.—[Special Telegram to the BEE.]—CATTLE—There was little or no change in this market to-day as compared with yesterday. There was a brisk demand for light, medium and handy steers, such selling equally as well as yesterday, when they exactly suited the buyer. Big heavy steers were again neglected, yet were, so far as prices were concerned, about the same as yesterday. The curious feature of the trade is that a buyer will pass by a nice lot of big 1,500 lb steers and not look at them at say $4.85@4.90, and pay $4.70@4.75 for animals 150 to 200 lbs lighter. Several droves of big cattle were carried over from yesterday, for which salesmen could not get a bid. In butchers' stock there is no change to note.

HOGS.—Trade was only fairly active. In fact, the market was generally slow, especially at the opening, and closed rather weak, with quite a number left in the hands of speculators. Good mixed, $5.30@5.40; best heavy, $5.50@5.55. Yorkers, $5.15@5.25; light mixed, $4.90@5.15.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, April 28.—[Special Telegram to the BEE.]—STOCKS.—The stock market was rather quiet to-day, the bulk of trading being confined to Northwest, New England, and Richmond Terminal. Several stories were current in explanation of the advance in Northwestern. One report had it that the Milwaukee, Lake Shore and Western had been purchased by the Northwestern company, while another story was that a consolidation with the Omaha company is on the cards. Both common and preferred stock advanced, but sold off again before the close. It was reported that insiders in New England were again buying, and that another bull movement in it was about to be started. Colorado coal moved up to 47⅜, the highest point touched this year, and Lake Erie & Western and Kingston & Pembroke were higher, although very dull. A favorable feature in the market was the reduction in the Bank of England rate of discount to 2 per cent. Money was reported easy, and the only opposition to an advance in prices was alleged to come from a well organized bear party, which sold stocks on every rally. At noon the market was rather soft. The stoppage of telegraphic communication with the country, occasioned by the storm, made trading very dull durinz the close of the day. The bear contingent seized the opportunity to sell the market off, and a fractional decline in about everything was secured. The news of the day was not calculated to affect prices much either way. The close was steady at about opening prices. The sales were about 250,000 shares.

GOVERNMENTS—Government bonds were dull but steady.

Cattle.

The run of cattle to-day was lighter than yesterday by 300 head. The market was about 10c lower than yesterday. Coarse heavy cattle are slow sale and are lower in proportion than other cattle.

Hogs.

The receipts of hogs also fell a little short of yesterday's receipts by 200 head. The market opened at a decline of 10@20c. A very few of the choicest heavy hogs sold within about 10c of yesterday's market, but the bulk went at a decline of 15@20c. The receipts were in excess of the demand and 1,100 were left over.

Sheep.

There were a few in and some of them sold.
